One can hardly escape the Christmas spirit which is pervading the city. Everywhere the invasion of St. Nicholas heralds of the holiday season appears and windows are suddenly blossoming into enticing Yuletide displays to attract the shopper. There could hardly have been a more delightful welcome to usher in the month than the past few days of sunny weather which makes it all the harder for one to realize that in a short month another year will have arrived.

Announcement of the betrothal of a former Roseburg maid and the son of a Sutherland couple, an educational lecture by a well known lecturer, the reception and dinner honoring three prominent people, a delightful Christmas dancing party for a club group, the large bridge and five hundred party sponsored by a club, gatherings of social groups and the wedding of two of the younger set have characterized the past week.

At a charming evening affair for which Miss Mona Porter was hostess on Saturday evening the engagement of Miss Thelma Olmstead formerly of Roseburg, and now of Portland, and Lawrence French, son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. P. French of Sutherlin, was made known to a group of friends here. The news is of special interest in Roseburg where both Miss Olmstead and her fiancé are well known.

While hardly of a social nature, the lecture of Dr. William Wallace Youngson, who gave an educational talk on Monday night enjoyed by a large number of Roseburg folk, was one of the notable events early in the week. On that evening also was the formal reception and dinner honoring Major John P. Bubb and Mrs. Bubb of Eugene and Captain W. L. H. Osborn of this city, the affair being sponsored by the Umpqua Chapter, Reserve Officers Association. Tuesday evening the L. F. T. club joined in a pleasant Christmas dancing party at the Knights of Pythias hall and notable for mid-week was the card party given under the auspices of the Past Noble Grand club.

Quite a surprise to members of the younger set in the city is the announcement of the marriage of Miss Evelyn Beatty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Beatty of Wilbur, and Harry Fletcher of Roseburg. The wedding was solemnized at a quiet nuptial service on Friday evening.

Marriage of Miss Beatty and Harry Fletcher Is Surprised

At a quiet and pretty nuptial service at the hour of 8 o'clock Friday evening Miss Evelyn Beatty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Beatty of Wilbur, became the bride of Harry W. Fletcher of this city, the marriage taking place at the home of Mrs. Cora B. Starnes on Short street. Rev. Joseph Knotts read the marriage ceremony which was attended by only a few.

The marriage comes as quite a surprise to friends of the bride and bridegroom in Roseburg, where both have a wide circle of friends. The attractive bride has been residing in this city for the past several months. Mr. Fletcher is the son of J. M. Fletcher of Coyote, California, and received his education in Roseburg. For the past twelve years he has been connected with newspaper work and is employed in the mechanical department of the News-Review. Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher will make their home in this city.

Dr. and Mrs. Harry W. Titus entertained at their home Thanksgiving Day with a family dinner party, a number of out-of-town guests being here for the occasion.

About the table attractively set with red carnations were covers for Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Hood of Portland, Mrs. Harry Stapleton of Roseburg, John O'Brien, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Akers and son, Richard, Mrs. E. J. Titus, Dr. and Mrs. Titus—Eugene Guard.

STYLISH DIGNITY FOR SNOWY LOCKS

BENDEL, IN THIS LAST OF HIS GOWNS-FOR-STYLES SERIES, DISCUSSES

It May Be Achieved By Cut and Color

BY HENRI BENDEL For NEA Service

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—Last but not least in our series of costuming different types, comes the white-haired woman, whom the winter shows have touched, perhaps, a bit prematurely.

Bright colors are her privilege and ultra stylish modes become her. But she must never seem to try to dress too girlish. A delightful dignity should set her in a class apart and all the flaming hues and unique cuts will only enhance her charm.

Make-up is an important element in a white-haired woman's life. But since that is another field from dressing her, I can only warn her that too definite an artificial coloring tends to harden her expression, while the just right touch of lipstick and rouge make her truly beautiful.

Stunningly Becoming Hues

Reds are stunning on the white-haired woman, as are all the pinks, tushies, purples and deep-tone wine shades that make this winter a delight to the couturier. Greens can she wear, too, and sapphire blue is a delight on her. Browns are a mistake and beige should always be discarded. A soft gray in lace or chiffon, or a silver cloth dress sometimes makes a white-haired woman just too beautiful for words. And I remember fashioning a white gown for a youngish white-haired woman that, she said later, brought her more compliments than she ever received before.

Cut Important as Color

The cut of clothes for this type of woman is as important as the color. Unusual drapes, necklines, odd touches and exaggerated modes of this type or that are apt to make her distinctive looking. But she must never wear the flapper type of bouffant gowns, too short skirts, or the Kate Greenaway cut, of bodice. They are all incongruous on a woman with white hair, even though she be in her early 30's. I like black and white on a white-haired woman, too. Often a rich color of this type gives her a regal elegance that color might not. I show today a day-time semi-formal Worth gown in black chiffon velvet with bolero jacket and unevenly tiered skirt, the tiers running horizontally giving a tight effect across the hips. The dainty blouse under the bolero deserves a word of mention for its lady-like quietness. It is white satin, finely pleated into a simply-bound round neck. Pearl buttons march up the side front, plainly closed, and in similar manner up the tight cuff. The bolero ties across the front, giving somewhat the impression of a tuxedo vest.

Crown Gracefully Shirred

With this is worn a black mushroom hat that has triple shirring to give grace to the front of the crown and a little brim that is almost tri-corn in shape, with a tiny roll to it.

The coat I show is a rich kasha vella in becoming garnet hue with very narrow insets of matching crepe appearing as stitching around the bottom and down the sides of the coat, adding an extremely chic note and giving the coat the feeling of great luxury. Nothing is more becoming to the white-haired woman than the right fur. So this coat has a stole of natural baby lamb in soft silver tone, circling the throat and falling to the hem over the shoulder as well as edging the front opening to the hem.

Silver-Kasha Lined

Deep bell-shaped cuffs of the rich fur slope nearly to the elbow and the lining of the coat is of silver kasha.

The evening gown is a sapphire blue chiffon, beaded all over, as is matching gleaming beads. It has the manner this winter, with the popular front fullness which is so characteristic of Chanel, who fashioned this gown.

The sophisticated note of this gown is the deep U back which has two long ties which fall to the uneven hemline. The gown swashes the hip-line snugly and two ties in the front hang below the dipping front hemline. With it she wears beaded slippers that emphasized the rich color of the gown.

Mrs. Short, Sr., Dinner Hostess Recently

Mrs. George Short, Sr., was hostess for one of the lovely dinners which characterized Thanksgiving among families and friends and invited a group to her country home at Wilbur for a one o'clock dinner.

A pleasant surroundings was achieved with fall blossoms in varied hues, which were carried out in the table decorations. Assisting the hostess were Mrs. George Short, Jr., and Mrs. Clara Trovick. Covers were laid by Mrs. Walker, Professor Bailey and Mrs. Bailey, Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Marsters, Miss Johnson, Miss Maize Walker and Mrs. Short, Sr., the hostess.

Following the dinner the guests enjoyed an afternoon of music and chatting before the large fireplace of the Short home.

This Missionary Society of the South Methodist church held their regular business meeting on Thursday afternoon, being invited by Mrs. J. B. Penhall to the parsonage of the church for the session, at which matters concerning work of the society were discussed.

Miss Jane Wharton Returns to Los Angeles

Miss Jane Wharton returned to Los Angeles the first of the week following a visit with relatives and friends in Roseburg for a few weeks. Miss Wharton was a guest at the home of her father, Joseph Wharton, in West Roseburg and while here was the inspiration for several of the most delightful affairs given the past fortnight by friends.

One of the interesting social events of the week-end was a bridge party Friday evening at the home of Pauline Bubar on Chadwick street. High honors went to Frances Butler, and the consolation prize to Maxine Stearns. At a late hour delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Fred Renner and Mrs. P. T. Bubar. Those enjoying the occasion were: Shirley Knight, Margaret Baum, Mildred Sinner, Maxine Moore, Jean Whitney, Lucille Germond, Vera McClintock, Helen Bergh, Hazel Strickland, Ruth Hoover, Mary Virginia Strawn, Jessie Judd, Dorothy Marsters, Dorothy Geddes, Frances Butler, Elizabeth Renner, Margaret Hewitt, Helen Haecher and the hostess, Pauline Bubar—Orange R.

Mrs. Wm. Bell Entertains Club At Luncheon Monday

Mrs. Wm. Bell invited the members of the Monday Bridge Club and an additional guest to her apartments of Jackson street for a charming one o'clock luncheon this week. The luncheon table held an attractive centerpiece of gladioli in red shades and covers were placed for Mrs. D. B. Bubar, Mrs. H. C. Waddell, Mrs. Ben C. Zigler, Mrs. George A. Bradbury, Mrs. John Thorne, Mrs. A. J. Young, Mrs. A. D. Abbott, Mrs. W. F. Chapman and the hostess.

Bridge was in play during the afternoon and honors were held by Mrs. Waddell.

Miss Goodwin Hostess for Affair Honoring Visitor

One of the charming events arranged to honor Miss Jane Wharton, who was a visitor here until the first of the week, was the dinner and evening of bridge for which Miss Hazel Goodwin was hostess last Saturday evening, bidding a group of intimate friends of the honoree to the J. E. Runyan home.

Honors were held by Miss Helen Casey and the second prize went to Miss Rose Wharton.

Invited for the attractive affair were the Misses Jane Wharton, Helen Casey, Naomi Scott, Beas

Mrs. R. Ewens Is Hostess at Club Party

The Garden Valley Women's Club was entertained at an attractive afternoon party on Thursday at the home of Mrs. R. Ewens.

Following a brief business meeting the guests were entertained with games and music. Assisting at the luncheon tables at the end of the afternoon were Mrs. Clifford McKay and Mrs. Hugh Ritchie, Jr. Enjoying the hospitality of Mrs. Ewens were the Mesdames Geo. C. Bailey, R. A. Calhoun, D. C. Ferguson, it S. Hutton, G. McDaniel, A. Niday, J. Erwin Page, Fred Parrott, Hugh Ritchie, Sr., R. H. C. Wood, B. C. Montgomery, Clifford McKay, the Misses Edna Niday, Margaret Ferguson and Eula McKay.

Miss Marion Fisher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Fisher of Roseburg, has been named one of the assistants in the music section on the Beaver staff at O. A. C. The number of Beaver staff members for the forensics, dramatics and music section recently were increased to properly take care of the work. Miss Fisher is a sophomore in home economics at the college.

L. F. T.'s Have Christmas Dancing Party

The Christmas dancing party of the L. F. T. club was a delightful event of the week at the Knights of Pythias hall, where ninety of the members gathered on Tuesday evening. Ott's orchestra furnished the music for the dancers and various program features entertained the club. At the close of the dance a supper was served in the dining room of the lodge hall.

Mrs. Frankel Postpones Visit Here

Owing to the fact of quarantine in both Coos and Douglas counties, Mrs. J. G. Frankel, president of the state federation of women's clubs, who was to have visited the Roseburg Woman's Club here this week and other clubs at the coast, has cancelled her visit and will probably be here the first part of the new year.

A luncheon was to have been given by the Roseburg Woman's Club to honor the visitor on Tuesday and an entertainment of this sort will probably be planned for Mrs. Frankel the new year.

Sherfy, Mrs. Greta Harrison, Lieut. Maurice Bowker, Lieut. Huron Clough, of Canyonville, Lieut. George Spaur and Lieut. Will H. Gerretsen.

During the dinner hour music was played by Ott's orchestra for the entertainment of the guests. The table was spaced at intervals with holly sprays and a large bouquet of chrysanthemums, with candelabra on each side, was used as centerpiece.

Captain Denn was toastmaster and Captain Osborn gave the welcome talk. A very interesting account of his trip east this fall was told by Major Bubb to the officers and guests. He particularly told of his visit to reserve headquarters at Washington, D. C., and of the reserve policies in the east. White of his trip Major Bubb also visited his old regiment in Rochester, New York, where he was assigned for a number of years. An interesting account of his trip to Paris and the Legion convention this fall was given by Lieut. Crafton.

Following the dinner hour the guests went to the lobby of the hotel where tables were arranged for bridge. The guest prize was received by Mrs. Bubb and the ladies prize was won by Mrs. Denn. Major Bubb won the men's prize.

Seattle Matron Entertained at Luncheon

Honoring Mrs. H. H. Manny of Seattle, wife of the Rotary governor of District Number 1, who was a visitor in the city on Thursday, the wives of the board of directors of the Roseburg Rotary Club entertained with a luncheon on that day at the Umpqua hotel.

Covers were placed for Mrs. Manny, Mrs. J. A. Harding, Mrs. Dexter Rice, Mrs. W. F. Chapman, Mrs. J. E. McClintock, Mrs. Joseph A. Denn.

After luncheon the ladies took the guest for a scenic drive and to the Roseburg Country club for the afternoon.

The meeting of the Woodcraft Thimble club, which was to have taken place Friday at the home of Mrs. Earl Rhoades, has been postponed and there will be no meeting before December 16. A definite date will later be set by the club.

Entre Nous Club Entertained by Mrs. Jones

One of the pleasant social club group gatherings of the week was the meeting of the Entre Nous club, which Mrs. Joseph F. Jones entertained on Wednesday afternoon at her apartments in the Hotel Grand.

Honors at bridge were held by Mrs. Joseph A. Denn. Confections were served at the tables during play. Present for the occasion were the Mesdames W. F. Chapman, Joseph A. Denn, A. H. Moore, A. G. Sutherland, A. H. Harding, A. D. Abbott, C. W. Wharton, an added guest and the hostess.

The children's Christmas party which was to have been given by the Umpqua Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, has been cancelled, according to an announcement made today by the regent, Miss Katherine Busenbark.
