GOAL EXCEEDED AT DEDICATION OF NEW CHURCH

Rev. B. E. Votz, Rev. R. E. Jope, Rev. C. H. Hilton and Rev. George C. Ritchey, former pastors of the local church, and also from Mrs. J. N. Lester, wife of the late Rev. Lester, a former pastor of the church here. Other messages were received from the Men's Bible Class of Santa Cruz, California, where Rev. Baird was formerly the preacher, and from the Christian church at Medford.

The principal address of yesterday afternoon was given by C. F. Swander, secretary of the Oregon State Board, who represented all of the Christian churches of the state in conveying congratulations. There are now 126 congregations of that faith in the state with a total membership in Oregon of 25,000.

The climax of the day came at the evening hour, when Dr. Scoville delivered one of the most powerful addresses ever heard in Roseburg. The message was a soul-stirring appeal that brought 15 new converts into the church, one of the new converts not only making the confession, but pledging a life of Christian service as well. Four others, each a member of the church, also volunteered during the day for life work in religious fields. Nearly 100 new members have been added to the Christian church since the work was begun on the new building.

At each of the services yesterday Mrs. Scoville sang one or more solos, accompanied by Prof. I. N. Farris at the piano. Additional music was furnished in the Bible school and evening service by an orchestra under the direction of Mrs. A. J. Young, a cornet solo by Mrs. Jos. Shockey being a feature of the evening concert.

Delegations from many outside churches were present during the three services of the day. Klamath Falls, Eugene, Portland, Myrtle Creek, Biddle, The Dalles, Albany, Oakland, Grants Pass, Looking Glass, Medford, Powers, Glide, Dilard, Nugget, Corvallis and Cottage Grove were among the places represented by visiting delegations. One visitor from Canada was present and assisted the local church.

Meeting Tonight

While the campaign of charity sent it to the regency. The Associated Press correspondent who returned from Klausenburg, (Cluj) toward Bucharest, met many peasants moving toward the capital with banners which were unfurled. Others were sitting around camp fires by the road side.

a great expense to attend this play and secured a set of 150 views, which have been made into lantern slides for illustrating the lecture. In addition to the lecture, Mrs. Arlene Dux Scoville, whose singing has been one of the major attractions of the campaign, and Prof. I. N. Farris, one of the best pianists ever to visit Roseburg, will present a number of religious and concert selections. Mrs. Scoville, who made her debut into grand opera two years ago, has appeared on the concert platform in many of the large cities of the United States.

WORLD-FAMOUS

Passion Play, Lecture and Concert

THE MASTER PRESENTATION OF THE AGE

Tuesday Night, May 8

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH, Kane and Douglas

An Illustrated Lecture by
DR. CHARLES REIGN SCOVILLE

Three Superb Vocal Concert Solos by Mrs. Arlene Dux Scoville.
Also an Illustrated Solo, "The Holy City."
Two Piano Numbers by Mr. Isaac N. Farris.

Dr. Scoville saw this play in 1900, and he needs no introduction into our city.

Not an ordinary stereopticon lecture, but a unique pictorial story of surpassing interest, taking one on a journey from New York across the stormy Atlantic to Paris, the most beautiful city in the world; then twenty-five views of Palestine will be given, showing the Holy Land as it appears today. These views were taken by Dr. Scoville; then up the foothills of the German Alps to the quaint little village of Oberammergau, where is enacted every ten years the most wonderful drama man ever witnessed.

To go with Dr. Scoville to this picturesque hamlet in Bavarian Tyroland by the aid of beautiful pictures to look upon the humble peasants as they move about their fields and streets; and then see them upon the stage in their beautiful presentation of the Passion Play, will indeed be one of highest interest. The illusion of being in sunny valleys of Judea, in the midst of those who surrounded Jesus in the streets of Nazareth, Bethany and Jerusalem, will be complete.

Oberammergau, as its name indicates, is the upper hamlet on the Anmer River, in Bavarian Alps. In the year 1632 a terrible plague was rapidly depopulating the village when they prayed to God that this plague be removed from them and made a solemn vow that if their prayer was answered they would perform the Savior's Passion to show forth His glory and their gratitude, every ten years forever. Their prayer was answered and their vow has been regularly observed for more than 300 years.

The characters in the play are chosen for their blameless lives and all are consecrated to the work with prayer and every performance is conducted with the greatest reverence. There are seven hundred persons.

half the population of the little village, who take part in the Passion Play. Although they have no instruction except from their village priest, they act their parts with wonderful dramatic power and delicate appreciation of character.

The play begins at 8:00 a. m. and lasts until 6:00 p. m., with an hour intermission at noon. It is played every Sunday from May until October and every church festival day and repeated as often as is required to accommodate the thousands who come from all over the world to witness it.

In 1900, 750,000 persons witnessed this wonderful spectacle and noted the powerful religious force acting directly on the lives of the peasants, to whom it is always a divine service.

A pictorial reproduction of this, the greatest drama the world has ever known, will be given by Dr. Charles Reign Scoville.

Dr. Scoville will show 150 pictures during the lecture.

TRADEMARK LAW EXPLAINED

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 7.—The designation "Oregon Prunes" cannot be made the subject of a trademark unless it is included in a " fanciful design" and a disclaimer of exclusive right to the words is filed with it, according to information received today by Senator McNary on the trade mark division of the patent office. He was informed that if some slogan is added to the words, "Oregon Prunes" the whole may be registered as a trademark without a disclaimer. Walter T. Jenck of Salem, representing the Dundee Fruit Growers and Packers, had asked in opinion on the registration of the words.

Alba Julia surveying the ranks of the peasants as they trudged toward the capital.

No Arms Carried. It was stated that each peasant was participating in the march on his own initiative and without the authorization of Julio Maniu, leader of the national peasant party. The march on Bucharest was regarded as a popular manifestation and since the marchers were unarmed no bloodshed was expected. Maniu and I. Mihalanti, another leader, intended to reach the capital ahead of the peasants by traveling by railroad. They carried the demands of the assembly that the government headed by Vintila Bratianu resign and intended to present it to the regency.

The Associated Press correspondent who returned from Klausenburg, (Cluj) toward Bucharest, met many peasants moving toward the capital with banners which were unfurled. Others were sitting around camp fires by the road side.

"When They Poke Fun at Rotary We Are Proud of It," Says Arthur Sapp.

Here are Arthur Sapp (1), international president of Rotary; Paul P. Harris (2), who founded the first Rotary club 23 years ago, and some of the organization's most prominent members; King Albert of Belgium (3); William Cosgrave, president of Irish Free State (4); Wilhelm Cuno, former chancellor of Germany (5), and Crown Prince Umberto of Italy (6).

NEW YORK, April 10.—Arthur Sapp, president of Rotary International, and spokesman for the 440,000 business men who make up that organization, feels that the slights leveled at Rotary by Senator McNary and H. L. Mencken are really high compliments.

"When those two poke fun at Rotary, we Rotarians can feel proud that we are in good company," said Mr. Sapp, when interviewed for NEA Service as he passed for a few days here on his way to his home in Huntington, Ind., from a trip to Panama.

"From the last I heard of these fellows, they were poking quite a lot of fun at Almighty God."

Then he went on to give an interview that might be called an answer to the criticisms of Messrs. Mencken and Lewis.

"Just what does Rotary stand for?" he asked. "It stands for a lot of things—and all of them decent. No man, no community, no nation, ever got very far by just slandering back and calculating what the rest are trying to do. Give us a fool tool and dynamite and he can wreck and tear down. It takes something more than a fool to build. Rotary is trying to build.

Fellows like Mencken and Lewis have discovered that there is always an audience when a small boy throws a rock through a plate glass window. An audience is what they want more than they want anything else in this world. They'd starve, probably, without one."

Aims of Rotary. Then, dropping his levity, Mr. Sapp recounted the history and aims of Rotary.

"Roughly speaking, the main objects of Rotary—its aims and objects, we call them—are three," he said. "The membership of a Rotary club in every community includes one representative from each classification of business and profession.

Vocational service is the first of the aims and objects of Rotary. Creating and maintaining a higher standard of ethics in business and the professions. Complete elimination of unfair practices that may have become disguised under the label of 'open business methods.' "The second of the aims and objects of Rotary is community service. Rotary doesn't try to render all that service itself. We Rotarians know that the world isn't going to be made over by any for-

"Most Men Decent"

"Rotarians meet at least once a week for luncheon together. We try to implant a feeling of friendliness. We believe that the time when every man looked at the rest of the world as his enemy belongs to ancient history and should remain ancient history. We have discovered that fundamentally most men want to do the decent thing and want to live in peace and amity and mutual constructive effort with their neighbors.

"The way Rotary International has spread is the best evidence to my mind of the eternal truths that we have tried to make the foundation of Rotary. It was only 23 years ago that Paul Harris of Chicago founded the first Rotary club. Today there are more than 140,000 members in 44 nations.

Royalty in Membership. The spread of Rotary outside of the United States has been simply marvelous. Royalty has taken to Rotary just as the average business and professional man in America has taken to it.

Prince of Wales is an honorary member of the Rotary club. King Albert of Belgium is a Rotarian. Leopold, crown prince of Belgium, is a member of the Rotary club of Brussels. Umberto, crown prince of Italy, is a member of the Rotary club of Turin. Four members of Mussolini's cabinet are Rotarians. Count Volpi, the Italian minister of finance, is a member of the Rotary club of Venice. William Cosgrave, president of the Irish Free State, is a member of the Rotary club of Dublin. Over in Japan Baron Mitsui, the great shipping and industrial magnate, is a member of the Rotary club of Yokohama. A score of other Japanese noblemen are Rotarians.

"One of the strongest planks in the platform of Rotary today is international acquaintanceship. We are working out a message of international peace and good will, based on international racial study and recognizing the different points of view of the different races. We are discovering common ground on which all may meet. You don't need the same language or the same youthful training to recognize what the head limitations of what is good and what is bad for a community.

"It looks to us Rotarians as if Rotary had come to stay."

able and civic organizations in his own organization can do it. We have done it. We want him to work with them and for them.

"Third of the aims and objects of Rotary is club service. We plan and strive constantly to make all the Rotary clubs more efficient in their service to members of the club itself.
