RADIO FANS—TUNE IN ON THIS

Processor Ali-Din, "the man who sees beyond," claims that mental telepathy or what is commonly called mind-reading is merely an advanced step in the principles of radio, and not only claims such, but will demonstrate his unique claim all week at the Antlers theatre.

His demonstration is known as "a mental seance," whereby he grasps thought vibrations from the minds of members of the audience, interprets same and using, as an aid to concentration, a genuine gazing crystal, answers this mental query. A careful survey has proved that 90 per cent of his answers are correct, and his record for receiving the vibrations is almost perfect.

Ali-Din is not to be classed with the common "crystal gazer or mind-reader," as he has attained a point of perfection reached by few. His work is so unusual and different he has attracted the attention of scientists and thinking men of the world. So pronounced was his first few demonstrations, that he remained in New York City over two solid years, mystifying, amusing and entertaining. Now engaged in his first transcontinental tour, he has been engaged to appear in person at the Antlers theatre. You will thrill at this stranger's uncanny knowledge.

EXECUTORS TOOK FATHER'S BOOZE, SON COMPLAINS

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

NEW YORK, Mar. 7.—Charging the executors of his father's estate, with wrongfully appropriating more than $30,000 and drinking 450 bottles of pre-war liquor, Pearce Bailey, Jr., son of the noted neurologist, Dr. Pearce Bailey, who died in 1922, has filed suit asking the removal of his uncle, Charles N. Black of San Francisco, and Robert H. Thorne of this city from those positions.

The $30,000 represents $15,000 each of the two men paid themselves as an advance fee, the suit alleges, and he charges 450 bottles of liquor were taken from his father's cellar.

Mr. Thorne admitted that he and Mr. Black drank the liquor, the petition filed in the suit says, giving as his reasons that the liquor "was not good for growing boys."

GOVERNMENT TO WITHDRAW FROM WIHTE METAL TEST

PORTLAND, March 7.—After a year of excited talk, long and hysterical newspaper stories and much speculation regarding the so-called "mystery white metal" of Southern Oregon, the general land office of the department of the interior has expressed its belief that the metal probably is partly the result of human agencies and that it will investigate the "find" in Southern Oregon no more.

William Spry, commissioner of the general land office, was the one who took occasion to doubt the metal and backed up his statement with a report of Julian D. Sears, acting director, to the effect that "although you submitted no samples of the ore from which the metal is purported to have been extracted and while, possibly, final opinion, therefore, is not justified, I feel that I am fully warranted in expressing the preliminary opinion that the metals represented in the samples were introduced by human agencies, accidentally or otherwise, either before or during the processes by which they were purported to have been extracted from the rock that was supposed to contain them."

DISGRUNTLED STUDENTS DO DAMAGE

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

CHICAGO, Mar. 7.—Passengers of a loop-bound elevated express put in an exciting 19 minutes last night, while school students, disgruntled over the outcome of a basketball game, overpowered the train crew, intimidated 150 patrons, tore out electric light bulbs, threw seat cushions out the windows and destroyed advertising signs. Eight students were arrested.

The cause of the disturbance was the defeat of the De LaSalle High school of Joliet by St. Mel High school of Evanston, a suburb.

The last part of the train ride was made in total darkness and police were asked to meet it at the first stop in the loop. The rooters dashed madly for the doors when the train came to a halt, but eight were held, despite protests they were not responsible for the disturbance.

Complaints charging disorderly conduct were made and all were released on bail.

MONTGOMERY WARD MAY LOCATE NEW STORE IN CITY

C. M. Cogswell, special field representative for Montgomery Ward and company, has been spending several days in this city securing information to aid the company in reaching a decision regarding placing a branch retail store here. Mr. Cogswell has been as far south as Ashland, visiting each of the cities in the southern part of the state.

He is reporting his findings to the company's headquarters and upon the facts disclosed by his territorial survey the company will make its future extensions. A store has already been located at Eugene, and one is soon going into Salem. Pendleton has a store, and another is to open Saturday at Baker. If the company comes into Roseburg, Mr. Cogswell says, it will be the smallest city in which the company will maintain a store. Montgomery Ward and company have been making extensions into the state of Washington and has a number of retail stores in that state, supplementing the mail order business.

COURT TIES SHIP BOARD TELEGRAMS

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 7.—A drastic order impounding telegrams that passed between Pacific coast shipping interests and Joseph L. Bley concerning money said to have been furnished to W. S. Hill, former member of the Shipping Board, and also opposing the government Shipping Board program, was signed today by Justice Frederick L. Siddons in the District of Columbia supreme court.

The petition for the order was filed by Assistant District Attorney Joseph V. Connolly.

The order divulged that the grand jury was making an investigation of the Shipping Board fight. The order prohibits any one except the district attorney or his assistants from seeing the telegram.

The Shipping Board controversy grew out of the program for selling West Coast lines, a program which the district attorney's office claims the Pacific Coast shipping interests tried to block.

The petition includes digests of 89 telegrams exchanged between Bley and persons outside of Washington. Many were addressed to Lloyd Swayne, of Swayne and Hoyt of San Francisco, bearing Bley's signature.

The names of Commissioner Hill and Commissioner Teller also appear frequently throughout the list.

Some telegrams have to do with exchange of money. In August, 1927, Swayne, wiring Bley, referred to a loan saying he would follow Bley's suggestion that the amount be $10,000 and more later if necessary. A few days later Bley wired Swayne and said $15,000 was required.

The next day Swayne wired Bley saying that Swayne and Hoyt had concluded to make the loan to Bley personally. The telegrams show that the west coast interests sought to bring influence to bear upon Commissioners Plummer and Benson as well as Hill and Teller, but there is nothing to show that these efforts were successful.

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

Burger made a good start, but after taking a few of Renault's short crashing right hooks to the jaw, he was on the defensive.

MURCHISON WILL QUIT THE TRACK

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

ADA, Okla., Mar. 7.—The decision of Lorin Murchison, Olympic runner and ace of American tracks, to retire, today had removed an outstanding figure from the sports arena.

Convinced that severe operations have reduced the power of the legs which have carried him again and again through speed records, Murchison has announced that his track career is ended. Murchison let it be known that he had been trying to pull away from track games for a long time, but had not been able, hitherto, to find a reason sufficiently convincing to enable him to do so.
