Club events seem to take form place in interest during the mid-winter days and informality was delightfully pervaded social nature centering about the smaller club groups.

Among the larger affairs of this week was the Woman's Club benefit tea which brought out a large contingent of club women for Tuesday afternoon at the club building. The club is planning for a series of parties to be started quite soon. The first of these will be an evening card party on Friday, January 25, at the club house.

Scholarship Loan Fund Tea Is Attractive Club Event of Tuesday

One of the largest and most anticipated activities of the year at the Roseburg Woman's Club is the benefit tea for the Scholarship Loan Fund and this year the event was given Tuesday, January 15 at the club building, about 50 club women and townswomen attended the lovely affair.

Holly and poinsettias formed the red and green motif throughout the rooms where the entertainment was held.

A regular session of business for the club women preceded the receiving hours and plans were made for a public card party to be given by the club women some evening in the near future. Committee appointments are being made to start the work.

Mrs. H. D. Harris, president of the club, presided during the afternoon. Mrs. Charles A. Brand opened the program with a group of two pleasing vocal solos and was accompanied by Miss Gladys Brown.

Mrs. A. G. McMillin made a brief talk, explaining the object of the Scholarship Loan Fund. It is the chief educational activity of the Oregon Federated Clubs. The fund totals more than $30,000, through which more than 600 girls have been aided in securing a higher education. The project originated at the La Grange, Oregon, in 1903 and last year 83 girls were helped in their education, the year previous 112 girls were assisted. Prior to this time no interest has ever been charged on the amount loaned, but this year a per cent interest is being charged after the girls have worked a year, giving them ample opportunity to pay the amount of the borrowed sum.

A. C. Sturtevant made an interesting and brief talk on thrift and its relation to public service.

Mrs. Carl B. Neal spoke in a very interesting manner on new books, and told of the many new biographies of noted men. She also spoke of Mussolini, and the autobiography that he had written of himself.

During the serving hours Mrs. W. R. Willis and Mrs. W. C. Winston presided at the tea table, pouring. The table was lavishly with holly and red candleabra.

The refreshment committee and those assisting in the room included Mrs. C. D. Pies and Mrs. A. C. Sturtevant, who were joint chairmen, Mrs. P. L. Hartman, Mrs. Mary Harding, Mrs. R. W. Burdette, Mrs. H. R. Stevens, Mrs. J. H. Morgan, Mrs. E. H. Fletcher, Mrs. V. R. French.

Visitors Leaving Today for Portland

Mrs. Mary McHenry of Minneapolis and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. H. L. McHenry, and little daughter, who have been visitors here from Portland are to leave today for the metropolis. Mrs. H. L. McHenry and lady have been here for the past month at meals at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Kollmeier. Mrs. Mary McHenry arrived from California, where she had been visiting, last Monday and is accompanying her daughter-in-law home to spend the remainder of the season.

Evening Party Honors Bride of Holiday Season

A charming evening affair of the week was the surprise shower at which Miss Gladys Bogert and Mrs. Royd Britton entertained on Thursday complimenting Mrs. Ralph Church (Rhea Gates), who was a bride of the holidays.

The guests, included in which were members of the Elders Club, were bidden to the apartments of Miss Bogert in the Kollmeier building which were attractively appointed in a motif of hearts, carried out in pink and white. In a large paper heart attached to one of the doors, each guest drew a silk ribbon, the honor guest drawing the shower of gifts.

Through the evening informal games entertained the group of maids and matrons.

A centerpiece of pink and white sweet peas graced the luncheon table and above it, covering the table, was a pink paper covered umbrella.

The list included the Mesdames Ralph Church, Gladie Bruton, Edw. Waiton, Kay Bechtolt, C. A. Corfoll, the Mesdames Elsie Hudson, Isabel Warren, Venora Bates, Bertha Rohr, Betty Bourhill, Helen Ferguson.

Exercises for 9th Grade Members Given on Thursday Evening

Among the large events holding interest for the latter part of the week was the exercises given honoring the members of the graduating class from Junior high school at the school building on Thursday evening. The affair was sponsored by the Junior High P. T. A.

Proceeding the program the organization met and furthered plans for the concert to be given by the Willamette University Glee Club January 25 under the auspices of the P. T. A.

Dave Olesman, principal of the school, presented the members of the mid-term graduating class to the audience and the following program was enjoyed: piano solo by Arthur Carter; reading of class roll; Francis Borg, class prophecy; by Ruth Gillmore; skit by members of the class, showing progress of a boy from the first grade to the ninth grade; piano solo, by Elizabeth Williams; address to class, by Hon. H. A. Canada; response, by Elizabeth Williams.

At the close of the program refreshments were served by a committee of ladies of the P. T. A.

Senior High P. T. A. Plans Continuation of Shrubbery Project

On Tuesday evening, January 22, at 7:30 o'clock, the Parent-Teacher association of Senior high school will hold the next meeting. At a previous meeting it was voted to continue with the shrubbery project, which was started last year. At this time committees will be named for the work, and a general discussion held on ways and means for continuing the project. It is hoped there will be a good attendance, as the plan is something that everyone should be interested in. The work of last year was very successful, both in regards to finance and beautification, and is a project that should have the support of the community.

A committee composed of Mrs. V. T. Jackson, chairman, Mrs. W. R. Olin, Mrs. Roy Barker, and Mrs. Willa Scott, has prepared the following program for Tuesday's meeting:

Vocal solo—Mr. LeRoy Hiltz, talk on value of home economy in schools, Miss Elizabeth Dearholt.

Vocal solo—Mrs. W. H. Paulsen, talk on conservation of time, money and energy, Hon. A. C. Narveson.

Elks Will Entertain With Cards and Dancing

An anticipated event for the coming week that comes as one of the season's larger affairs will be the Elks dance and card party which will be the first to be given by the club this season.

The party will be held in the club room at the 321 1/2 temple and arrangements are underway to make it one of the most enjoyable events of the year.

Willamette University Glee Club to Be Heard Here

Those who recall the successful concert given here last year by the Willamette University Glee Club will welcome the news that the club is to again this winter be heard here.

The date for the appearance is January 25 in the evening, the concert being sponsored by the Junior High P. T. A. at the school building. The program will vary in selections, featuring solo, quartets and group singing.

INTRICATE TRIMMINGS ADORN THE MID-WINTER COSTUMES

White Is Popular at Far South Resorts

By HENRI BRENDEL For NEA Service

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—Costumes from the mid-winter collections around the silk suit theme. But the ubiquitous cardigan yields in many instances to little jackets of more feminine cut, more intricately trimmed.

The details of the mid-winter costumes show how involved this has become. Collars, pleatings, little bow shirtings, hand-knitted flounces, hand-embroidered trims and innumerable other intricate decorations bespeak the importance of details.

Nothing that is essentially correct gives the appearance of over-decorativeness. It is ever poor taste to have extraneous gewgaw.

Rhythm in Decoration

There is an appropriateness about the present trimmings on new suits that gives one the satisfaction that rhythmic design does, the sense there is in smooth, finished productions, with nothing striding a discordant note.

White promises to be extraordinarily popular at Palm Beach this winter, which presages a summer vogue everywhere. There are, by actual count, around three dozens of so-called "off-white" shades, those softly sunburned whites that are nearly the pastel tone of white.

Pumpkin orange comes next in popularity. Plain materials are important but many figured fabrics are used, especially small figured prints in pastel raspberry, blues and greens.

Lined, dotted Swiss, basket weaves in novelty cotton and linen mixtures and rayons are all used in conjunction with silks and satins, or by themselves.

A black and white suit of cord silk deserves mention for being among the season's smallest contributions. Here we see the new good skirt, finished with a bias banding of its material, and a fitted novelty jacket that gets a very light plaid by tucking its bodice width below a slightly hooped waistline and buttoning it on the left front with novelty pearl buttons. It has a little scarf collar that might tie in a bow-knot. If Milady wishes.

A white crepe de chine blouse tucks into the skirt, and features a draped neckline not unlike a fish. The cuffs of the blouse turn back outside the jacket's cuffs. A white bangkok hat is laced in black and slashed modishly on one side.

For very sunny days a pumpkin orange flat silk suit takes a hand-knitted linen blouse in slightly lighter tone. The skirt is circ-lar, the belted coat has a charming bow decoration. These bows—they adorn pockets, back of the collar, cuffs and the front of the blouse's neck—are not extraneous, however. They are cut with the different parts of the frock and are really finished ends tied attractively.

Trimming a Yellow Hat

A smart little chiffon including of draped fabric trims a light toned yellow hat of soft felt.

Illustrative of the vogue for small prints is a Molynax creation in quaint pattern of beige, black and tan. The skirt has very fine accordion pleating, attached to yoke depth and the jacket develops a feminine character all its own by using six inch ruffles of self-fabric, accordion pleated. The tie collar makes a flat bow on one side with the other end hanging loose.

With this is an overblouse of beige satin, with beige, black and tan faceruations in a smart pattern. Topping it is a toque that illustrates the shallow front crown and the more elaborate back hair. It is two shades of tan felt.

Women's Class Sponsors Benefit for Building Fund Thursday

One of the benefits of the season which came among the larger affairs of the week was the dinner sponsored by the Loyal Women's class of the Christian church at the church on Thursday. A large crowd attended and the sponsors realized a very good sum to go to the building fund. The organization made large pledges on the building and this dinner was the second of a series of affairs to be sponsored by it for that purpose.

The rooms where the dinner was held were attractive with a colorful decorative note, ferns and Oriental poppies being used to brighten the setting.

Mrs. Belle Cline was general chairman of the affair and was assisted by Mrs. A. M. Neal, president of the class. Mrs. A. A. Sprague, Mrs. Ed Walker, Mrs. Jas. Hutchinson, Mrs. Fred Perry, Mrs. Henry Snyder.

Recently the Mesdames Gladys and Edythe Boothart were hostesses at a party at the Boothart home in West Roseburg. Games were played and a grab box proved quite interesting to everyone. Each had a thrilling time choosing a gift and un wrapping the package. Taken in the evening, refreshments were served. Those invited were the Mesdames Irene Cook, Marian Hagge, Marie Brande, Vera Neal, Hazel Richardson, Audrey McLaughlin, Maxine McLaughlin, Phyllis Albright, and the Mesdames, George Churchill, Clarence Dunlap, Kenneth Olson, Lawrence Newstrom, Charles Chitcock, Vernon Liles, Richard Liles, Landon Hoffman, Harold Richardson, Walter Henry, Debs Richardson, and John Boothart and the hostesses Edythe and Gladys Boothart, and Mrs. L. E. Woodhart—Grange 4.

Missionary Society Spends Afternoon in Subject Study

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Presbyterian church met recently at the home of Mrs. Charles Roberts, 25 ladies spending the afternoon in study and discussion.

China was the subject topic for the afternoon and led by Mrs. Dorothy. Her daughter, Irene Forsythe, is a missionary in China and several interesting letters and most beautiful curios sent by her were enjoyed.

A social hour followed and the hostess served refreshments.

Surprise Affair Honors Mrs. W. D. Wiley

Arranged for the pleasure of Mrs. W. D. Wiley, who recently resigned as one of the members of the city staff of the J. C. Penney company, the staff entertained Friday evening as a surprise at the Wiley apartments on South 13th street.

Games and dancing were enjoyed and afterward a tamale supper was served.

Bridge Entertains Matrons of Club Group

Mrs. W. H. Harris had the matrons belonging to her bridge club together on Saturday afternoon for bridge followed by luncheon. Fifty appointments were carried out at the tables corresponding with the room.

The list included Mrs. R. Carter, Mrs. W. S. Hamilton, Mrs. H. Clay, Mrs. M. J. E. Rainey, Mrs. J. V. Vindus, Mrs. M. F. Rice and Mrs. A. E. Kent.

Mrs. Fred Heany, a former Roseburg club woman, has been elected secretary of the Eugene branch of the N.Y. Club. The Eugene group held its annual election Wednesday.

Relief Corps Installs Officers Recently

Relief Corps met last week for installation of officers, the ceremonies being held at the army club rooms. Following installation a talk by Mr. Donley, Spanish war veteran, was enjoyed and short subjects by some of the city war veterans were also given. Refreshments were served at the close.

The new officers installed were Mrs. Mary Wilcox, president; Mrs. Amanda Kirk, senior vice-president; Mrs. Minnie Chandler, junior vice-president; Mrs. Ida Stacey, chaplain; Mrs. Belle Case, treasurer; Mrs. Kate Milkin, conductor; Mrs. Della Page, guard; Mrs. Margaret, assistant guard; Mrs. Myrtle Norwood, patriotic instructor; Mrs. Kate Bass, musician; Mrs. Virginia Campbell, first color bearer; Mrs. Ruth Spivey, second color bearer; Mrs. Ann Boydell, third color bearer; Mrs. Ruth Montgomery, fourth color bearer; Mrs. Tina Hoffmeister, correspondent.

Miss Abraham Tells of Experiences in China at Meeting

Miss Dorothea Abraham, who has spent five years in China, told of interesting experiences there at a meeting of the Roseburg branch of the American Association of University Women Saturday at the Umpqua Hotel. Her talk included descriptions of the old monasteries and temples and of Chinese customs and celebrations.

Plans were perfected for a study group in child care and training to be conducted in the near future for mothers of young children. The course will be given by the local association in cooperation with the Douglas County Health Unit. Details will be announced later.

Out of town guests at the meeting were Miss Frances Wright of Salem and Mrs. H. L. McHenry of Portland.

Eastern Star Holds Initiation Thursday

At the first meeting for the newly elected and installed officers to take charge, the Eastern Star lodge on Thursday evening held initiation, following the business session.

Elsie Carleton Strang gave the solo work with Mrs. A. J. Young accompanying with the violin during the initiation.

Afterward a social time was enjoyed and a supper served at the close. About 65 attended.

Mrs. A. N. Orcutt went to Portland mid-week and has been visiting her two daughters, Miss Dorothy Orcutt and Mrs. Charles White Fox.

Dr. and Mrs. E. W. Warrington entertained last night with a dinner party at their home on North Twenty-third street. Their guests including friends formerly of Pilot Rock and Roseburg.

Covers were laid for Miss Marian F. L. S. by Miss Elizabeth Knowles, Mrs. Viola Boylen Stanley, George Churchill, Harold Thomas, Ted Roy, Norman Kennedy, Robert Smith, Miss Letty Warrington, and Dr. and Mrs. Warrington.

Following dinner the guests spent a pleasant hour around the fire-side recalling good times of the past and listening to a group of songs by Mr. Roy—Corvallis Gazette Times.

Mrs. Walter S. Fisher, wife of Representative Fisher, went to Salem, Wednesday, to visit her husband and will be in the capital city during the legislature.

Mrs. Ed Payton of South Stephens street left mid-week for Salem. While in the state capital she will visit her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. T. Goodman, formerly of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert B. Quinn left Wednesday on a trip to North Bend, planning to visit in Eugene, Portland and Seattle for several days.

CRACKER WEEK PROVIDES MANY NEW DISHES

Week of January 19th 26th is Set Aside As Time to Eat More Crackers.

With the coming of Cracker Week, it is time to take advantage of the many new cracker recipes appearing on the food pages, and make one or more of these new puddings, souffles or scalloped dishes. Few foods possess as high energy-yielding values as do crackers. Though dainty in structure and delicate in flavor and appearance biscuits and crackers are still relatively inexpensive sources of energy, comparable favorably with our common sources of food supply.

It's a rare household now, where crackers are not kept always on hand, for women long ago discovered that these crisp little wafers are almost a necessity in the preparation of every-day meals—to say nothing of their use for emergencies and their value as an economy aid in stretching out the food budget. Cracked dishes of various types may often be prepared from leftover bits of meat or vegetables, and served on crisp crackers in place of toast. Souffles, puddings and scalloped dishes may also be made with crackers.

If a rolling pin is used to roll out the cracker crumbs, or if they are put through a food chopper and sifted, the crumbs may be used for many purposes. When carefully ground, they are excellent for scalloped dishes, such as oysters and baked dishes of a similar nature. The finely sifted crumbs are used for thickening soups and other dishes, as well as crusting puddings which have first been dipped in beaten egg and which are to be dropped in beaten egg and then fried.

There is never any waste about crackers. They may be used for thickening pies and even for making certain kinds of tarts and cakes. Soaked in milk and well seasoned, they are used for stuffing all kinds of baked foods, such as peppers and tomatoes, and they make excellent stuffing for poultry and meats. They are used, too, in making meat loaves, mince loaves, etc.

Many delicious purgatives and fancy sandwiches may be made with staled crackers, which are easily prepared for serving with afternoon tea.

In planning a formal dinner, or even a luncheon, you will find that nearly every course requires crackers in some form. With the exception, with the soup, with the vegetable, they are served of course—croquettes, fried fish or oysters, terrines, souffles, scalloped dishes, dressings, with them in another form. Or, for the first course of the meal, it is often customary to serve a canape, prepared as crackers, for which various relishes and seasoned patés are used. If your entertainment is a house luncheon, these canapes may be served out in attractive form with red wine, black and black hard-boiled eggs in form hearts, diamonds, clubs, spades, using the white crackers as their background.

Mrs. Williams Is Hostess at Luncheon for Ladies of Club

A charming club luncheon of mid-week was that at which Mrs. R. H. Williams entertained the matrons of the New Idea Club and an added guest at her home. Rose buds from her own gardens were used by Mrs. Williams to center the prettily appointed table.

Covers were laid for Mrs. Cooper, club guest, Mrs. F. D. Owen, Mrs. C. E. Marks, Mrs. W. D. Hess, Mrs. F. A. Stewart, Mrs. C. L. Mahley, Mrs. S. M. Curtis, Mrs. Almyra Smith, Mrs. G. F. Jones, Mrs. N. R. Fisher, Mrs. E. P. Ballou, Mrs. O. E. Hendrickson and the hostess.

The afternoon hours were spent in club business and discussion of the organization's activities.

Mrs. Donna Ferguson Hostess for Club Party

Mrs. Donna Ferguson was hostess for an enjoyable club event on Thursday afternoon at her home in Garden Valley. It being the first meeting to be held for several weeks on account of illness in the community.

The business program was taken up with election of officers for the coming year. The new officers are Mrs. Clifford McKay, president; Mrs. Ellen B. Hutton, vice-president; and Mrs. Hugh Kitchie, Jr., secretary-treasurer. Mrs. B. A. Kitchie and Mrs. Robert Harmon were unanimously elected to membership in the club.

Following a social hour the hostess served refreshments. It is planned by the women to meet January 31 at Mrs. G. C. Daley's home with Mrs. Hutton as hostess.

Those present were Mrs. G. C. Daley, Mrs. R. Evans, Mrs. R. S. Hutton, Mrs. C. W. Hughes, Mrs. W. L. Kraatz, Mrs. E. E. Labrie, Mrs. Clifford McKay, Mrs. A. Niday, Mrs. J. Erwin-Page, Mrs. Fred Parrott, Mrs. J. L. Potvin, Mrs. Hugh Ritchie, Jr., Mrs. Peter Sinclair, Mrs. B. H. C. Wood, Mrs. Dean Heury and Miss Edna Niday.

Mrs. Albert Miceil has been entertaining at her home on South Pine street her father, Frank Niehus of Springfield, Nebraska. Mr. Niehus left mid-week for California.

Series of Parties to Be Opened by Woman's Club With Affair Soon

Interesting to devotees of bridge and five hundred are the plans of the Roseburg Woman's Club to start a series of social card parties to be given on Friday evening, January 25.

Arrangements were begun this week and the event is to be held at the club rooms. Prizes will be given for both five hundred and bridge and 18 tables are being planned. Mrs. Dean Lubar, Mrs. Victor Short, Mrs. W. R. Brown and Mrs. L. W. McGee comprise the committee in charge. Everyone wishing to make reservations for the affair can do so by calling any of the women on the committee.

Mrs. W. R. Brown Entertains Matrons of Bridge Club

Mrs. W. R. Brown planned a charming affair given at her home in Laurelwood for the matrons of her bridge club on Thursday afternoon. Mrs. F. S. Monroe was an additional guest of the club and three tables of bridge were in play.

Mrs. H. C. Stearns won high score.

The hostess, assisted by Mrs. V. Short, served luncheon at the close.

The list included Mrs. R. L. Campbell, Mrs. A. R. Taylor, Mrs. C. M. Boyd, Mrs. H. C. Stearns, Mrs. A. E. Post, Mrs. J. C. Dillard, Mrs. Joseph A. Dunn, Mrs. W. Short, Mrs. H. G. Phillips, Mrs. V. A. Stephenson, Mrs. W. M. Strohnayer, Mrs. A. H. Perrin.

Sewing Club Spends Pleasurable Afternoon

POISE IN EXERCISE

VARIETY IN SPORTS HELPFUL

Variety in exercise make for symmetrical development.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the last of a series of six articles on "How to Grow Graceful," written exclusively for NEA Service and the News-Review by Doris Niles, youngest American dancer to head her own ballet organization.

BY DORIS NILES For NEA Service

Grace is a natural possession of the American girl, due to her love of dancing, sports and activities. And in sports she has proved herself in many directions a formidable rival to the opposite sex. To meet all these ends and her social duties, she possesses vital freshness and buoyant energy.

In sports, however, as in dancing, there are certain things which detract most thoroughly from grace, and should be avoided. Overexertion and the undue strain of strenuous exercises are two of the chief causes. It is the young girl's duty to avoid these things, for they not only do not bring her better results, but fatigue from long hours of rehearsal is reduced to a minimum.

In professional dancing, variety is a prime necessity; therefore practice must be varied. The long but not too frequent, and unmastered is certainly desirable, and the interpretative dances of all modes. Each brings its own necessities into play; each gives its own emphasis to a new aspect of grace to add to her accumulated store of it.

People who are devoted to
