SUNDAY AT THE CHURCHES

First Baptist Church, Lane and Rose, Frank B. Matthews, pastor. Sunday, Oct. 9th, 9:45 The Bible school. A fine rally day last Sunday. All members of the school needed in their places next Sunday, 11 morning worship. The pastor begins a morning series of sermons on the Gospel of John. Special subject: "In the Beginning." Anthem by the choir. 6:30 The B. Y. P. U. for young people. 7:30 the evening service. Pastor preaches the first in a series of seven Sunday night sermons, his subject being "Are Men Less Religious Than Women?" He has sent out to 90 men of Roseburg a list of seven questions and will read the answers sent in, without revealing names of the authors. The above question is the first on the list and you will hear just what many men of this city think about it. Can assure you that the answers are good, some of them more than good. They are on both sides of the question. Spicy, too, some of them. The reading of the replies will be followed by a sermon topic. A fine anthem by the choir and a tenor solo by Frank Grubbe will be given.

Bible Standard Temple, F. E. Crook, pastor. The Bible Standard Temple, corner Chadwick and East Douglas street. The Bible school starts at 9:45 and we are glad to say that the attendance last Sunday was considerable gain over the Sunday previous. So let us come out this Sunday and really show our colors by bringing a new scholar. Preaching at ten o'clock hour by the pastor, the subject is one that you will long remember. So come and hear. Preaching at Glenary at the usual hour, 3:00 p. m. to which we invite all. The Crusaders meet at 6:30 and young people who have no service in mind to attend to come and enjoy the evening with our young people. Preaching following with a good live song and testimony services. The band will play several good stirring numbers and we give you a cordial invitation to attend these services.

First Christian Church, H. E. Mow, pastor. The mens' class held the school last Sunday with 62 present. But in the two women's classes there were 110 so the men didn't do so well after all. There were 337 in the school. We will have pictures of the men and women to show you next Sunday. Be sure to come. Be loyal to your church. Bring a friend. Worship in the Lord's house on the Lord's Day. Sunday evening the pastor will speak on "After Death What?" I hope all our young folks will be in their meetings at 6:30 and at the evening preaching service. Our prayer meetings on Wednesday evenings are being well attended. Let me invite you to the meeting next Wednesday, H. E. Mow.

The First Methodist Episcopal Church, corner of Main and Lane streets, Joseph Knotts, pastor. Some stay is important. A wonderful new course for adults begins this Sunday and will run through the winter season. Now is the best time for new scholars to start. Classes for all ages. Be on hand at 9:45 a. m. During the preaching hour remember there is also a junior church for the children. The Epworth league meets at 6:30 p. m. The morning sermon theme is "The Truth." The evening sermon theme is "God's Goodly Visitations." These sermon themes may not appeal to sensationalists, but if you have a real heart hunger for the better things of life come and worship with us, "and we will do the good." Prayer meeting on Wednesday evening at 7:30 p. m. A cordial welcome is extended to all, particularly strangers. Our excellent choir under the direction of Mrs. C. S. Heinline has arranged some splendid music for this Sunday.

St. George's Episcopal Church, Cass and Main Sts. 17th Sunday after Trinity. Celebration of Holy Communion at 7:30 a. m. Morning prayer and sermon at 11 a. m. Evening prayer and sermon at 7:30 p. m. Church school at 9:45 a. m.

The Methodist Episcopal Church at Dillard, T. F. Allen, pastor. Sunday school at 10 a. m. R. A. Hercher, superintendent. This will be a great power-house for building character if you do your part. Can we depend on you? Do you know that more than two thirds of all the Sunday school pupils in the world are in the United States and Canada? Preaching at 7:30 p. m. everybody welcome. Prayer meeting Wednesday night. Come and worship with us.

The Methodist Episcopal Church at Looking Glass, T. F. Allen, pastor. Sunday school at 10 a. m. R. A. Hercher, superintendent. G. A. Burchard acting superintendent. Preaching at 11 a. m. Let's make it a rally Sunday, every one in their place. "To the education of the mind must be added that spiritual training which will turn the trained intellect to good account."—Theodore Roosevelt.

The First Presbyterian Church, corner of Lane and Jackson Sts. A home like church with a warm welcome. R. W. Achon, pastor. Sunday school, 9:45. W. C. Hardin, Supt. Most of us are able to get to weddings and parties and the circus on time. Let's help our children to the idea that the Christian religion is worthy of the respect of prompt attendance. Morning worship, 11 o'clock; subject, "The Wise and the Foolish." Special music by a well trained choir. Christian Endeavor, 8:30. There will be an election of officers and every Endeavorer is urged to be present. Evening service, 7:30; subject, "Proper Decorum." Miss Naomi

You'll know what GOOD COFFEE really is—when you try Golden West.

Scott, a noted violinist, will play for us at the evening service, Wednesday evening prayer and Bible study. The pastor will conduct a personal workers' class at the close of the Wednesday evening service. The Ladies Aid meets at the church Thursday afternoon. There is a tinge of pride and justifiable pleasure when we take a visitor down the street and say, "That's where we worship." Make some church your home and stick.

The Methodist Episcopal Church at Ten Mile, T. F. Allen, pastor. Sunday school at 10 a. m. T. Godfrey, superintendent. Let's gather in God's house on God's day and worship, which is a duty as well as a great privilege. It is a great thing to lay aside our week-day cares and be able to gather and sing the songs of Zion and commune with our Heavenly Father and learn of His will. "Give us the young, and we will create a new mind and a new earth in a single generation."—Benjamin Kidd.

The Methodist Episcopal Church at Camas Valley, T. F. Allen, pastor. Sunday school at 10 a. m. W. Reetz, superintendent. The young folk love to go to Sunday school, are the older folk leading the way? People do not want to live in communities where there is no place of worship and we hope the new church will soon be a reality. We need more help. Have you done all you can toward the cause and are you talking to your friends about the new church and asking their support? O, let's be up and doing, realizing this is the Master's work. We hope friends outside Camas Valley will realize our need and help with their prayers and substance. You may own the finest automobile in the world, but without gasoline it is powerless. The best locomotive is good only for the scrap heap unless it has steam to move it. Prayer and worship supplies the power that enables the Christian to sweep on, conquering all sin and finally attaining a glorious victory. May we in this spirit go forward. Camas Valley Sunday school is leading in fine shape, Dillard coming strong, Ten Mile and Looking Glass fighting for honors. What will this Sunday say?

Methodist Episcopal Church, South, Home 621-R. Residence 215 E. Lane. Corner of Lane and Main Sts. Sunday school 9:45 a. m., W. L. Cobb, Supt. Morning worship 11 a. m. Subject "The Great Invitation." Junior league 11 a. m. Epworth league at 6:30 p. m. Evening worship 7:30 p. m. Subject: "Human Nature and the Christian Redemption." The young people will assist in this service. Last Sunday was a good day at all services. Were you there, what did you do, to make it a success? We expect you next Sunday to fill in at the regular services. Don't forget the time as announced. We welcome you at these services. Gospel preaching and singing, J. B. Penhall, pastor.

South Methodist Church, Corner of Lane and Main. There will be an all membership dinner tonight, Friday, 7 inst. at 6:30 p. m. If you are a member you are cordially invited to attend, don't miss this. There will be good eats, a program, social hour, and good fellowship. Be on time at 6:30 sharp. J. B. Penhall, pastor.

TRIAL OF THREE KLAMATH FALLS MEN NEARING END

(Associated Press Leased Wire) MEDFORD, Ore., Oct. 7.—Closing arguments were begun this morning in the federal court in the trial of William B. Barnes, A. D. Lambert, son of a councilman, and L. D. Rice, all residents of Klamath Falls, charged with conspiracy to violate the national prohibition act. The testimony yesterday afternoon was contradictory of the government's evidence. Mrs. L. D. Rice testified that on the night of December 16, 1926, her husband spent the evening at home. The date was remembered, she said, because of the receipt of a special delivery letter from Rice's mother. Federal Agent Allison testified Rice sold him a bottle of moonshine and rang up the cost on the cash register on this date. C. R. Delap, county clerk and W. T. Lee, county assessor, testified as character witnesses for Lambert and Rice.

HIT AND RUN MOTORIST SOUGHT

(Associated Press Leased Wire) SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 7.—Police today were seeking a hit and run motorist who last night knocked down and critically injured Mrs. Elizabeth Purdier and Mrs. Elsie Gottler, and then, after stopping his car, deliberately drove over their prostrate forms and sped away. The accident which occurred at a downtown intersection, was witnessed by a passing motorist, R. F. McKay, who gave chase but was unable to overtake the other car.

NOTED LAWYER AND EDUCATOR COMING U. OF O.

The one and only motive of devoting the top best years of his life to some useful public service. After giving the matter many weeks of careful consideration, traveling over the entire state, and interviewing many of our citizens, Mr. Barker reached the conclusion that the development of the University of Oregon afforded the finest possible opportunity for a life of service to his native state.

"In coming here Mr. Barker voluntarily gives up a very lucrative law practice, affording him an income many times more than the salary he will receive from the University. For years he has had the feeling that when he had secured a competence for himself and family, he wanted to give the rest of his life to the service of his fellowmen, and that he would prefer to do that in his native state. The acceptance of that position, therefore, is the culmination of a life dream.

"Coming from such broad experience, endowed with such rich personality and native genius, and coming to us with these splendid and unselfish motives, he is peculiarly well equipped to serve the University in many respects. Conscious among the tasks that he will undertake will be the leadership of the gift campaign. This splendid work, so magnificently begun by my predecessor, President Campbell, is to be resumed as rapidly as possible under the leadership of Vice-President Barker.

"He is a man of warm and genial personality, easy to meet, a prodigious worker, and a man who has never failed in any task to which he has put his hand."

Duties Assigned Mr. Barker will have very specific duties to perform for the University, and these he desired to have made clear before considering the position. Much of the detail of administration that now falls on President Hall will be taken over by the vice-president, thus freeing Dr. Hall for more intensive work in his program of educational development and research. Mr. Barker, who is also an excellent public speaker, will appear on behalf of the University at various times. Due to the fact that the University has now expanded to include a large number of students in the medical school in Portland, and in extension centers in various parts of the state, it is felt by the regents that it is impossible for one executive to serve the entire state during the year without assistance along various lines.

The Gift Campaign will also be under the direction of Mr. Barker, and as soon as organization plans are completed, work on this will go ahead with vigor. The Albers Holding Company, which is directly interested in the Gift Campaign, is making arrangements to reimburse the regents for the fund expended for Mr. Barker's salary, thus relieving the taxpayers of the state of this burden, it is explained.

Change Announced

MONTCLAIR, N. J. October 7.—(Special)—Burt Brown Barker, noted lawyer and educator of New York and Chicago, today accepted the position of vice-president in charge of public relations at the University of Oregon at Eugene, Ore., he announced. Mr. Barker, who is now associated with several important legal cases, will move to Oregon to make his home as soon as he can dispose of his business interests, he states.

In Oregon Mr. Barker will take over much of the executive work now being done by Dr. Arnold Bennett Hall, president of the University of Oregon. He will also be placed in charge of the gift campaign which the University is conducting.

Mr. Barker spent his boyhood and early manhood in Oregon, where he graduated from Willamette University before attending the Harvard Law school. He came to New York in 1917, when his legal interests became so extensive that the move was necessary from Chicago.

Sends Message to Oregon The statement forwarded to Dr. Hall today by Mr. Barker regarding his new position, is as follows: Dear President Hall: Please express to the Board of Regents my kindest appreciation of the honor conferred upon me by electing me to the office of Vice-President of the University of Oregon.

To return to my native state and carry on the traditions of my late parents, is an answered prayer. Like many such when it came it seemed most untimely. I am free to admit that the answer came at a time when my professional duties and opportunities seemed to make it impossible for me to accept. But after much consideration the conviction grew constantly clearer that Oregon was worthy of one's best, and that if ever I was to carry out the hopes of my boyhood dreams, I must return, not as ashes in an urn, but in full vigor eager to share the burdens and endure the pains of the working day. My parents were pioneers. Their dust lies in Salem. Their privations were fire-side stories to me, and I would be unworthy of my heritage to return to Oregon in any other than the sacrificing spirit in which they lived.

I left the state because I felt that its educational advantages were then limited, having been inspired by my mother to seek the best. Hence I took my law degree at the University of Chicago, and my law degree at Harvard. I entered the practice of my profession in Chicago and later went to New York City fully determined to see the working of our strenuous life at its center. During all these years the conviction has been borne home to me that the West is paying too heavy a toll in its East, and consequently as this conviction has been strengthened year by year, so like wise have I felt the desire growing stronger and stronger to lend a hand to my native state.

Colleges Important

It is peculiarly significant that today our closest students of philanthropy regard our Colleges and Universities as most worthy of aid because they consider them agencies giving the greatest promise for good. I know intimately some of the men who are working on this problem, and I am free to admit that they have influenced my decision in this matter. It is especially gratifying, therefore, to have the privilege of working in the University field, and more especially among the friends of my boyhood days in my native state.

There is one final word I want to add. I feel keenly that Oregon is in the making more than many of her citizens realize. Great growth and development are in the near future. She should be prepared, and her surest preparation lies in an educated and trained citizenship, which should be a home cured product.

In closing may I voice the hope that Oregon will see the future clearly, meet the call frankly, and let no barrier be placed in the path of her educational system, and above all crown it with a University whose standing shall be recognized everywhere and whose influence for good shall be unquestioned. To have a hand in such a venture, a king might well lay down his crown.

Cordially, BURT BROWN BARKER (Signed)

TROJANS PREPARE FOR OREGON AGGIES

(Associated Press Leased Wire) LOS ANGELES, Oct. 7.—Advance echoes of the Oregon College and University of Southern California game here next Saturday sounded through the portals of Troy today as twenty-eight husky footballers from the northern state prepared to shake the kinks out of their legs on the grass turf of Rose Bowl in Pasadena.

Coach Paul Schissler was to find an opposing team well versed in the Notre Dame system plays used by his squads. In preparation for these men of the northwest, Coach Howard Jones has drilled his Trojans almost entirely on defense against shift plays this week and planned to continue to do so in today's final practice before the first Pacific coast conference game of the season.
