GIRLS OF HIGH SCHOOL TO SPREAD CHRISTMAS CHEER

Proceeds From Vodvil to be Used in Part for Relief Work in Holiday Season.

As a result of the vodvil presented at the Senior high school auditorium last week the high school girls club has realized a fairly large sum of money to be used to carry on the girls' program in the school and to do Christmas relief work, which is to be undertaken this year for the first time. The activities of the club are directed by Mrs. B. E. Larson, and under her direction the club has outlined a very busy program for this year. The organization is in charge of all activities relating to the girls of the school, one of its chief duties being that of deciding upon the uniforms which the girls wear, this plan having been very satisfactorily operated during recent years. All problems relating to the girls of the school come within the jurisdiction of the club, which this year is further extending its activities by planning to carry on Christmas relief work in the community.

To raise funds to carry on their program the girls Friday night presented an excellent program, which was attended by a crowd that backed the auditorium to capacity. The entertainment consisted of an opening chorus "Hello People", in which Norma Winston, Mildred Sinniger, Lucille Germond, Wave Reed, Hylda Hughes, Jean Whitney, Waldo Harding and Helen Bacher participated. A one-act play, "Skeezicks", was presented by Lila Taylor, Margaret Fields and Jean Ferguson. A novelty dance was cleverly executed by Lela Ellis, Maxine Stearns, Queen Nichols, Esther Wright, Norma Winston and Viola Bohn. The "Meow Chorus", which presented a clever act, was composed of Viola Bohn, Mildred Sinniger, Lela Ellis, Josephine Cachelin, Norma Winston, Lucille Reed and Wave Reed. "The War is On," was the title of a comic dialogue presented by Norma Strader and Dorothy Arndel.

One of the most unique acts of the evening was the stunt "1850", presented by Barbara Ott, soloist, assisted by a chorus composed of Doris Pickens, Helen Bacher, Jean Whitney, Hylda Hughes, Wave Reed, Queen Nichols, Viola Bohn and Lela Ellis and by Norma Winston and Mildred Sinniger, dancers. A clever tumbling act was given by Gwendolyn Scott, Maxine Stearns, Rachel Smith and Esther Wright.

The chief feature of the entertainment was a 40-minute minstrel, which introduced the new Senior high school girls' orchestra, an organization that music lovers hope to see perpetuated. The participants in the minstrel and the members of the orchestra were as follows:

Chorus: Interlocutor: Maxine Moore, Endmen: Edith Parks, Marjorie Knight, Marguerite Post, Lucille Peterson.

Chorus: Ethel Mae Conn, Opal Cordon, Hulda Matthews, Ruth Thompson, Helen Zimerick, Ruth Meyer, Irma Salsdorf, Marguerite Little, Merle Henry, Grace Bonnin.

Quartette: Coletta Langenburg, Euleta Langenburg, Lillian Sporer, Vera McChuteck. Cloggers: Jessie Smith, Marjorie Crockran.

Orchestra: Piano, Grace Wallace. Violins: Shirley Knight, Agnes Burt, Pauline Hanson, Helen Branton.

Saxophone: Maybelle Rockwell. Flute: Maxine Moore. Banjo: Elsie Patterson, Barbara Ott.

MINING CASE IN CIRCUIT COURT

The case of Alfred Ganzstrom and others against R. W. Thomson and others, was heard in the Circuit court today. This is another mining case involving claim-bar property in the Cow Creek vicinity. The Thomson group holds several claims and are being sued by other groups whose claims overlap those of the Thomasons. A recent suit brought by Mr. Eubanks and his partners resulted in a compromise verdict, dividing the land in question. The case being heard today is practically identical with the Eubanks case tried last week. Attorneys Abraham and Hermann appear for the plaintiffs and Long and Rice for the defense.

MARKETS
 (Associated Press Local Wire)
 PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 21.—The turkey market continues easy at Portland today with receipts ample to meet the demand. There is a wide spread in wholesale prices, dealers quoting from 25 to 43 cents, with a few extra fancy birds bringing 45 cents. The prevailing prices along the coast were 42 to 43 cents with demand good and a large number of birds moving at those prices.

Prospects are that prices may stiffen tomorrow somewhat and Wednesday as the cases for Thanksgiving needs. Prices on other fowls are holding steady around last week's prices. Light hens are bringing 16 to 17 cents while heavy hens are going around 22 to 23 cents at 26 to 27 cents for fat birds. Live ducks are steady at 22 to 25 cents.

Dressed meats continue easy, veal holding steady around 16 to 17 cents while pork is still weak around 19 to 22 cents for the better quality. Egg prices are steady, fresh standard extras down 1 cent to 45 cents; first steady at 40 cents. Medium steady at 24 cents and undressed steady at 30 cents. ROSEBURG MAY PLAY ASHLAND ON THANKSGIVING DAY
 An attempt is being made today by the Roseburg Junior high school to secure a game of football on Thursday, Thanksgiving day, with the Junior high team of Ashland, the game to be played in Roseburg. If this can be arranged the football fans of the city will be assured of one of the best contests of the year. Last Saturday Roseburg tied Medford 7 to 7. Medford and Ashland recently played a tie game and in a second meeting Ashland won by a single touchdown. This would indicate that the Ashland team is slightly stronger than Medford, but still in Roseburg's class. The team is reported to be about the same weight as Roseburg's team, so that the game should be a fine exhibition of football. If arranged it will provide excellent entertainment for the holiday.
