GOD'S PLAN OF
SALVATION IS
SERMON THEME

Rev. Penhall Speaker Last
Night at Union Revival
Service.

ORCHESTRA TONIGHT

Fine Musical Program Is Outlined for Meeting
This Evening—Big Crowds Attend.

Rev. John Penhall, pastor of the M. E. Church, South, preached the sermon at the union revival meeting last night. The crowd was large and appreciative. The congregational singing, under the leadership of Rev. W. R. David, was good, and there was a special song by the Presbyterian choir; also a beautiful vocal duet by Mrs. Gertrude Wickham Whipple and Grace Wickham Deets.

Tonight it is expected that the orchestra, directed by Mrs. Young, will begin playing about 7:15. There will also be a violin solo by Miss Naomi Scott. Those who desire good seats should come early. Mr. Penhall's text last night was Luke 19:10, "For the Son of man is come to seek and to save that which was lost." By way of introduction the speaker told the story of the rescue of 28 men from a ship wrecked off Bandon harbor. "As a people, we are out on life's tempestuous waves," said Mr. Penhall. "We are being tossed hither and thither by the storms of life. Men are drifting to the right and to the left, and some folks are wondering about their safety. I would like to have the spirit of a Moody, the expression of a Spurgeon, but I want to bring to you in my simplicity the message that Jesus Christ came to seek and to save that which was lost. It is said that sheep will go from one pasture to another, but they will not come back to the old flock, and that likewise sheep in the great Shepherd's fold, once they get started to wander, will keep on wandering. But the message to tonight is that God gave His only-begotten Son, to seek and to save those that are lost. And the gift of the Son was anticipated in Exodus 14:25, where we learn that God intervened for His people. It was His plan to deliver those whom He loved, to make a way for their escape when escape seemed impossible. He had a great plan to deliver His particular people. To them it seemed impossible, but the man who had the situation in hand, directed by God Himself, said, 'Stand still and see the glory of God.' They stood still and saw that glory. And God opened up the channel of deliverance, and they escaped, but their enemies were lost.

Story of Jonah
"God called Jonah, to send him to Nineveh. But Jonah was of like character with you and me. When God wants us to go one way, how often we go in the opposite direction! Jonah's decision was, 'I am going down to Nineveh.' He went to Joppa and took a boat for Tarshish, and then he fell asleep. I don't believe he got sea-sick, either. The last time I was in England, on my way back home I wasn't out of sight of Southampton before I didn't know whether the boat was going or coming. But Jonah went to sleep. God knew he was there; you can't get out of the sight of God. I see Jonah all curled up; but a great storm came up and beat against that vessel, and the sailors were terrified and thought the ship was going to sink. But they had gone to God and asked Him to save them, and the shipmaster woke Jonah up and said: 'If you have any God get up and pray.' He had thought he would go away, out of sight of God, but he couldn't do it. God knew what he was trying to do. Just as soon as Jonah was delivered from the great fish, as soon as he got to land, he started off for Nineveh. I believe we are all like Jonah. God Almighty does not want you to go the way you want to go. He has a divine plan that will be more beneficial to your life, to your health, to your personality.

"Backslider, how is it that you have made such a mistake? How is it you have gone so far away from God? We beseech you to return to Him, as Jonah returned and accepted the great call of God. I am glad Christ said He came not to condemn but to fulfill the law. No man need be lost, because God's great plan of salvation is so perfect that the wayfaring man, though a fool, need not err therein."

EIGHTEEN MILLION
VERDICT IS GIVEN

(Associated Press Local Wire)

NEWARK, N. J., Feb. 16.—A verdict of $18,000,000 was on record in federal court today against the estate of the late James B. Duke, tobacco magnate.

Damages were awarded George D. Haskell, manufacturer of Springfield, Mass., who charged Duke with entering into an arrangement with him for the exploitation of great aluminum properties and then selling out to the Aluminum company of America. Haskell had asked $45,000,000 damages.

Mr. Duke's 14-year-old daughter, Doris, to whom he left the bulk of his $28,000,000 estate upon his death, November 10, 1925, would be the chief sufferer from the verdict.

Testimony was introduced to show Mr. Duke had profited to the extent of $25,000,000 by joining his interests with those of the aluminum company. Mr. Haskell claimed $15,000,000 actual damages but sued for $45,000,000 under the section of the Sherman act which allows triple damages to a man injured by a conspiracy in restraint of trade.

Homer S. Cummings, former chairman of the democratic national committee, who represented Mr. Haskell, said he would appear in court later in the week and ask that the verdict be multiplied by three.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE APPROVES CHANGE

Concurring with the decision of the Association of Official Agricultural Chemists to change the term "acid phosphate" back to the original term "superphosphate," Secretary of Agriculture Jardine today announced that all reference to this fertilizer in department publications and correspondence will hereafter be made through use of the term "superphosphate," with the old name carried in parentheses until the change is established. The change has already received the general approval of the fertilizer industry, editors, agronomists, experiment station directors, and others.

Plans 18,000-Mile Flight

For many years the term "acid phosphate" has been applied to a fertilizing material which is neither acid in reaction or does it impart an acid reaction to the soil on which it is used. Dr. Henry G. Knight, chief of the bureau of chemistry and soils, says it is desirable, therefore, to get away from this misnomer which is responsible for the general impression among farmers that the continued use of this material will bring about an acid condition in their soils. This impression has resulted in considerable sales resistance which it is felt will be overcome by getting back to the original name, a name that is descriptive of the contents of the fertilizer, where as the only excuse for the word "acid" is that sulphuric acid is used on phosphate rock to make the phosphorus available for plants, but the acid does not remain as such in the finished fertilizer.

FRED BLAKELY TO REOPEN PLACER MINE
AT GOLD HILL

GOLD HILL, Ore., Feb. 16.—With the reopening of the Foothills Creek placer mines below Gold Hill, where the Ludlum Engineering corporation of New York is spending $500,000 in erecting an electrically driven dredge, and the reopening of the famous Sterling placer mines out from Jacksonville by Fred J. Blakely and associates of Portland, a resumption of the gold mining industry in southwestern Oregon seems assured.

The Sterling has been involved in litigation the last 16 years, and it was only a few months ago that this long drawn out proceeding came to an end and the new owners took possession of the property. They have now started extensive alterations in the ditch and pipeline system and are installing steel flumes, sluices and old name carried in parentheses until the change is established. The change has already received the general approval of the fertilizer industry, editors, agronomists, experiment station directors, and others.
