The PENNY PRINCESS

BEGIN HERE TODAY
Vera Cameron, efficient secretary, allows Jerry Macklyn, advertising manager for Peach Bloom Cosmetics, to transform her into a beauty through the use of the company cosmetics. She consents only after she falls in love with a man who ignores her.

Jerry proposes to use her photographs in advertising booklets. In transforming her, the beauty specialist copies a picture Jerry finds in his desk. Vera wants to be beautiful so she can spend her vacation at Lake Minnetonka and meet the man she loves, Schuyler Smythe.

At the summer hotel, Smythe and other guests mistake Vera for the ex-princess, Vivian Crandall, who, after a Paris divorce, is in hiding. Vera tries to convince people of her true identity but is not believed.

Nan Fosdick, who it is rumored Schuyler is engaged to for her money, begs Vee-Vee to leave the hotel, saying Schuyler loved her before Vera came. Nan and Mrs. Bannister, another guest, go to the city and Vera knows they will notify the Crandalls. That night, Schuyler and Vera go to the end of the pier to be alone and Vera determines to confess to him. He tells Vera of his love for her. Vera puts off confession and begs him to tell her of his boyhood. When he admits he is a secretary, she asks him if he would love her any less if he learned she was a nobody, without money. A bellhop appears, summoning her to meet two men who await her at the hotel. Schuyler says he will not let them take her away, that she must marry him tonight.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XXVII
"How can we get away?" Vee-Vee's teeth chattered with fear and excitement. "Your car is in the hotel garage, out of commission."

"I'll lose them, whoever they are," Schuyler promised her grimly.

The speedometer climbed from 40 to 45, hung there a moment, then wavered drunkenly to 50. Vee-Vee glanced over her shoulder fearfully as the car swung at a perilous angle in taking the turn from the take road to the state highway.

"I think we've lost them, if they were following us," she cried to Schuyler above the whistle of the wind and the hum of the motor. "Where are you taking me?" she asked.

"As far as I can drive before nine o'clock in the morning," Schuyler answered. "I'll try to make Connecticut—easier to get a marriage license in that state than in New York state."

"Schuyler," she began, desperately taking her courage into her hands, "I've something to tell you. Please slow down! I can't talk against the noise and the wind."

"Afraid of me?" She could see his smile in the light from the tiny electric globe set in the dashboard.

"Yes," she answered, shivering. "Won't you please turn into the first lane that we come to, so that we can talk unobserved? Please, Schuyler! It's vitally important." "If you're going to ask me to take you back to that hotel, where those damned detectives are waiting to take you home, I can tell you now that I won't do it!" Schuyler shouted at her. "I love you and you love me, and nothing is going to come between us again. Do you hear?"

"Are you trying to prove that you are a masterful man?" she laughed shakily. "I don't want you to take me back to the hotel. I want to get as far away as I can, but first I have to tell you—the truth. Then, if you still want me, I shall be happy to marry you."

"Nothing you can tell me can make me change my mind," Schuyler assured her, but he slowed the car to a bare 15 miles an hour, leaning out to search for a lane turning off the main road.

"There's a farmhouse ahead. See the lights?" Vee-Vee pointed to the right. "There must be a private road leading to it. Yes, here it is. Please turn in."

"I'll fail to see why we should waste time in talk, when it is of such vital importance to get clear away," Schuyler grumbled as he obeyed. "See any car down the road?"

"No," Vee-Vee shook her head. "There's a car going toward Minnetonka but none coming from it."

"Now what is this terrible truth that you have to tell me?" Schuyler smiled, as he cut off the engine. "I believe," he laughed excitedly, "that my little princess just wants to be kissed. I'll bet many a girl has been kissed in this lane. My darling!"

"No," Vee-Vee cried out sharply. "Not yet, please! Schuyler—her hand went to her throat. "I've tried to tell you so many times, but you wouldn't listen. Tonight, dear, I asked you if you wouldn't be glad if the girl you love came to you as poor as you are so that you could work together—"

"Do you mean," he interrupted her sharply, "that you've let that damned prince get hold of all your money? The papers said your father had protected your money when the marriage settlement was made—"

"Oh, you make it so hard!" she wailed. "I don't know where to begin or how to convince you."

She beat upon her breast with a clenched hand—and received the answer for the crackle of folded paper came to her faintly. Jerry's letter! The letter that explained the whole miserable business was tucked away beneath the tight buckle of her evening dress. She pushed aside the folds of the Spanish shawl and groped for the letter. Her fingers felt icy against the warm flesh of her bosom.

"I have some idiotic idea of testing my love by telling me if you are poor?" Schuyler demanded in an odd voice. Then he seemed to pull himself together, laughed indulgently. "Darling, I don't give a damn about your precious money. If you've lost 40 million dollars in four years of being a princess, why, all the better for me, I mean. I can have the pleasure of showing you how the backbone of America lives!" He laughed again, but there seemed to

I. W. W. AGITATORS TO BE BANISHED

AGUILAR, Colo., Oct. 17.—Banishment of I. W. W. agitators who have been active in preparing for a general strike in the coal mines of this region was ordered here today by citizens committee. Notice to vacate their headquarters and to quit the camp was served on the officers in charge.

A similar notice was served yesterday by a citizens committee headed by Mayor John J. Pritchard of Walsenburg on the I. W. W. headquarters at that place. At Walsenburg the committee raided the headquarters of the organization, seized the records and destroyed them. Notice to all members of the organization to leave the camp was posted.

At a meeting here those in attendance adopted a resolution condemning the activities of the I. W. W. and also the order banishing the agitators from the camp. Mayor Frank Boeckaco presided.

The strike in the coal fields has been called for tomorrow by the I. W. W. representatives of the United Mine Workers have disclaimed any connection with the strike, which has been declared illegal by the Colorado industrial commission, thru failure of the I. W. W. sponsors to comply with the state law requiring the filing of a 30-day notice with the commission.

Since notice of the strike has become public, officials of the companies operating in the southern Colorado fields, including the Colorado Fuel and Iron company have voluntarily increased wages of the men.
