WITH Thanksgiving but a scarce fortnight away, thoughts are turning to one of the most enjoyable seasons of the autumn when families gather for a day or more of enjoyment.

The week on which Thanksgiving falls will be noted chiefly for family reunions at dinners and aside from these gatherings at least two dances are planned.

During the month social entertainments will continue to add to the delightful gaieties of the season. Among this week's attractive affairs were the bridge luncheons, two of a series of affairs, given on Monday and Tuesday by Mrs. Charles W. Wharton for groups of her friends.

A public club event of the week and interesting in society circles is the evening at the Wednesday for which members of the Badour Club, Daughters of the Nile, will be hostesses at the Masonic hall.

Mrs. Love Is Hostess for Club Group The spacious home of Mrs. W. D. Love was very attractive for the meeting of the Garden Valley Women's Club which she invited for the afternoon of November 3.

Mrs. Stanton Hostess for Group This Week The members of the Loyal Women's class of the Christian church enjoyed the afternoon Thursday as guests of Mrs. Charles G. Stanton at her home on South Mill street where they held a business meeting, discussing activities for the coming month and spent the remainder of the time in needwork.

Group Asked for Sewing by Mrs. Rapin On Wednesday Mrs. A. P. Rapin asked the matrons of the Sewing Circle of St. Joseph's Church to the Parish hall to sew and make plans for the annual bazaar for the holidays. A number of beautiful articles for the bazaar were turned in during the afternoon.

Feminine Buckle A rose beige lace dress, beaded all over in matching beads, for contrast, has a talking buckle belt with a closely feminine buckle of pigstones in a semi-circle.

Cards Announce Marriage Miss Esther F. Pearson to New York Man

Among the lovely brides of autumn whose marriage is greatly interesting in social circles in Roseburg is Miss Esther Foster Pearson of New York City, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Henry Phelps of Medford, and a former Roseburg maid whose marriage to Mr. Walter Michael Walther of New York City was an event of October 29.

The nuptial service was held at the First Dutch Reform Church in New York City and was attended by only a few. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Walther went to Atlantic City on their wedding trip and will be there until December 1 when they will return to New York to a new home in Richmond Hills.

Mr. and Mrs. Walther will be remembered here as a most attractive young woman. She received her early school training in Roseburg and later attended Berkeley high school. After graduating there she attended Smith college at Northampton, Massachusetts, being active in undergraduate circles.

Following her graduation from Smith college Mrs. Walther has been living in the east and has traveled extensively, making one trip around the world and last year was among the easterners spending the season abroad. During the week of October 9, Mrs. Walther was in Medford where she visited at the Phelps home and while there and during her visits in Portland and Eugene she was the guest of honor at several social functions.

Mr. Walther is a prominent business man of New York City and is a Wall Street bond broker. A reception, informal and enjoyable, given on Thursday evening in the parlors of the Christian church welcomed Rev. Wm. Baird, the new pastor of the church, and Mrs. Baird, who came last week from Santa Cruz.

The program opened with a selection by the church orchestra and included a child impersonation by Miss Jessie Gibbs, violin solo by Mrs. Wm. Baird, reading by Virden Boucock, reading by Dale Calhoun, piano duet by Miss Jessie Gibbs and Mrs. Jeaneette Boucock, reading by Mrs. Belle Chase and a vocal duet by Mrs. Charles G. Stanton and Charles V. Stanton. Rev. Baird gave a short talk welcoming the members and visitors to two enjoyable readings.

At the close of the program refreshments were served. Farringtons Hosts for Dinner and Bridge Mr. and Mrs. Jno. R. Farrington were hosts on Thursday evening at their lovely home on Overlook Avenue bidding for dinner the members of their bridge and dining club, and afterward arranged for the diversion of their guests.

Seated about the exquisitely appointed tables were Dr. and Mrs. Clair K. Allen, Dr. and Mrs. H. C. Church, Mr. and Mrs. G. V. Wimberly, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Hochradel, Mr. and Mrs. Leon McClintock and the hosts.

Matron Entertains Club and Added Guests For the meeting of the Northside Sunshine Club on Thursday Mrs. Robert Chilson invited the members and additional guests to her home on Winchester street and during the afternoon when the business session was over the group patched on a quilt.

At four o'clock the hostess served a luncheon in the dining room, where dahlias and roses were used as the flower decorations. Covered the table with a white cloth and Mrs. Bowen, George Marsters, B. F. Chilson, S. Durand, James Bartley, Virgil Bush, I. W. Ingles, E. P. Ballou, B. S. Nichols, R. W. Marsters, Walter Kurtz, Wm. Fisher and Alfred Stephens, Albert Bunker, Donald Young and Elsie Wright, added guests.

Among the week's interesting arrivals is Miss Jane Wharton, daughter of Joseph Wharton and a former Roseburg maid, who came Wednesday from Los Angeles to be with her mother and other relatives and friends. Miss Wharton has been making her home in the southern California city for more than a year.

Two Entertain With Evening Party Mrs. R. W. Meissner and Miss Gertrude Laird joined in entertaining a group of friends at an informal Halloween party at the former's home at 123 Parrott street last Saturday evening.

For the affair the rooms were transformed with Halloween decorations and games were enjoyed during the evening, several prizes being given for some of the contests. The supper tables were appointed in colors in keeping with the occasion. Mrs. Binger H. Laird and Mrs. Chas. E. Walker assisted.

Spending the evening were Mrs. Mary Parker, Mrs. Chas. E. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Wadsworth, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Busch and daughter, Dorothy, Mr. and Mrs. Binger H. Laird, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Morlan, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Meissner, Miss Maxine Laird, Miss Gertrude Laird, Mildred Morlan, Lois Morlan, Phyllis Morlan, Aileen Walker, Burton Laird, Bobby Wadsworth and Gerda Walker.

Life's Niceties HINTS ON ETIQUET

1. What is the correct linen to use for a luncheon party? 2. Are bread and butter plates put on the table before the guests are seated? 3. What decorations are needed?

The answers. 1. Luncheon sets of colored damask, refectory sets, dollies or cloths. The first two are more popular. 2. Yes. 3. A center bouquet of flowers is enough, though one can rely on her own taste and use candles, or small flower vases or whatever she wishes.

Mr. and Mrs. Brunn Hosts at Informal Evening Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Brunn were hosts for a few intimate friends at their home in North Roseburg Thursday evening, bidding ten for dancing and an informal time.

Colorful flowers of the season were arranged in baskets and bowls in the rooms. Refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

Fortnightly Meeting Woman's Club Tuesday The Roseburg Woman's Club will meet for a most interesting session at the club house on Jackson street next Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, the business session to be followed by the surprise program, which has been the custom adopted by the club for fortnightly meetings during the year.

A number of entertaining features will comprise the program. Mrs. Wm. Bell, president of the club, will preside at the meeting. Refreshments are to be served at four o'clock.

Circle Holds Beautiful Initiation Rites Initiation ceremonies were held on Monday night at the meeting of Neighbors of Woodcraft, Lila Circle 48, three new candidates being initiated at one of the most beautiful ritualistic ceremonies in recent years put on by officers of this circle.

Election of officers also took place and those elected for the ensuing term are P. G. N. Ivy Taylor; G. N. Elsie Williams; advisor, Dorothy Rhoades; clerk, Margaret Whitney; banker, Prudie Hillinger; magician, Elsie Agee; attendant, Maxine Ruff; Captain of Guards, Ray Tronko; flag bearer, Lorene Johnson; inside Sentinel, Hattie Nelson; outside Sentinel, Willie Forrester; correspondent, Tillie I. Johnson; three managers, Clara Crawford, Paul Beaver and Cynthia Germond.

Among the out of town visitors here for a most interesting meeting on Tuesday evening, November 15 at the school building where a fine program, consisting of talks and musical selections, will be given. Mrs. John Ferguson will give a report of the convention of the Oregon Congress of Parents and Teachers which she attended this year. After the meeting there will be a get-acquainted hour, a feature of each meeting which is becoming a delightful custom among the parents and teachers of the school.

Group Invited for Dinner and Cards For the pleasure of the Northside Five Hundred Club members Mr. and Mrs. G. V. Wimberly arranged a dinner party on Wednesday evening at their home, placing covers for Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Brunn, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. S. McMane, Hattie and Mrs. J. Wendell Wright, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Whipple, and Dr. and Mrs. H. C. Church.

After the dinner hour the group enjoyed cards and the prize went to Mr. and Mrs. Whipple. Dr. and Mrs. Church received the consolation prize.

Friends in Roseburg are extending their sympathy to Mrs. Russell Frances Ward on the death of her husband, a chief petty officer in charge of the engineer divisions in the United States Navy who was killed by an accident in the port of San Francisco yesterday, and whose death was learned here this morning in a message to Mrs. Ward's aunt, Mrs. Diney West. Mrs. Ward will be remembered by many in this city, having made a number of friends during the time she and her two children, visited in Roseburg a year and a half ago. She had been making her home in Los Angeles and Mr. Ward was on route to that city from New York City to spend the holidays with his family. The funeral takes place at the San Francisco prestidito today.

Little Maid Honor Guest at Party For her daughter, Myrtle, on her birthday anniversary Mrs. Roy Hutchings entertained with an afternoon party Friday, asking nine little friends of her home a guest for games and contests. Autumn flowers decorated the rooms of the home. Refreshments were served later in the afternoon by Mrs. Hutchings.

Enjoying the affair were Myrtle Hutchings, Merle Daves, Phyllis Fulton, Maxine Dyer, Barbara Rummels, Florence Hamilton, Joan Hume, May Hutchings, Junior Deau and Donald Frear.

Mrs. J. A. Fuleher and Mrs. E. A. Pettie, two Roseburg matrons, spent last week-end in Corvallis, visiting with Mrs. Pettie's son, Roy Pettie, who is a student at O. A. C.

Miss Gertrude Ogle Bride of E. Wescott at Pretty Home Service

Miss Gertrude Ogle was the attractive bride of Edwin Wescott of Salem at a quiet but pretty afternoon ceremony Friday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Ogle at 715 West Lane street.

The service was read at the hour of one o'clock by Rev. J. B. Penhall, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church South and only members of the family were in attendance. In the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Wescott went to Salem, where they will make their home. The bride attended Roseburg high school and both she and Mr. Wescott, who formerly made his home in this city, have a wide circle of friends among the younger set. Mr. Wescott is the son of Mrs. Elsie McClung, former Roseburg matron now making her home in Salem.

Umpqua Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will meet on Monday afternoon of the coming week at 2 o'clock, being invited to the home of Mrs. W. E. Boise at 625 Hamilton Street for the afternoon.

School Presents Program and Social A most enjoyable program under the direction of the teacher, Miss Katherine Jacoby, was presented last Saturday evening in connection with a box social given at the school building and attended by a large number of people.

Children of the school participated in the program and afterward the sale of boxes took place. Various contests and games formed the diversion of the evening. The proceeds were over $63 and with this sum school supplies will be purchased.

The Misses Bertha and Vernita Kohlhaugen are visiting at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elsie Kohlhaugen, on Military street over the weekend. Both are students at O. A. C.

Junior High School P. T. A. to Meet

The Junior high school P. T. A. plans for a very interesting meeting on Tuesday evening, November 15 at the school building where a fine program, consisting of talks and musical selections, will be given.

Mrs. John Ferguson will give a report of the convention of the Oregon Congress of Parents and Teachers which she attended this year. After the meeting there will be a get-acquainted hour, a feature of each meeting which is becoming a delightful custom among the parents and teachers of the school.

Paris Demands Classic Beauty of Furs

Belge Rodler cloth is plaided with moleskin in Revillon gets a diagonal striped effect with natural squirrel

Straight Lines Use Dyed Ermine, Matching Hats, Rich Linings And Other Gorgeous Touches

PARIS, Nov. 12.—To a French woman a fur coat is distinctly a luxury, rather than a necessity, and whatever the mode may be she insists that her fur coat be made on what she calls classical lines. She counts her furs among her most prized possessions, and nothing but the very best, both in quality and workmanship, will satisfy her.

The furs of this season are rich and attractive. We have gone far from the heavy, ungainly coats which used to be worn, with comfort and warmth the main considerations and all ideas of lines disregarded. Broadtail, mink, caracul, dyed ermine, pressed lamb (American broadtail), natural squirrel, Hudson seal, natural and dyed, moleskin are the most fashionable furs.

Imitation furs are being left severely alone except as linings for cloth coats or automobile wraps. The discriminating woman prefers a real, high-class fur coat if she can afford it to two or three of inferior or imitation fur. Revillon et Compagnie are showing fine fur models this season with very beautiful model, however, in broadtail trimmed with chinilla, features the slight flare, but this is only permissible in a soft, flat fur.

Capes Are Now Passe Still another very attractive model—of pressed lamb (American broadtail) shows three rows of "sutures" or pipings, but generally speaking the straight line is still in favor. Capes are entirely out of fashion for street wear. Fox is undoubtedly the favorite fur trimming this winter. It is both soft and becoming to the face and besides an effective contrast to the coat itself. The vogue of black and white is generally carried out in black broadtail and ermine, but owing to the fragility of the ermine, this combination is only seen in the more elaborate models. A novelty the furriers offer is dyed ermine. They contend that although it may seem an act of vandalism to dye ermine, its use was more or less exclusively reserved to evening cloaks, where if it is dyed a beautiful beige it is both smart and practical and has more lasting qualities. Such new coats are also trimmed with fox fur either matching or in a lighter shade of beige.

Another new fur is pressed lamb, often dyed beige or gray, worked by the furriers so it is nearly as supple as broadtail with the advantage of being of a much more approachable price. Hudson seal is said to be coming in again and several models are being shown trimmed with natural or dyed squirrel or beige or gray fox.

Lining Matches Milady's Gown Fur coats are being lined to match the dress with which they will be worn, thus carrying through the ensemble idea. Otherwise linings are generally of crepe de chine in a shade matching the fur or again of satin covered over with crepe georgette. Vivid linings are reserved for evening cloaks, where for example an ermine wrap will be lined with deep rose or sapphire blue chiffon velvet.

Although the idea of a fur hat may sound impossible some modistes who have been able to achieve some delightful models in the lighter furs. Daladier, for example, has created a moleskin beret to accompany a moleskin coat which is very smart and new and Joanne Lanvin shows a very smart coat in shaded grey caracul, with a hat of grey felt combined with the same caracul.

Another model is finished off with a little bow of the same fur as the coat it is made to go with. This is a further demonstration that the "ensemble" idea can be expressed in many ways and will find favor for a long time.

ANTLERS THEATRE "Gentleman of Paris" Has "Legit" Players in Cast If you're on the stage in Hollywood it seems you have a good chance for breaking into the movies. Two people, whose stage work was done under the eyes of producer here have parts in Adolphe Menjou's latest Paramount picture "A Gentleman of Paris" which H. P. Abbadie D'Arrast directed and which reaches the Antlers Theatre Sunday.

They are Lorraine Eddy, who made a hit in the Hollywood Music Box Revue, and William B. Davidson, who played in "The Donovon Affair" at the Vine Street Theatre. "Miss Eddy has an important role as the blonde-haired, cloakroom girl whose quick wit averts a domestic tragedy. Davidson plays the irate husband in the play that is averted. Shirley O'Hara is Mr. Menjou's new leading woman." LIBERTY THEATRE Three 'Cheaters' Won Fame in Two Reels Do you remember 'way back when Betty Compton, Sylvia Ashton and Eddie Griddon appeared in two-reel comedies as a bathing girl, a mother and a burglar respectively? They did once, but now these extremely popular players are seen as crooks in "Cheating Cheaters," the latest Universal Jewel which is the attraction at the Liberty theatre here Sunday. Just plain crooks, although they hide under a cloak of innocence in the greatest comedy-drama of the season. "Now We're in the Air" is good. Eddie is not only a good crook

Ralph Fullerton Weds Tacoma Maid

A wedding of the week of interest in town circles was the ceremony on Wednesday when Miss Opal Moore of Tacoma, Wash., became the bride of Ralph Fullerton of this city at Vancouver, Wash. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Moore of Tacoma, who are now visiting with relatives at Ridge, and she has a number of friends in Marshfield, where she formerly made her home. (Continued on page 5.)

but he is a good "egg" man as well, and when he had a good idea Director Laemmle gave him the megaphone. He is in old-time megaphone and at one time during his colorful film career he headed a comedy company of his own with Betty Compton (who is the heroine in this latest opus of the underworld) as his leading lady.
