THREE CHILDREN DROWNED RUNNING FROM BOOZE ORGY

(Associated Press Leased Wire) EL PORTAL, Calif., Mar. 6.—Three Indian children were drowned and an Indian woman narrowly escaped the same fate when they fell from the seat of a cable while trying hurriedly to cross the Merced river last night to escape from a purported drunken orgy at their rancheria, participated in by Indian men.

The dead: Margaret Oliver, 5 months old; Mary Jane Oliver, 2 years old, and Billy Wilson, Jr., 5 years old.

Margaret and Mary Jane are children of Mrs. Hazel Oliver who reached the other side of the river in safety. Mrs. Lena Wilson, mother of Billy, fell into the raging river and was rescued by Virgil Brown.

According to the story told to Sheriff Johnson Castagneto of Mariposa county, the Indian men at El Portal, indulged in a drunken orgy and attempted to batter down the door of the house behind which the women and children had hidden themselves. The women and children escaped through a rear door and attempted to make their way across the river on the cable. At this point the Merced river is 150 feet wide and swollen by recent rains.

Mrs. Oliver placed her two children beside her and started to work her way across on the hand propelled cable. During her frantic efforts to escape the children fell and were swept to their death.

Mrs. Wilson then tried to make her way across with her small son. Half way across she slipped from the seat and plunged into the river.

SECOND VICTIM OF RECKLESS DRIVER DIES IN SEATTLE

(Associated Press Leased Wire) SEATTLE, Wash., Mar. 6.—The second victim of the automobile which crashed into a group of five high school girls waiting for a street car here yesterday, Louise Lang, 16, died in a hospital here today. Marie MacHardie, 16, died a few minutes after the accident.

Police announced that George H. Diebold, a taxi driver, who was found near the scene of the accident, had confessed that he was the pilot of the death car, which had been stolen from another taxi driver. Joe R. McKay, another driver, has admitted being the other occupant of the car.

Victoria Astlett, 13, who suffered a fractured skull, was reported to be in a critical condition today. She has not regained consciousness since the automobile struck her. Dorothy Erickson, 16, and Marie Wilmut, 14, were reported to be out of danger.

Police reported McKay confessed he and Diebold had drunk a large quantity of liquor and then decided to take an automobile ride.

LINDY COMPLETES MYSTERIOUS TRIP

(Associated Press Leased Wire) WASHINGTON, Mar. 6.—After a round trip flight to Scott Field, Belleville, Ill., which required less than 21 hours, Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh landed at Bolling Field this morning.

No one was on hand to greet the flier, who came as mysteriously as he left yesterday. A car was waiting to take him to the Racquet Club, but Bolling Field officials said they had no idea when he would return and knew nothing of the purpose of his visit or how long he would stay.

CINCINNATI, Mar. 6.—Making his second unannounced stop here within twelve hours, Colonel Lindbergh landed at Luken Airport about 1:30 a. m. and a half hour later took off again. It was believed he would return to Washington.

Colonel Lindbergh and his party stopped here about an hour yesterday enroute from Washington to Belleville.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 6.—War Department officials said today that Charles A. Lindbergh had landed at Bolling Field at 6:30 o'clock this morning but that they had no knowledge of his plans here. Bolling Field officers said Lindbergh's return so soon after his trip yesterday to St. Louis came as a surprise and caught most of them in bed. He left his plane as soon as he reached here and went to a club for a rest.

FIGHTING ARABS WORRYING BRITISH

(Associated Press Leased Wire) LONDON, Mar. 6.—Great Britain today awaited with some anxiety the next move of Abdul Aziz Ibn Saud, sultan of Nejd and king of Hedjaz, knowing from past experience what indefatigable fighters the Arabs are.

Ibn Saud is quoted as having said that it is impossible to bring the "infidels" of the British mandated territories of Kuwait, Iraq, and Transjordan to his sect of Islam by peaceful methods and therefore decided to take up the sword.

He has had to face trouble with some tribes who are nominally his subjects and when three of these—the Atabak, Ajman, and Mutair tribes—combined to stage an independent attack, he sensed the danger of a disruption of his own dominions.

The appeal of Ibn Saud to the religious convictions of his followers is the ancient and familiar method of Mohammedan leaders to stir up enthusiasm.

The suggestion is advanced that Ibn Saud hopes to induce Great Britain to purchase his neutrality by restoring the annual subsidy of 50,000 pounds, (£39,000) which he received from the British from 1917 to 1924 as his price for respecting the frontiers of Iraq and Transjordan.

If Ibn Saud should descend upon these kingdoms with his 20,000 followers, scattered British forces would be called upon to hold them in check. Three small British warships in Kuwait Bay, at the head of the Persian Gulf, a British air force in Iraq and various outposts would bear the brunt of the job.

In this region Colonel T. E. Lawrence, with a price on his head, organized the Arabs to drive the Turks out of Syria during the war and made Emir Feisal king of Iraq.
