About Thanksgiving will center most of the entertaining of the week ahead when a contingent of young folk will be home again from school and college to gather around the family table for one of the most delightful of the yearly events which mark the beginning of the holiday season. The latter part of the week will be enlivened greatly with the visits of the younger sets.

Looking over the week just passed it can be seen that the many lovely affairs given by social groups have made it stand out as one of the most interesting weeks of this period of the year. Hardly a day passed that did not hold some marked social event for different circles.

Aside from a number of smart luncheons, bridge afternoons, club meetings, dinner parties and a silver tea which have caused society folk to frequently consult engagement books, there was the Roseburg Country Club dancing party, one of the gayest affairs of the season, which was given for club members at the spacious club house last evening. The affair held interest for several different groups who danced during the evening and enjoyed a supper at the close.

For the week coming two large events will make it notable—one the play, "Cheer Up," to be given by Umpqua Post, American Legion, on the nights of October 22 and 23, and another will be the Thanksgiving Ball to be sponsored by the Business and Professional Women's Club at the Oriental Gardens on Thanksgiving night.

Several Social Affairs Planned in Honor of Visitor

Miss Jane Wharton, a former Roseburg maid, is a popular visitor in the city, having arrived from Los Angeles last week to enjoy a month's visit with friends and relatives. Several delightful events of the week past have been given in her honor and others are being arranged by friends in compliment to the visitor.

On Armistice Day Miss Wharton was the honor guest at a charming dinner and bridge party for which Miss Helen Casey, sister of Mr. and Mrs. G. V. Wimberly, were hosts at their home, asking twelve for the occasion. Miss Helen Casey received the ladies prize and Miss Wharton the guest prize. J. R. Wharton won the men's prize.

On last Saturday evening Miss Helen Casey invited a few intimate friends of Miss Wharton to meet the visitor and arranged tables for bridge, followed by luncheon.

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Finlay were hosts for a lovely dinner and bridge party given in courtesy to Miss Wharton on Thursday, when they asked eight friends to their home. Included in the list were the Misses Jane and Bess Wharton, Alice Cleland, Mr. and Mrs. G. V. Wimberly, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Leedy and Frank Clemens.

For one of the notable social events this week, Miss Helen Casey is entertaining this evening at the attractive Casey home, arranging in honor of Miss Wharton six tables of bridge for which she has extended invitations to twenty-four prominent matrons and maids of Roseburg.

President of Club Bids Members to Home

Mrs. R. A. Calhoun, the president of the Garden Valley Women's Club, invited the members to her home for the Thanksgiving meeting on Thursday afternoon. Discussion of plans for Christmas occupied much of the time of the business hour, after which informal visiting was enjoyed. At the close of the afternoon a delicious luncheon was served to the Mesdames G. C. Bailey, R. E. Lewis, E. S. Ferguson, R. S. Hutton, G. M. Dumas, A. Niday, J. E. Page, Fred Parrott, A. Schneider, Fred Sinclair, R. H. C. Wood, Hugh Ritter, B. C. Montgomery, Dean Henry and E. C. Nickerson of Seattle.

Costume Jewelry

Chanel uses disks of malachite, set in hammered silver, for a double strand necklace of costume jewelry to set off a deep green satin frock. Earrings and bracelet match.

Mrs. McAllister Is Hostess for Smart Luncheon and Bridge

Intercourse among the smart events of the week was the one o'clock luncheon and bridge party for which Mrs. O. D. McAllister extended invitations to a group of prominent matrons asking them to her home at 219 South Main street on Wednesday afternoon.

The rooms were decorated with lovely chrysanthemums, which responded with the exquisite table appointments. Assisting the hostess were Mrs. A. B. Taylor and Mrs. A. B. Crawford. Honors at the bridge tables were held by Mrs. Charles W. Wharton and second prize went to Mrs. Ralph Quinn.

The list included Mrs. W. S. Jost, Mrs. Foster Butler, Mrs. G. V. Wimberly, Mrs. Wm. Bell, Mrs. O. M. Berrie, Mrs. Kenneth Quinn, Mrs. Ralph Quinn, Mrs. J. J. Ford, Mrs. Charles W. Wharton, Mrs. A. B. Crawford, Mrs. M. H. Green, Mrs. A. B. Taylor, Mrs. Claude Crook, Mrs. J. F. Dillard, Mrs. A. G. Sutherland, Mrs. A. A. Wilder, Mrs. R. L. DeVaney, Mrs. Fred Schwartz and Mrs. J. H. Wharton.

Mrs. Virden Asks Club Matrons for Bridge

A very pleasurable affair of the week was the afternoon of bridge arranged by Mrs. T. H. Virden for the meeting of the Monday Afternoon Club.

The room decorations in fall colors were carried out in chrysanthemums in baskets. Mrs. R. L. Collins, Mrs. Hazel Duen and Mrs. John M. Thorne were invited in addition to the regular members. Honors for the afternoon were held by Mrs. B. Casey. At this close refreshments were served by the hostess.

Prayer Circle Meets This Week

The Northside Prayer Circle met on Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Helen G. Stuck as hostess and enjoyed a splendid Thanksgiving service. During the remainder of the afternoon the group discussed matters pertaining to the circle and later the hostess served refreshments to the Mesdames R. W. Acker, G. V. Young, Lizzie Connelly, W. W. Asenatt, C. W. Groves, Geo. Jones, Horace Hagen, E. G. Ware, Bert Chamberlain, J. H. Duff, Fred Knight, Elmer H. Laird, R. E. Crawford, S. W. Woodruff and Wm. Fisher.

Past Noble Grands to Give Card Party

A post-Thanksgiving event which will be among affairs interesting socially will be the public card party on the evening of November 30 to be given under the auspices of the Past Noble Grand Club at the I. O. O. F. temple. The affair is to be given to raise money to be used in financing grand lodge, which will convene in Roseburg next May.

Mrs. Effie Schwartz is general chairman and assisting her are Mrs. A. J. Carman and Mrs. Geo. Wimer. Both bridge and five hundred will be in play during the evening and suitable prizes will be given the players having the highest scores.

Refreshments will be served by the ladies of the club at the end of the evening.

Entertaining Program Given at Assembly

The Junior high school weekly assembly was an interesting event of Thursday morning when a varied program was presented by the students.

Included in the entertainment were two very humorous readings by Clara Kohlman and a clever one-act play presented by the Dramatic Club under the direction of Miss Fern Scott and Mrs. D. Oleman, with the following cast: Cora Barnes, the young lady, Mildred McLaughlin, Miss Cornelia, the old maid aunt, La Von Thornton.

Marie, the housemaid, Eva Gibson, Gabe, Harry, Tom, the authors, James Barclay, Billy Wharton, and Dale Stephenson.

At a recent assembly at the school a fine photograph was presented by the student body association by the Junior high school P. T. A. The presentation was made by Mrs. Louis Kohlman, president of the association, and the gift is being used primarily in the music appreciation classes.

Society Attends Benefit Card Party for Shrine Hospital

As the holiday season approaches one's thoughts naturally turn to charity work. There are each year a number of worthy charities for which different organizations are sponsors. This week was notable to society folk for at least one lovely event, which was given in raise funds for the Shrine Hospital.

The affair, a bridge party, was sponsored by Rosaura Club, Daughters of the Nile, and was given at the Masonic hall, which was made attractive with colors of the season carried out in late garden flowers.

Nineteen tables of bridge were in play during the evening and prizes were given at the end of the game. Refreshments were served by the ladies of the club at the close. In charge of the affair were Mrs. George A. Bradburn, Mrs. Max Ruff, Mrs. John Thorne and Mrs. Frank W. Chase.

Patou Learns of Clothes from Ruth Elder

Flyer's Versatility at Wearing Finery Surprises Famous Parisian Stylist

BY JEAN PATOU

(Written Exclusively for NEA Service and News-Review.)

PARIS, Nov. 19.—Women can wear evening clothes and sports clothes and wear both well. One of the latest of the fair sex to prove this is Miss Ruth Elder.

When we heard that Miss Elder was trying to fly across the Atlantic I think most of us visualized her primarily as a sportswoman. When she reached Paris she wore men's breeches, a shirt patterned for men, and a seaman's cap. We thought of her as the mannish type of modern woman.

An Unexpected Discovery We had no idea that we should find her a young woman except-tionally feminine and delightfully graceful. But so we did find her.

The models which Miss Elder chose from my collection, both in sports clothes and the more feminine frocks for evening wear, suited her equally well. Sports clothes naturally appealed to her, but she also liked and wore gracefully the light, vaporous mousseline de soie dresses. She surprised us agreeably. We found her very feminine, a woman who could carry an evening gown with as much grace as she did her flying clothes. She gave us the idea that we would have to begin creating aviation clothes for feminine flyers.

Sports and Femininity This all goes to prove that sports and femininity are not incompatible. Not many years ago women dressed to go to summer or winter sports, but now they dress to play tennis or golf or to skate and ski. Formerly they dressed to be onlookers, now they dress to participate.

Where women formerly said, "I am going to the mountains," they now say, "I am going to do winter sports." As usual with women, they have undertaken this new life with enthusiasm, and naturally we have to dress them accordingly.

The result is a sort of specialization for each sport in which women are interested. Skating, for instance, is eminently a graceful sport for which graceful clothes should be worn, but in which the influence of the courier has only manifested itself during the past two or three seasons.

The breeches, which were considered more or less indispensable, have been replaced by the divided skirt of knee length. This, in my opinion, is the ideal costume for the woman who skates or plays golf and wishes to preserve her feminine silhouette. When skating she should wear a sweater or a scarf. The short coat should be excluded because it hampers the movement of the arms.

Leave Out the Fantasy

The skilling outfit should be very severe. There must be no fantasy at all in its cut. It calls for Norwegian breeches, which are banded at the ankles, made of very dark, closelywoven woolen material. The chandail, or high-necked sweater, should be of a vivid color, but in coarse wool and may be as gay as possible. The ensemble is completed by a black jacket or a fur-lined leather jacket.

If a woman dresses in this manner neither a couturier nor a sportsman can find the least fault with any detail. And after seeing Miss Elder in an evening frock, I can find no fault with her flying clothes.

THE "AMERICAN GIRL" AS PATOU COSTUMED HER

Mrs. Tom Wharton Entertains for Sister-in-Law

The visit of Miss Jane Wharton, former Roseburg maid, through the holidays is greatly of interest to her friends in the city and several affairs are being planned in her honor. Among the week's events honoring the visitor was the evening affair on Wednesday when her sister-in-law, Mrs. Tom Wharton, bid a few of the younger matrons and maids to her home in West Roseburg.

In the rooms were chrysanthemums in a variety of colors. An old fashioned spelling match was one of the amusing diversions of the evening. Another spelling game was also enjoyed and the prize was won by Mrs. Carl Wimberly. Tables of five hundred were in play during a part of the evening. Miss Genevieve Watson winning the first prize and Miss Margaret Carr receiving second prize.

The supper table, appointed in pink and green, was lighted solely by the flame of pink tapers. Quaint Dutch girls were painted on the place cards and they looked in such were favored at each cover. Mrs. G. V. Wimberly assisted the hostess.

The invited list included Miss Wharton, Mrs. Carl Wimberly, Mrs. G. V. Wimberly, Miss Genevieve Watson, Miss Edith Veatch, Miss Helen Casey, Miss Hazel Goodwin, Miss Margaret Carr, Miss Virginia Carothers, Miss Naomi Scott, Miss Bess Wharton and Miss Ethel Webb.

Mrs. Pickens Hostess for Affair

On the afternoon of November 16 Mrs. J. E. Pickens entertained with a lovely affair on the occasion of her birthday anniversary and invited to her home a group of intimate friends.

Sewing was the diversion and at the hour the hostess served luncheon at prettily appointed tables.

D. A. R. Chapter Has Meeting This Week

The November meeting of Umpqua Chapter of the D. A. R. was held on Monday at the home of Mrs. W. E. Boise, who was joined in entertaining the members by Mrs. S. M. Kelly, and Mrs. W. F. Thomas.

Mrs. H. E. Cully gave a most interesting talk, having as her subject "Training of Camp Fire Girls for Citizenship." Mrs. Cully told of the camp fire work, the law of the organization and its slogan and ideals. She stated that the organization, effected in 1911, now has branches in twenty-one different countries with six thousand members.

Mrs. Caroline Willis gave an inspirational talk on her Hawaiian trip, showing to the members of the chapter pictures of the islands.

The ladies of the chapter are preparing a box for Angel Island and all who have donations for the gift may hand them to Mrs. Wm. Bell not later than December 15. At the close of the afternoon the guests were served refreshments by the hostesses.

W. C. T. U. Has Program and Tea

At the club rooms of the Roseburg Women's Club, where they have decided to hold their winter meetings this year, the members of the Roseburg W. C. T. U. met on Thursday afternoon for a most interesting program.

Mrs. T. B. Busenbark, president of the union, presided and Mrs. B. Penhall conducted the devotions. Mrs. W. W. Ashcraft led the group singing. A delightful vocal solo was given by Elsie Carleton Strang, with accompaniment by E. L. Strang and a reading was given by Mrs. Ashcraft, entitled "The Spirit of '76." This part of the program was followed by an interesting discussion led by Mrs. T. B. Busenbark and Mrs. R. A. Busenbark. The former, taking the part of the American flag, discussed "Between the American and Peace Flags," and Mrs. R. A. Busenbark, representing the peace flag, gave different points on the subject.

This part of the program was especially well received and at the close a silver tea took place, with a social hour of chatting for the members of the union.

An attractive visitor of the week is Mrs. J. Lee Stewart (Mary McCullagh) of Eugene who is being warmly welcomed by circles of friends in this city where she will last spring made her home. Mrs. Stewart has been the house guest of Miss Mrs. Rice at the M. P. Rice home on South Jackson street. She is returning home the first part of the week.

Interest Attached to Recent Betrothal Revealed at Lovely Tea

A great deal of interest in Roseburg social circles centered recently about the announcement of the betrothal of Miss Alexa Joanne Gignoux, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexis Gignoux, prominent Honolulu people, to Lieutenant Sator Marcellus Miller, son of Mr. M. M. Miller of this city.

The news was made known at a surprise tea given by Mrs. Gignoux on October 29 in compliment to her daughter on her birthday anniversary and forty of Miss Gignoux's friends, including Miss Florence Wharton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Wharton of this city, and Miss Marietta Clague, who accompanied Miss Wharton to Honolulu this fall, were bidden for the lovely affair at the Gignoux home in Manoa. The names of a number of prominent Honolulu matrons and maids made up the list and among these was Mrs. Wallace R. Farrington, wife of the Governor of Honolulu.

Quantities of gorgeous yellow day lilies supplied the color note in the rooms and at the tea table the same color appeared again in the use of a basket of chrysanthemums and other seasonal blossoms. The birthday cake, with a circle of candles lighted about the outside, was centered with two tiny dolls in bridal attire, the boy holding the ring and a little card, which told of the engagement.

The bride-elect is a charming and popular young woman of Honolulu. Her fiancé attended school in Roseburg, where he has a wide circle of friends, and was a student at West Point, graduating from that school in 1923. Following his graduation, Lieutenant Miller was stationed at Fort Monroe, Virginia, for two years, and for a time previous to his departure for Hawaii he was stationed at Fort Worden in Washington.

For the past year and a half Lieutenant Miller has been in Honolulu and there is said to be Brig. Gen. Henry D. Todd, Jr.

The wedding will be an event of early summer.

Three Oregon Maids Will Sing in Audition

It is interesting to note that, although two represent a different state, three of the girls who will compete in the western district contest of the district finals of the Atwater Kent National Radio contest, are Oregonians. More than fifty thousand singers have taken part in the national contest and from this tremendous number of participants in the tryouts, ten finalists will be chosen to compete in the grand national audition, to be sung in New York early in December.

The western district contest will be heard over KPO in San Francisco next Monday night. Oregon is to have a representative, who is from Portland. The young ladies who represent the state of Washington is an ex-Oregon girl as well as the young woman who will sing for the Southern California district in the audition. The latter is Miss Hortense Mills Hough, now a resident of Pasadena and connected with the musical department of the Pasadena high school. She is the daughter of Attorney and Mrs. A. C. Hough of Grants Pass and is well known in Southern Oregon. She is said to possess an unusual contralto voice.

Two Matrons Arrange Affair for Club

Mrs. T. B. Busenbark and Mrs. F. A. Goff planned for Thursday evening a pleasant entertainment for the members of the Past Noble Grand Club, bidding the members and additional guests to the Busenbark home in Melrose.

Games were played for diversion and prizes were awarded to Mrs. H. H. Hough, winner of the guessing contest, and to Mrs. Kelley and Mrs. Fisher, victors in the drawing contest. The club discussed plans for the card party to be given on November 30 and also talked over the Christmas party for the members to be given at the home of Mrs. Jas. Hutchings next month when Mrs. C. E. Rusho and Mrs. Hutchings will jointly entertain. Refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

Enjoying the affair were the Mesdames Harry Stearns, S. M. Kelley, Maude Pyle, Chas. Perrier, J. E. Pickens, W. E. Gignoux, Mrs. C. E. Pickens, V. T. Jackson, A. J. Carman, D. H. Morgan, D. H. Lenox, H. F. Hatfield, C. E. Rusho, Ralph Russell, Effie Schwartz, G. Stephenson, Clara Hunt, O. L. Johnson, G. W. Conkey, Clarence Wimer, J. H. Clark, Wm. Austin, and the Mesdames Mae Fisher and the following guests: Mrs. Bertha Blundell, Mrs. J. A. Peterson, Mrs. D. N. Busenbark, Mrs. Mary Sageboerd of Gardiner.

New Social Club Is Formed

Among the latest arrivals in the social club groups in Roseburg is the Winter Elm Hundred Club, made up of several friends who plan to play five hundred in the evenings at regular intervals. This week the club was entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Cocklebas at 1016 West First street.

Honors were held by Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Tester. At the end of play a supper was served. The personnel of the club includes Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Groom, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Tester and Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Cocklebas.

Young Matron Hostess to Sewing Club

On Thursday evening Mrs. Adrian Bloom, young Roseburg matron, who this week went to Myrtle Point to make her home, invited to the home of her mother, Mrs. Krone, on Winchester street, the girls of the Elders Sewing Circle, composed of a group of the younger matrons and maids of the Christian Church.

A pretty decorative note was effected by the use of chrysanthemums in the rooms. The guests sewed and chatted and later the hostess served a buffet supper to the Mesdames Clarence Coffell, Royd Bruten, Grant Pond, Dale Bolinger, Vernon Granger, Albert Kronke, on Winchester street, the Elsie Hudson, Elizabeth Harding, Marjorie Snyder, Rhea Gates, Jessie Gibbs and Laura Kronke.

Evening Affair Enjoyed by Group

Members of the Intermediate Endeavor Society of the Christian church participated in a most enjoyable evening of games and sports following the business hour of Thursday at the church parlors. At the close of the evening refreshments were served to twenty young people.

Dinner Compliments Mr. Heinline

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bell were hosts for a delightful event of the latter part of the week when they invited a group of twenty friends to their apartments for a dinner party which was a surprise honoring C. S. Heinline Friday. Chrysanthemum decorations in the rooms were carried out by table centerpieces and following the dinner hour bridge was the diversion.

Mrs. Hughes Bids Club for Lovely Luncheon

Mrs. Washington Hughes was hostess for a lovely one o'clock luncheon on Thursday when she invited the members of the Book Club to her guests.

A bowl of chrysanthemums centered the exquisitely appointed tables about which were seated Mrs. D. B. Dubar, Mrs. Paul Dubar, Mrs. Wm. Bell, Mrs. C. S. Heinline, Mrs. W. H. Fisher, Mrs. Charles W. Wharton, Mrs. M. F. Rice and the hostess.

The afternoon was devoted to abate-story reading and current events.

Woman's Club Plans to Entertain State Officer

At the regular fortnightly meeting of the Roseburg Woman's Club in the club house on South Jackson street Tuesday plans were formulated to entertain Mrs. J. G. Frankel, president of the state federation, who will be in Roseburg within two weeks. The entertainment will take the form of a covered dish luncheon and will be at the club house.

For Tuesday the program, as is the adopted custom for the year, was a surprise. Mrs. C. S. Heinline led the group singing and an amusing game, prepared by Mrs. W. S. Jost, who had charge of the program, were enjoyed. Mrs. Wm. Bell, president of the local club, surprised the members with delicious refreshments at the close of the afternoon.

Two Anniversaries Occasion Dinner Party

On Armistice Day Mrs. O. L. Johnson was hostess to a group in observance of her birthday anniversary and of the wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Pickens. For the occasion a group of intimate friends were asked to dinner at the Johnson home.

At the table, colorful with a centerpiece of yellow chrysanthemums, were seated Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Pickens, Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Pickens, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Goff, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Busenbark, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Johnson, Mrs. V. T. Jackson, Vermina Pickens, Kenneth Pickens and Loren and Durdard Johnson.

Special Music Program Sunday

On Sunday evening, November 20, a special evening of music by the choir of the Presbyterian church is being arranged. The program is as follows:

Mirror Slipper

"Slippers of a thousand mirrors" are the very latest vandy for the lady's evening wear. Tiny disks of beveled glass fashion them and reflect the evening's gaiety as they twinkle.
