

LOCAL NEWS

Azalea Man In— D. F. Mains, resident of Azalea, was in this city over Tuesday attending to business interests and trading.

From Elktion— A. B. Haines of Elktion was here over Tuesday looking after business affairs and visiting with friends.

Drain People In— Mrs. W. D. Carey and daughter were here from Drain Tuesday afternoon shopping and attending to business affairs.

In Tuesday— Miss Johnson was here from Riddle during the afternoon Tuesday shopping and attending to business matters.

Riddle Lady Visited— Mrs. T. Parry of Riddle was a visitor here during Tuesday afternoon. Her husband is principal of the Riddle high school.

Spent Week-End— Eldon T. Ogle and Kenneth Ogle of Portland spent the week-end in Roseburg with friends and relatives.

Portland Matron Visitor— Visiting Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Harding over the week-end was Mr. Harding's sister, Mrs. Blanche Brown of Portland.

Cunninghams Visited— Mr. and Mrs. Ed Cunningham were here from Dixonville Tuesday afternoon visiting with friends and shopping.

Oakland Folk Visit— Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hawkins of Oakland were in Roseburg visiting friends and attending to business affairs Tuesday.

Oakland Man Here— Virgil Chenoweth, resident of Oakland, was a Roseburg visitor Tuesday afternoon and was looking after business interests.

From Brockway— Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Bushnell of Brockway were here Tuesday afternoon attending to business affairs and visiting with friends.

University Student Here— Sam McConnell, former Roseburg boy, who is attending U. of O., is here visiting with friends. His parents now make their home in Grants Pass.

From University— Miss Dorothy Marsters is home from Eugene, where she is a freshman at the University of Oregon, and is spending spring vacation with her parents, Attorney and Mrs. R. W. Marsters.

Leaves for Roseburg— Miss Mary P. Billmeyer, assistant field representative of the state board of health, who has been in Lane county for the past two days left Tuesday for Roseburg—Eugene Guard.

Will Attend Operas— Mr. and Mrs. A. G. McMillin leave Thursday by motor for Portland and will remain there for the rest of the week attending the operas presented by the Chicago Civic Opera company.

Divorce Is Asked— Suit for divorce was filed yesterday in the Circuit Court by Ione Strickland against Walter A. Strickland. They were married at Roseburg May 9, 1923. She charges cruel and inhuman treatment. The plaintiff is represented by Attorney M. F. Rice.

Visit Local Girl— Miss Naomi Grant and Miss Edna Brockman of Portland were over night guests of Miss Violette Cole Monday night. Miss Grant and Miss Brockman are playing with the U. of O. Symphony Orchestra on their southern Oregon tour.

Couple Wed Tuesday— Ben Wise, giving his address as Sutherland, and Marie Edwards, giving her address as Santa Rosa, Calif., were quietly married at the office of Justice of the Peace C. F. Hopkins Tuesday afternoon. Only the necessary witnesses were present at the ceremony.

Will Attend Executive Meetings— Dr. and Mrs. C. H. Bailey of South Deer Creek leave Thursday by auto for Longview, Washington. There Dr. Bailey, who is editor of the State Grange Bulletin, will attend a joint meeting of the executive committees of Oregon and Washington state granges on Saturday. They will return home the first part of next week.

Will Contribute Program— Mrs. M. Gervais, teacher of Smick school, has been requested by the Marion Health County Division to contribute her health program to their files out of which their publications are made. Mrs. Gervais' work was reported to the state office as being outstanding in merit, and her projects have been exceedingly attractive in application.

Friends Visited in South— Mrs. O. L. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Healey and Wm Moore of this city motored to Southern Oregon Sunday. Mr. Moore remained in Medford for the day and visited with his sister, Mrs. Charles Gilbert. The rest of the party went on to Ashland, where they visited with Mrs. Alvia S. Wetherell of this city who is attending the Southern Oregon Normal School. Mrs. Wetherell will graduate from the school today, being the only one from Douglas county among 22 students graduating this quarter. She will then go to Central Point to take over the school of Mrs. H. W. Gustin, also a former resident of Roseburg.

Here From Canyonville— Dan Bollenbaugh of Canyonville was in this city Tuesday and today attending to business affairs.

State Official in City— Mark D. McAllister, state corporation commissioner, spent the day in Roseburg on official business.

From Reedsport— Mr. and Mrs. Russell Hubbard of Reedsport were in this city over Tuesday, the former looking after business affairs.

From Camas— Mrs. W. G. Whiting of Camas Valley was in Roseburg for several hours Tuesday visiting friends and transacting business.

Aid Will Meet Thursday— The Ladies Aid of the Presbyterian church will meet in the church parlors on Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Miss May B. Billmeyer, field supervisor of the state bureau of nursing and child hygiene, arrived in Roseburg today for a conference with members of the local health unit.

Gone to Salem— N. W. Perkins, member of the firm of Perkins and Adams, local flying school, went to Salem yesterday afternoon on a few days' business trip.

Gone North— Mrs. F. A. Warner of Wendling and a daughter of Mrs. L. O. Maddux of this city left today for Eugene. Mrs. Warner has been visiting here for several weeks.

S. P. Agent in City— Wm. Sutherland, Southern Pacific freight and traveling agent, with headquarters in Medford, was an arrival here last evening on a brief business stay.

Gone on Trip South— Mrs. Ione Radabaugh and son, Vernon Orr, of this city, with the former's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Carter, of Calgary, Canada, left the first of the week on a motor trip into northern California. They will be away about a week.

Visited Sister Here— George Brown, brother of Mrs. A. R. Bagley of East Washington street, spent a day here visiting at her home. He and Frank Scanlan, enroute from Redondo, Beach, California, left this noon for Seattle and Spokane for a visit with other relatives.

Going Home Today— Mr. and Mrs. James T. Goodman and family, former residents of Roseburg, leave today for their home in Salem. Mrs. Goodman and children have been here since the first of the week visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Fayton. Mr. Goodman joined them here last night following a business trip to Medford.

Judge: Why have you not made these alimony payments? Defendant: I can't start till week after next. Judge: There are still two installments due on the engagement ring.—Life.

Plans a Ruth Elder to Rumania

After spending his last dime on a package of wafers to feed his pet bulldog, Harvey Dower, aged 16 years, of Portland, was picked up here last night by the local officers. He was hiking south to visit his sister in California. The boy was hungry but said that he could stand it better than the dog so he invested the remaining portion of his meagre funds to give the dog a meal.

He was kept in jail last night while the officers investigated his story, but as it was evident that he could care for himself on the trip and that there was no reason for holding him he was allowed to continue on his way after being given a good meal.

FARM BUREAU EXCHANGE STOCK IS SELLING RAPIDLY

C. E. Banning, manager of the Douglas County Farm Bureau Cooperative Exchange reports a ready sale of the capital stock recently offered by the Exchange.

As the stock is being sold to take care of future needs rather than immediate necessities, it is being sold on very easy terms of payment, putting it within the reach of investors who may not have the entire amount available at once.

Uncle Sam to Rescue of Hood River Apples.

Congress Appropriates $15,000 to Fight Canker and Aphid Attacking Orchards.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 21.—Unprecedented in the government's experience with tree diseases, an insect and fungus partnership now sweeping sections of the western apple country is to be fought this spring with federal money and funds.

The perennial canker, an infectious disease that saps the life from entire orchards, has been found in the Hood River district of Oregon by the woolly aphid, an insect that enters the cankered areas and keeps multiplying the infection. Fearful that the dreaded combination may spread into the bigger northwestern territory, to Venatche, Yakima and the White Salmon area, congress has appropriated $15,000 for use of federal entomologists and pathologists in controlling the outbreak.

Representative Simeon of Oregon told the committee the Hood River growers were alarmed lest they lose as many as 20,000 acres of apple trees worth millions of dollars, which now are bearing. He said he did not know what percent of the trees were affected but that growers had told him the disease was spreading over the entire valley.

AL TOSSES HAT INTO THE ARENA

ALBANY, N. Y., Mar. 21.—Governor Smith has stepped into the arena of professed presidential aspirants.

Throwing aside the cloak of silence that has shrouded his attitude toward national politics, he has consented to the use of his name in the Massachusetts presidential primaries.

GOV'T RECEIPTS ARE SLOWING DOWN

WASHINGTON, Mar. 21.—On the face of the latest treasury figures, the pace of government receipts from the March 15 income tax installment was disclosed to have slowed down a trifle as compared with its previous rate.

Notwithstanding, the income tax actually paid to date was considerably ahead of receipts from the same source last year. At the close of business March 19, the government had collected a total of $289,610,593 from income taxation whereas on the same date last year the total receipts were but $275,974,553.

It will take two or three days before the heavy payments now in the hands of collectors of revenue are all compiled. Treasury officials still refuse to make definite calculations as to what may be anticipated when all the returns are in. The results to the last published account indicate, however, that there will be some attainment of revenue above estimates.

BEAUTIFUL CAVES FOUND

BERLIN, Mar. 21.—Several new large stalactite caverns containing lakes, waterfalls and hundreds of wonderful stalactites and stalagmites, have been accidentally discovered near the flying ground at Plauen, Saxony.

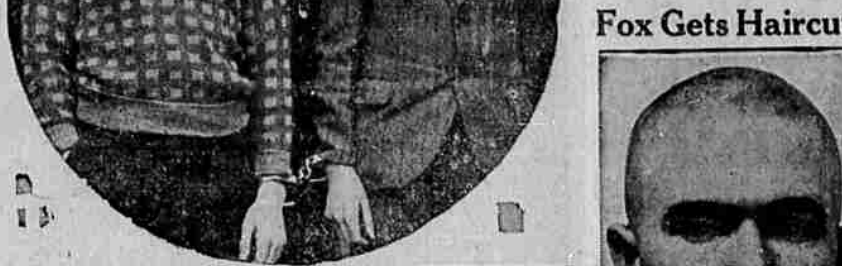

The caverns were discovered by a workman who dropped a heavy steel bolt from the top of a quarry, the bolt crashing through the earth and exposing the opening of the cave.

The main cave is 270 feet long

The End of the Trail for "the Fox" and Pal

Edward Hickman, "The Fox," who confessed to kidnaping, murdering and mutilating Marian Parker, Los Angeles school girl, and his pal, Wely Hunt, are now cumbere at San Quentin penitentiary; where Hickman is in a condemned cell awaiting execution, and Hunt faces life imprisonment. Above, they are shown being hustled into prison with other convicts. Below, they are shown with Warden James B. Holahan.

Fox Gets Haircut

Edward Hickman's just No. 45041 now at San Quentin, where he awaits execution. Photo shows "The Fox" with his prison haircut and 150 feet wide. The entrance has been sealed pending examination by experts.

Medal of Honor IS AWARDED TO COL. LINDBERGH

(Continued from page 1.) marked trail to Paris. Flying eastward from the Pacific coast, with only one stop, Lindbergh had suddenly emerged a serious contender for the transatlantic honors. Commander Richard E. Byrd and Clarence D. Chamberlin had been waiting for days for favorable weather. Many thought the St. Louis flier foolhardy. His plane had but one motor, no radio, no navigator—and many dismissed lightly his chances as a contender in the New York-to-Paris air race for the $25,000 prize of Raymond Orteig.

Shortly after midnight May 20 came word that Lindbergh was preparing to go. At 2:30 a. m. he was out of bed. It was raining at the field. Lindbergh ordered the plane fueled and saw that his week's supply of emergency army rations was aboard. Satisfied that all was in order, he studied weather charts and played aimlessly with a stray kitten. At 7:30 a. m. he donned his flying suit, climbed into the cockpit of the plane he had named "The Spirit of St. Louis," and began to warm up the motor. Chamberlin and Byrd wished him luck. A few minutes before 8 o'clock, his ship labored into the muggy air with its nose toward Paris.

Reports of Lindbergh's progress came intermittently throughout the day and night. He had passed Halifax, Newfoundland, and was over the Atlantic. A ship wireless had been sighted 600 miles off the Irish coast. Another at 100 miles. He had passed over Ireland, over Bayeaux, France, over Cherbourg.

Finally, 10 p. m., May 21 (Paris time) it was evident the flier was nearing Le Bourget. A crowd of more than 25,000 was listening intently for the drone of the motor that would indicate his coming. A few minutes later it was heard. An object flashed across the lights from the field. It was gone again. The field attendants worked the lights frantically. There it was! "The Spirit of St. Louis" circled the field twice, near down, and came to rest in the midst of a shouting, surging, milling, hysterical crowd.

Lindbergh's safe arrival was reported in America at 5:21 p. m., Eastern standard time. Bunting and flags appeared as if by magic on every Main street. Crowds danced, sang and shouted. New York, Washington, Chicago, San Francisco and St. Louis, home of the flier's backers, gave vent to a mighty roar of joy and relief.

The young man was a world hero. He was acclaimed in London, Paris, Washington and New York. Then came his flight over the United States, his hop from Washington to Mexico, and his round of South American countries.

Now his own country has bestowed upon him its highest award. He went out from the White House today bearing this symbol, seeking solitude to pursue his private affairs. Perhaps he will be permitted to retire from the limelight of public attention, but wherever he goes, whatever he does, people will be interested in him. Only once does Lindbergh fly to Paris alone for the first time.

Medal of Honor IS AWARDED TO COL. LINDBERGH

(Continued from page 1.) marked trail to Paris. Flying eastward from the Pacific coast, with only one stop, Lindbergh had suddenly emerged a serious contender for the transatlantic honors. Commander Richard E. Byrd and Clarence D. Chamberlin had been waiting for days for favorable weather. Many thought the St. Louis flier foolhardy. His plane had but one motor, no radio, no navigator—and many dismissed lightly his chances as a contender in the New York-to-Paris air race for the $25,000 prize of Raymond Orteig.

Shortly after midnight May 20 came word that Lindbergh was preparing to go. At 2:30 a. m. he was out of bed. It was raining at the field. Lindbergh ordered the plane fueled and saw that his week's supply of emergency army rations was aboard. Satisfied that all was in order, he studied weather charts and played aimlessly with a stray kitten. At 7:30 a. m. he donned his flying suit, climbed into the cockpit of the plane he had named "The Spirit of St. Louis," and began to warm up the motor. Chamberlin and Byrd wished him luck. A few minutes before 8 o'clock, his ship labored into the muggy air with its nose toward Paris.

Reports of Lindbergh's progress came intermittently throughout the day and night. He had passed Halifax, Newfoundland, and was over the Atlantic. A ship wireless had been sighted 600 miles off the Irish coast. Another at 100 miles. He had passed over Ireland, over Bayeaux, France, over Cherbourg.

Finally, 10 p. m., May 21 (Paris time) it was evident the flier was nearing Le Bourget. A crowd of more than 25,000 was listening intently for the drone of the motor that would indicate his coming. A few minutes later it was heard. An object flashed across the lights from the field. It was gone again. The field attendants worked the lights frantically. There it was! "The Spirit of St. Louis" circled the field twice, near down, and came to rest in the midst of a shouting, surging, milling, hysterical crowd.

Lindbergh's safe arrival was reported in America at 5:21 p. m., Eastern standard time. Bunting and flags appeared as if by magic on every Main street. Crowds danced, sang and shouted. New York, Washington, Chicago, San Francisco and St. Louis, home of the flier's backers, gave vent to a mighty roar of joy and relief.

The young man was a world hero. He was acclaimed in London, Paris, Washington and New York. Then came his flight over the United States, his hop from Washington to Mexico, and his round of South American countries.

Now his own country has bestowed upon him its highest award. He went out from the White House today bearing this symbol, seeking solitude to pursue his private affairs. Perhaps he will be permitted to retire from the limelight of public attention, but wherever he goes, whatever he does, people will be interested in him. Only once does Lindbergh fly to Paris alone for the first time.

KIKI CUYLER IS SHOWING UP FINE

(Associated Press Leased Wire) AYALON, Catalina Island, Calif., Mar. 20.—Kiki Cuyler, former Pilrate, has already made good in his new role as a Chicago Cub. He is hitting the ball with the same gusto that marked his work with Pittsburgh and his fielding has been spectacular.

In the four inter-training camp games just completed, Cuyler made eight hits in 27 times at bat. Three of the blows were out of the park and two were doubles. As an assistant coach in Cuba, Cuyler, Manager Joe McCarthy considers him invaluable. McCarthy has been spending most of his time drilling Cub pitchers in control since returning from the exhibition tour.

Markets

(Associated Press Leased Wire) PORTLAND, Ore., Mar. 21.—All grades of butter were quoted at lower on local markets today, reflecting a slight falling off in demand from Seattle. Receipts yesterday were reported at 15,533 pounds.

An eager tone prevailed in the egg division also, medium extras and medium firsts both dropping a cent to 29c and 18c respectively. Receipts were heavy with 9,555 cases reported in shipment, an increase of 738 cases for the day.

A shipment of 25,000 cases of eggs is being loaded at Seattle this week for shipment to Argentina. It is reported, which is tending to stiffen Seattle prices somewhat. The shipment is the first which has ever been made from Puget Sound for Argentine markets. It is said, but hereafter refrigerator vessels will make regular calls at the northern port to pick up shipments for South America.

Receipts of veal were heavy on the country dressed market, market but prices were not quotable lower although an easier feeling was noticeable. Best light veals were bringing 19 to 20c. Hog receipts were light and a firmer undertone prevailed in the market. No price changes were quoted, however.

Poultry was in liberal supply early today in nearly all divisions but prices were steady and demand fair.

Old potatoes were moving slowly today at steady prices with local markets rather heavily stocked.

Yellow daisy onions were likewise easier on local markets today and were quoted by some jobbers as low as $2.50/3.75 per cwt. for No. 1 stock although others were getting up to $4 and over. Bids to growers were around $3 and sacks with little doing.

the man's flavor! — the woman's Preference

TURKEY RAISING TOPIC OF FORUM LUNCHEON TALKS

The necessity of cooperation and publicity in establishing a market for the Douglas county turkey crop was stressed today at the Chamber of Commerce forum luncheon, held at noon at the Umpqua Hotel. The program was in charge of the Umpqua Chiefs, with J. C. Leedy, chairman of the agricultural committee presiding.

Speakers were Charles Deere, of Yonahla; Phil Strader, Dixonville; C. A. Rydell, Elkton; H. E. Cosby, extension specialist, Corvallis; and Herbert Beyers, Canyonville.

Mr. Deere stressed the importance of early maturity to obtain the highest market prices. He urged that steps be taken to secure as much attention for the turkey industry as is given the poultry industry by the state college. The state extension service, he stated, has accomplished wonders for the poultry raisers of the state, developing some fine strains of chickens and making experiments in chicken feeding, diseases, etc., but nothing has been done of a like nature with regard to turkeys. He urged that steps be taken to secure an appropriation to enable the college to carry on similar work with relation to turkeys. He also stressed the need of nation-wide publicity.

Phil Strader spoke briefly upon the difficulties that would arise if wild turkeys were to be released for game purposes in the county.

Mr. Rydell introduced a resolution asking the state legislature to make an appropriation to aid the

Hurry! It's Your Last Chance

TONIGHT Conrad Nagel and Myrna Loy

in "The Girl From Chicago"

Also Good Short Features

Admission Mat. 10-25 Eve 10-35

TOMORROW One Day Only

OREGON STATE COLLEGE CONCERT BAND

Standard and Popular Numbers FEATURES

ALSO SPECIAL SHORT FEATURE "THE LADY OF VICTORIES"

A Technicolor Production Admission Adults 50c Kiddies 25c

Direction Umpqua Amusement Co. ANT LERS

Heaney Wins!

One of the telling lefts with which Tom Heaney, New Zealand fistlifter (right), outpointed Jack Delaney, former light-heavyweight champ, in their 15-round, heavyweight punch party at Madison Square Garden, New York, is caught by the camera here. Delaney was thus put out of the heavyweight elimination fracas.