

1928 WHIPPET SEDAN

Marked refinements are noted in the 1928 Whippet which is being presented by Willys-Overland following a recent announcement of new low prices. The Whippet 4-door sedan shown above presents an even more graceful appearance than its predecessor, the streamline effect being enhanced by employment of full crowned fenders and a town car type sun visor that imparts a smart military air. The interior is marked by unusual roominess for driver and passengers. Remote door controls is another feature while rear view mirror, stop light and automatic windshield wiper have been added as standard equipment. New exterior colors blend perfectly with the rich interior upholstery and appointments. The Whippet is powered by a four-cylinder engine that has set a new standard of performance in the light car field for power, speed, economy, smoothness and stamina. This model is offered in a new low price class along with the other Whippet models, setting a new mark for quality in the light car field.

EXPLOSION OF FIREWORKS SAID TO BE BAD OMEN

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

BOMBAY, India, Jan. 18.—A carload of fireworks being taken to Udaipur in connection with the celebration of the wedding of their apparent of Udaipur to The daughter of a petty chief of the state of Jodhpur exploded today and two persons were killed.

This was regarded as a divine warning against the marriage which is meeting much opposition as the bridegroom is a semi-invalid of fifty and already married. The prospective bride is only 17 and she is understood to be on a hunger strike.

SINGER SUICIDES RESULT FAILURE

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—The Marovska, 30 year old lyric singer of haunting folk-songs, made her debut at a New York theatre last Sunday.

It was just another debut to the critics and most of the city, but to Miss Marovska it was the realization of many years of dreams, study and privations.

The audience, many of them her friends, applauded politely at the conclusion of her recital and went home. Newspaper critics, for the most part, gave her appearance only casual mention.

Heartbroken, Miss Marovska telephoned Arthur Warner, music editor of the Nation, who had befriended her in her straits.

He invited her to his Brooklyn apartment and when he arrived home last night, he found her body, fully clothed, in the bathtub, a tube attached to an open gas jet in her mouth.

"I am a failure in my vocation, and it is now too late to make a new start," she said in a farewell note.

FINGER PRINTS OF WOMAN NOT FOUND

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

CHICAGO, Jan. 18.—Doris Kirk's finger prints, upon which police sought to connect her with the Betty Chambers murder, have disappeared, if, indeed, they ever existed.

When the former church organist was arrested two days ago police said her fingerprints corresponded with those found on adhesive tape bound about the mouth and nose of the slain woman. The revelation is now made by Dr. Joseph Springer, police criminologist, that there are no fingerprints at all on the tape.

This development favorable to the accused young woman had no duplicate in the case of her husband, James Kirk, jointly charged with her. Mrs. Hattie Oleson appeared at police headquarters and identified Kirk as her husband and demanded an opportunity to place bigamy charge against him.

Apparent collapse of the finger-print evidence has given impetus to the police search for the slain woman's husband, Gordon Chambers, with whom she quarreled a few days before her death.

"Many citizens of this state, in passing through Roseburg, have seen these signs—some of them have stopped and turned aside from the main route and visited the Home; others have driven on with the idea in their minds that they would stop in another way back."

"Many citizens of this state, in passing through Roseburg, have seen these signs and have become aware of the fact that the Soldiers' Home is situated in Roseburg, and very frequently the statement is made at our information desk that they were going to drop in and see it sometime."

"The erection of directional signs showing the way to the Soldiers' Home has already declared dividends in both cash and friendship. Many people driving through Roseburg have seen these signs—some of them have stopped and turned aside from the main route and visited the Home; others have driven on with the idea in their minds that they would stop in another way back."

"Many citizens of this state, in passing through Roseburg, have seen these signs and have become aware of the fact that the Soldiers' Home is situated in Roseburg, and very frequently the statement is made at our information desk that they were going to drop in and see it sometime."

"The erection of a sign giving information as to the interesting things to see in and around Roseburg would be of great value to the city," continued Mr. Shearer, "especially if the signs were erected at the entrance to the city. Tourists are not aware of the many interesting things they pass up as they drive along the highway, and it is the responsibility of each town to inform the visitor within its gates of the things in the vicinity that he should see."

"These people are here to see our state, and it behoves us to see that they are aware of the many things we have to show them. As the stream of travel flows north from that great reservoir of tourists in California, it can be stopped in Roseburg and shown the interesting points in the vicinity. They expect it, and through the Motor Association office in Roseburg and in surrounding towns, they can be stopped in Roseburg with benefit to themselves and the district."

WHAT CAN MAN DO WITHOUT AN AUTO

With the New Year come the new automobiles, the great automobile exhibitions, the excitement of choosing another new car, or the much greater excitement of choosing a first car.

There is demand for millions of new cars in the United States this minute.

Since January, 1927, hundreds of thousands have reached the age that makes it necessary, or acquired the money that must be spent for a better car, or another car, or two new cars.

This is the automobile age, and the automobile is the family's real home. In that home we really live, for we live in our emotions, and automobiling supplies healthful, inspiring, mind-developing exercises.

Motoring gives to the body oxygen, the life of the blood, and gentle exercise that, stimulating "metabolism," prolongs life.

And to the mind the automobile gives everything.

It takes us where we want to go, shows us new country, new people, makes us acquainted with our own "neighborhood," that now, thanks to the automobile, extends for a hundred miles in every direction, and with our great country reaching thousands of miles east, west, north and south.

A man with an automobile has the ocean at his front door, the mountains at his back door, the lakes on one side, the far away country on the other, all within reach.

He, who owns a car, is a free man, free from the law of gravitation that tied men to one spot, until the automobile came.

This was regarded as a divine warning against the marriage which is meeting much opposition as the bridegroom is a semi-invalid of fifty and already married. The prospective bride is only 17 and she is understood to be on a hunger strike.

The humblest kind of bird, little sparrow or the great albatross, supplies wings to each of its little birds. They don't have to stay in the nest waiting for its father and mother to come home and give them a chance to fly. They all fly by them please.

The ideal American home will supply automobiles for all old enough to use them. The one car family is already old-fashioned. The three-car family is here.

He knows little about automobiling, about life's real values who says "It costs to keep up an automobile." That isn't the way to put it. The truth is that it costs not to have an automobile.

How much would an intelligent bird want for his wings?

How much would a poor horse kick, kicking himself along in the dust of the country road, give for a pair of wings if he could get them and had the price?

He would say, "Give me the wings and take all I have."

Don't be a booby; don't be a bird without wings.

And if you can help it, don't let your family be a "One car family."

Have a good, substantial car for your wife and your children, the most valuable possessions you have on earth or ever will have. Have a light, quick, easily parked, easily turned car for yourself and your work.

If the neighborhood in which you live has no convenient garage, move to another neighborhood.

A bird couldn't conveniently use its wings in a rabbit hole, but it would not live in a rabbit hole.

Whether you are planning for your first car or your fourth, fifth or sixth car, no matter what your plans, what you have done or what you plan to do, see the new automobiles.

Find out what has been done by the greatest masters of industrial development in the world, American builders of automobiles.

Study the competition which is all in the line of public service.

Study the quality, value and ingenuity, safety especially. The marvels accomplished by the greatest American industry are almost beyond belief.

There is a car for every man, every family, every need, every pocketbook.

A comfortable car, big or little, with a small house, is a thousand times better than a big house, made uncomfortable by the lack of a car.

In a house you only change your clothes, take a bath, eat and sleep.

In a car you see the world, and every family and friends see it with you.

See your country, see the sky and clouds, the beautiful sky of winter, the warm sky and green fields of summer.

An automobile makes you the possessor of the beautiful earth, free to travel up and down in it, see it, enjoy it, possess it.

Go early and see the new cars, study the marvels accomplished in the greatest competitive, greatest public service industry ever established.

If you haven't a car, get one this week. Better still, get two to make up for lost time, one for yourself, one for your wife.

When not in use the car's don't eat or cost. If taken care of they will last as long as you let them last.

The right kind of an American "fan" is an automobile "fan."

He helps to build the world's most important industry, helps to build human happiness, and especially the happiness of his family and that of his friends.

Get an automobile, get another automobile. Be a free man, a real home on wheels.

HUBBARD VOICES PLEA FOR WORK ON UMPQUA JETTY

view of adverse findings of the district engineer, who favors additional test of the north jetty, coupled with dredging.

Senator McNary and Representative Hawley seconded the presentation by Hubbard, who was likewise aided by representatives of the departments of the interior and agriculture, who told of the benefits to be gained in marketing government timber on the Oregon & California land grant and national forest lands by the proposed harbor improvement.

The question was taken under advisement.

Russell J. Hubbard of Reedsport, is making excellent progress in obtaining a hearing on the Port of Umpqua Jetty project, according to the report of the Washington bureau of the Oregon Journal, which comments as follows:

Russell J. Hubbard of Reedsport, representing the Port of Umpqua, in the greatest competitive, greatest public service industry ever established.

If you haven't a car, get one this week. Better still, get two to make up for lost time, one for yourself, one for your wife.
