ROSEBURG, OREGON, MAY 21, 1928.

FRATERNALISTS, WELCOME!

For the second time in twelve years, Odd Fellows and Rebekahs of Oregon are holding their annual convention in Roseburg. That they are most welcome visitors is attested on every hand; the weather, always a factor in the success of such an occasion, is all that could be desired, and our citizens will not be lacking in its traditional hospitality.

"We teach the relief of distress, the elevation of character and the promotion of all those attributes in man that make for better living and greater service to humanity. We profess to war against selfishness and vice in all its forms; we teach that all men are brothers, children of the common Father, each fraternally interested in the welfare of every other and concerned in every case of need and distress."

Roseburg takes pleasure in extending the hand of fellowship to the visiting subscribers to such a noble creed, a pleasure equalled only by the pride felt in the numbering of a flourishing unit of the great international order on the list of its own home fraternities.

CURBING SALMON PIRACY

In an effort to halt illegal salmon fishing in the North Umpqua river, the Douglas County Sportsmen's association has asked the state game commission to establish a patrol on the stream. If this is the only remedy for the situation, let's have it. If the salmon are worthy of protection and conservation—and practically all of us agree that they are—protection should be given before they become any scarcer. It is no reflection upon the competency of local wardens and other authorities that they have been unable to stop all poaching and other forms of salmon law violations.

FORD'S ATLANTIC AIR LINE STARTS SOON, STOUT SAYS

(Associated Press Special Wire) SAN FRANCISCO, May 21.—The Examiner today quoted William B. Stout, head of the airplane division of the Ford Motor company, as saying a trans-Atlantic air line having the backing of Ford Interests would be put into operation this summer. The project was expected by Stout to be in the experimental stages for a year, during which planes would be operated across the country about once a week. By next summer he expected to see daily service inaugurated.

PRUNE PICKIN'S

By BERT G. BATES

GOOD EVENING FOLKS

We're not an Odd Fellow Nor Rebekah But after seeing 'em Wotta great time They're havin' We kinda wish That we knew Their mystic Handshake!

Visitors, we're dern glad to welcome you to the garden city of the Umpqua Valley. Sniff our roses and eat our berries and you'll know this is the true Utopia of the coast.

Saw a lodge feller today with a plume in his hat and well he'll be swiped it off'n his wife's Easter bonnet.

Chief of Piece Vaughn is dern sore. Up to today he had the finest lookin' uniform in the village but since these Canton fellers drove in he looks like a buck pvt. in the rear ranks.

Go right ahead, folks, and tear off Roseville to bits and throw it on the face. The town is yours and the piece dept. is out of order.

These Rebekah gals are dern spiffy. We doubt if the local bachelors can keep pace with 'em as the eligibles have just had a strenuous week tryin' to look pleasant for the business and professional wimmen.

But as we said before— WE'RE GLAD YOU'RE HERE— And if there's anything you want to make your stay more pleasant, just whistle and we'll break our neck to get it.

LAFE PERKINS SEZ—

"Some fellers come to a convention to cut up and others have wives who come along as Rebekahs."

Chrysler expects to make the world sit up, with his new car, the "Desoto." Florida will like that name.

General motors, in July will produce a new Buick, for which you are politely requested to wait. Mr. Knudsen, president of general motors' Chevrolet says that car is selling one hundred and thirty odd thousand cars a month.

The young Ford factory driver, shooting you through traffic in a new Ford model A, shows you that the car can do forty miles an hour in second speed, and believing that three negatives make an effective affirmative says:

"In the beginning every body tried to get away faster than this car, to show it up. But they don't never nobody try to do that now. They just give you the road," saying which, he risked your life, once more, scooting between two heavy trucks.

Carry a cheerful thought to Sunday morning. This country is really rich, plenty of opportunity to make up for anything that may have happened to you in Wall street, in the last day or two.

Stocks listed on the big exchange were worth, at yesterday's market price, read carefully the pleasant figures, fifty-four billion eight hundred and eighteen millions nine hundred and twenty-five thousand, eight hundred and sixty dollars.

And that does not include stocks listed on the curb exchange, or not listed anywhere, or the gigantic wealth outside of corporations.

Brokers loans, not quite five billions are less than nine per cent of the big exchange stock values. How foolish to make a fuss about those loans. But don't gamble.

THE BIRD OF THE WEEK (BY LOUIS ALBERT BANKS)

(Cut out this block each week and you will soon have an interesting bird book of your own.)

THE PHALAROPE

By LOUIS ALBERT BANKS. Of the three phalaropes inhabiting the United States, the Wilson variety is the only one peculiar to this country. Their range extends across the entire land from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and is much more common in the interior than on the coast. They breed from northern Illinois and Utah northward and winter in Brazil and Patagonia. Its habits are most interesting. It feeds in shallow water either by wading or swimming.

It is a case of complete reversal from most birds, in the fact that the phalarope females are far the handsomer, and are larger than the males. That is a characteristic of the species. Mrs. Phalarope seems to have nothing to do about producing the young, except to lay the eggs in a nest. Her very modestly attired husband builds with any help from her. The handsome female lays the eggs, and then, figuratively speaking, she washes her hands of the whole matter, for she leaves her husband to attend to the setting and to hatch out the eggs and rear the young. The ladies flock together and go clear off feeding on wet meadows and mud flats, and get very fat, and are not even introduced to their own children until it is time to migrate to South America. It is the feminist movement carried to the limit. The phalarope is nine inches long, with a very graceful form. The handsome female is of a grayish and white color, with a broad black stripe through the eye and down the side of the neck, where it changes gradually into a rich chestnut color; bill is long and slender. The bird is not often seen on water but it is a good swimmer. The male is a modest drab. They nest on the ground in the grass on the edge of a marsh or pond. They have three or four greenish-buff eggs with black markings. The Lady Goes Ahead (By Louis Albert Banks) Ah, handsome lady phalarope, You know quite well just how to grope With all these modern things of sex So many ladies find to vex You dress yourself like heliotrope, Get overalls for phalarope. You know that ladies use the best, Let Mister build your fancy nest.

You make your love and lay your eggs, And then go off on pretty legs, Let Mister do the setting stunt That's what he's for—to bear the brunt. You join the other happy girls, Who sport in colors bright, and curlic; When you come back it's time to go, To try off south to Mexico, You let the Mister raise the kids, And feed them worms and funny quids; He dices around in overalls While you are off at plays and balls; Until it's time to fly off south You never show your pretty mouth; And then you load, you pampered dear, Let Phalarope bring up the rear.

If ever I should be a bird And have my wishes kindly heard, I then will ask, and fondly hope, You are the bird of my kind; You have the philosophic mind; You are the bird that knows your rights, You have your way in all your flights.

DILLARD YOUTHS ARE IN ACCIDENT SATURDAY NIGHT

Four Dillard boys, Alvin and Haldeen Hubbard, Harvey Schartzer and Ray Prossell, enroute to Roseburg from the Wigram Tavern Saturday night, were in an auto accident near Shady Point which resulted with injuries of a minor nature to three of the youths and more serious injuries to Alvin Hubbard.

The boys were taken to Mercy hospital immediately following the wreck. They were enroute here following the dance at the tavern and in passing a truck driven by Ray Prossell, the accident occurred, the machine in which the boys were riding going into the ditch, completely turning over. Alvin Hubbard was wedged under the running board of the car and was knocked unconscious, not coming to his senses until Sunday, and was badly bruised and cut with barbed wire. Haldeen, his brother, was unconscious for a short time and received minor bruises and scratches. The Schartzer boy was scratched and Ray Prossell had a badly lacerated right hand. The three latter were dismissed yesterday from the hospital, but the other young man will not be able to return home for another day or so. It is likely that an X-ray will be taken to make sure that he has no broken bones.

THE TINYMITES STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNOCK

"Come on," yelled Coppy, with a grin. "No loafing now. We'll all turn in and soon we'll have this lumber stacked along the water's shore. We will not stop until we're through. At first there was a lot to do, but we have finished part of it, and there is not much more." "You're doing fine," the woodsman said. He placed a plank upon his head and shouted, "Watch me carry this. I'll bet it will not fall." The Tinymites thought him very strong and watched him slowly walk along. He reached the shore and shouted, "See, it wasn't hard at all!"

The same thing Clowzy thought he'd try, but couldn't lift a board that high. The woodsman laughed and watched him. Then he broke out in a smile. "I guess that you're too small," said he. "Of course, if you were big, like me, 't'is likely you could do it. You may grow up, after while."

Just then they heard a weak voice cry, "Hello, there, later Woodsman, I have something here that you will like. It really is a treat." A pretty girl came towards the bunch. The woodsman said, "Ah, that's my lunch." And, sure enough, the little girl had brought some food to eat.

"We'll have a banquet now," he cried. She set a basket by his side and asked, "Who are your little friends? I'd like to meet them all." "Why, they are little Tinymites, and they are here to see the sights," the woodsman said. When Clowzy bowed, he almost took a fall.

They soon decided they would eat upon a tree trunk, sawed off neat. The food was shortly spread out and the bunch sat down to dine. Nice sandwiches and bits of meat, and cake with frosting, oh, so sweet, were taken from the basket.

LANE AND BENTON COUNTIES COMBED FOR TWO LOOTERS

EUGENE, Ore., May 21.—A posse of men from Monroe and Corvallis was out searching all day Sunday for two men who robbed the A. Wilhelm and Sons store at Monroe and the Southern Pacific tool house there about 3:30 o'clock Sunday morning.

Discovered just as they were working at the store's safe, the two began shooting, dashed to one of the two automobiles they had and escaped into the nearby woods. They left a large amount of plunder in a touring car outside one store that was identified and restored to the owners.

Mrs. Cash Martin, who lives across the street from the store, saw the men leaving with their loot, and notified the telephone girl, who in turn immediately phoned the men of the town. The two robbers were surrounded but dodged out between their would be captors. Deputy Sheriff Carpenter shot at one of the fleeing robbers, but could not tell if he hit him.

FIRE AT COMSTOCK

A very serious fire occurred last night at Comstock, where a service station, garage and barn were destroyed. The buildings were close to the highway and traffic was held up for about two hours while the fire was in progress.

PARADE CHIEFS AND SQUAWS TO OPEN CARNIVAL

(Continued from page 1.) The drawing is to take place for the automobile. Carnival Shows Here The Kluge Carnival Shows arrived last night and the crew went to work immediately setting up the shows and riding devices at the Catholic property on Kane and Washington streets. These features will be in operation each day and evening during the week.

Arrangements are also being made by the Umpqua Squaws for strawberry booths on the main streets where strawberries and cream will be served all day. The flower show, sponsored by the Women's Club, will be held in the Bell building, opposite the Antlers Theatre, and the strawberry display will be made in the McKoon, Kirby and Baldwin store.

The Umpqua Chiefs received a message this morning stating that in Roseburg on Saturday with a large delegation of their membership, accompanied by the Medford Post American Legion drum corps. The Craterians were delighted by the interest shown by Roseburg in the Medford Jubilee recently and are returning the visit by bringing a large number of their members here for the strawberry carnival.

The American Legion drum corps at Medford is one of the finest in the state and will put on an exhibition here in connection with the visit of the Craterians. The Umpqua Chiefs are making preparations for the reception of the visitors and expect to show them a fine time while in this city.
