CHRISTMAS SUPPLY OF COLD STORAGE POULTRY
LESS THAN YEAR AGO

The Christmas supply of cold storage poultry, including turkeys, broilers, fryers, roasters, fowls, and miscellaneous poultry is smaller this year than last, but stocks of meats and butter are in larger supply, according to today's report by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, United States Department of Agriculture, on cold storage holdings December 1.

Total poultry stocks are placed at 84,758,000 pounds compared with 106,554,000 pounds on December 1, last year. Of total stocks there are 5,237,000 pounds of turkeys in storage compared with 6,812,000 pounds on the same date a year ago.

Meats in cold storage December 1, totaled 54,787,000 pounds against 53,331,000 pounds last year. Stocks of lard are smaller, being placed at 45,503,000 pounds compared with 46,744,000 pounds last December. Lard production during November is placed at 101,470,000 pounds against 100,051,000 pounds in November, 1926. The supply of creamery butter in storage is placed at 83,240,000 pounds compared with 64,381,000 pounds on December 1 a year ago; American cheese 53,468,000 pounds against 65,881,000 pounds; and case eggs 2,964,000 cases against 3,215,000 cases last December.

Stocks of barreled apples are less than half those of a year ago, being placed at 2,965,000 barrels against 4,554,000 barrels last year. There were also 13,331,000 boxes of apples in storage December 1 against 15,083,000 boxes last year, and 3,900,000 bushel baskets against 2,713,000 bushel baskets a year ago.

FIRE CHIEF WANTS
SANTA CLAUS TO CUT OFF HIS WHISKERS

Santa Claus has been asked by Fire Chief James Fletcher to shave off his whiskers. Santa Claus, however, feels that his hirsute adornment is a necessity in resisting polar cold and so has countered with an agreement to make his whiskers fireproof by dipping them in a solution of ammonia phosphate.

Christmas, the fire chief says, is a time of great fire danger. Some of this danger has been eliminated by electric tree lamps instead of candles, but still there is much danger of fire as a result of inflammable decorations, clothing, candles, etc., and the firemen always breathe much easier when the holiday is over for Christmas Day usually finds the fire department on the alert.

The ten commandments of fire prevention, Fire Chief Fletcher says, are as follows:

1. Avoid the use of candles and open flames for Christmas trees and other decorations. Look out for short circuits in electric wiring and connections.
2. In case candles are used, be sure that the flame can not possibly come in contact with the dry needles of the tree or any other inflammable decorations, curtains or drapes.
3. Use nonflammable materials to represent snow and frost on and around the Christmas tree or where they may catch fire.
4. Be careful that the "kiddies" do not get near the candles or open fireplace with their flimsy clothing or "nighties."
5. Place all celluloid and other flammable and explosive decorations away from danger of catching fire.
6. If motion pictures are shown in the home, be sure to buy the "acetate" or safety film and avoid the "nitrate" or highly flammable film.
7. In case of fire: Call the fire department first. Then try to put it out by fire extinguisher, water, or another with a rug, blanket or whatever is handy.
8. Christmas decorations and clothing used for public festivities, where open flames are used for illumination, can be made fire resistant by dipping in a solution of ammonium phosphate (commercial ammonium phosphate, 1 pound; water, 1 gallon). Wring and dry; will not injure materials and will make colors fast.
9. An effective way to quench fire in a person's clothing is to wrap a blanket, rug or woolen cloth tightly around the body and roll upon the floor or ground.
10. The first application to a burn should be sweet oil, olive oil or sweet cream and then dust with flour or baking soda to exclude the air. Call a doctor.

HOME LUXURY—PLUS

"The maximum of luxury in the minimum of space" might well be the slogan of "The Elton," a pleasant, brown-shingled home with light trimmings.

"The Elton" seems to put into practice the belief that the man and woman of moderate means is deserving of all sorts of luxuries—spacious rooms that give a sense of peace, ample storage space and a living room at once noticeably long and well-planned. Built-in book-cases from the fireplace to the end of the living room insure an easy reading corner impregnable to outside disturbances.

Each of the three bedrooms has a luxury all its own—a private dressing room. And opening off each dressing room is a roomy closet, which takes care of keeping clothes put away.

A double linen closet, spacious bath, a breakfast nook downstairs and two very attractive porches all enhance "The Elton's" appeal.

HOOVER BOOM IS BEING QUESTIONED

(Associated Press Leased Wire)
NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—The New York World, Democratic, in a dispatch from Washington today, says the constitutional eligibility of Herbert Hoover for the presidency is being questioned; that the question, first raised in a "whispering" campaign, has become of interest to his friends.

The constitution provides that no one shall be eligible for the office "who shall not have attained the age of 35 years and been 14 years a resident within the United States."

The World says for 20 years before he became food administrator in 1917, Mr. Hoover was much in the Orient and Europe, and that those who say his legal residence was abroad until 1917 declare they have strong legal evidence bearing on this point.

Those who question Mr. Hoover's eligibility, the article adds, maintain the constitution means that the fourteen years of residence within the United States must be continuous up to the time of taking office.

Mr. Hoover was born in West Branch, Iowa, August 20, 1874, and remained in the United States continuously until 1897, the World says.

Edgar Rickhard of New York, who was associated with Hoover in Belgium relief work, and has known him since 1910, is quoted in the article as saying that Mr. Hoover has maintained a home and residence in the United States during their friendship and physically has been in the United States each year, though abroad from time to time.

The World discusses how Hoover's status may be settled. One suggestion is that a voter may raise the issue in a suit in state courts in some state having a preferential primary, thus paving the way to bring the case before the United States supreme court. Another suggestion is that congress may raise the question when in joint session to count the electoral votes. The article says that senators to whom the question has been submitted do not feel justified in giving opinions without considerable study.

NORMAL SCHOOL TO HOLD BASKETBALL
TOURNEY, MAR. 9

A tournament for secondary high schools of Southern Oregon is being arranged by the Southern Oregon Normal at Ashland according to an announcement made by R. W. McNeal, athletic director. Coos, Curry, Jackson, Josephine, Douglas, Klamath and Lake counties have within their borders fifty-one so-called "secondary" high schools, these being schools having enrollments of less than one hundred students. On account of distance, road conditions, lack of funds, etc., the basketball teams representing these high schools find it impossible to get satisfactory schedules and as no district organization exists, no team can lay claim to championship honors.

The Southern Oregon Normal is vitally interested in school affairs in this section of the state and is announcing an invitational basketball tournament to be held in Ashland March 9th and 10th, and will send out invitations to all schools of the district making a good showing during the coming season. Suitable awards will be made to the winners and the district championship will be settled.
