FEARING A CLASH

(Associated Press Leased Wire) WASHINGTON, Mar. 28.—Fears that a clash between farmers in northern Minnesota and the Canadian authorities might develop if a proposed flood control dam is constructed on the Roseau river in Manitoba were expressed today by Representative Selvig, republican, Minnesota, who has asked the geological survey to obtain an international adjudication of the controversy.

Selvig pointed out that the settlers on both sides of the boundary are in a fighting mood. He urged that some form of cooperation between the two countries be devised to have the river carry off the floods with the least possible damage.

The proposed dam would cost $150,000, of which the dominion would contribute $100,000, but Selvig said that Roseau county already had spent $400,000 to control the stream. He advocated that spillways or drainage canals should be constructed in both countries to carry off the overflow water.

FRAUD CHARGED IN WEMME ESTATE

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

PORTLAND, Ore., Mar. 28.—In a suit filed in the circuit court here today Judge E. W. Wickley, former attorney for the alien property custodian, is charged with having "fraudulently" and "wrongfully" converted 46 shares of the capital stock of the E. Henry Wemme company, estate in his own use, and Dow V. Walker, former county commissioner and local representative of the custodian, and August Wemme, a heir of the estate, are charged with "having aided and abetted Wickley in his fraudulent scheme."

The suit was brought by Howard Sutherland, alien property custodian, through his attorney, John R. Latourette. It asks for a judgment of $75,545.80 against the three defendants.

The alien property custodian recently made an investigation at the request of six of the eight Christian Science churches of the city and designated Latourette to bring a suit for an accounting. Proceeding on the theory that Judge Wickley alone was involved, Latourette first instituted suit against Wickley alone in the federal court here last January. On his own volition he later withdrew the suit, having discovered that the court was without jurisdiction over the matter because Wickley is a resident of Indiana.

With the view of suing Judge Wickley in the Indiana federal court, Latourette went to Washington last February for a conference with the alien property custodian and while there said he discovered evidence that Walker and Wemme, Portland residents, were asserted confederates of Wickley. It was then decided that Latourette should bring a suit against all three in the state courts here, and if Wickley refused to submit to their jurisdiction he should be sued alone in the District of Columbia.

Through it all Miss Cahill retained her cheerfulness which has become a tradition about the hospital. Unable to sit up she has spent her time largely in reading.

After having driven from the system of the growing child an unknown quantity of accumulated unknown poisons which had thinned, or thickened, his blood (I forget which), the spring tonic also speedily supplied the vim, vigor, and vitality he had lost during the long cold winter.

The vitamin was in the sulphur; the molasses was added only to disguise Willie's mind from the principal ingredient. But it always took argument, and sometimes actual force to administer pleas; maxims, and admonitions became but empty sounds; Willie's suspicion had been transformed into knowledge.

As the course of treatment extended over a couple of weeks or so, the early spring days were lengthening, the sun was gaining in power, windows were occasionally opened; then came the tear-up of house cleaning and everything was thoroughly aired.

Willie played long hours out doors; he "perked up," and the spring tonic had once more accomplished its miracle.

Late in the fall Pa had carefully chinked all the little cracks about the windows and doors; drafts were a serious menace to health. No window was open at night; night air was a positive danger, and, beside, why furnish fuel to heat all out doors? There was plenty of ventilation if the bedroom door was slightly ajar, and the breeze freely of pure air, and all the sunshine procurable throughout the winter months, no child, or, for that matter, no adult needs a spring tonic.

This has knocked the props from under most of the good old home remedies, for the younger generations have learned in school, and are getting in practice many health fundamentals based on the assumption that "an ounce of prevention, etc." is an axiom to heed.

STATE DEPARTMENT PLANS TO USE LINDY

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 28.—The state department has something up its sleeve in connection with Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh's future plans, and because of its reluctance a lot of speculation is going the rounds, including a report that the trans-Atlantic flyer is to be sent on a "good will" trip around the world.

Another rumor is that Lindbergh is concerned with mapping out a definite program for airplane service to Central and South America.

None of the reports has been confirmed. All of them arose from a brief conference the aviator had yesterday at the state department with Acting Secretary Ochs.

Lindbergh spent his first day in "retirement" yesterday by taking some more members of congress, diplomats, and White House guests, for aerial taxi rides.

BLAST MAY HAVE WEAKENED DAM

LOS ANGELES, Mar. 28.—A series of charges of blasting powder, 625 pounds in all, were set off in road construction below the west wing of the St. Francis dam arch four days before the great structure collapsed the night of March 12-13.

This testimony was given today at the coroner's inquest over dam victims by J. H. Bouey, engineer in charge of maintenance of the dam.

Bouey said that Tony Harnsberger, caretaker of the dam, who was drowned when it gave way, had set off the charges during the building of a new road leading down behind the western dyke wall. The blasts were set about 300 feet from the lower side of the dam.

Bouey declared that the explosions had not sprung any new leaks in the dam, although numerous small leaks had been noticed in the west bank of the structure, all, however, seeping only clear water.

ENDURANCE FLIGHT MARK INCREASE IS ATTEMPTED TODAY

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Mar. 28.—Captain George Haldeman and Eddie Stinson took off from the beach runway here at 7:36 o'clock (eastern standard time) this morning in an effort to better the world's endurance flight record.

The fliers were confident the Stinson-Detroiter monoplane, under power of its 220 Wright whirlwind motor, would keep them in the air more than 55 hours. They expect to cruise up and down the Florida east coast.

The record which Haldeman, noted for his trans-Atlantic attempt with Ruth Elder, and Stinson, a manufacturer of Detroit, have as their goal in now held by two German aviators with a sustained flight of 52 hours and 23 minutes.

In order to achieve a recognized new mark, it will be necessary for the two pilots to remain in the air at least one hour longer than this previous record.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Mar. 28.—Gene Shank, St. Paul aviator, ended his third unsuccessful attempt to establish a new world's endurance flight record here at 7:24 a. m. today when a plugged gas jet forced him down after 12 hours in the air. He took off at 7:14 o'clock last night.

ITALY FEARS TOLL OF TEBLOR MORE THAN FIRST GIVEN

(Associated Press Leased Wire) UNDIENE, Italy, Mar. 28.—The fear prevailed today that the loss of life and limb in the earthquake of yesterday in the Friulan region may be even greater than estimated because crippled telephone and telegraph lines prevented the obtaining of a full report of the disaster.

At noon the toll stood at ten dead and forty injured. Two relief trains and a column of motor trucks loaded with food, blankets and medicines, moved in to the stricken region. Detachments of infantry, Alpine troops and the Fascist militia had preceded them.

At Tolmezzo the panic caused by the earth tremors was accentuated by a landslide. Two great masses of earth knocked over chalets and cabins. The toll tower of the cathedral was badly damaged that it was feared that it might fall at any moment. Another church, the prefecture, courthouse and barracks were also badly damaged. The populace fled into a great rocky lair between the Tagliamento River and another stream. The Tolmezzo Hospital was evacuated.

The Fascist federation of the Udine province launched an appeal for subscriptions. Premier Mussolini has put 100, said.

DEMPEY DENIES FIGHT WITH GENE

(Associated Press Leased Wire) LOS ANGELES, Mar. 28.—Jack Dempsey, former world's heavy-weight division boss, flatly denied that he was to meet Gene Tunney next July or August somewhere in New Jersey.

"Nothing to it at all," was the ex-champion's terse reply when he was asked if a copyrighted story in the Newark Ledger today was correct in its assertion that the "off again-on again" title bout was "on" once more.

Beyond a slight curiosity as to "what it said," Dempsey showed little interest in the story.

"If I have a husband again I don't want a companionate one. I'll get one that will be all mine," said the wife.

The court granted her $35 a month alimony, $150 attorney fees and court costs.
