Although, in recognition of the season, there will be fewer of the larger entertainments scheduled, there are one or two outstanding entertainments anticipated for the next few weeks. March was ushered in on Thursday, incidentally dole and springlike, and if the first few days of the month are any prophecy at all of the fair weather to come, parties will take on a gay informality particularly desirable at this time of the year.

Everyone is looking forward to the middle of the month, when quite the most important feature to herald another season, the annual Spring Fashion Show, is to be sponsored by Uniqua, host of the American Legion Auxiliary.

The attention of music lovers in this part of the state was drawn to Eugene this week by the appearance in concert of the English Singers of London, a body of six musicians, who have for many years cultivated the art of singing. Several Roseburg folk prominent in music circles went to Eugene March 1 for the event.

Luncheon Is Delightful Affair of Club

For one of the interesting social events of the week, Mrs. Dean Burt was hostess at her home at 125 East Cass street, where she invited to an elaborately appointed luncheon on Thursday the members of the Monday Book Club, with Mrs. F. T. Rowell of Plymouth, Massachusetts, as an additional guest.

Daffodils carried out a charming color scheme on table centerpieces. Covers were laid for Mrs. Washington Hughes, Mrs. P. T. Bubar, Mrs. Wm. Bell, Mrs. C. S. Reese, Mrs. W. H. Fisher, Mrs. Chas. W. Wharton, Mrs. M. E. Rice, Mrs. P. P. Rowell and the hostess.

Current topics formed the afternoon discussion of the group.

Club Members Asked to Country Home

The Northside Sunshine Club met Thursday afternoon at the country home of Mrs. Geo. M. Marston on the West side. After a busy business season the time was spent very enjoyably in a social hour. Later a two-course luncheon was served by the hostess. Those present were the Mesdames E. P. Ballou, F. A. Bowen, R. F. Chilson, Virgil Bush, S. C. Durland, Wm. Fisher, Lee Goodman, W. E. Marsters, L. L. Marsters, B. S. Nichols, Thom. Parkinson, Jas. Pettit, Wm. Stark, McComas, and Geo. Marsters. Visitors for the afternoon were the Mesdames Alfred Stevens, Fred Banebrake, Oliver Larson.

Club to Meet State Organizer Coming Week

A meeting of the board of directors of the Roseburg Business and Professional Women's Club was held this week to arrange for a meeting of the club on the date of the official visit of Miss Gasch, club organizer and chairman of the state membership committee.

A meeting was to have been held Friday but has been postponed to March 9, when a pot luck supper will be given and Miss Gasch will be present at the meeting of the business and professional women.

Next week meetings of the various committee chairmen in charge of the state convention to be held here in the spring will begin their efforts to formulate plans for the assembly of clubs.

A group of friends of Mrs. O. Marston of West Roseburg surprised the matron on Wednesday, calling at her home for a pleasurable time.

The visitors brought baskets with lunch and at the end of an informal social hour luncheon was served.

Mrs. John Cavender of Cleveland and Mrs. Mrs. Olive Lawson of Klamath Falls were out of town guests and the others accompanying Mrs. Marston were Mrs. Teasdale, Mrs. Drollinger, Mrs. Sharp, Mrs. and Mrs. Bodie, Miss Doris Hill, Miss Ruth Bradford, Mr. Larson and R. W. Bradford.

Shower Compliments Roseburg Matron

A stock shower honoring Mrs. Jas. Pettit on Winchester street, was given as a surprise by the Northside Sunshine Club Thursday. A daintily trimmed basket filled with gifts was presented to Mrs. Pettit at her home after which the club went to Mrs. Wm. Fisher's, where a pot luck luncheon was served at prettily decorated tables suitable for the occasion. Those present were the Mesdames E. P. Ballou, J. M. Bartley, F. A. Bowen, Virgil Bush, Robt. Chilson, S. C. Durland, Wm. Fisher, Lee Goodman, R. H. Harbess, W. E. Marsters, L. L. Marsters, Geo. Marsters, Thom. Parkinson, Jas. Pettit, Wm. Stark, Don Young and McComas.

Mrs. L. A. Counts, Seattle matron, has returned to the Washington city after a ten-day visit here as the guest of her sister, Mrs. Leon McClintock.

Group Bidden for Afternoon of Cards

Mrs. B. F. Shields invited sixteen matrons, who were members of two social club groups now dissolved, to her home on February 24 for an informal afternoon of cards.

Daffodils provided color in the room decorations. At the tables Mrs. Ed Payton received the first prize and Mrs. J. G. Stephenson the second prize.

Leap Year Party Is Attractive Event

Taking the form of a leap year party, the meeting of the Intermediate Business Society of the Christian church was held at the church parlors on Tuesday. Many members engaged in an entertaining evening of leap year games in keeping with the occasion.

At the close of the evening refreshments were served the guests. About twenty-five were in attendance at the enjoyable event.

Birthday Party Is for Mrs. Ed Patterson

Twelve friends of Mrs. Ed Patterson of South Pine street, gathered at her home for a surprise last Saturday night, the incentive being her birthday anniversary. The affair was planned and executed by Mrs. Patterson's mother, Mrs. J. F. Freeman, well known pioneer of Roseburg for fifty years ago.

Cards and music supplied diversion for the evening and at a late hour refreshments were served by Mrs. Freeman, assisted by Mrs. L. R. Chambers. The honor guest received numerous birthday gifts.

Invited guests were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hutchings, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Shields, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Bates, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Carnan, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Chambers, Mrs. Ed Peyton and Mr. Ed Howell.

Society Entertained by Mrs. McClintock

On Thursday afternoon of this week the Woman's Home Missionary Society of the First Methodist Episcopal Church, met at the home of Mrs. J. E. McClintock on East Cass street. After the business session an interesting program was given, in charge of Mrs. F. H. Chisholm. Recently the society met with Mrs. H. A. Canaday for an all-day sewing. Twenty-two hospital gowns were made and sent as a gift to the Wesley hospital at Marshfield. A barrel of canned fruit was also sent to the hospital and a box of dried fruit to the Sugar Hill orphanage in Baldwin, Louisiana.

Ranking as one of the largest affairs of the entire winter and one of many social functions planned with Washington's birthday as the motif was the bridge and dancing party for which Mr. and Mrs. George W. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. E. Hathaway, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Peterson and Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Barrett were hosts Tuesday evening at the Golf and Country club.

Decorations about the living rooms of the club were entirely in keeping with the holiday, numerous flags forming the background for masses of Oregon grass, salad and pussywillow bouquets. Following the early hours of bridge, supper was served, each table being centered by a bowl of red and white sweet peas and blue violets. Little Virginia Petersen and Bob Anderson in the quaintest of colonial costumes, and powdered wigs opened the door to the guests and assisted the hosts in passing tables and serving the tables during the evening.

After supper an informal musical hour was most enjoyable, with Mrs. Taylor White and Wallace Winter playing piano and banjo numbers. Dr. C. E. Hunt sang solos and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Henderson contributed a group of piano and violin numbers. An abate's dancing with music by Mr. and Mrs. Henderson, Mrs. White and Mr. Winter, completed this most enjoyable evening.—Eugene Register.

PHILOSOPHY OF SPRING NECK-LINES

In This Day of Individualized Chic, Fashion Demands That They Be More Than Merely Smart

BY HENRI BENDEL

NEW YORK, March 3.—The function of necklines is changing—in this season when clothes are growing so individualized in their styles. A whole philosophy of necklines is evolving.

Just one thing was asked of a neckline this time last year—that it be smart. The V-neckline was predominant and that women adopted it for everything from sports costumes to night robes. Women with round faces and those with slender ovals, stout older matrons and slender young debutantes all chose it and wore it.

This season the neckline has more responsibility. It must be becoming—it must have something in common with the chapeau that tops it and above all it must suit the type of its wearer.

This is a distinct refer to me. I always dislike seeing an older woman wear, say, a Peter Pan collar, which is the collar of youth, but excellence. And I dislike just as much the wide décolletage emphasizing a stout woman's stoutness.

A Great Aid to Beauty

Women are realizing more and more just how big an aid to beauty necklines can be. Square-faced women are choosing V-necks to slenderize their facial contour; the baby round neck is featured to emphasize modesty in a costume; thin faces are using square frames to give an illusion of more width and women with necks that are long and thin seemingly have found the secret of beauty contained in the monk's collar or something that breaks their own necklines.

In line with all this serious consideration of necklines, the woman of today buys her frocks and hats together. Naturally the most important relation—after color and appropriateness—are considered—is that of necklines and hat lines.

A Cossack neckline on a blue crepe frock and the correspondingly curved brim of a taffeta hat make for youthful chic.

Today I show two vastly different kinds of hats and necklines—both emphasizing the beauty when there is a harmonizing relationship and both illustrating the different lines.

Sweet and youthful is the first, an imported gown of violet-tinted novelty crepe, with a Cossack neckline and side bow—which is a modern interpretation of the old monk's collar. This type of collar shortens the length of the neck and softens the features perceptibly. Its effect could be likened to what curls do for a face.

I designed the little blue taffeta mushroom hat to go with it—with its little quilted brim having much the same soft roll as the collar of the frock. This hat's crown is gathered at the top and only one rosette of grosgrain trim it.

This type of neckline and hatline is exceedingly good for the tall woman who wants to break her length. With some similar belt treatment she can give the illusion of a much shorter figure.

For quite the opposite reasons, I show the second figure. Here we have the ideal elongating lines which the short or the stout figure needs to give it graceful beauty.

Both the hat and the frock feature the V-line—the neckline dipping down, the hat brim biting up in reverse order. This hat is a charmingly feminine model, fashioned of pedal straw with a brim facing and bow of deep violet grosgrain ribbon. The frock is two shades of soft orchid-lavender.

A svelte evening gown of luxurious gold brocade features the new, revealing off-the-shoulders décolletage.

Roseburg Couple Attendants at Wedding in Eugene This Week

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick E. Hartung of Laurelvale were attendants at the marriage of the latter's brother, Fred Broders, and Mrs. Clara O'Day in Eugene this week. The following, from the Eugene Guard, tells of the ceremony.

A lovely affair of Thursday was the marriage of Mrs. Clara O'Day, only daughter of Frank Kaeding of Devil's Lake, North Dakota, to Fred Broders of Eugene, which took place at two o'clock at the Broders' home, 1175 Charnelton street.

An altar was improvised at the fireplace which was banked with palms, Easter lilies, azalea trees and ferns, with white tapers burning.

In the presence of a few relatives and intimate friends the ceremony was performed by Dr. E. Franklin Haas, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church. The bride was given in marriage by her father, Mr. Kaeding, and attendants were Mrs. Frederick E. Hartung, (Claudia Broders), of Roseburg, sister of the bridegroom, and Frederick E. Hartung, who was best man.

The bride wore a gown of rose colored georgette made with long waist effect and full skirt, and with long sleeves. Her hat, which was of straw, was a matching rose in color. She carried a bouquet of shell pink sweetpeas and Cecil Brunner roses.

Mrs. Hartung wore honey-colored georgette with matching hat, and her flowers were opella roses and sweetpeas.

Proceeding the ceremony Mrs. Hartung sang "I Love You Truly" and "At Dawning." Miss Tess McMillon, violinist, and Miss Edith McMillon, pianist, played softly during the ceremony. The Misses following the wedding march were followed by the marriage service. Teas and coffee were served, and the bride cut her cake which was arranged on a tea table. The table centerpiece was a pink hyacinth, and white tapers burned on either side. Mrs. C. F. Skjovorth poured and Miss Helen Skjovorth served.

Mr. and Mrs. Broders left immediately for Portland where they will spend a few days. Following a longer trip to North Dakota this summer they will be at home in their new residence which is to be built in Ninth avenue west.

Old Brocades

The thing to carry for evening is an envelope bag of antique brocade. The upper one is a bit of a court lady's dress of the 18th century. The lower is a piece of beige, brown and gold Gothic material.

Dinner and Five Hundred Arranged for Group

A 7 o'clock dinner, followed by an evening of five hundred, was the entertainment planned by the members of the Northside Five Hundred Club and a few guests on Tuesday evening.

At the table, where an attractive centerpiece was used in decoration, were seated Mrs. J. C. Leedy, Dr. and Mrs. H. C. Churn, Mr. and Mrs. R. Whipple, Mr. and Mrs. J. Wendell Wright, Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Dixon, Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Braun and the hosts.

Honors were held by Mr. and Mrs. Whipple and the guest prize went to Mr. and Mrs. Dixon.

Party Compliments Roseburg Matron

A charming arrangement of flowers afforded an attractive setting symbolic of spring at an afternoon party February 27 when a group of her friends honored Mrs. William Stewig, the occasion being her birthday anniversary.

The afternoon was spent delightfully with sewing and afterward tea was served. The list included Mrs. Stewig, Mrs. Harry Stone, Mrs. Tom Blewins, Mrs. A. Bruton, Mrs. C. W. Andrus, Mrs. P. A. Burnett, Mrs. E. F. McLaughlin, Mrs. G. M. Denton, Mrs. A. Beyers, Mrs. Fred Kent, Mrs. T. S. Millikin, Miss Mildred Andrus, Miss Mary Millikin, Raymond Andrus, Jr., and Nathan Stewig.

Entre Nous Club Matrons Guests of Mrs. Abbott

For Wednesday of this week Mrs. A. D. Abbott asked to her home in Laurelvale the matrons who are members of the Entre Nous Club, a social club of bridge players.

Two tables were arranged and the prize was won by Mrs. J. A. Harding. Confections were served at the tables during play.

Club Ladies Sew for Service Shop

The ladies of the Roseburg Woman's Club met informally at the club building Friday to sew for the Service Shop maintained by the club.

At these pleasurable meetings the members meet in the morning, having luncheon at noon, and continuing in the afternoon hours with their sewing for the shop.

Leap Year Dance Is Lovely Mid-Week Affair

A lovely evening affair, characterized by its quaint St. Patrick's Day setting, achieved with the use of yellow daffodils, pussywillows and greenery, and its delightful hospitality making it memorable in the week's happenings, was the Leap Year dance at the Roseburg Country Club Wednesday night for members and additional guests.

Throughout the evening a pleasurable program was featured for the guests. Miss Norma Winston, dancer and member of the young set, presented the Doll Dance in rag doll costumes. Mrs. Page of Oakland, was accompanist for Miss Winston and her number was enthusiastically received. Miss Naomi Scott delighted the group with a group of violin solos and Miss Evelyn Quinn entertained with vocal selections. Miss Gladys Strong accompanied for the latter two numbers.

A table with punch bowl was arranged in one part of the room and punch was served the guests during the evening's dance program. Eleven o'clock was the supper hour and was a pleasant close to the entertaining evening.

Party Given as Adieu to Family

Tuesday evening was the occasion of a very enjoyable affair given by Thomas Walker of Coos Bay when he entertained four teen neighbors at a card party given as an adieu to the Abernethy family, Mrs. Mary Phillips and Mrs. Sadie Sheridan, mother and sister of Mrs. Rice, who are leaving the Wigwam Tavern in the near future.

Those bidden were Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Thompson and family, Mr. and Mrs. Charles McQuinn, Mrs. Mary Phillips, Mrs. Sadie Sheridan, Mr. and Mrs. Abner Rice and family.

Aid Sponsors Kitchen Shower for New Church

A kitchen shower for the new Christian church was a delightful occasion on Thursday at the home of Mrs. W. H. Carter on South Stephens street, where the members of the Ladies Aid of the Christian church were asked as guests for the afternoon.

A short business meeting and reports of committees followed the opening devotionals and afterward an hour of needlework was enjoyed. Refreshments were served to the thirty guests, Mrs. Corbett and Mrs. Earl Decker assisting the hostess.

Many Characters Seen at Masquerade Given Early in Week

Pirates, cooks, cowboys, sheiks, hula girls, clowns, chorus girls, gypsies, tramps, cowgirls, a Dutch girl and Buffalo Bill—a motley array of characters, indeed, were to be seen at the L. F. T. masquerade and dancing party, quite an attractive and delightful event given on Tuesday evening at the Knights of Pythias hall.

Ott's orchestra played during the evening and favor dances were interspersed through the program. Ten thirty o'clock was the time set for unmasking and at this hour the prizes for the best characters were awarded. Mrs. Hans Loeff of Oakland, attired as Captain Kidd, received the ladies' first prize and Dean Bubar, in Jew costume, received the men's first prize. Second prizes were awarded Mrs. Fred Haynes and E. Young. The former was dressed as an old fashioned lady and Mr. Young as a sheik.

At 11 o'clock a supper was served in the dining room, there being covers for forty couples.

Program and Tea Will Be Entertainment Given by Club for D. A. R.

The first meeting in March of the Roseburg Woman's Club is to be quite an attractive function, the club on next Tuesday arranging for a tea and program at which the members will entertain as guests for the afternoon Uniqua Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

The officers of the club including Mrs. Wm. Bell, Mrs. A. G. McMillin, Mrs. Carl B. Neal, Mrs. H. B. Harris, Mrs. A. McInturn and Mrs. D. H. Morgan, are to receive at the door.

The hours are from two to five o'clock as the first half hour usually devoted to business of the (Continued on page 3.)

The "Sporting Goods" Cast Well Equipped for Comedy

One beautiful leading woman, one cruel schemer, one comedian, two famous character women and two well-known character men compose the cast which supports Richard Dix in his new picture, "Sporting Goods," which opens Sunday for a two day run at the Antlers theatre.

Gertrude Olmsted, young screen actress who has been featured in a dozen recent productions, is the leading woman.

Philip Strange, recruited from the English musical comedy stage, is the menace.

Ford Sterling, veteran Paramount funmaker, is the comedian.

Myrtle Steadman, formerly screen star in her own right, and Maude Turner Gordon, stage star and film moulter, are the two character women.

LIBERTY

"Love and Learn" Comes to Liberty Sunday

When a beautiful blonde girl sets out to look for trouble she usually finds it and so do the people with whom she comes in contact. Esther Ralston does everything from making faces at policemen to kidnapping a judge, in her Paramount picture, "Love and Learn," which comes to the Liberty theatre Sunday.

Among other things the dynamic golden haired star does in this picture are drive an automobile through a police station window, fire a revolver in a crowded courtroom, overthrow a matron and escape from jail and tell a plotted frame-up on the judge she had kidnaped.

Of course there is a serious purpose behind all of these escapades. The star is trying to keep her father and mother together. She thinks that if she occupies all of their moments trying to keep her out of jail they won't have time to carry out the separation proceedings they have started. Then in a few days, when her father's annual attack of hay fever comes along, there will be no more thought of separation. The old gentleman knows good care when he is receiving it and a trained nurse was never like the wife.

Laure Chandler, the handsome giant who recently thrilled lovers of western pictures by his feats with the six shooter and in the saddle, takes the part of the dandy young judge who learns about women in such startling fashion.
