The slackening of interest in social life for a period of the last few weeks is being replaced by a spirit of mid-summer enterprising and this week has held several lovely parties which have complimented Roseburg visitors who have been here during the vacation season.

Marrriages continue to hold social interest in town and society is finding much to chat about with articles for brides-elect the past fortnight.

Pretty Home Wedding Solemnized Mid-Week

One of the loveliest of mid-summer wedding ceremonies was the marriage of Miss Marie Louise Gilkeson, daughter of L. S. Gilkeson, and E. J. Hall of Harrisburg, which was solemnized Wednesday afternoon at 1 o'clock before a small assemblage of relatives at the Gilkeson home, 305 West 2nd Avenue North.

Vining maple and ferns were intermingled with pale pink asters and gladiolus to form a bowler where the couple stood during the nuptial service.

In the rooms were baskets of the same flowers to carry out the color note in pastel shades.

Rev. Joseph Knotts, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, read the ceremony.

The bride was charmingly gowned in a flowered georgette over rose silk and carried a shower of bride's roses and ferns.

Miss Vivian Gilkeson was her sister's only attendant. She wore a frock of pale green crepe, with blue and her corsage of lilacs of the valley and bride's roses was worn at the waist.

Erwin G. Randolph acted as best man. Preceding the ceremony Mrs. Erwin G. Randolph played "I Love You Truly."

Afterward an informal luncheon was served, one large table being used with colorful appointments. A large bride's cake centered the table.

Following the luncheon Mr. and Mrs. Hall left on their wedding trip to Canada by auto. Mrs. Hall wore as a going away costume a navy blue georgette tailored model and chapeau to match. They will return after September 10 to make their home on South Stephens street.

The bride graduated from the University of Oregon in 1926 and was a member of the Nu sorority and Girls Oregon Club. She has been teaching English in the Junior high school the past two years.

Mr. Hall attended Albany College and is also a graduate of the Oregon Normal School. For the past two years he has been principal of the Rose school.

Lawn Supper Is at Falbe Home

A pleasurable affair of last Saturday evening was the lawn supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Falbe in Riverside, the guests being the members of their bridge club and their families.

Miss Falbe in Northern Part of State

Miss Helen Falbe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Falbe, has been in Portland for the week visiting with friends. She will be joined today by Miss Margaret McKee of Wacon and the two will go to Walla Walla, where they will spend the next week of an visiting.

The Misses Martens Entertain at Bridge

The Misses Marie and Irma Martens, who are spending the summer at their home on North Jackson street, entertained at a lovely bridge party on Wednesday evening for a group of their friends. They will be leaving again for the east within a short time.

A color note of yellow, carried out with goldglow and marigolds, was used effectively in the rooms where four tables of bridge were in play.

Miss Mae Baldwin received first prize and Miss Bess Wharton second. At the end of the evening refreshments were served at prettily appointed tables.

Mrs. J. J. Sharp, Roseburg matron, left this week for the north, visiting a few days at the home of her son in Pasco, Washington, before going on to Parma, Montana. From there she will journey to Towhatan, Arkansas, where she will spend the winter with her daughter.

Miss Sims and Nathan Quick Wed at Quiet Ceremony

Miss Mirth Sims, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Sims, was married to Mr. Nathan Quick on Saturday evening at 9 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. LeVern Hamber.

The ceremony was read by Rev. W. R. Baird, pastor of the Christian church, before intimate friends and members of the families of the bride and bridegroom.

Dinner Given For Visitors Sunday

For the pleasure of Mrs. George Bruhn and daughter, Miss Patricia Bruhn, of Lincoln, Nebraska, who left Thursday on their journey home after visiting relatives here, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Herward entertained at dinner Sunday.

Groat-Pierce Nuptials Wednesday Afternoon

With a bowler of ferns and rose buds before the window as a charming setting, Miss Ila Yvonne Pierce, formerly of this city and now of Bend, and John T. Groat of Roseburg, were quietly married at the home of Mrs. Wanda Aymor in the Kohlhaugen apartments at 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

The ceremony was attended by only the immediate relatives. Rev. W. R. Baird, pastor of the Christian church, officiated.

The bride wore a pink chiffon afternoon frock. She was attended by Miss Lorlene Gross, who wore blue silk.

Paul DeLous was best man. The bride is the daughter of Alton and Mrs. A. A. Pierce of Bend. Mr. Groat is associated in the Harrison garage.

Matron and Daughter to Visit in South

Mrs. F. C. Larroun and daughter, Frances, have gone to Sacramento where they will visit with their sister and aunt, Mrs. H. C. Jackson, planning to be away from the city about a month. Mr. Larroun will join them in a week or so.

Informal Reception Honors Couple Recently Wed

An informal reception was given on August 13, honoring Mr. and Mrs. Victor Phillips, who were recently married, a group of their friends calling at their home on Willis Creek near Dillard for the evening. Mr. Phillips is the son of the late Robert Phillips, for many years a well known stock rancher of that place, who settled in early days on the land now owned by his son. The bride also is well known in the community.

Receiving the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Victor Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Almer Rice, Mr. and Mrs. Abner Rice, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Rice.

Refreshments were served to a large number of guests at the close of the affair.

Club Gives Surprise Affair for Matron Leaving for East

Among pleasurable club meetings this vacation season was the surprise affair arranged by the members of the M. O. A. Club honoring Mrs. A. W. Helmholdt, one of the club women, at her home on South Pine street. Mrs. Helmholdt is leaving soon on an extended trip east and will visit in Boston this fall.

Luncheon covers were placed for twenty-six. Assisting at the tables were Mrs. Cleo Tipton, Mrs. E. A. Helmholdt and Mrs. E. G. Cloake.

The honor guest was presented with a bar pin by the club. The list included Mrs. Harry Marks, Mrs. Dorothy LaFaire, Mrs. Ellis, additional guests, and Mrs. A. W. Helmholdt, Mrs. Geo. Powers, Mrs. M. H. Allison, Mrs. J. P. McKay, Mrs. Mary Davis, Mrs. John Marks, Mrs. J. Jones, Mrs. C. W. Cook, Mrs. Geo. Bickel, Mrs. E. G. Cloake, Mrs. Ward Gilha, Mrs. S. C. Matron and Son Return to Seattle

Mrs. L. W. Jasso and son, Jack, who have been here this summer as guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Barker, left this week for their home in Seattle. Most of the time while they were here, Mrs. Jasso and son, have been with Mrs. Barker at the Barker summer home, Fremont Lodge, on the Curry estate.

A number of informal social affairs were arranged for the pleasure of Mrs. Jasso during her stay.

SLENDERNESS IS EXPRESSED IN CURVES

NEW POPULARITY OF PRINCESS LINES IS AID TO FULLER FIGURES

BY HENRI BENDEL For NEA Service

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—The old-fashioned princess lines have become stylish once more, revealing curves where last year there were only slender, straight lines.

But so far there is shown little desire for the fuller figures that once were stylish. Slenderized lines are as dear as ever to the heart of the American woman.

And the gown that makes a woman look gracefully slim is the one she will want.

Certain types of gowns slenderize. In plain materials it rests with the cut. In figured patterns the type, color, manner of making and trimming all are features to be reckoned with.

Solid Colors Best Unless one is sure she looks better in figured materials, I suggest plain colors for the woman of more mature build. Dark colors are preferable, though sometimes pure white is better than a medium shade. Best of all is that combination of dark and light wherein the light is introduced in vertical fashion to break up width.

There are certain rules to follow, if one wishes to look slender. First, never have harsh, decided horizontal lines. They cut the figure in half, increasing the width. Tiers often help. But they should slant. In the approved fashion of the moment, V-neck effects are always better than square or round ones, on a stouthead figure. And scarves that hang, accenting the length, are a help.

Red Suggests Weight Black is ever the friend of the woman who is no longer slender. Dark blue is almost as good. Brown, if dark enough, has almost the same effect. But red, on the other hand, tends to make the figure seem fuller.

I show today three different types of costumes that slenderize. Slenderizing lines that flatter and please. The blue evening gown at the left has its scalloped, circular tiers applied in uneven lines. A tasha coat (center) slenderizes by its rounded cut and its restrained use of American broadtail. Chateau's flat crepe scarves the front of the black mohair. Eton jackets fall down suit at the right and give an illusion of slenderness.

First, the Worth evening gown lovely soft shade that compliments its wearer and detracts from her size.

The tiers are circular so that instead of sticking out they fall softly to the figure, giving it the illusion of greater height and less width. The top tier, scalloped as they all are, is almost a bolero. The V-neck, both front and back, tends to give a slimmer silhouette. The swooping peacock hemline is achieved by having each tier drop slightly more in the back than in the front. It is an achievement in a gown for the matron who trims her figure down to approximate the debutante's.

Two Matrons Entertain at Bridge Evening for Miss Wharton

Mrs. J. R. Wharton and Mrs. G. V. Wimberly presided over one of the week's attractive affairs, entertaining on Monday evening at bridge in compliment to Miss Florence Wharton, a popular visitor from Honolulu.

Gladiolus and delphinium were combined with other summer blooms in colorful decoration.

Honors for the evening were held by Miss Evelyn Quine and second prize was received by Mrs. I. G. Broadway. Miss Wharton received the guest prize.

Assisting the hostesses at the luncheon tables was Mrs. Harry Pargeter.

The guest list numbered Miss Florence Wharton, Mrs. W. K. Wright (Mabel Bryan) of Fresno Calif., Mrs. A. M. Knudsen, Mrs. Grant Osborn, Mrs. A. B. Taylor, Mrs. Fred Lockwood, Mrs. I. G. Broadway, Mrs. L. W. Jasso of Seattle, Mrs. J. C. Loely, Mrs. Harrie W. Booth, Mrs. A. M. Thomsen, Mrs. Chas. W. Wharton, Mrs. Tom Wharton, Miss Alice Ueland, Miss Eva Rice, Miss Emma Ueland, Miss Bess Wharton, Miss Jane Wharton, Miss Anna Belle Dem, Miss Gertrude Rast, Miss Gertrude Dolan, Miss Evelyn Quine, Miss Bertha Kohlhaugen, Miss Vernita Kohlhaugen, Miss Rosina Porter.

Have Out of Town Guests

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Green are entertaining at their home on Dixonville road several out of town guests. Among the visitors are Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Price and Miss Jane Danahall of El Paso, Texas; Mrs. Jay Summerville of Kansas City, Mo.; Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Mersereau and Mrs. Abbie W. Hopkins of Ellis, Florida.

Nephew Local People and Bridge Maid Wed

At a quiet wedding ceremony on August 11 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Price and their nephew, Charles Davis of Bridge, and Miss Nellie Oosterech, also of that place, were married.

The service was read at 5 o'clock by Rev. F. E. Crook before only a few. Mr. and Mrs. Davis will make their home at Bridge.

Miss Jennings Is Bride at Pretty Home Service

Lovely appointments combined with a beautiful wedding service characterized the marriage of Miss Ruth Jennings, attractive Roseburg maid, and Mr. Frank White of Marshfield last Sunday evening at 7 o'clock at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Myrtle Jennings, on Thompson street where forty relatives and close friends had been bidden for the ceremony. A number of out of town guests were present.

The nuptial vows were exchanged before a latticed arch of pink and orchid formed of colorful wisteria intermingled with the blossom's leaves. Centering the top of the arch were three silver bells, concealing the lights, and at the base of the improvised altar were baskets of gladiolus, hydrangeas and ferns.

Throughout the rooms were bows and baskets of summer flowers and each of the lights were hidden with pink bells.

Proceeding the entrance of the bridal party Merle Clark sang a group of two solos, "I Love You Truly" and "At Dawning," with Miss Gladys Strong accompanying. Miss Strong played the bridal march from Lohengrin as the bride and her attendants took their places before the altar and during the service softly played "Love's Old Sweet Song."

Dr. Frank B. Matthews, pastor of the First Baptist church, read the ceremony.

The bride wore a lovely wedding dress of pale pink georgette over pink crepe de chine, the waist having slender fitting lines and a narrow collar of lace. The skirt was fashioned of three tiers of fluffy wide silk lace which formed an uneven hemline. Caught from the left shoulder to the waist was a narrower band of pink apple blossoms of silk. Her slippers were of gold cloth. A wide band of rhinestones in her hair was caught at each side by pink rose buds. Her bouquet was a shower of pink roses, lilies of the valley and maiden hair ferns tied with narrow satin ribbon and white mauline.

Miss Louise Jennings was her sister's maid of honor and wore a becoming green georgette and silver lace frock, the lace making a point in back to give the uneven hemline effect.

Miss Lois Byrd, bridesmaid, was gowned in a charming orchid taffeta bouffant model, petals of the material graduating from three rows at the side front to six in the back to form the skirt.

Both attendants wore rhinestone bands in their hair and their French bouquets in basket style hung from their wrists by satin ribbon. Their slippers were of blond kid.

Kenneth Clark acted as best man for Mr. White.

Following the ceremony an informal reception was held by the bride and bridegroom and their attendants.

The bride's cake and the wedding cake were cut by the bride and bridegroom.

Ices were cut by Mrs. Jennings. Assisting in the rooms were Miss Doris Pickens of Salem, Miss Lillie Christopherson of Eugene, Miss Margaret Jennings and Miss Lucille Jennings.

Mr. and Mrs. White left by motor for points as far north as Detroit, Columbia and will return at the end of two weeks, making their home in Marshfield.

Both attended school in Roseburg where they have a wide circle of friends. Mrs. White graduated in 1926 and since that time has been employed by the J. C. Penney company here. Mr. White is the son of Mrs. Ida White of Spokane. He is employed by the Stone's Cash Store chain as assistant manager at Marshfield.

Mrs. Waddell Hostess for Lovely Affair Honoring Visitors

An affair of attractive appointments was the luncheon for which Mrs. H. C. Waddell was hostess last Saturday at which two summer visitors who left the city this week, Miss Florence Wharton of Honolulu and Mrs. L. W. Jasso, Seattle matron, shared honors.

Bay leaf and ferns were distinctively used in the table decorations and covers were placed for the two honor guests and Mrs. Grant Osborn, Mrs. Chas. W. Wharton, Mrs. Geo. A. Bradburn, Mrs. I. G. Broadway, Mrs. J. F. Barker, Miss Eva Rice and Miss Jane Wharton and the hostesses. Bridge followed luncheon.

Friends Gather at Picnic as Adieu to Matron

Arranged as an adieu to Mrs. J. J. Sharp, who left Monday to visit in Washington and Montana and thence to Arkansas for the winter, a picnic was given at the home of her son, E. W. Sharp, on Tuesday at one o'clock.

Enjoying the occasion were Mrs. Sharp, Mr. and Mrs. John Pennie, Max Pennie and family, G. W. Pennie and daughter Eva, R. Wood and family, R. M. Wood and daughter and son, Mrs. O. Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Kruse and daughter, Mrs. Sylvia Hendrickson, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Boole, Mr. and Mrs. John Ritter and daughter, Mrs. Burkhardt and son, G. W. Miss Wharton and Parents Left for North

Miss Florence Wharton, who has been a popular summer visitor from Honolulu, with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. W. Wharton, left by motor Friday for Seattle and from there Miss Wharton will go on to Victoria, B. C., joining Miss Mary Elta Craig, who has been spending the summer at Anacosta, Montana, at Seattle.

Both girls, who taught last season in Honolulu, will sail on the Aorangi on August 22, being on the same boat with Mr. and Mrs. Alexis Glanoux, who visited here from Honolulu last month.

Mr. and Mrs. Wharton plan to return here at the end of a week.

Abbott Family and Visitor Leaving for South

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Abbott and their children and Mrs. May Meylan, mother of Mr. Abbott, who has been a visitor here from San Jose this summer, are leaving Sunday by motor for Southern California. Mr. and Mrs. Abbott and family will return at the end of two weeks.

They will visit in Sacramento, Los Angeles, Oakland and San Francisco. Mr. and Mrs. Abbott and family will return at the end of two weeks. (Continued on page 3.)

Here's the most recent portrait of Miss Mary Josephine Lauder, the future Mrs. James J. Tunney. A relative of the Carnegies, an heiress to millions of dollars made in steel, a social register and a Junior Leaguer, she also is famed for her accomplishments as a sportswoman. But if Mary were none of these, it's safe to say that her beauty would make her rather well known.
