ROSEBURG, OREGON, FRIDAY, MARCH 13, 1928.

BEAUTY IN OPEN SPACES

Now that the census bureau population estimates for 1928 are out, we may expect state and civic boosters to begin calling attention to them. Florida is already pointing out that half a million more people live there now than in 1920; states like Michigan, which gained 900,000, and California, which gained a full million, will probably do likewise.

Approval by the house roads committee of the Dowell bill to authorize appropriations totaling $165,000,000 to continue the present program of federal aid to states in highway construction arouses our hopes. It may mean that Congressman Hawley will be able to secure that conditionally promised $300,000 needed for the North Umpqua road from Roseburg to Diamond lake.

Count that week as a blank which does not record expert advice on opportunities in Douglas county. Since the beginning of the year visiting specialists have told us about our "wonderful opportunities" and "unexcelled advantages" with regard to sheep, wool, poultry, cattle, landscape gardening, berries, orchard fruits, manufacturing industries, tourist attractions, garden truck and other items not now in our memory.

Fortunately no "hoosegow" incarceration awaits those ex-service men who fail to respond to the call for duty at the airport next Sunday. The fishing season on the upper North Umpqua river opens the same day, and we fear the veterans who are votaries of the sport with rod and line will be conspicuously absent from the volunteer pick-and-shovel brigade.

The Jenkins bill, providing for the admission of relatives of immigrants to the United States, outside the quota provisions, has been favorably reported in the House of Representatives, and may become a law shortly. Let's hope it will. Not more than 4,000 people will enter the country under this law—hardly enough to amount to any relaxation in our exclusion policy; and many hardships and heartaches will be prevented. The bill deserves support.

ALLEGED CHECK ARTISTS CAUGHT

C. H. Mortenson and D. W. Dreeske were arrested last night at Grants Pass and brought to Roseburg today charged with passing worthless checks. They are accused of having passed a check in the sum of $5.95 at the C. J. Breier store yesterday in making the purchase of a shirt, receiving $5.95 in change. The officers were notified some time after the check had been passed and they succeeded in locating the two men at Grants Pass and had them arrested. They were brought back to this city last night and are being held awaiting the action of the court.

'Hands Up'

The only difference, in our opinion, between an ordinary every-day hold-up and a reduction sale is, that in the first you pull a gun on a stranger whereas in the second you pull it on a friend!

What a store loses in a sale is paid for by the excessive prices charged regular patrons.

We simply don't do business that way.

Harth's TOGGERY

MAKES NEW START WITHOUT KNOWING HIS RIGHT NAME

(Associated Press Local Wire). PORTLAND, Ore., April 12.—Nameless and lacking any memory of his past life, a man who came to the police station nearly three weeks ago as an amnesiac victim, asking help to identify himself, has started out in the world again to make his own way.

After being under observation at the police emergency hospital for more than a week, and making futile efforts to regain recollection of his past, the man tried several days to find work in Portland, turning each night to the police station for lodging. Finally despairing of either recovering his personality or getting a job, he set out yesterday on the "open road," bound north, probably to Seattle, his identity still shrouded in mystery.

BIGAMIST DRAWS TWO-YEAR TERM IN PENITENTIARY

L. J. Mishaud arrested in New Jersey and brought back to this city charged with polygamy, was sentenced to a two-year term in the penitentiary by Judge Hamilton today. Mishaud, while having a family in New Jersey, married Miss Leah Mack of Roseburg and took her to Montana. He deserted her there and returned to New Jersey where he failed to support his family and was jailed for non-support. His location was learned by local officers who secured extradition papers and had him brought to Roseburg. George Dietsch bringing the prisoner back from the East. Mishaud waived grand jury indictment and entered a plea of guilty upon information filed by District Attorney Corson. He was arraigned before Judge Hamilton and entered a plea of guilty and was given a maximum term of two years.

places to be scattered over the Atlantic. The theory is that trans-Atlantic airplanes would land, get fuel and start again. But by the time the Atlantic is "dotted with seadromes," planes will fly across the Atlantic as easily as they now fly across the English channel.

In the second place, if it is hard for fliers in somewhat foggy weather to find the Hawaiian islands in the Pacific, how difficult would it be for them to find a landing place "dot" in the Pacific? As hard as finding a turtle asleep on the Pacific.

Mussolini decides finally that handshaking must go, and young Fascist are instructed to give the impressive Fascist salute. No handshaking, it spreads infectious diseases. Civilized beings, especially middle-aged Americans, accustomed to having their fingers crushed two or three times a day by young "go-getters" would like that rite adopted everywhere.

CHILD HEALTH DAY WILL BE OBSERVED THRUOUT COUNTY

In 1924 the American Child Health Association, a national child welfare association, set May Day aside as the National Child Health Day. It has caught the imagination of the nation and has become familiar to everyone who has the interest of children at heart. The slogan, "Better Children for Our Nation; a Better Nation for Our Children" has been adopted.

May Day Fetes have now become Health Fetes throughout the country. There is no motive power like happiness and more happiness is needed in health education, through play, sport and adventure; through an environment that enriches with music, beauty, color, heroism, the love of nature, God and mankind. For that reason the National Health Day has become a celebration as intensely beautiful and glorious as the noted May-pole dance.

Herbert Hoover has written the following: "The Child's Bill of Rights—The ideal to which we should strive is that there shall be

THE TINYMITES STORY BY MAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNUCK

"Oh, my," cried Scouty, "look up there. Poor Clowny's speeding through the air. That great big bird is stealing him. I fear he'll never come back. To Clowny it may be a thrill to be plucked up in some bird's bill, but I'd be mighty scared. Just look, he surely is real black."
Then Copsy said, "What can we do to help poor Clowny? Wish I knew. That bird will soon be out of sight and we'll be left behind. Let's look and find the butcher man, 'cause he will help us if he can. At least if we are trying to help 'twill somewhat ease my mind."
So off they started, down a hill, all closely watching Clowny till the monstrous bird that carried him flew near a mountain top. "Oh, see," yelled Copsy Timmyte, "the bird has now flown out of sight. My, wouldn't it be terrific if he'd let Clowny drop?"
But Clowny didn't drop. Oh, no! The big bird didn't let him go. He held him tightly in his claws and flew on through the air. "Where are we going?" Clowny cried. "Why did you take me on this ride? You left the others all behind. I wish I was back there."
And then the big bird circled round and dropped down nearer to the ground. A mountain loomed up not far off. The bird sailed out that way. "Please land me on the mountain side, I'm getting tired," wee Clowny cried. "Twas fun to ride with you, but I have had enough today."
The queer bird seemed to understand. He swooped right down where he could land. Then Clowny got a big surprise, and loudly cried, "Hurry! The bird has done his very best to be real kind."

He was flying in a plane piloted by Jack Evans, former P. T. A. pilot, now in charge of a school at Medford, and was carrying films for the Medford theatres. The films due in Medford yesterday
