THERE are no fumes, no dirt, soot, nor smoke, no matches or litter, no flame—when you use a Westinghouse Automatic Electric Range.

You cannot realize until you change to electric cooking, how much brighter your kitchen can be, how much cleaner your whole house will be. Electricity means clean, safe, healthful heat.

And there are many other advantages. The food is better and there is less shrinkage, results are uniform, automatic operation means freedom from the kitchen.

Can Science Solve the Riddle of-- THE BABY THAT NOBODY WANTS

Dr. Fishbein Says Blood Tests Mean Little in Fixing Parentage; Outlines Care Taken to Prevent Mistakes in Identity

EDITOR'S NOTE—A chubby, month-old baby girl born in the Fairview Park hospital at Cleveland, Ohio, is the center of one of the strangest, most tragic mixups in medical history.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Smith, according to hospital records, are the parents of the little girl. But they insist that the child born to Mrs. Smith at the hospital was a boy; they declare that hospital authorities mixed identification tags and gave them a girl by mistake, and they are now prosecuting a lawsuit in an effort to get from the hospital a baby boy born at the same time.

Trial of the suit has only served to increase the mixup. As a last resort, doctors have endeavored to determine by blood tests, whether the girl baby actually is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Smith.

What is the value of such tests? Can prospective mothers, on entering hospitals, be sure that they will be given their own babies? What are the chances of mistake such as the Smiths allege was made by the Fairview Park hospital?

Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the Journal of the American Medical Association, and one of the foremost medical authorities in the country, has written the following article especially for the News-Review and NEA Service, telling these questions his best answers to medical science. His article throws a new light on this perplexing and absorbing case.

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor of The Journal of the American Medical Association;
Written Especially for the News-Review and NEA Service.

There is no definite, 100 per cent perfect way of determining a child's parentage.

Blood tests are about the best means science has. Yet they are by no means infallible. Within the blood of human beings are certain factors that cause the red blood cells of other human beings to agglutinate, or clump together. It has been found that human beings may be divided into the various groups according to other numbers and characters of their blood persons with whom their blood does not react. This grouping, once established, is a stable matter and is influenced but little by various changes in the manner of living or in the environment.

Here is "Baby Smith"—the month-old girl born at Fairview Park hospital, Cleveland, whose parentage is denied by Mrs. Sam Smith (left).

Groups Are Inherited. It has been learned that these blood groups are inherited, and ina points out that two things are necessary before any character in the blood may be used in determining parentage. First, one must be able to recognize without question the presence of the dominant factor in any person. Second, one must be absolutely sure of the hereditary behavior of the character.

Tests Are Not Certain. Hence it is still necessary to use extreme caution in applying these tests in medico-legal cases. Even if these factors are present in the blood, they are not to be given undue importance.

Maternity hospitals as a rule are extremely careful to prevent mistakes in the identity of newly-born babies. Immediately after birth, steps are taken to make sure that each baby is properly accredited to its own mother.

Among the steps usually taken is, first, the marking on the baby and on the mother, at the time of birth, of a piece of adhesive tape on which are printed in indelible ink the name of the mother and the number of the case.

In many institutions, immediately on the birth of the child a necklace of beads bearing the name of the mother is clasped about the neck of the child. This necklace is not easily removed and cannot come off accidentally.

In the Chicago Lying-in hospital, and in many other institutions, the footmarks of the child are imprinted on its chart immediately after birth and before it is removed from the room in which it is born. The footmarks serve as an absolute sign of identification.

This is the most practical and certain method of identification. The printing of either fingers or palms is practically out of the question because of the intense and constant motion of the newly-born baby.

Put Prints on Chart. Since the ridges of the sole are very fine and soft, little ink is used. The ink is spread over a glass plate to which the foot is pressed. Then the foot is pressed to a piece of the chart paper. This chart, as previously been fully marked with the record of the mother and with other data, that absolutely prevents confusion.

Mistakes in identity are very rare nowadays. Once they occur, however, it is difficult in the extreme to get at the real truth. The blood test has not yet reached the stage of infallibility.

FOOTBALL SEASON IS STARTED TODAY

(Associated Press Local Wire)
NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—Football was back in the sporting spotlight today with more than 200 teams prying the lid off the 1927 season.

There was special interest in opening games because of new rules affecting the shift, the huddle and the lateral pass.

Today's schedule in the east showed such teams as Cornell, Dartmouth, Army, Pittsburg, Pennsylvania, Columbia, New York University, Syracuse, Penn State, Georgetown, Colgate and Lafayette in action.

CHICAGO, Sept. 24.—The football season is on. Twelve policemen were needed to quell a riot last night between students of the Austin and Oak Park high schools, engaging in some "just before the battle, brother" hostility. Thirty students were arrested and later freed.

Oak Park boys started the argument said the police, by painting windows of the Austin school red.

COOKING CLASSES TO BE HELD WEEK OF SEPT. 27-30

Through the courtesy of the California Oregon Power Company a special series of cooking classes will be given here next week, starting Tuesday, September 27, and continuing over Friday, September 30.

These classes, which will present the latest up-to-date ideas in modern cooking methods, will be conducted by Miss Irene Kerr of Seattle, well known home economics demonstrator. Miss Kerr has earned an enviable reputation through her ability in this line and will no doubt have many interesting ideas to impart to the ladies of Roseburg and vicinity. The classes will be held in the Sykes building, just across the street from the Copec Electric Store, where ample accommodations will be available to take care of the large crowds that are expected.

A special prize offer will be made in connection with the classes during the demonstration, details of which will be published at an early date.

NEW YORK—Having given odds of 2 to 1 that Dempsey would knock Tunney out, Samuel Zarot, builder, has refused to accept the $2500 he won. He thinks Tunney was really fairly knocked out.

CHICAGO—Sixty per cent of children of cigarette smoking mothers, die before they are two years old, if the figures of Dr. Charles L. Barber of Lansing, Michigan, are correct. He gave his conclusions to the American association for Medico-physical research.

NEW YORK—Edna Wallace Hopper, 62, "eternal flapper," neither smokes nor drinks. That is one part of her fountain of youth. Clad in pajamas and illustrating her daily dozen, she revealed her secrets at a matinee.

ROME—The naming of streets and clubs after Mussolini is now forbidden. Babies are not included in the order.

SARAJEVO—In the place that was the cause of one big war another one has just been averted by a circus and its clown being ordered out of town. The clown had a ditty about Mussolini that provoked the Jugo Slavs to great mirth. The Italian consul protested, saying Italy would take suitable measures if need be. The circus is now somewhere else and the ditty is heard no longer.

PARIS—The version of what Clemenceau said to Pershing has come out. It was in English, to wit: "What the devil did you come here for?"

Lansing, Mich.—I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound whenever I needed it when I first used it I was so bad I could hardly walk across the room without crying. I was tired all the time. I think my trouble was coming on me for six months before I realized it. I read of your wonderful medicine in the paper, and my husband bought me a bottle, and after the first few doses I felt better, so kept on taking it until I was well and strong. I take it at times when I feel tired and it helps me. I will always have a good word for your medicine and tell anyone what good it has done me. I recommended it to my neighbor for her girl, who is sixteen years old, and it was just what she needed. She is feeling fine now, and goes to school every day.
