CORONER'S JURY FIXES NO BLAME FOR ACCIDENT

that death was due to concussion of the brain. She died instantly, he believes.

Paul Huffham, Roland Schwartz and Jean Randall, members of the group riding in the car at the time of the wreck, were called to the stand and testified regarding the accident. Their stories were practically identical regarding their trip to the dance, the time of their return and the accident itself. The machine was traveling between 35 and 40 miles an hour, they agreed, when suddenly the rear end switched to the left, then to the right and back again to the left, striking a ditch or loose gravel which caused it to roll three-quarters of the way over. Each of the witnesses denied that they had been drinking and claimed that there was no liquor in the car and that none of the party was intoxicated.

Grant Bales, William Russell and Kenneth Atterbury were immediately behind the Schwartz car and saw it turn over and were the first at the scene. They described the wreck and the positions of the occupants. They said Schwartz was driving about 40 or 45 miles an hour. They saw no evidence of liquor.

R. L. Johnson, Laverne Sauvain, Palmer Davis, Oate Simms and Theo Ellis, who were among the next arrivals at the scene, also described the wreck. The Johnson and Sauvain cars were unable to stop in time to avoid striking the wreckage and these other two cars were damaged and slid into the Schwartz machine.

Sauvain testified that he saw Schwartz throw something over the bank and that he could smell liquor about the car. He said, however, that judging from Schwartz's actions, the driver of the wrecked car was not intoxicated.

Davis said he saw Schwartz throw something away, saying "Get that thing out of here." Davis and Sauvain later aided Officer Thurber in making the search which resulted in the discovery of the flask.

Dale Byrd, Wallace Horner and Albert Rutter were among other arrivals at the scene. Byrd testified that he heard a glass bottle fall from the car about 30 feet from the scene of the wreck, but that he dropped the bottle without investigating it. Horner said he saw Byrd pick up the bottle and drop it again but that he made no investigation himself. There was no further evidence regarding this bottle, which apparently was seen by no other persons. Rutter picked up an empty flask nearby, but this was not connected with the Schwartz car in any way. Byrd and Horner had been riding a motorcycle which had been broken down and they were picked up by Rutter and were on the way into town when they arrived at the scene of the wreck.

Witnesses Disagree

There was considerable disagreement among the occupants of the Myron Hill car regarding the condition of Schwartz when he was brought into town.

Ivan Brosi was first called and reported bringing in the body of Mrs. Robertson.

Lee Williams, Myron Hill, Mrs. Ruth Hill, Elsie Davis, Edward Cachelin, Mrs. D. A. Hill and Ethel Morgan were in the Myron Hill car in which Schwartz rode to town after the accident.

the officers had secured signed statements written by the officers from answers to questions and signed by the witnesses. On the stand, however, some of these statements were denied, the witnesses claiming that they had not made the statements accredited to them. They stated that they did not read the report prepared by the officers before signing and that the reports were not read to them.

Myron Hill in his signed statement, said that there was a "strong smell of liquor" about Schwartz and that he "acted like a drunken man." He denied on the stand that he had made such statement and said that while there was a liquor smell in the car when Schwartz came in that there was no evidence of his being intoxicated. Lee Williams said he did not smell liquor on Schwartz. Mrs. Ruth Hill said that she could smell liquor when that she heard it in the car but that she paid no attention to his condition. Mrs. D. A. Hill said that she could smell liquor. Elsie Davis, Edward Cachelin and Ethel Morgan each stated they could smell no liquor, the latter denying that she had so stated in the signed report prepared by the officers.

Clifford Hess, who brought Miss Golden to town, said that he was talking to Schwartz at the scene of the wreck but could detect no smell of liquor about him. Miss Golden, however, had the smell of liquor upon her. Mr. Hess said, but she appeared to be sober.

Heckst Baker said that he talked to Schwartz but detected no evidence of liquor. Similar testimony was given by George Singleton, Joe Post, Dorothy Ramsall, Wm. Scott and Kenneth Marra. Mr. Martin, however, after hearing comment regarding the flask, asked to be allowed to make a further statement, and when the jury had been recalled told that he was the one who threw the flask away from the car, doing so to keep from dragging Mrs. Robertson's body over it.

The jury after listening to the vast mass of evidence brought out by the various witnesses spent about fifteen minutes in deliberation and returned a verdict of accidental death with no responsibility attached. District Attorney Cordon indicated that a further investigation might be made by the grand jury.

Mrs. Sieverts and son of Oakland were visitors in this city during Monday afternoon.

ALL SHOULD ATTEND THE LEAP YEAR BALL

The Roseburg Business and Professional Women's Club are sponsoring the Leap Year ball at the Oriental Gardens tonight. The organization is attempting to raise sufficient funds to entertain the delegates during the state convention to be held in Roseburg this summer.

Tonight's dance will be a brilliant affair and it should receive the support of the entire community. The ladies are providing some unique entertainment during the evening, have secured a fine orchestra and promise all who attend an enjoyable time.

KILL SARDINIAN BANDIT

ROME, Feb. 21.—The killing of Samuel E. Stochino, notorious Sardinian bandit, yesterday, is hailed by Premier Mussolini as a prompt step taken in the campaign which he announced on Saturday to wipe out banditry in Sardinia.

Stochino, whose latest alleged outrage was to murder a child in a vendetta was surprised by a de-

PICKETT-FEST

NUPTIALS FEB. 18

Announcement of the marriage of Miss Allen Fest and Charles Pickett.

Markets

(Associated Press Leased Wire)
 PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 21.—Butter prices took slight increase at the meeting of the dairy exchange, prime firats, advancing a cent and all other grades rising half a cent.
 Eggs were also somewhat firmer, but the only change was a cent advance in the quotation on some grades.
 Supplies of both butter and eggs were large but demand was heavy and offerings were well absorbed.
 Announcement by F. J. Dixon manager of the Co-operative Egg association, that they would hereafter sell eggs to retailers at 1 cent above exchange quotations brought matters to a head which have been brewing for some time. It is said that independents have been paying no attention to dairy exchange prices of late and that members of the exchange have been at a disadvantage as a result. The action of the association is expected to result in numerous resignations from the exchange today which may mean the exchange will practically be dissolved, at least as far as a price fixing body.
 On the country dressed meat markets trading was of a desultory character today with prices notably steady but movement of most classes nominal. The same condition prevailed in the poultry division with slightly easier trading tone noticeable.
 Father R. Clery read the nuptial services, which was attended by a few close friends and relatives of the bride and bridegroom. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Roadman were their only attendants. Following the ceremony a wedding supper was given for members of the bridal party and immediately afterward Mr. and Mrs. Pickett left for the coast for the week-end.
 The bride is an attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Fest of Roseburg and popular in the younger set. She attended the Roseburg schools, completing her education at senior high school, from which she graduated in 1927. Mr. Pickett is the son of Mrs. J. J. Russell of this city. He attended the local high school and is well known here. During the past few years he has been employed at The Man's Shop. Mr. and Mrs. Pickett will make their home in Roseburg.
