G. A. R. Vets Keep in Trim

You won't find these San Francisco G. A. R. vets limping along in the Memorial Day parade—no sir, they believe in being athletic and keeping fit. Here they are as a photographer snapped them while they were going about their daily doze. From left to right: H. E. Cohen, past adjutant-general; Sam Yoho, color bearer and C. C. Shaddock, past commander, with John C. Chapman, present commander of the George H. Thomas Post, No. 2, San Francisco, at the rowing machine.

Unavoidable Identification With Raving Tom Heflin Seems to Have Squelched Any Third Party Plans

By RODNEY DUTCHER (NEA Service Writer)

WASHINGTON, May 31—This might be a dandy year for a third party if it weren't for Tom Heflin. The senior senator from Alabama seems to have put a curse on any such movement from the start.

If anyone has enough influence and money to organize a real third party movement this year, he would have plenty of material to work on. There is a large group of parties. Then there are the classes who haven't been getting their share of prosperity—farmers, coal miners, textile workers and the unemployed. And a bunch of Democrats who will hate to vote for Al Smith on account of his Tammany connections, his wet record or his religion.

One big handicap for such a movement is the fact that Hoover and Smith, assuming their nominations, will each appeal to large groups of independent voters. Both happen to be men of ability and considerable popularity.

Bigotry Has No Appeal

But the worst handicap is Heflin. Any movement of anti-Smith Democrats to organize another political party will be damned from the start as inspired by religious bigotry. Self-respecting persons will keep out of it. Hardly any of the 5,000,000 La Follette voters of 1924 would support it.

The group of Wilson and Bryan progressive leaders who oppose Smith are in a bad quandary. It hurts them to accept Smith. They are constitutionally and honestly opposed to Tammany and many of them are dry, some of them would rather be licked in November than win with Smith.

Yet, after Heflin's ravings they can't organize a protest ticket without identifying themselves with the anti-Catholic sentiment. Hence, most of them will wind up by supporting Smith, realizing that he is better than the political machine which created him and hoping for the best.

G. O. P. No Better Off

The Republican Independents aren't much better off. One or two western senators are talking about a third party if they can't have a farm-minded candidate, but they haven't any leaders. Neither Borah nor Norris want to lead an independent movement. And such a bolt from the G. O. P. would probably have to line up with Heflin's party—if there is one.

Anyway, organizing a permanent third party would be a gigantic task. It would take lots of money and, even more importantly, lots of organization. It would need politicians and it wouldn't have any, because it couldn't promise any jobs for a long time.

Members of Congress and other elective officials could hardly be expected to join it meanwhile, for they would lose their jobs and the country would lose the services of most of the independents now in office.

Whether Heflin will lead a third party is doubtful. If he does, he will have to lead almost alone. He might, conceivably, cause the defeat of Smith, but the possibility seems remote.

AIRPORT NEAR GLENDALE SOON BE COMPLETED

GLENDALE, June 1—(Special)—The emergency airport chosen by the government is nearing completion. The field has been graded and rolled, markers put up and a high fence of woven wire, topped with barbed wire erected. Beacons will be put up soon, it is said.

The field, which is just outside of the city, paralleling the Glendale highway, is over 2000 feet long and is said to be excellently adapted as an emergency landing field for emergency planes.

The government chose several emergency fields between Grants Pass and Portland.
