All Contributions to this Page—Society, Women's Clubs, and Personal—Should be Telephoned to the Society Editor by Friday of Each Week.

Of immediate interest is the announcement of this week of plans for the Regional Convention of the Oregon Congress of Parents and Teachers of Southwestern Oregon, to be held in Roseburg on October 22, 23, 24, and 25 and for which the various committees working in cooperation with the general chairman, Mrs. P. H. Churchill, are planning an extensive program.

Registration will be taken care of at the Elks Temple, opening at 10:30 o'clock of the first morning. The business meetings will be of primary consideration and will be held beginning Wednesday morning at the First Methodist Episcopal church with the public invited to attend. Prominent speakers have been announced by the program committee for all three days, among the chief ones to be Dean James of the Oregon State Agricultural College, Miss Agnes Hall, University of Oregon of Oregon and state president of the Oregon Federation of Business and Professional Women.

Several social affairs will be given in connection with the conference for the visitors and delegates. A reception, for which Mrs. P. W. Beckley has charge of details, will be the first event, given on Tuesday evening at the Elks Temple. This will be a more informal affair and the public is also invited to be present. The presidents' breakfast will be in the Indian room of the Umpqua hotel at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday morning and is in charge of Mrs. Horace Berg. That same evening a banquet will be given by the Woman's Club at 6 o'clock at the Methodist Episcopal Church South. Tickets for this may be procured at the registration booth, Mrs. H. H. Harris, president of the club, will be in charge.

Mr. and Mrs. Campbell Leave Today for East

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. S. Campbell, who have been interesting Roseburg visitors through the month of September and part of October as guests of Mr. Campbell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Campbell, are leaving this afternoon for their home in Pittsburg, Mass. Mrs. Campbell before her marriage this fall was Miss Helen Meyer of Pittsburg. Mr. Campbell, who formerly lived in Roseburg, has been in the east for the past several years, part of that time being a member of one of the eastern symphony orchestras. He is now in the sales office of Manning, Maxwell and Moore in Pittsburg.

COLOR FOR THE OCTOBER BRIDE

FLUSH PINK, BEIGE IVORY, OTHER DELICATE TONES ENHANCE NEW GOWNS; LONG SLEEVES, SLEEKER FABRICS ARE IN

BY JULIA BLANSHARD
NEA Service Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—September belonged to the college girl. November is the debutante's month. But October is reserved for the autumn bride, the second most popular wedding month of the year.

Miss October-to-be this year will have a lovely time choosing her wedding gown. First, the mode puts a premium on individuality. Second, there is a profuse mass of beautiful fabrics. Last, color is creeping into the bridal gown.

Not much color, to be sure. But some of the prettiest October weddings will see flush pink, beige ivory, eggshell off-white and such delicate tones. One of the smartest of Washington weddings will have flush velvet for the bride, with rose velvet for her attendants.

Agree on Two Points

Long sleeves, preferably tight ones with perhaps an unusual cuff treatment, and some kind of a train that begins below the waistline are the two latest style points upon which all modish wedding gowns agree.

Necklines are apt to be modestly rounded, lattice shaped, a modified square, or V. For necklines are not the battle-line of style they once were. Everyone now concedes that one bride will look charming in a V; another in a sweet, demure, rounded neck.

Velvet fits fair to be the most popular autumn fabric, with lace a close second. There are always dozens of brides who just can't be married in anything but duchess satin, the conservative choice since time immemorial. Moire, tulle, and embossed taffeta add their sprightly beauty to the choice the young bride may make for her slightly bouffant gown.

Five New Favorites

But the sleeker, slinkier fabrics—satin, velvet, real lace, muslin, line de soie, chiffons—lend themselves more gracefully to this season's modish.

The fitted bodice, called semi-princess by some, is a very safe choice for the bridal gown. At hip-length tiers, ruffles, panels, circular godes, shirred paniers and other ingenious skirts can give individuality. The wedding gown is a little longer than summer frocks, too.

Enhance Gown's Beauty

Veils this autumn are practical by all capvells. But they are designed on the bride's head, with one eye on enhancing her beauty, the other on highlighting the gown's style. Lace skull caps, with tulle veils, jeweled caps with lace, tulle turbans or glittering diadems are all good. Slippers can be had this autumn for every type of gown, crepe de chine ones with lace inserts, satin, velvet, kid with modernistic applique decoration and embossed taffeta ones.

Two of Paris' loveliest October bride gowns show the preference for color, one using off-white velvet, the other a very handsome brocade in flush pink.

Both agree on the authenticity of princess lines to hip-length, and on long, tight sleeves. But their skirt and sleeve interpretation is quite different.

Turban of Pearls

A pink brocaded gown cuts its skirt circular, with the train made in one with the back bodice panel. The veil is a gorgeous one of Alencon lace flushed pink as the gown. It has an extremely regal looking turban of pearls and lace and the veil falls from it to extreme length over the brocaded train.

The off-white velvet gown has an extremely chic sleeve interpretation, a circular flare handing over a tight cuff. The skirt is five-tiered, with the circular back falling its full four yards from the hipline.

The tulle veil is attached to a beautiful lace skull cap, which has its pattern outlined with diamonds.

Umpqua Chapter of D. A. R. Opens Series of Meetings; Plans for Big Year Discussed

Opening the series of monthly meetings for this season the Umpqua Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution gave a most successful and very interesting program on Monday, the occasion being Caroline Scott Harrison day in memory of the first president of the order. The hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. R. H. Grinstead, assisted by Mrs. Cam P. Cayler and Mrs. A. J. Bellows, the affair being at the Grinstead home, which was prettily decorated with dahlias, autumnal foliage and other colorful flowers in baskets and bowls.

Mrs. W. E. Boise was chairman of the memorial program, Mrs. E. B. Stewart, chapter regent, was in charge of the opening of the business meeting. Among the interesting projects of the year discussed by the chapter was work to be done for the veterans hospital in Portland. The chapter is also going to entertain with a party to raise funds for the Champego park in Oregon City, which is to be made as a memorial to Oregon Pioneers. Plans for this affair will be definitely made later.

The members also discussed arrangements for the next meeting which is to be a luncheon on November 15 in compliment to the state regent, Mrs. C. E. Apperson of McMinnville.

A beautiful memorial service was held for Mrs. J. W. Hamilton, an active member of Umpqua Chapter who passed away in the late summer.

At the close of the afternoon the three hostesses served a buffet luncheon to the 18 members present and the regent distributed

Tuesday Program for Woman's Club in Charge of County Health Unit

Mrs. John E. Runyan has charge of arrangements for the program to be given at the regular fortnightly meeting of the Roseburg Women's Club on next Tuesday.

Mrs. H. D. Harris, the president will preside at the meeting, which will be in the club rooms on South Jackson street.

The program will be given over entirely to the county health unit. Entertainment will consist of a musical selection by Mrs. Joseph Shockey, cornet, and a talk by Mrs. Harry Boyle, county chairman of the Christmas Seal Sale, on that work. Miss Helen Atwood, county health nurse will give some details on field work in the county health department.

Ladies of Club Entertain for Matron

The ladies of the Bellevue Club entertained with a miscellaneous shower for Mrs. Fred Boyer whose house and contents were destroyed by fire a few weeks ago. Invited as guests were the ladies of Dixonville and South Deer Creek. Games and conversation took up the time. Many beautiful gifts were received by Mrs. Boyer. At the close of the afternoon dainty refreshments were served.

P. N. G. Club Frolics at Old Fashioned Party

The Past Noble Grand's Club frolicked at a delightful affair of the week when Mrs. C. H. Wickham, assisted by Mrs. G. H. Stephenson, entertained at an old-fashioned party on Thursday evening.

The rooms were colorfully arranged with seasonal flowers for the affair. For the best costume, refreshments were served.

Club Meets to Plan for Autumn Entertainment

The Home Economics Club of Milwaukee Chapter met Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Otto Matthews as hostess.

A very pleasant afternoon was spent arranging for a range entertainment to be given by the ladies some time in the future. Refreshments were served to the guests later.

Those present were Mesdames H. P. Conn, David Busenbark, R. A. Busenbark, T. W. Busenbark, Fred Goff, Clifford Mahley, J. W. Plummer, Ed Thompson and Emma J. Wood.

A called meeting of the association was held September 28 at which thirty delegates to the convention were elected as follows: Mrs. Harry Collison and Mrs. J. Keeley.

Young Actress Is Back From Ireland Where She Studied for New Play

An interesting bit of social news in Roseburg circles is the return from abroad of Janet Young, who has been appearing for several seasons with the Storoni and Lora Club, Daughters of the Nile, to be her guests at their first meeting this fall.

Projects for this fall were discussed and plans made for future social affairs. Election of officers was postponed until the next meeting. Discussion was held concerning the November centennial to be held in Portland and a communication was read from the Queen of the organization.

At the close of the evening Mrs. Eisher served refreshments to the 14 guests.

Daughters of Nile Invited to Entier Home for First Meeting

On Tuesday evening Mrs. Roy Eisher entertained at her attractive home in Laurelhurst, inviting for the evening members of the Lora Club, Daughters of the Nile, to be her guests at their first meeting this fall.

Projects for this fall were discussed and plans made for future social affairs. Election of officers was postponed until the next meeting. Discussion was held concerning the November centennial to be held in Portland and a communication was read from the Queen of the organization.

At the close of the evening Mrs. Eisher served refreshments to the 14 guests.

Junior High P. T. A. Elects Delegates

A called meeting of the Junior High P. T. A. was held Friday evening, October 5, for the purpose of naming delegates to the district convention to be held here October 22, 24 and 25. Having ninety members entitles the association to three delegates, who are Mrs. T. H. Noss, acting President; R. E. Shoemaker, who is unable to attend; Mrs. Carl B. Neal, Mrs. E. Metzger and Mrs. G. C. Finley and the alternates are Mrs. V. Shori, Mrs. A. Baum and Mrs. A. L. Carter.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Fullerton and Mrs. Annie Fenton left this week for the south to be gone for the next few weeks. They are making the trip by auto. Mrs. Fenton will visit in San Francisco with her two daughters, Mrs. N. G. Erwin and Mrs. J. Ferguson. Mr. and Mrs. Fullerton will visit in Oakland.

Catholic Daughters Postpone First of Series of Parties

The first of the series of the winter season's card parties to have been sponsored this week by the Catholic daughters of America was postponed by the organization due to the death of the son of the president of the daughters.

The series will be started later this fall and will include a group of monthly card parties to be given at St. Joseph's Parish hall, Mrs. T. H. Noss the general chairman.

Last year the series proved so delightful in social circles that the announcement that they would be held again this season has occasioned pleasure among devotees of bridge and five hundred.

Mrs. E. H. Trask, a visitor here through the summer and early fall months as a guest at the home of her daughter and husband, Rev. and Mrs. Ernest Post-Rumella, on Cass street, left midweek for her home in Concord, New Hampshire.

Mr. and Mrs. Rast and Family Depart for National Capital

Roseburg friends, who so enjoyed their delightful visit here, regretted the departure this week of Mr. and Mrs. John Rast and their son, who have been here through the month of September from Washington, D. C.

The visitors, who have been extensively entertained by their friends while here, left on Thursday for their home in the east. They were accompanied as far north as Portland by Mr. Rast's two sisters, Mrs. J. E. Sawyer and Miss Gertrude Rust.

Smick P. T. A. Meets to Outline Winter Program

The regular meeting of the Smick P. T. A. was held Thursday, October 11, many matters of business being discussed pertaining to play apparatus and school equipment. The school house was thoroughly renovated and seats furnished by the association at various times. A very interesting program followed the business session.

A called meeting of the association was held September 28 at which thirty delegates to the convention were elected as follows: Mrs. Harry Collison and Mrs. J. Keeley.

Mr. and Mrs. Campbell Entertain for Son and Wife

Mr. and Mrs. George Campbell entertained at a charmingly appointed dinner on Monday evening for the pleasure of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Zak Campbell, who have been visitors here the past few weeks from Pittsburg, Mass.

Guests were held for the honor and Mrs. J. E. Carter, Mr. Ely, South and the hostess.

Hardy Border Is Incomplete Without Iris

BY ROMAINE B. WARE
For NEA Service.

It is not too late to plant or transplant iris. They are very hardy and in mass plantings make one of the grandest shows of the hardy border. Plant them in clumps or drifts, using a half dozen to a hundred of a kind. They multiply very fast, and should be divided and reset every two or three years.

Iris must have good drainage and are particularly at home on a hillside. All of the fall, heavier varieties comprising most of the modern ones, this time out, the Japanese and "Bertrams" resort to. Some of them will stand hardy and many long may be the best thing to feed them. At this time they may be set out and old clumps may be divided and reset. It is best done when the soil is dry, and do not water them as they are likely to rot.

Iris should be planted not closer than 12 to 15 inches and the drainage, or heavy fleshy part of the root should be bare, covered. Deep planting retards growth and invites disease.

If you are not familiar with the rock varieties of iris, you may find something they are very different from the "lilies" of the old-fashioned garden. There are several hundred used varieties to be had at all prices from ten cents upward, some very fine ones are priced at one dollar and many good ones are much less.

To mention a few. Look them up in a good iris catalog. "Models" of David, Lord A. Williams, Madam Goodrich, Prospero, Queen Catherine, and Shy, are worth a look. All of these will be good in any garden.
