WITH the Yule period a thing of the past one thoughtfully turns to the new year, wondering what new marvel of the gae will develop before its end. New Year's—what a world of significance lies in those two words. A brief year is passing, another is ready to pop around the corner, and here we are again ready for new resolutions. The departure of the old year and the welcome of a new one will be marked in town by several pleasant affairs.

Quite the largest event for the evening will be the New Year's watch party and dance for members of the Roseburg Country Club at the clubhouse, which has been made a festive place with holiday decorations as an appropriate setting for this much anticipated annual party. Several folk have reserved tables for the dinner-dance to be given at the Rose Hotel tonight. Entertainment of music and a dance program have been arranged as diversion for the invited guests for the evening. The DeMolays and Bethel No. 8 of Roseburg Job's Daughters are joining in a social affair and other attractive small gatherings for the evening have been planned also.

During the week there have been several events to observe the interval between the two holidays. The 47th annual Christmas ball sponsored by the Roseburg Fire Department was a wholly delightful Christmas night event at the Oriental Gardens with one of the largest attendances of the season. Thursday evening was a very pleasant occasion for the members of the L. F. T. club, who were gathered for a post-Christmas dancing party at the Knights of Pythias hall. Following the dance program a supper was served the guests.

The holiday period is fast moving to a close—ending one of the most delightful seasons of the year—and the new week will see the exodus of the younger set, who are going back to the colleges and universities, and the return home of visitors whose stays in the city have been notably interesting this year.

Enjoyable Family Reunion at Xmas Eve Party

J. S. Moore was host to a merry party and family reunion at his ranch at Days Creek on Christmas Day. The list of guests who were present for the mid-day dinner included all of Mr. Moore's living children and grandchildren, and numbered among them are: Mr. and Mrs. Allan P. Church and son of Canas Valley, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Duncan and son, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Moore and family, Mr. and Mrs. V. W. Moore and son, Mr. and Mrs. V. T. Hutchinson and family, Mr. and Mrs. Nevell Woods and son, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Bigham and son from Snyder, Alaska, Ed Duncan, F. W. Bigham, Richard Bigham of Spokane, R. G. Wells of Bridge, McKinley Hanks, Miss Betty Mast and Howard Moore. They were joined in the evening by Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Rhoads of Jacksonville, Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Moore and family, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Poole, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Poole and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Poole and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Poole and daughter of Trall, Leslie Poole, Andy Poole, Charles Poole and Phillip Hart.

Music and games occupied the time and at midnight a buffet supper was served.

Stephenson Home Scene of Xmas Day Dinner

Carrying out a delightful tradition established a number of years ago, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Stephenson entertained a group at 1:20 o'clock dinner on Christmas Day at their home at 209 South Flint street.

Seated about the table, appointed in holiday colors, were Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Black, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Osborn, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Smith, Athalia Taylor, Cecil Black of Kelso, Washington, Sam Black of Albany and Woodley Stephenson.

Angelic Touch

Fluttering wings of sheer lace on Milady's shoulder give a bit of an angelic touch to her evening gown.

Club Dance Is Large Event of Thursday

Prominent among the week's large social events and a wholly delightful one was the post-Christmas dancing party of the L. F. T. Club which was attended by fifty couples on Thursday eve.

The Knights of Pythias hall was reserved for the occasion and was transformed into a holiday setting with greenery. Christmas trees stood in two corners of the room and on the platform there were arranged three trees to carry out the decorative note. Ropes of green boughs from the lights in the dancing room. At 10:30 o'clock the club members held their annual exchange of gifts and at the end of the dance program supper was served in the dining room. Here, too, a holiday note was used in decoration and the only light in the room was furnished by Christmas candleabra on the tables.

Mrs. Myrtle Belfis, former Roseburg matron, who has been here for a few days as the house guest of Mrs. J. F. Shields, is returning today to her home in Eugene. During the holidays Mrs. Belfis was in Grants Pass visiting at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Wm. Cramer.

Mrs. A. C. Marsters Hostess Today

Mrs. A. C. Marsters is having a group of matrons to her home on South Kane street today for a one o'clock luncheon. Sewing will compose the afternoon's diversion for which ten have been included in the guest list.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Josse and son, Jack, who have been here over the holidays as guests of Mrs. Josse's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Barker, are returning to their home in Portland for New Year's.

Christmas Dinner Planned by Mrs. Kruse

Mrs. Carrie Kruse planned one of the charming family dinners which marked Christmas in the home in the city, asking nineteen to her home in West Roseburg Sunday. The prettily appointed table held covers for Mrs. S. E. Burrows, Mr. and Mrs. E. Mabley, Velma, Dorothy, Edna, and Elwood Mabley of Eugene, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Mabley and Eugene Mabley of Alberta, Canada, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Kruse, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Mabley and Charissa Mabley, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Burrows and Robert Burrows, Walter Kruse, E. M. Myers and the hostess.

Dinner Party Is Event of Wednesday

For a group of thirteen folk Mrs. Carrie Kruse entertained informally at dinner on Wednesday at her home in West Roseburg. Invited for the occasion were Mrs. S. E. Burrows, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Davis and son, Edna, of Eugene, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Mabley and daughter, Charissa, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Mabley and three children, and Walter Kruse.

Woman's Club Plans Program for Tuesday

The Roseburg Woman's Club has planned a program for the regular fortnightly meeting which will take place the afternoon of January 2 at the club building on South Jackson street. Refreshments are to be served at the tea hour following the entertainment.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon McElloch are entertaining at their home on the father's father, N. P. Gillespie, who is here from Tacoma for ten days.

Christmas Eve Party Is Charming Affair

Laurel Ranch, near Umpqua, was the scene of a gay frolic on Christmas Eve when Mr. and Mrs. Orville H. Johnston entertained with a holiday supper.

The rooms of the Johnston country home were beautifully decorated with mistletoe, ferns and potted chrysanthemums. An attractively lighted Christmas tree was the chief attraction. The table was centered with mistletoe, and candle light cast a soft glow over the scene.

Dancing and music were the chief diversions of the evening following the supper. Those enjoying the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Johnston were Mr. and Mrs. Sidney M. Adams of Great Oaks Farm, Umpqua; Mrs. M. E. Durman of Umpqua; Mrs. Hattie Whitney of Laurel Hill, Oakland; Miss Myra Adcock of Willamette University; Misses Gertrude and Alice May Adams; and Audrey and Phyllis Johnston.

Miss Gertrude Dolan, a former Roseburg maid, is being warmly welcomed by her many friends during her stay in the city as the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jan Dolan. Miss Dolan now makes her home at Nowhall, near Los Angeles.

Chouquette, a new straw in a new green shade, takes a wing of matching felt for decoration in this mid-season chapeau with a narrow brim.

Group Entertained at Informal Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Wharton entertained with an informal dinner party at their home on Chadwick street last evening. In addition to Mrs. Wharton, guests were Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Josse and son, Jack, of Portland, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Barker and Mr. and Mrs. I. G. Broadway. Holiday colors were used in the table appointments.

Mrs. Penhall Hostess for Younger Group

Mrs. J. B. Penhall arranged an attractive evening party on Thursday at the parsonage of the South M. E. Church, inviting for the affair a group of young folk. Games entertained the guests and later in the evening refreshments were served to the Misses Leah McLaughlin, Maude McGahey, Dorothy Dale Jackson, Mildred Coates, Lucille Rand, Elizabeth Penhall and Virginia French and Elton Jackson, Clarence Rand and Harold Rand.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert D. Quine entertained at Christmas dinner on Sunday for Mr. and Mrs. Fred M. Rowley and Miss Helen Russell of Eugene and Miss Mattie Perry of this city.

Ritzman Family Reunited at Xmas Dinner

A particularly attractive affair arranged for the holiday period was the dinner on Sunday when Mrs. Ritzman entertained at her home in West Roseburg for a large group which included several folk from out of town.

A holiday setting was used in the rooms and at the table. Bidden for the occasion were Mrs. E. F. Marcel and son of Portland, Mrs. Elsie Wright, Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Pierce and two sons of Everett, Wash., Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ritzman, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Gilkeson and two daughters, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Flebner of Seattle, Mr. and Mrs. Hal E. Whitten of Portland, Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Diddel, Sr., of Riddle, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Ritzman, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Nee of Butte Falls, Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Diddel, Jr. of Riddle, Miss Gertrude Craig of Portland, Miss Katherine Diddel of Riddle, Rudolph Ritzman.

P. T. Randall was host for a dinner party on Christmas Day at his home, having as guests, Mrs. Harold Irwin of Klamath Falls, Miss Helen Bell, Miss Eugenia Randall, Paul Hutham and Stewart Randall of Portland.

Mrs. Wharton Hostess for Club at Luncheon and Annual Xmas Party

A pretty one o'clock luncheon was the diversion planned by Mrs. Charles W. Wharton on Wednesday when she entertained the matrons of the Monday Book Club and additional guests at her home on Chadwick street.

Incidentally the event also was given as the annual Christmas observance of the club and following luncheon the exchange of gifts among members was made at an attractively decorated tree. The table appointments were in red and green with holly as the centerpiece and red candles marking each side of the arrangement.

Mrs. A. V. Wimberly and Mrs. D. H. Morgan were club guests. The club members bidden for the afternoon included Mrs. C. S. Helms, Mrs. P. T. Bubar, Mrs. Dean Bubar, Mrs. M. E. Rice, Mrs. W. H. Fisher and Mrs. Washington Hughes.

Mrs. K. E. Sandquist planned a dinner party for Monday at her home in Melrose, placing covers about the prettily appointed table centered with poinsettias for Mr. and Mrs. Harry Maybee of Portland, Mr. and Mrs. Carl W. Lundeen of Roseburg, K. E. Sandquist of North Bend, Walter Sandquist and Harry Sandquist.

Palm Beach Contributes a Dressed-up Small Chapeau to Easter Fashions

BY HENRI BENDEL
For NEA Service

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—Dressing up the small hat with little brims and multitudinous manners of trimming will be Palm Beach's contribution to Spring headgear.

Each year as I make hats for the Southland, I realize what hat-bingers of spring Palm Beach hats are. True, the snow may be flying when they are fashioned, packed and worn. But the lines they take and the materials they employ lead the Easter fashion parade.

Big Hats Incomparable

Many are asking if the big hat will retain its popularity of last season. My answer is that no small hat on earth can come anywhere near its grace and dignity. But, personally, I think the small hat's convenience will win out with women.

Spring hats will augment the lines for winter. The curtain line will lack its counterpart in straw. Straw seems to call for some suggestion of a brim, even if it is only a ribbon one.

As a link between winter and

Spring, a compromise between wear for the northern winds and the southern sunshine, the travel hats do not gradually dash into summer materials. Rather they skilfully suggest happy unions between felts and straws.

A huge Milan straw purple hat, for instance, has a soft violet georgette lining and a stockinette crown in three shades of fuchsia. Its banding is of violet, to increase the feeling of more warmth.

While ballyhoo and woven materials of last year continue modish, some new weaves of straw include chouquette, a loose and pilable weave; yedda, a shiny straw, and gold and wool weaves. As for colors, greens, tawny browns, and all the purplish shades are good. Felt and chouquette, in a peacock blue-green, fashion one of the smartest of the new mid-season hats. Its brim is hardly more than a suggestion of one, yet that little rolling bit of grace does much to soften a woman's features and bring out her beauty.

The crown has a self-toned wing of fine felt applied on at an interesting angle, from the back to the front side. Subtle ornamentations of this type are to supplant the universal use of jeweled pins on hats, whether or not they are in feeling with the style and material of the hat itself. Grosgrain ribbon bands and binds this dainty first sign of spring.

Tawny brown, with golds and bronzes glinting in its feathered ornamentation, the Bangkok straw shown today has a graceful simplicity welcome to the well-dressed woman.

Its crown is a bit higher than the soft-woven straws and its slightly rolling brim continues smartly across the back.

Applied Feathers. New, and very interesting, is the "feather embroidery" which fancily stripes the front. In reality this is applied feather tips, an admirable softening influence for a straw as formally rigid as Bangkok.

The shape, color, straw and ornamentation of this hat are all noteworthy because, while they do not seem so dissimilar to last season's, have that indefinable difference that marks the hat as a chic new and likely to be a forerunner of many spring models.

Gold and bronze-linked feathers work a novel applique across the front of the new, high crown of this tawny Bangkok.

Miss Bell Hostess at Family Dinner Christmas

An attractive family dinner prominent among affairs given on Christmas Day was that for which Miss Minnie Bell was hostess at her home on Terrace Avenue.

A hanging basket of bells extended from the lights over the table, which had as a centerpiece a bowl of poinsettias. Covers were laid for Mrs. Frances Lindott, Mrs. Hazel Dixon, Mrs. S. W. Bell, Mrs. W. H. C. Parker, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Bell of Portland, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Bell, Betty Jane Dixon, Maynard Bell, Raymond Bell, Louis Hillman Bell, I. S. Ketch and the hostess.

Event Given as Adieu to Mr. and Mrs. Starr

A pleasant event arranged for Friday evening was the five hundred party for which Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Shields were hosts honoring Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Starr, who are leaving Roseburg soon to make their home in Newport.

Invited for play were the honor guests and Mrs. Myrtle Belfis of Eugene, Mrs. Davidson, Mrs. Hattie McAfee, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Worthington, Mr. and Mrs. O. Wallace and O. D. Newhard. At the end of the game luncheon was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wilson, parents of Mrs. T. W. Laraway, who have been guests of Dr. and Mrs. Laraway for a fortnight, returned mid-week to their home in Portland.

Watch Party to Be Event of This Eve

To bid adieu to the old year and welcome the new year the DeMolays and Bethel Number 5 of Roseburg Job's Daughters are joining this evening in a New Year's watch party, which will be given at the Masonic hall.

Twenty-five couples will participate in the entertainment, members of both organizations being privileged to invite additional guests. Entertainment will consist of a new and a program and late in the evening refreshments will be served.

Life's Niceties

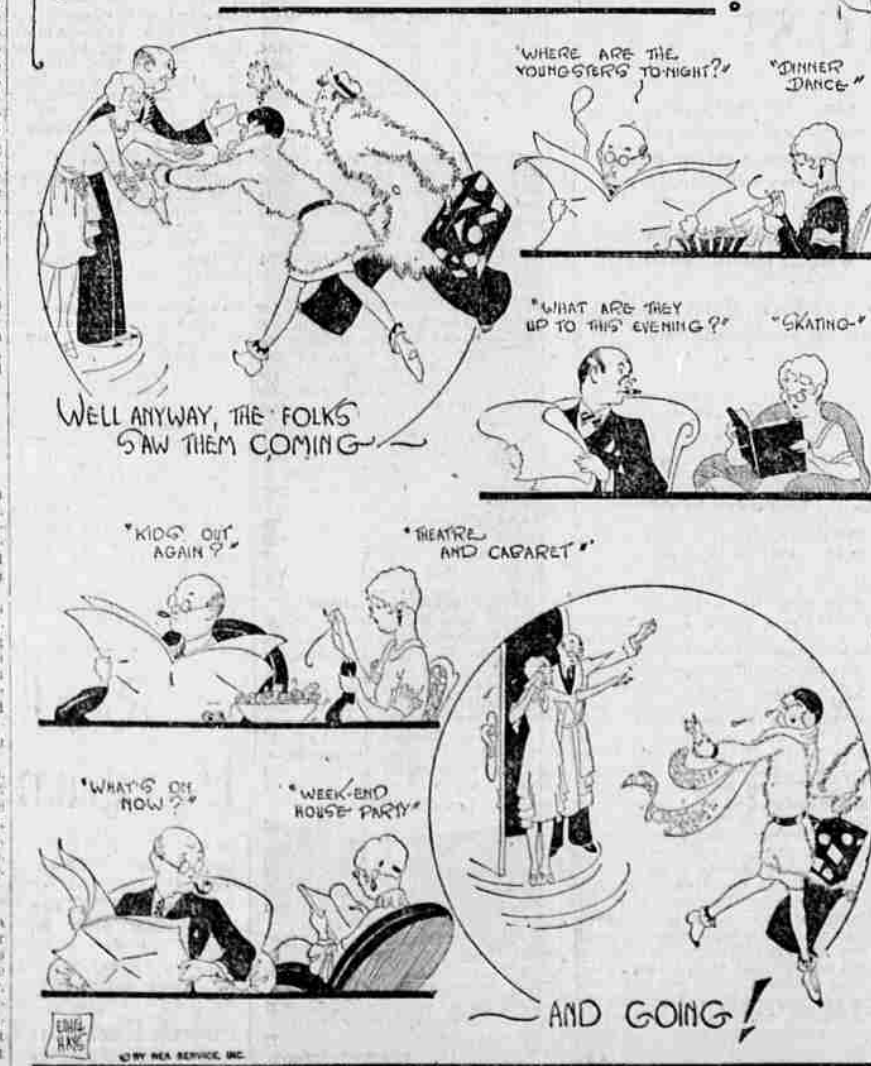

HINTS ON ETIQUET

1. What is the proper dress for a woman making New Year's calls?
2. How should a man dress?
3. What does a hostess receive in?

The Answers

1. Her best looking afternoon costume, as New Year's is a "dressy" time.
2. In his best daytime clothes—in large cities, in cutaway and high hat.
3. Her most charming afternoon frock of chiffon, velvet or lace, long sleeved as the mode is now, but more formal than a daytime frock.

HOME FOR THE HOLIDAYS?

Mr. and Mrs. Waddell Dinner Hosts Tuesday

A centerpiece of holly with red candles on each side formed the table decorations for the dinner party given Tuesday evening by Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Waddell at their home on Kane and Lane streets. The invited list included Mrs. L. W. Josse and son, Jack Josse, of Portland, Mrs. Russell Dunham of Marshfield, Mr. and Mrs. I. G. Broadway, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Barker, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Wharton and Dr. and Mrs. George A. Bradburn.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Davenport of Umpqua had as their dinner guests on Christmas Day Mr. and Mrs. Cecil H. Hamm of Cosmopolis, Washington, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Henaley, and L. E. Hamm of Roseburg.

Dinner Party Is Attractive Event Friday

Exquisite in detail was the dinner party on Friday evening for which Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Marsters were host for a group of their friends at their home on South Kane street. Holly was used in the dining room and at the table a colorful bowl of Jerusalem cherries was used as a centerpiece.

Covers were placed for Mrs. Russell Dunham of Marshfield, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Richardson of Portland, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Gile, Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Marsters, Dr. and Mrs. George A. Bradburn, Miss Dorothy Marsters and the hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Gruber of Portland, who arrived here Christmas morning to be guests of Mrs. Gruber's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Dowell, have been extensively entertained by their friends during the week. On Monday Mr. and Mrs. Frank Warner invited them for a dinner party at their home at 740 South Mill street. Also included in the list were Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Rose of Red Bluff, California.

Group Entertained Informally at Bridge

On the day following Christmas Mr. and Mrs. Clarence R. Blaxall entertained informally for a group of their friends in their home in Ramona Court.

Bridge was the diversion and honors were held by H. Branson. Luncheon covers were placed at the end of the game for Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Tierney, Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Rickell, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Boyd, Dr. and Mrs. H. G. Philpott, Miss Mildred Sinnott, R. Branson and the hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Richardson (Stella Hamilton) of Estacada are being welcomed by friends here. They will visit with relatives and friends in Roseburg until after New Year's.

Out of Town Guests Bidden for Xmas Affair

A table centered with a bowl of fragrant roses and violets, with place cards corresponding in detail, was used for the dinner party given on Christmas Day by Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Smith at their home in Myrtle Creek, where several out of town guests were bidden.

The list included Mr. and Mrs. Grover Hughes of Klamath Falls, Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Crosby and son, Raymond, of Medford, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Davis of Roseburg, Phyllis Jane Smith and Ed Smith of Riddle.

Mrs. Bertha Kaeppler of LaCrosse, Wisconsin, is being entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schwartz on East Douglas street through the holidays. She is a sister of John Schwartz of this city. Mrs. Kaeppler is being welcomed during her visit by her many friends who met her during previous stays in Roseburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard C. Waddell left Friday afternoon for San Francisco, where they will spend New Year's visiting.

Announcement of Williams-Dynne Nuptials Is Surprise of Holidays

Announcement of the marriage of Miss Mauda Dyke of Melrose and Vandrann Williams of Roseburg which was an event of the holidays is an interesting surprise to their friends in the city.

The ceremony took place Thursday evening at the parsonage of the First Methodist Episcopal church, Rev. Joseph Knotts reading the nuptial service. The wedding was attended by only a few. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. K. H. Dyke of Melrose, and attended school in Seattle, from where she came a year ago. Mr. Williams is the son of Mrs. Cora B. Starnier of this city and attended the local schools. For the past three years he has been in the service of the Western Union company here and is in line for promotion. Mr. and Mrs. Williams will leave Roseburg as soon as the promotion is made but as yet are uncertain where the appointment will be made. For the present they will make their home here.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Burch returned to Roseburg mid-week after spending the holiday in northern and eastern Oregon. Mrs. Burch was with relatives at Pendleton for Christmas and joined Mr. Burch at Graham, where he visited his parents before returning here.

New Year's Dancing Party to Be Given This Evening

With holiday decorations in the season's colors providing an attractive setting and several entertaining features planned for diversion during the evening, everything is in readiness for the New Year's dancing party at the Roseburg Country Club tonight.

Mrs. B. Casey and Mrs. A. A. Wilder are joint chairmen of the decoration committee, which has been working out attractive ideas for the transformation of the club rooms. Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Harding and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dehn are acting as joint chairmen for the general committee. A meeting of the refreshment committee, which Mrs. Geo. T. Bolter and Mrs. Chas. W. Wharton head, was held Thursday to complete plans for the supper which is to follow the evening's entertainment.

Those who have been arranging for the affair have made plans for a large attendance of members. One room is being reserved for those who wish to play bridge and prizes will be offered for the players. In the large club room will be dancing. Mrs. C. A. Lockwood and Mrs. Harry Pargeter, who are in charge of the favor stands have prepared some interesting ideas.
