TREE KILLS LANE COUNTY WORKMAN

EUGENE, Ore., Aug. 28.—Stanley Damewood, 35, was killed yesterday while working in the W. A. Woodward Lumber company camp on the coast fork. The top of a tree, snapped off by a high line, struck Damewood. The sun was shining in his eyes and fellow workmen said he seemed not to see the falling tree. Death was instantaneous. He is survived by his parents, a widow and two six-year-old children, all residents of Cottage Grove.

ARCHBISHOP OF MEXICO REFUTES MURDER CHARGE

Denies Church Involved in Obregon Plot; Asserts Clergy Keeps Out of Politics.

(Associated Press Leased Wire)
MEXICO CITY, Aug. 28.—Emphatic denial that Catholic prelates or priests had anything to do with the assassination of General Obregon has been made by Monsignor Miguel Miró de la Mora, bishop of San Luis Potosi, who came out of hiding to talk with a group of American correspondents.

Monsignor de la Mora, who is spokesman for the Catholic bishops living in hiding in Mexico, expressed the opinion that Obregon's assassination has only delayed, not defeated, efforts to settle the Mexican religious controversy. He met the correspondents by arrangement at a rendezvous near Mexico City. He said that not more than 12 Catholic priests had participated in military movements against the government and they had done so entirely of their own initiative. Most of these priests went with the rebels as chaplains and did not carry arms. He added that no archbishop or priest has with the sanction of the church sustained the rebel movement in any form.

He reiterated his belief that Mother Superior Concepcion Acebedo de la Lata, who is under arrest charged with complicity in the assassination of Obregon, is "hysterical" and has an abnormal brain. Monsignor de la Mora is one of two Catholic archbishops and eleven bishops who have sought concealment in the country. Of the 4500 Mexican Catholic priests who were in the country at the time the religious controversy broke out only about 40 per cent remain. He estimates that between fifty and one hundred Catholic priests have been killed in Mexico during the last two years. None had a trial and all were executed summarily, he said.

He declared that the pope two years ago gave strict instructions to the episcopate and priests in Mexico not to mix in politics. "We have obeyed," he said, "and still are obeying those instructions."

NOTICE OF BOARD OF EQUALIZATION

NOTICE is hereby given that on the second Monday in September, being September 10th, the Board of Equalization will attend in the assessor's office in the court house in Roseburg, Douglas county, Oregon, for the purpose of examining the assessment rolls and correct all errors in valuations, description and quality of lands, lots and other property, assessed by the assessor, and it shall be the duty of persons interested to appear at that time and place appointed.

MELROSE ITEMS

Mrs. K. L. Baker of San Francisco is here visiting relatives. The Melrose Social Club is intending to give an entertainment on Thursday, September 6, at 8 p. m. The various members have been practicing very hard to make it a success. The grange enjoyed a treat of melons from Mr. and Mrs. Moyer of Dillard.

A party consisting of James Gunn, J. E. Reese, Wade Worthington, William Sandstrom, Margaret Zassenbark, Crystal Penn, Ethelmae Cain and Grace Conn motored to the Oregon Caves on Sunday, August 26th. All enjoyed the trip and the excursion through the caves.

On Saturday night, August 18th, the chairs of the officers of the Melrose Grange which were not held by the younger members were turned over to the young folks as follows: Allen Zassenbark, Master; Wilma Zassenbark, chaplain; Crystal Penn, lecturer; Ethelmae Conn, overseer; and Grace Conn, secretary.

On Sunday afternoon and evening, August 19th, the Melrose Social Club held a tennis tournament and birthday party for Dale and Wilma Zassenbark and Ethelmae Conn. Luncheon was served at 1:30 after which a party of the party went to the Forks to go swimming.

LEONA ITEMS

Mr. and Mrs. Marcato returned from a short visit at Cottage Grove Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Neal and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Monticchia and the son moved from across the railroad tracks into a house lately vacated by the Glen and Pete McGehee families, near the highway.

hop yard near Salem and is staying with her uncle and family in Leona and picking blackberries. Albert Granger, who has been on the sick list, is able to be at work again. They are preparing to move to Lorane soon. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Kenny and son returned home after a short visit with Mr. Genny's parents in Leona. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Queen and little daughter Vivian spent the week-end at the parental Roe Miller home. Mr. and Mrs. Short and Mr. Wells of Roseburg have leased the Theodore Jenness place near Leona for a period of 5 years. They brought a flock of turkeys and about 500 head of sheep with them. Mr. Jenness has reserved the home orchard, vineyard, poultry plant, etc., and has moved his household goods into the house across the bridge. He also retains possession of the service station. XX turned back into the industry and will result in increased production next season.

DOUGLAS SHEEP YIELD RAISERS OVER $700,000

Wool Brings Money.
Sheepmen are also receiving from $350,000 to $400,000 for wool this year. It is estimated, very conservatively, that there are 150,000 sheep in Douglas county. These sheep will shear from 4 1/2 to 7 1/2 pounds of wool per head, with the average being around 6 pounds, a figure which can be materially increased when the sheepmen will carefully work for heavier fleeces. Prices on wool this year ran from 35 to 48 cents per pound, with an average of 40 cents. Based on these figures the value of the wool clip for the year is around $360,000.

The year has been a very profitable one for the sheepmen. While it is true that this industry is not producing any sensational profit, yet it is affording the growers a very fair return on their investment. It is believed, and when given careful study and attention will show a consistent return during the next few days, as the increasing demand for fleeces and the increased use of wool point to good conditions in the future.

The results of this year's activities has created a strong demand for suitable sheep ranches. Local real estate dealers report an increasing number of requests for information concerning property suitable for sheep raising. Many of these inquiries are coming from other states, showing that the reputation of Douglas county as a sheep producing locality is spreading.

Not alone is this condition manifested in the number of inquiries received, but has been reflected in the many bonafide sales that have recently been reported. Real estate movement, for the most part, has been slow during the past few months, but during the summer there have been several large sales of sheep ranches reported, these transfers being brought about almost entirely because of the prosperous condition which was apparent concerning the industry.

County Well Adapted.
Douglas County is held to be extremely well adapted for sheep raising. With its many hills and valleys, its mild winters, its luxuriant feed, the county has all of the requirements for sheep raising. Sheep are ranged the year around on some of the hill land that has little value for any other purposes but is exceptionally suitable for range. Thousands of acres of timbered land in outlying regions affords much free range, while the forest reserve provides additional territory where regulated grazing is possible.

So far sheep in Douglas county have been maintained practically exclusively upon open range. Several of the larger sheepmen move their flocks to higher country in the summer time, but on most of the ranches there there are less than 1,000 sheep, the local range is used almost exclusively. In few instances do the growers feed their sheep, as is the practice in many of the more settled areas of the country. Consequently sheep raising is attended with much lower costs than elsewhere.

Sheepmen state that the open range will not permit any very great expansion of the industry in this country, but if growers adopt the plan of raising feed for their sheep and giving the time and attention to the industry that makes sheepraising in other sections of the country, the industry can be expanded to many, many times its present size.

drift of wealthy men toward Smith. "These business men," he said, "are not afraid of Smith. They are assured he will keep his pledge not to oppose an honest tariff and not to disturb legitimate industries."

"The east has never understood the farm problem," Raskob continued. "I have never met a man, including myself, who understood the provisions of the McNary-Haagen Bill. Gov. Smith has arranged for a survey by one of the greatest students of economics in the United States, Prof. Seligman of Columbia University. If the governor is ejected he will be able to recommend an agricultural relief program which will meet the approval of the east and satisfy the west."

To Invade Corn Belt

"The democratic party plans to spend $500,000 in a drive for the electoral votes of the corn belt states," Raskob told the assembled democrats.

"There are 600 counties in these states and we will try to secure an efficient organization in each of them. This campaign is to be a localized campaign of precinct workers and we will try to get out the vote in every precinct. In my judgment Smith will receive the largest popular vote ever accorded a candidate for president."

Raskob said the democratic organization planned to spend $600,000 over the radio and thus reach a multitude of voters which cannot otherwise be reached.

Unions Cheer Smith

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Aug. 29.—The mention of the name of Governor Alfred E. Smith by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, yesterday brought on a two-minute ovation by most of the 500 delegates to the 65th annual convention of the state federation.

Mr. Green devoted most of his address to the six-hour day and the five-day week but towards the close spoke of "social justice legislation."

"Rochester and New York state are fortunate that they have had a man as governor who was in sympathy with the social justice legislative program and who aided labor in securing its passage," he said.

"I am glad to observe from past performance that the people of the state have shown their deep appreciation for him by voting for him in every campaign." When the demonstration had subsided Mr. Green said it was quite natural for him "to observe this great outstanding figure even though the federation were committed to a non-partisan political policy."

Hoover O. K. Reported

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 9.—Action of Bert Martin, national secretary of the farmer-labor party, in endorsing the candidacy of Herbert Hoover for the presidency, is a personal one and in no way carries with it the approval of the farmer-labor party or its national committee, Joseph A. Poirier, national chairman, declared today.

Poirier said that the secretary had asked the executive committee of the party to endorse either Mr. Hoover or Governor Al Smith, for president, but that the committee had disapproved the plan and had endorsed Mr. Martin for submitting it.

He added the "national executive committee will declare the secretaryship vacant and proceed to fill the vacancy."

Curtis Cites Record

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Aug. 29.—Republican efforts on behalf of agriculture in the party's seven years of post-war administration were detailed yesterday by Senator Curtis the republican vice-presidential nominee, and compared with the position of democrats in congress, particularly on the tariff.

Speaking at the invitation of the American Farm Bureau to a new York state fair assemblage, the Kansas senator confirmed his prepared remarks principally to the agricultural situation. He cited the passage of the emergency tariff act, the extension of farm credits through the intermediate farm credit act of 1923 and through the war finance corporation, and the enactment of legislation authorizing organization of cooperative associations, as among the accomplishments of the republican administration.

The nominee also praised the Kellogg treaty for the renunciation of war which was signed yesterday in Paris, predicting its general approval in this country and adherence to it by every nation in the world, as republican leadership of the senate. Senator Curtis will be called upon next session to ask formal ratification of the pact.

Pastors Bolt Smith

SPOKANE, Wash., Aug. 29.—Fifty Methodist Episcopal South pastors, born democrats and lifelong supporters of that party, have gone on record as opposed to Governor Alfred E. Smith 100 per cent, and all will vote for Herbert Hoover for the presidency, but will vote the remainder of the ticket democratic.

This information came from Rev. John H. Dills, superintendent of the Nez Perce Indian mission at Lapwai, Idaho, who arrived here today following his attendance at a Methodist conference at Milton, Ore. It was at the conference that the pastors decided to oppose the democratic presidential nominee. No religious question was involved, Rev. Mr. Dills said, the pastors declaring they would have given whole-hearted support to Senator Walsh of Montana, a Catholic, if he had been nominated by the democrats.

"We want it distinctly understood that the religious question did not enter into the matter," the pastor declared. "We also want it distinctly understood that we are opposed to Tammany Hall democ-
