YOUNG CLERK CONFESSES TO BIG ROBBERY

Former Employee of Municipal Bureau Member of Bandit Gang.

LOOT WAS HIDDEN

His Quarter Share of $73,600 Taken From Power and Light Bureau Cashed in Hills.

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 21.—Forn Leslie Sadler, 29 year old former clerk in the municipal bureau of power and light, has confessed to police officers that he took part in the $73,600 holdup of the city bureau last September.

Sadler confessed his part in the early morning robbery on the advice of his attorney, whom he called following his arrest last night.

He said he had been given a quarter share in the loot and implicated three men whom he said he had met in a pool hall and knew only their first names.

"I'm caught," Sadler told the police. "All I want to do is to throw myself on the mercy of the court."

Previous to his confession, Sadler had been partly identified as one of the holdup gang.

He told the officers that the robbery, in which holdup men posed as office clerks to gain entry into the building before opening hours, was planned two weeks in advance. Through his position as a clerk in the office of the bureau, Sadler gained a thorough knowledge of the manner in which the payroll was handled.

After the holdup men bound and gagged three cashiers, after having waylaid and kidnaped the one armed guard, they split the money and went their respective ways, Sadler told the officers.

The day before the robbery, Sadler was given his summer vacation of one week. At the close of his vacation he returned to his desk but, with more than $15,000 hidden away, he was able to keep at the daily grind only three weeks.

He had buried his share of the loot in the hills back of Glendale, a suburb. Recently he dug up his wealth and took it to an apartment he had rented. There

SLAIN ROBBER IS IDENTIFIED TODAY

(Associated Press Leased Wire) PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 21.—Through army fingerprint records, police today identified the slayer of a man who was shot to death here the night of January 16, by Mikol Matulewski as Charles Medford.

Matulewski shot the man who put it through a drying process to take off the mould.

Purchase of an automobile, opening of bank accounts and the gossip of neighbors who commented on his apparent wealth, despite the fact that he did not work, were said by the police to have directed suspicion toward Sadler.

ICY BLASTS HIT MANHATTAN TODAY

MOTHER OF "FOX" COMING FOR TRIAL

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Jan. 21.—Mrs. Eva Hickman, mother of William Edward Hickman, slayer of Marian Parker, departed today for Los Angeles to attend the trial of her son, set for January 25.

COSGRAVE GIVEN CHEER IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Jan. 21.—William T. Cosgrave, president of the executive council of the Irish Free State, and his party arrived at the La Salle street station aboard a private car attached to the Twentieth Century Limited at 10:10 o'clock today and were met by a welcoming throng of several hundred persons and a guard of more than 100 police.

The Cosgrave party was met by an official reception committee appointed by Mayor Thompson, all wearing top hats.

Cheers went up from the crowds as the party left the train, and members of the party smiled and bowed as photographers' flashlights boomed.

The police cleared a path through the crowd for the party as it made its way through the concourse to waiting automobiles for a parade up Michigan avenue to the Drake Hotel, where the party will be quartered.

There was no antagonistic demonstration.

OFFICER LEAS SHOTS YOUTH TO HALT HIM

car, and picked Mr. Leas up. We drove around the block and saw the couple starting up east Douglas street.

"It has always been the policy of the officers whenever they find transients out in the residential district to stop them and question them regarding their business and if they have no particular reason for being in that vicinity, they are sent back down town, where they can be kept under surveillance.

This is done to prevent thievery, robberies and holdups in the outlying districts.

"We became more suspicious when we saw the couple separate near the top of the Douglas street hill, the girl starting back toward town while the young man went on out Douglas street. Having seen him out that way earlier in the day, I became convinced that he was intending to steal a car or commit a burglary and so we drove past him and then turned around and came back, Mr. Leas dropping out of the car and stepping out in front of Jackson to question him.

Leas Drew Gun "I did not hear what was said, but suddenly I noticed Leas put up his hands and back towards the car. As he came up to the car he called out to me 'Look out he has a gun.' I shoved my gun up against the window of the car and yelled at Jackson to put up his hands, that I had him covered, and then he started to run. Leas yelled at him to halt and fired two wild shots, but Jackson kept on running and then Leas dropped him.

The sheriff and the deputy picked up the wounded youth, and assisted by Chief of Police Vaughn, who arrived upon the scene very quickly, took him to the hospital. On the way the deputy sheriff dropped off and took Jackson's girl companion into custody.

Leas Covered "When I walked over to Jackson to question him," Deputy Sheriff Leas said, "I told him that I was an officer and that we wanted him to come over to the car and answer some questions. He had both hands in his pockets and he commenced to cuss, and said he didn't have to answer questions from anyone. Then as I stepped up closer he showed a gun against my body and ordered me to put up my hands. I could do nothing but obey and so commenced backing up to the car. As I reached it I called out to Sheriff Wain, and then dodged around the corner of the machine. Jackson started around the other way, but as the sheriff called to him he doubled over and started to run. I fired two wild shots and then pulled down on his legs. Then he yelled out 'I give up, you winged me. We went over to him and searched him but he didn't have a gun on him. We asked him what he had done with it and he said he had dropped it."

After taking the wounded youth to the hospital the officers went back to the scene of the shooting and conducted a search for the gun, which was found about ten feet from where Jackson had fallen. He had tried to throw the weapon into the brush, but it had not gone that far. It was a .32 calibre Colt, fully loaded, and with the safety bar off.

Gave Conflicting Statements Following his arrest the youth made a written statement, in which he admitted that he was attempting to steal a car when the officer approached him. He said that he and the girl were on the way to Eugene where his brother-in-law, Fred Brown, resides, and where they had expected to secure financial help, as their funds were almost gone. He gave many conflicting stories and statements, using several different names and failing to give a satisfactory explanation and account of his past movements, the officers say.

An examination of his wound was made by Dr. Wade immediately after he was taken to the hospital. It was found that the bullet penetrated the fleshy part of the thigh and apparently lodged against one of the pelvic bones. No X-ray examination has yet been made, and unless the bullet gives trouble, it will probably not be removed, as it is thought that the wound will heal up much better if the bullet is left in and the injury not molested. It is not expected that the wound will prove serious.

Thought Was Holdup When interviewed at the hospital this morning, Jackson said that he thought he was being held up.

"I was in a holdup in San Francisco not long ago," he said, "and

SNOW IN PORTLAND

(Associated Press Leased Wire) PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 21.—Snow, which started to fall at noon, was still falling at 2 o'clock and had been in increased density. There was no wind.

I thought this was another one. I didn't hear the man say anything about being an officer and so I pulled my gun on him."

He was unable, however, to give any reason for running, and as he had only 65 cents in his pocket, the officers believe that he would hardly have made such a resistance had he believed the case to be a hold-up attempt.

Making Investigation The officers are convinced that the young man is wanted for some more serious crime and so are trying to trace his past activities and are sending out finger prints and messages to officers in California to endeavor to learn whether or not he is wanted. The girl is also being held in custody until the investigations are completed.

Charged With Assault. District Attorney Guy Corbin stated this afternoon that a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon will be placed against the youth and he will be held for the February grand jury.

"We will make a most thorough investigation into this young man's record," Mr. Corbin said, "as we are convinced that he is wanted somewhere or he would not have been so determined to get away. We will take his fingerprints for identification and will also notify all officers of the city free from criminal activities of transients. This young man has admitted that he was preparing to steal a car. If these transients are permitted to go unmolested we will be overrun with thievery, holdups and burglaries, and no property will be safe. I believe the officers should deal with this class in no uncertain manner and this office will cooperate with them to the fullest extent as long as they remain within their authority, which plainly was not exceeded in this case."

TEXAS TOURNEY ATTRACTS STARS (Associated Press Leased Wire) EL PASO, Texas, Jan. 21.—It is a brilliant band of link warriors who will unshackle their drivers, irons and putters and start on a conquest for $2,200 in the second annual El Paso 72 hole open, which gets under way today.

There are eight outstanding players in the meet, any one of them having the ability to win it right. This class includes Macdonald Smith and Bobby Cruikshank of New York, Harry Cooper and Wee Willie Hunter of Los Angeles, Tommy Armour of Washington, D. C., Joe Tarnosa of New York and Al Espinosa of Chicago. Included in the crop of younger stars who have better than an outside chance to cop the prize are Bill Burke of New York, Leonard Schmutte of Lima, Ohio, and Larry Nabholz of Cleveland.

STAR RUNNERS TO COMPETE TONIGHT

(Associated Press Leased Wire) NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—The best aggregation of runners that has been gathered for any meet so far this season will appear in the Brooklyn college games at the 13th regiment armory tonight.

The feature will be the Brooklyn College "thousand," with Lloyd Hahn, Boston A. A. middle distance star, as the leading entrant. Leo Larrivee, Chicago A. A., is expected to provide stiff opposition for Hahn. Larrivee defeated the Boston flyer to win the event in 1926.

Karl Wildermuth, Georgetown University sophomore, is the headliner for the spring series at 100 meters, 75 yards and 100 yards.

S. P. WINS CASE

(Associated Press Leased Wire) PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 21.—After deliberating for ten minutes in a case that took two weeks to try and called 130 witnesses, the jury in Federal Judge Bean's court today returned a verdict for the defendant in the $91,900 damage suit brought by Albert Sternberg of Albany against the Southern Pacific company.

Sternberg, proprietor of the Albany Tanner company was attempting to collect damage done to his plant by fire, which he alleged was set by sparks from a steam engine working on the railroad line.

A feature of the trial was the denial by Sternberg of a bribe which Mrs. Alice Kelly, witness, claimed he had given her.
