The mercury hovered about zero at Walla, and Wenatchee it was 8 below. Seattle reported temperature of 19 above. Slushy in Portland PORTLAND, Jan. 24.—King Boreas sent a flurry of snow, rain and mist last night, leaving a damp, soggy blanket of snow to greet Portland this morning. The snow rained in depth from one inch in the downtown district to 2 1/2 inches in the residential sections. The official forecast for Portland and vicinity was rain tonight and Friday. LA GRANDE, Jan. 24.—An additional half foot of snow fell here last night and early this morning bringing the total to about two feet. Minimum temperature here for the past two nights was 3 degrees above, with a maximum yesterday of 18 above. All state highways are reported open. The county road between La Grande and Dove is reported closed by drifts. PENDLETON, Jan. 24.—About three inches of snow fell here last night with the thermometer registering 12 degrees above zero. Relief for Midwest CHICAGO, Jan. 24.—Warm northwest winds, which will blow away the severe cold that has cost 11 lives in the middlewest, was today's promise to storm bound states suffering the worst rigors of the winter. Sufficient snow to make footing secure was forecast for Chicago while a rising temperature to from 10 to 25 degrees above zero was predicted. The absence of snow here was in contrast to the intense cold and heavy snow that paralyzed traffic in parts of Michigan, Minnesota, and Wisconsin. Trains were delayed and highways were blocked in Chicago icy pavements made driving treacherous. Casualty Victims The storm approached blizzard proportions in Michigan, where the cold accounted for five lives. Minnesota had four dead and two deaths here were attributed to the weather. The Chicago victims were Ernest L. Heide and Charles Siefert, both firemen. Heide was electrocuted while attempting to repair a high voltage wire that had snapped under the weight of ice. Siefert slipped on the ice on a stairway while fighting a fire and plunged 40 feet to his death. Whipped by a 40 miles gale, snow in the upper peninsula of Michigan blocked roads and delayed trains while at Sherwood, Wis., volunteers cleared a mile and a half of snow drifted road for 24 hours late. The funeral procession left Sherwood at noon Tuesday for a rural church, became snowbound and was forced to remain overnight at a farm house until farmers opened up the road. CONTROL SCALE and BLISTER MITE Insure better "pack-outs" Your best assurance of profitable "pack-outs" is to spray scientifically with S-W Dry Lime Sulfur—the improved spray to control San Jose Scale, Oyster Shell Scale and Blister Mite. It will keep your apple, pear, peach and prune trees clean. It is prepared in convenient powdered form from a 33° Baume test liquid with a stabilizer added. Our recommendations to you for solutions are proved safe, reliable and economical—by both scientific and practical tests. There is as much logic in buying salt brine instead of dry salt as there is in buying liquid instead of Dry Lime Sulfur. We guarantee it to dissolve, or refund your money. It eliminates heavy trucking, waste, heavy handling, and returning empty. Spray the modern way! For a dormant oil spray use S-W Free Mulsion (A high viscosity, highly refined, safe, dormant oil spray) Scale, Red Spider (Brown Mite, European Red Mite) Aphis and other pests of this type can be effectively controlled with S-W Free Mulsion, also. It is recommended for particularly heavy infestation. Mr. Clyde Nell of Yakima, Washington, says—"I have used the Sherwin-Williams Free Mulsion for my dormant sprays for two consecutive seasons and in addition to the satisfactory results (my orchards packing out free of both San Jose Scale and Aphis), I find it mixes readily with water and is absolutely free from the curdling so objectionable in many oil sprays."
