ROSEBURG, OREGON, TUESDAY, JUNE 12, 1928.

COOLIDGE IN THE WOODS

There is something rather significant in President Coolidge's choice of vacation spots. Two years ago he went to an out-of-the-way spot in the Adirondacks, close to the big population centers in an air line, but effectually isolated from them in reality. Last year he went to a mountain lodge in the Black Hills of South Dakota, to bask in the utter quiet and solitude of the distant west. This year he will spend his summer on a wilderness estate in northern Wisconsin not far from Lake Superior. For all its nearness to the bustling cities of Superior and Duluth, this spot is as isolated and remote as his previous summer homes. Throughout most of the year the president is subjected to an everlasting crush of people. There is never any relief. Not for a moment can he relax and forget that he is chief executive of a great nation. People—people—people; they surround him every minute of the day. In such circumstances a change becomes imperative. When it comes time for a vacation the only spot that offers any inducement to the president is some place in the wilderness; some place far from city or town, where a man can be alone with himself. So President Coolidge selects, first the Adirondacks, then the Black Hills, then the Wisconsin forests. No one is under such pressure as the president. Yet his problem is, to a certain extent, the problem of nearly all of us. The tremendous popularity of automobile touring in the summer is evidence of it. So is the great growth of the "summer resort"—the frame hotel by lake or river, the cabin in the mountains, the cottage in the small town. Modern America is getting very populous and busy; even the least important of citizens finds his life more and more trespassed on by strangers. There is no time for introspection or self-communion. Although modern life has trebled man's need of detachment in which he can orient his inner self to the outer tumult, it makes it continually harder for him to get it. So vacations are vital to us. And to most of us, like President Coolidge, the vacation means a chance to withdraw for a moment from the press and rush of the daily job—a chance to get by ourselves, taste the elemental joys of sunshine, clean winds, lonely countrysides and solitude, and thereby draw new strength for another year of work.

THE WAY OF THE UNDERWORLD

Murders are not uncommon in our larger cities. Nor is it uncommon for a shooting to be explained by the police as "part of an underworld war." The bootleggers, gangsters and racketeers have a way of settling their disputes without outside help. A business rival, an upstart gang lieutenant or a squealer is quietly pistolled on a dark street, and things go on as before. Police seldom are able to bring the slayers to justice, as the parties involved—even the wounded men—will not talk. But, after all, we needn't feel so badly about it. In its own rough way the underworld is keeping its population down. Acts of violence are regrettable, of course; but the death of a beer baron or a gambling king is no loss to society.

A NEW PLAN TO END WAR

Lieut.-Gen. Frits Holm of Denmark has a new scheme for preventing war. It probably won't get adopted, but it sounds as if it might be effective. A nation adopting it would pass a law providing that in case of war the head of the state, his cabinet, all his male relatives, all members of parliament who voted for war and all bishops and prelates in the nation's churches should at once be pressed into service as privates in the infantry of the shock troops. They would serve until death or the end of hostilities and would not be eligible for promotion. This sounds a bit drastic, indeed. One imagines that Gen. Holm will have his difficulties getting it through very many parliaments.

Who remembers the old days when a candidate feared that his campaign fund would be too small?

Other Presidential Campaigns—1888

(By The Associated Press.)

The democratic convention of 1888 met at St. Louis, June 5. It was known that President Grover Cleveland would be renominated, and his selection was only a formality. Arthur G. Thurman of Ohio was nominated for vice president.

Benjamin Harrison of Indiana was nominated for president by the republicans in convention at Chicago, June 19-25, and Levi P. Morton for vice president.

In this campaign the tariff came to the fore as an issue between the parties, with the republicans advocating a high protective tariff and the democrats championing "free trade" or "tariff for revenue only."

Harrison and Morton were victorious.

Markets

(Associated Press Local Wire)

PORTLAND, Ore., June 12.—Strawberries were cheaper on local wholesale markets this morning, best offerings bringing around $1.40 to $1.50 per crate. Little damage was done the berries by recent rains and appearance of offerings for the most part excellent.

Good lettuce continued rather scarce today and local stuff was about 10 cents per crate higher at $1.50 to $1.75.

Scattering receipts of cherries were reported this morning, but stockpiles were generally small and prices mixed. A few bins sold around 20 cents per pound while Tartarians from Newberg went at 12 to 15 cents. Pie cherries were offered and brought 7 cents per pound.

Dairy produce prices were unchanged today with the tone of the butter and egg markets fully firm. Poultry was still in over supply but receipts were lighter early this morning and accumulations were beginning to clean up.

Country dressed meats were generally firm. Pork was slightly higher at 14 to 14 1/2, most choice light hogs bringing the top figure. Lamb were also firm at 22 to 23. Beef and veal were steady to firm but prices were not quotably higher.

AMERICAN PLANT SCENE OF RIOY IN GREECE

(Associated Press Local Wire)

ATHENS, Greece, June 12.—Serious rioting in which one person was killed and several wounded occurred today at the Kaveh headquarters of the American Tobacco company, where workers are on strike.

The strikers stoned the gendarmes and soldiers. Shots were exchanged and the casualties resulted. The government took measures to restore order.

Mrs. Child to Spend Summer—Mrs. G. R. Child, resident of this city many years ago and now of San Francisco, passed through here the first of the week with a party of friends enroute to British Columbia on a motor trip. They will return here the latter part of the week or the first of the coming week and Mrs. Child will remain here for the summer.

Runs in Panama

The United States isn't the only country facing a presidential election this year. Here's Florencio H. Arosemena, Liberal candidate for president of the Republic of Panama, where an election will be held Aug. 5. His wife, the former Elizabeth Bolling, is a niece of Mrs. Woodrow Wilson.

Directs Search

Capt. Riser-Larsen, right hand man of Amundsen on the 1926 polar trip, the Norge, probably will head the main Norwegian relief expedition seeking the Italia in the North Pole regions. He believes the Italia came down upon the ice not far north of Spitzbergen.

Neither Cal Nor Al

No, this isn't President Calvin Coolidge—it's Al Smith. But you're wrong again—this Al Smith isn't the governor of New York. He's editor of the Christian Advocate, of Nashville, Tenn., and will go to the democratic convention at Houston to fight for a prohibition platform and dry nominee.

A SOFT ANSWER

"Walter, I've been waiting patiently a whole half hour for that steak."

"Yes, sir, I know, sir—life would be worth livin', sir, if everyone was as patient as you."—Passing Show.

NO HARM DONE

FLOOR WALKER: You were very rude to the lady who is just going out.

ASSISTANT: Oh, that's all right. She's my wife.—Passing Show.

PAR AT LAST

A doctor who is noted for his obesity treatment received the following letter from a golfing patient:

"Dear Doctor—That diet you put me onto is working wonders. Yesterday for the first time in months I holed out the penultimate button of my dress waistcoat."—London Daily Chronicle.
