They want them OF COURSE!

The moment she sets her eyes on a MONTAG her one ambition is to have one in her kitchen.

And this is not alone because of the incomparable simplicity and beauty of design, although of course she appreciates what that means in making her kitchen a more pleasant place to work—but she knows that every one of her friends who owns a MONTAG is singularly free from the worries of cooking.

And Mr. Man,—why, he'll just agree with the comment "It's results that count."

Easy to keep clean; durable and most reasonably priced, no wonder MONTAG Ranges have for more than forty years held a firm place in the hearts of the women who cook on "The Choice of Western Cooks."

We have received a shipment of MONTAG Ranges, and if you'll allow us the pleasure of showing you through our Range Department, whether you are ready to buy or not, we know that a MONTAG will be your next range.

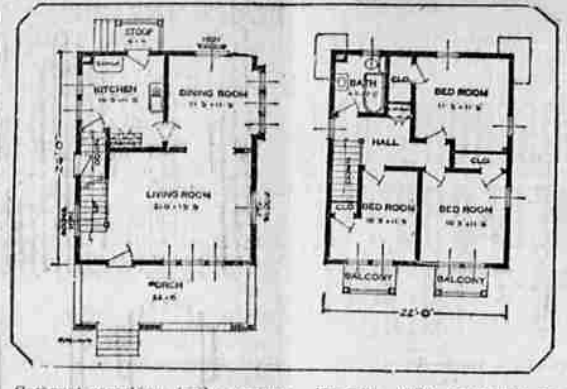
Contradiction in Comfort Is the Clever "Marlowe"



Compact roominess is the contradiction embodied in "The Marlowe." Here, in bungalow space, a pleasant looking shingled and white frame house achieves the sense of plenty-of-room that one expects only from a much more pretentious home.

Cleverly does it succeed. By having the stairway rise out of one end of it, the living room achieves spaciousness: 21 feet long. By using two long wall spaces so dear to the heart of a woman who must have a davenport or two before she thinks her room homelike. The dining room, too, has an unbroken wall space, due to high windows.

Upstairs, "The Marlowe" is exceptionally pleasant and roomy. Upon a little center hall open three bedrooms, each with its own closet. And each front bedroom has what everybody would like, a little balcony porch all its own.

A back stoop gives space for mother to breathe a bit of air while she fixes the vegetables and watches the children play in the back yard. And a big front porch makes staying home summer evenings very pleasant indeed.

PREMIER DENIES HE TOOK OFFICE BY USING FORCE

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Nov. 21.—Ionel Bratianu says he rules Rumania as premier today because King Ferdinand when dying believed that the government would be safer in his hands than any other. The premier denies that he came into power by force.

"The Liberal party has affirmed constantly that Rumania can prosper and develop only with the hereditary monarchy," the premier told The Associated Press correspondent. Reports that he as dictator desired to establish a republic, M. Bratianu characterized as fantastic.

"I did not come into power by force, but at the wish of a man whose competence has never been questioned—King Ferdinand—who, realizing he was dying, believed the government would be safer in my hands than any other," he said. All attempts to overthrow the regency, which rules for the six year old King Michael, will fail, the premier said, and it will run its allotted course of twelve years. There was no friction between himself and the regency, re declared, saying: "The fact that the Liberal government is in power is sufficient proof that it enjoys the confidence of the regency, which has the authority to make or break governments."

Asked if former Crown Prince Carol, who is in exile in France, would be allowed to return as regent or king, should the people so desired, M. Brataiau replied: "It does not depend on my will or that of any other person. The constitution expressly prohibits any modification of its text during the minority of the present sovereign."

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 21.— "A player who keeps training and does what he should, doesn't get knocked out," is the theory laid down by Miss Mary Colvin, Atlanta's woman coach of a high school football team—and she reports that a dislodged fingernail is the most serious injury with which her charges have had to contend.

Miss Colvin coaches the smaller boys of O'Keefe high school in three major sports—football, baseball and basketball.

EMERGENCY FIELD BEING SURVEYED AT MYRTLE CREEK

The federal government is after a site for an airport in upper Missouri bottom, says the Myrtle Creek Mail.

A Lieutenant Lucas and two other government men were here the fore part of the week and surveyed out a tract of land belonging to Mrs. Ora Carter, of Honolulu with the idea of buying it for a landing field for government airplanes. It is reported from a reliable source that an offer has been wired to Mrs. Carter by the work will begin within a reasongovernment, and if she accepts, able time by the government in converting the 60-acre tract into a landing field, electrically equipped and lighted to permit of night flying.

With the wide-spread idea of a practical air mail service among the people of the country the government is seeking landing fields among routes where future mail service will be carried on. It is understood that several of these landing fields are to be located in the county.

The landing field sought in Missouri bottom would doubtlessly be a practical one in carrying on air mail operations, as it has already been chosen as the landing point for mail planes on several occasions when the dense fog prevented further progress southward with the mail during the winter months

SHOOL AT SMITH RIVER CLOSED TO AVOID DISEASE

REEDSPORT, Nov. 21.—The Smith River high school and the Consolidated schools of Smith River have been closed down for a period of two weeks as a guard against infantile paralysis, according to the report made from the school board of that district. The move came as a result of the visit of one of the teachers and one of the pupils to Eugene during the Armistice day football game.

Due to the fact that Eugene has reported several cases of infantile paralysis and has closed one of the high schools the directors of the local schools decided to close the schools for a period of two weeks.

At a mass meeting held last Monday at the school building, a decision was reached which ruled that all children must remain in the community and not visit elsewhere.

TUG-O-WAR TEAMS MEET THIS WEEK

The annual inter-class rivalry at tug-o-war will occupy the interest of the senior high school classes this week. Tonight the teams from the sophomore and senior classes will contest at 4:30 o'clock and tomorrow night the juniors will pull against the winners of tonight's contest. Next Monday night the two losing teams will pull for the consolation prize. The points gained in this competition count on the interclass cup that is being awarded each year to the class having the highest standing in athletic and scholastic standings. The tug-o-war schedule makes it necessary to shift the championship football game to Wednesday. It had been planned to play this game Tuesday. The game is the final one in the inter-class tournament and will be between the senior and sophomore classes. These two teams met recently and the game resulted in a tie score. A cup is being offered the winner by Umpqua Post of the American Legion.

A flat top on a cake when baked is obtained by filling the pans well to the corners and sides, with the mixture, leaving a slight depression in the center. An earthen bowl and wooden cake-spoon lightens the labor in making a cake.
