ROSEBURG, OREGON, WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 21, 1927.

THIS IS NOT GOOD BUSINESS

The News-Review has always maintained, and it still maintains a like opinion, that trading at home is a mighty good policy to always bear in mind, whether it applies to patronizing the home merchant or giving of contracts for public improvements to outside bidders, regardless of the fact that local contractors have been underbid a nominal sum.

When man goes to war it is eventually his home and family that give him the reason for it. Usually he does not take them along to battle with him. In one little town in Pennsylvania, we are told, more than 100 children of striking union miners are being kept out of school because children of non-union miners are there.

With two good commercial printing plants operating in this city there is probably no other industry that suffers more than these concerns from business men and others, and more particularly some petty county officials, who are prone to buy their printing wares from salesmen and others who make this territory at frequent intervals, and at no saving whatever.

We heard some of the Seattle people had canceled their reservations for the Dempsey-Tunney spectacle in Illinois. That's the advantage of having Mt. Rainier.

PRUNE PICKIN'S

On acct. of havin' Bet our last Spare pair of beeyecedes on Jack Dempsey That he either Brings some The w. k. bacon Or that we have A dern warm winter.

With these air derby planes buzzin' overhead we kinda wight we'd taken up flyin' instead of poundin' a gossip mill. It must be great to go aloft and commune with the birds—that is—it must be great as long as a feller stays aloft. But at that, the conductor of this great colyum of condiment is usually up in the air most of the time.

A new night cop sans uniform appeared in the village yestiddy and lissened in on some sassy comment anent the way things are goin' in hereabouts, which goes to show that a uniform is the best sorta safe protection.

These Indian Summer days are quite the stuff except for those of us who spend the late p. m.'s piling wood in a scorchin' basement.

There is talk of havin' a community welnie roast down where the fellers are burnin' the remains of the Dysinger mill.

Ye ad. attended a legion gatherin' yestiddy p. m. and no messages of condolence were sent to the Buddies who are in Gay Pareo. The messages of condolence should be comin' from the other direction.

The high school football season is well upon us, Maw gittin' out the amica and Paw his rawhide.

The shindig artists of the village are tryin' out some new dance steps which remind us so much of that patron saint, St. Vitus.

The Espee buses have started and cussin' from the great corporation regardin' the way they tear up the highways has been discontinued.

One school kid was noticed walkin' on the cement sidewalk to the high school this p. m. He was busily engaged in readin' a copy of Snappy Stories and want' watchin' which way he was goin'.

"Some gals would cry offener if it wasn't for the mascara on their eye-lashes."

PRESBYTERIANS TO HOLD MEETING HERE THURSDAY, SEPT. 22

ODDS FAVORING DEMPSEY 6 TO 5 EVE OF FIGHT

The heavyweights ever has achieved. Dempsey and his adherents are confident that he has regained his old punch and the "crusher" of his Firpo battle. They declare him on fighting edge, as a result of his victory over Jack Sharkey two months ago, and faster about as well as more accurate in his punching, than he was against the Boston heavyweight in New York.

There seems no question that Dempsey mentally and physically, is in vastly better condition than in 1924. But whether, at his age, he has come back in enough to battle on even terms or torn the tables of the man who whipped him so decisively 12 months ago remains to be seen.

Jack Made a Mistake CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—Conviction that the Gene Tunney-Jack Dempsey heavyweight championship fight last year in Philadelphia was in violation of an Indiana writ enjoining Dempsey from meeting anyone until he fought Harry Williams was voiced today by Judge Harry Fisher, who presided at a renewal of the common club's suit to enforce an accounting with Dempsey for alleged contract violation.

The court sharply criticized the action and attitude of Dempsey and his counsel in refusing to post a $100,000 bond as suggested yesterday by Judge Fisher, which would have permitted the court to continue the hearing until after tomorrow night's Tunney-Dempsey fight in Soldier Field.

"I think the decision not to give the bond is ill-advised and that the defendant is committing a serious mistake," warned the judge.

Weather Fair and Cool CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—Fair and cool weather for the battle of Soldier Field was the forecast today by Professor Henry J. Cox of the United States weather bureau.

"The cold wave which swept down from the north Monday night, and the mercury to forty four degrees will continue to prevail for at least two days more," Professor Cox said.

"There is no warm weather in sight," Professor Cox announced, "and there is even a possibility of frost, but it does look as though we may expect fair and cool weather here Thursday night."

Expect a Victory LINCOLN FIELD, CRETE, Ill., Sept. 21.—Ready and supremely confident of victory, Jack Dempsey planned to spend his last day here relaxing and chatting with his father, Hiram Dempsey and a half dozen other relatives. For their benefit the former champion cut loose yesterday against the light and heavy punching bags, but his program contained nothing but a short job on the road before breakfast.

Dempsey weighed 195 after his spirited workout yesterday, the greatest weight his much discussed legs have ever carried into the ring for a championship engagement. Even in the chill of the early fall weather, Jack's new fighting became real with perspiration from his four rounds with the bags.

"I'll guarantee," said Dempsey, "that the man Tunney meets tomorrow night will not be the same man he fought a year ago in Philadelphia. I was just a bit that tight when we met, and I had a bunch of landing one or two punches and ending the show."

THE TINYMITES STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

The Tinymites were happy boys at work on making toys. Their little Swiss friends helped them from heads and joined right in the fun. Twice fun to watch we Clowry paint the small doll's face. It looked real quaint, and good enough to play with when he finally had it done.

When night time came the Swiss 'tys said: "The time for us to be in bed. We think we'll have to say good-bye. We hope that that's all right." "Why, sure it is, though it's too bad," said Copsy. "What a time we've had! And now that we must leave you we will climb back to our site."

So, up the toy shop side they went, and on the roof some time was spent in fixing up their kite again so it could fly all right. "It's set to go," was Copsy's cry. And all the bunch soon hopped inside. It wasn't very long until they sailed into the night sky.

For four hours not a thing went wrong. The kite just smoothly sailed along. When morning came they drifted down and landed on the ground. "It's Belgium," somebody cried. "What say we all go right inside that pretty little garden just to see what can be found?"

And thus it shoy' came to pass they met a little Belgian lass. She sat there with a framework, and was making wondrous lace. "Oh, may we watch you?" Scouty cried. "The girl said, 'Sit down by my side. I'm surely glad to have you, and you're welcome in this place.'"

The Tinymites watched her sew away. To her it seemed like simply play. Her little fingers moved real fast and kept the threads in line. Then Copsy said, "For goodness sake, what pretty little things you make. I wish tant I could in my next story. It's really very fine."

Yesterday "Spittin' Bill" Doak held them to two hits and gave Brooklyn another victory by the same score.

The St. Louis Cardinals, winning their fifth in a row over the Phillies, pulled up into a tie with New York for second place. Successive home runs in the seventh by Frisch and Hafey gave St. Louis the game, 5-4.

Jones came through with an 8-5 decision for Chicago in a tilt with the Boston Braves. The Philadelphia Athletics virtually assured themselves of a season average of better than .600 by taking two games from the Browns 4-1 and 7-3.

The Detroit Tigers gathered 'em in both ends of their double header with the Boston Red Sox, 4-3, and 5-3. Other teams were not scheduled.

Jack Lockwill, the Lion Tamer

BY GILBERT PATTEN Creator of Frank Merriwell

The countryside had turned out to see the circus. All roads led to Claremont that day, and over those dusty roads motors of every description had brought fathers, mothers, and all their offsprings to the circus grounds.

The crowd laughed and applauded when one of the clowns ran out, grabbed the tail of Camille's horse, tripped over his own feet, and did a flip-flop on the tanbark.

The fair equestrienne finished her performance by somersaulting from the back of her galloping horse through blazing hoops—real rings of fire, held high in the air.

Jack was waiting to compliment her when she rode out from under "the big top" into the adjoining tent. She sprang down and grasped him by the shoulders. "Stunners is back here somewhere!" she said. "Keep your eyes open for him. I saw him saying something to the clown who grabbed the tail of my horse. That was done to make the horse nervous and spoil my act."
