FULLNESS of the club calendar for this week have been several especially pleasurable events among the larger social functions.

On Tuesday was the party at which Mrs. J. C. Hume and Madame M. J. Shoemaker entertained the matrons of Badoura Club, Daughters of the Nile, the lovely affair complimenting Miss Evelyn Quine, popular bride-elect. Another entertainment that evening which was a delightful occasion drawing the interest of a number of society folk was the dancing and card party at which the members of the Elks Club were hosts. The evening following held pleasure for a large group when the Masonic lodge entertained with a program for the Eastern Star members and Past Masters.

Among the coming events of particular interest are two musical programs, one to be given this evening by the Willamette Glee Club at the Junior high school and the other a concert by Williams' Colored Singers, who were so favorably received last year. The latter group will appear in this city on February 7.

The first of a series of card parties to be given by the social club group of St. Joseph's Catholic church will be among February's largest events, the organization entertaining at the parish hall on the night of February 12.

The latest arrival in the club coterie of Roseburg is the Lady Elks Club which was formed this week and to which the wives, mothers, sisters or daughters of members of the Elks Club are eligible to membership.

Lodge Affair Is Among Large Events of Week

Of much interest in lodge doings for this week was the entertainment by Laurel Lodge No. 13, A. F. and A. M. for a large number on Wednesday evening at the Masonic Temple. The occasion was past masters' night and members of the Easter Star lodge were invited guests.

The program was quite enjoyable and included a dance by Miss Norma Winston, pupil of the Nova Bates School of Dancing, a trombone solo by Chester Morgan, with piano accompaniment by Mrs. Chas. S. Heinline, a bones solo by Shorty Snyder, accompanied by Frances Lintott.

Cards formed diversion for different groups during the rest of the evening and refreshments were served at the close. About 150 were in attendance at the pleasurable affair.

Catholic Ladies Will Entertain With Benefit Card Party February 12

February 12 is marked as an interesting social date on the calendar when the Catholic ladies will launch the first of another series of delightful card parties. On that evening the group will entertain with bridge and five hundred at the parish hall.

The benefit is in charge of Mrs. T. H. Nets, general chairman, who will be assisted by Miss Elizabeth Paul, Mrs. Pull Heidl and Mrs. J. G. Koenig.

Musical numbers will entertain those attending during the evening and at the close prizes will be given and refreshments will be served.

Mrs. Church and Miss Bates Entertain for 17 at Valentine's Affair

A charming evening party for which St. Valentine's Day was the motif, entertained a group of the younger matrons and maids on Thursday when Mrs. Ralph Church and Miss Venora Bates joined as hostesses at a waffle supper, the affair being at the Church home at 444 Ella street.

For the occasion red and white provided the motif, little red hearts being used in decoration. Sewing was the diversion during the evening. Miss Elsie Hudson assisted the hostesses in serving.

The list included the Mesdames E. H. Walton, Boyd Bruton, C. A. Cottell, Ray Beckett, Glenn Radabaugh, Glade Bruton, Adrian T. Bloom, the Misses Elsie Hudson, Gladys Bough, Helen Ferguson, Isabel Warren, Elizabeth Bourhill, Faith Miles, Bertha Rohr, Helen Pearce, Thelma Pearce, Esther Miller.

Modern Velvet

Velvet has gone modernistic, along with furniture and jewelry, and has gone to its advantage, for the Patterns are chic and new, and proclaim they are up to the minute. This afternoon frock comes in soft tones of brown and beige transparent velvet. The pattern is bold, but not unpleasantly so, and the velvet tassels at the unusual neckline and at the low hipline are delightful.

Supreme Queen, D. of N., to Be Entertained in Portland Jan. 30

Members of Badoura Club, Daughters of the Nile, are quite interested in plans for the entertainment of Victoria Croise, of Los Angeles, the supreme queen of the order, in Portland on Wednesday, January 30, and several plan to be there for the occasion.

Nysia Temple, No. 4 will give a ceremonial for the supreme queen at 2 o'clock that afternoon in the Masonic Temple in Portland. An address will be made by the honor guest and the afternoon's festivities will include special features by the Nysia Temple patron.

A dinner for members of the order will be given at 6:30 o'clock Wednesday evening at the Benson hotel and will be followed by a program at 8 o'clock. At 9 o'clock there will be formal dancing and cards at the Shrine auditorium.

The regular business session of the day will include a luncheon at 12 o'clock, the business meeting, a memorial service at 2:30 o'clock.

On February 16 there will be installation of officers of the organization, the rites to be in the evening at 8 o'clock and the queen's ball is to be given an hour later.

Four Matrons Entertain at Lovely Luncheon on Thursday

One of Thursday's attractive affairs was the one o'clock luncheon at the A. C. Marsters home on South Rose street where Mrs. Marsters, Mrs. S. E. Collier, Mrs. C. W. Courtney, and Mrs. Mary Harding entertained for the members of the central circle of the First Methodist Episcopal church ladies Aid.

Colorful appointments were carried out at the small tables which held centerpieces of carnations. Covers were laid for 25 guests.

In the afternoon hours devotions were conducted by the pastor of the church, Dr. Chas. Edwards.

A business session was followed by charades.

W. B. A. Puts New Officers in Chair

The W. B. A.'s second meeting of the month was held Thursday night with the new officers in their seats and one candidate initiated.

Mrs. Wilcox and Mrs. Stevenson had charge of the social part of the evening and refreshments. Plans are being made for a Hoolycontest during the coming year.

The officers installed were: Mrs. Mary Wilcox, president; Mrs. Cora Little, president; Mrs. Maud Peterson, vice president; Mrs. Clara Beachamp, recording secretary; Mrs. Jessie Rapp, financial secretary; Mrs. Edna Barnett, treasurer; Mrs. Florence Dempsey, chaplain; Miss Dora Gammon, guard; Mrs. Una Rapp, I. P. N.; Mrs. Helen Rapp, O. H.; Dr. Catherine Smith, O. D.; Miss Marguerite Little, J. E.; Mrs. Edna Barnett, press correspondent; Mrs. Clara Beachamp, captain; Miss Margaret Little 1st color bearer; Miss Edith Parks, 2nd color bearer.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Love, formerly of Roseburg, entertained at their home in Eugene recently for a holiday party for a few of their friends that formerly lived here. In the group were Mr. and Mrs. R. L. DeYaney, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Schlenker, Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Young, former residents and Mrs. D. B. Hendricks, Mrs. Justice McEachern.

Mr. and Mrs. Harding Entertain Club at Dinner and Bridge

An affair of much pleasure for a bridge club group occurring midweek was the 7 o'clock buffet dinner followed by bridge at which Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Harding entertained at their apartments in the Umpqua hotel on Wednesday.

Carnations provided a charming color note of pink and green in the decorations.

At the tables during the evening were Miss Elizabeth Parrott, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Sutherland, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Wharton, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Dunn, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Chapman, Mr. Gene Parrott and Mr. and Mrs. Harding.

Mrs. L. M. Lehrbach entertained informally at dinner on Sunday, arranging the affair in honor of her husband, Dr. Lehrbach, on the occasion of his birthday anniversary, and for Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schwartz.

Radio Party Given for Pleasure of Maid on Anniversary

A delightfully informal affair of last Saturday evening was the radio party at which Mrs. R. W. Meisner and Mrs. Binger H. Laird joined as hostesses at the Meisner home complimenting Miss Dorothy Mains on her birthday anniversary.

Later in the evening the hostesses served refreshments.

Enjoying the occasion were Miss Dorothy Mains, Miss Maxine Laird, Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Wadsworth, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Laird, Mr. and Mrs. Binger H. Laird, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Meisner, Billy Wadsworth, Frank Lady and Burton Laird.

An interesting visitor entertained here the past week has been Mrs. C. E. Ford, young Eugene matron, who has been the house guest of Mrs. Ivan Ireland at the Kohlhagen Apartments. She returned home Thursday evening.

'Friendly Class' Entertained at Supper

The Friendly Bible class of the First Presbytern church was entertained at a pot-luck supper Thursday evening.

Those present were: Mrs. Amy Forsythe, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Connelly, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Acker, Mr. and Mrs. Homer W. Grow, Mrs. Mildred Leedy, Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Shorty, Dr. and Mrs. Clair K. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Chalmers, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Cook, Dr. and Mrs. H. G. Philpot, Mrs. Harold C. Bellows, Mrs. George Gilham, Miss Margret Arthur, Mrs. J. O. Arthur, Mrs. Lilla Vawel, Miss Elmer L. Sherk, Miss Thelma Hetherington, Miss Verna Carothers, and Mrs. E. Hellwell.

After supper and business session the evening was spent in various turns of games and amusements.

Sewing Society Plans for Easter Sale

On Thursday afternoon the ladies of the sewing society of St. Joseph's church met for a social afternoon at the parish hall and Mrs. J. G. Koenig was hostess for the occasion.

During the afternoon hours the group planned their work for the next few months and sewed for the Easter sale.

Refreshments were served at the close to 15 ladies.

Two Matrons Hostesses at Lovely Dinner and Shower for Bride-Elect

One of the week's very charming affairs was the 6 o'clock dinner and shower at which Mrs. J. C. Hume and Madame M. J. Shoemaker entertained Tuesday in compliment to Miss Evelyn Quine, bride-elect of Richard Coen, and at which matrons of Badoura Club, Daughters of the Nile, were invited guests.

The Hume home was an attractive setting for the event and the table was centered with a quaint green arch, under which stood doll bride and bridegroom. Favors were in keeping with this motif. Covers were laid for 24 guests.

Following the dinner hour the honor guest was given the end of a string which she wound into a ball, the twine leading her to a basket of gifts which included many beautiful linen pieces.

The club met in brief business session and the retiring president, Mrs. A. J. Young, was in charge. She outlined the many things the club had accomplished during the past year and expressed her thanks to the group for their support during this time. Mrs. Nathan Fullerton, the new president, spoke a few words and explained her plans for this year. Continuing with a custom inaugurated the first of last year by Mrs. Young, Mrs. Fullerton will offer a prize at the close of 1929 for the member of the club having the most regular attendance. Mrs. Bert Green was presented by the retiring president with a beautiful quilted pillow as this year's prize.

Assisting during the evening were the Misses Betty Shoemaker, Verna Carothers, Grace Hyde.

Among some of the things planned by the Daughters of the Nile for the next meeting is sewing for the Shrine hospital, one of the activities the organization assists.

Camp Fire Group Elects New Officers

On the evening of January 15, the Umpqua Tnicheelo Camp Fire group met at the home of Miss Rowena Beach, who is taking Mrs. H. C. Culley's place as guardian. The following officers were elected: president, Dorothy Arundel; vice-president, Vivian Williams; secretary - treasurer, Mildred Marks; scribe, Mary Banning.

After the business meeting games games and candy pull were enjoyed. Those present were the Misses Jean Ferguson, Walda Harding, Lucile Germond, Joyce Busenbark, Gwendolyn Scott, Dorothy Arundel, Bernice Walnscott, Vivian Williams, Mary Banning, and hostess, Thelma and Rowena Beach. The next meeting will be held at the home of Joyce Busenbark at which time a number of new members will be initiated.

Roseburg Teacher Has High Standing at Normal School

Mrs. Golda Wickham, Roseburg teacher who is attending the Normal School at Monmouth this semester, is among those honor students who have earned grades of 1's and 2's and have carried no less than fifteen hours, holding first place among the group.

Mrs. Wickham is active on student affairs and at a meeting of the women's League council was elected president of the organization for the spring and winter terms.

Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Norton are expected here Monday evening from Marshfield and will visit with Mrs. Norton's mother, Mrs. Mary Fuller, and her two sisters, Mrs. O. L. Johnson and Mrs. Harry Hoffman. Mr. and Mrs. Norton are leaving the coast to go to Vernonia to make their home.

Elks Dancing Party Is Large Social Event of Tuesday Eve

With dancing among the most popular indoor winter entertainments much pleasurable anticipation preceded the dancing party at which the Elks Club entertained, the affair coming as one of the delightful social affairs of Tuesday evening.

The event was attended by a large number of society folk. The social rooms were arranged for cards, too, and a number found diversion with bridge and five hundred.

During the evening punch and wafers were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Johnson, former Roseburg folk living in Eugene now, were hosts at their home for a group of 15 friends recently, entertaining at bridge.

Mrs. C. E. Rusho Is Visitor in City

Friends are welcoming to the city Mrs. Charles E. Rusho, a former Roseburg matron, who has been away for some time. Mrs. Rusho arrived this week from her home in High River, Canada, and is spending a month or so visiting with relatives and friends. Several affairs are planned by friends for her pleasure during her stay in Roseburg.

Few Entertained at Informal Dinner

Dr. and Mrs. A. C. Seely entertained at a prettily appointed dinner at 6:30 o'clock Friday evening for a few close friends.

Seated about the table were Dr. and Mrs. Geo. E. Houck, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Wharton and Dr. and Mrs. Seely.

Guests Entertained by Mrs. Worthington at Dinner Party

Mrs Henry Worthington entertained informally at a one o'clock dinner party Sunday, the occasion being her birthday anniversary.

A pretty centerpiece of red carnations and ferns graced the table.

The guests included Mrs. C. C. Wamsley, Mrs. Hattie McAfee, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Shields, O. D. Neshard, A. V. Mast, Henry Worthington.

Music entertained the guests later in the day.

Mrs. Bradburn Hostess for Bridge Club Group

Quite pleasurable among club gatherings for the first part of this week was that of the Monday Bridge Club, Mrs. George A. Bradburn inviting the matrons belonging to the group to her home, Merlin Place, for play.

Mrs. M. B. Green was an additional guest and the others at the tables were Mrs. Geo. J. Bacher, Mrs. A. J. Young, Mrs. Jno. Throne, Mrs. H. D. Harris, Mrs. Wm. Bell, Mrs. H. C. Waddell, Mrs. Dean Bubar and the hostess.

Light refreshments were served at the end of the game.

Sixty Are Invited for Musical Tea at Heinline Home Last Sunday

One of the very pleasant social events of the season was the musicale tea last Sunday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Charles Heinline in Laurelwood. Sixty interested guests spent the afternoon very pleasantly enjoying a fine musical program rendered by some of Mrs. Heinline's advanced students, and a few of the younger ones, Mrs. A. J. Young and Mrs. Joseph Shockley added greatly to the pleasure of the guests by their violin and cornet duets, "Sing Me to Sleep," by Green and "O! Dry Those Tears," by Del Riego. Another much enjoyed group was the violin solo "Humoreske" by Dwrok and "Gypsy Dance," by Koelling, played by Leah Neighbors, pupil of Naomi Scott, and accompanied by her sister, Evelyn Neighbors, who is specializing in accompanying with Mrs. Heinline. In addition to the above members the following program was rendered: "Dwarf Dance," and "Dutch Doll," by Jean Strawn; "Bugler" and "Squirrels Lament," by Jack Harding; "Italian Song," "Waltz of the Mamukins" and "Banjo Pickaninnies," Arthur Karlenger; "Hungarian Dance," Anna May Unrath; "The Storm" and "Caprice in G," by Katherine Hennigh; "Second Waltz" and "Butterfly," by Mildred Coats; "Zingareses," Evelyn Neighbors; "Minuet" and "The Chase," by Alden

Fashion Talks Through Hats

As Her Head Is Dressed—So Is Milady

Spring hats introduce new straws and fabrics, new colors, new lines. (Left) The very latest in the avant hat, one of which is a soft pastel pink felt turban intricately manipulated, with chiffon crepe swathing it, slipping through one side and fashioning a long scarf. (Upper right) A natural Chinese bangkok turban features irregular sides, a folded brim, and ribbon banding that ties in the back. (Lower) Brown uses burnt lacborn for a pole shaped hat with short front and back and wide sides. It is colorfully banded.

BY HENRY BENDEL

For NEA Service

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—There is more than mere vanity in the paramount interest hats hold for women.

Of course, since hats will make a woman pretty or unattractive, it is right that they should concern the gentler sex. But fundamentally, hats also deserve consideration because of the keystone position they hold in styles.

Hats are, one might say, barometers for the mode. They reflect changes more readily and vastly than frocks, gowns, suits or coats.

Colorful Hats—and Spring!

When hats grow colorful it boldly augurs a colorful spring for all the realm of women's wear. You will remember that the ubiquitous plain little felt of a few seasons ago preceded the sport suit uniform that practically all women adopted. More recently, flaring brims, more adornment, a chance in outline and increasing detail in manipulation of materials in hats came before the intricate fashions in garments today.

Therefore, it is fitting that everyone concerned with women's attire should watch hats. That is why Palm Beach modes hold such attention, because their changes will reflect changes all along the line.

Variety Marks Straws

Variety of straws shown this spring is the first noteworthy thing probably indicating the increasing wealth of new fabrics for gowns and ensembles. Baron, Bellmont, Bangkok, Paris Mesne, split, Panbisson and leghorn are seen in quantity, though most of them are expensive straws. Many of these introduce novelty versions of their straws by interpretations. Color is always important in spring hats. A bright cherry red in most effective, soft rose shades are excellent. Chartreuse, periwinkle blue, lilac blue, cactus, blue beige, off whites and several other light greens are perhaps the best colors. Black hats are fewer.

A fine sense of perfect proportion that yet looks simple distinguishes the best models of spring. Brims that slash and turn back upon their own crowns in decorative, giving unusual shadow effects are good. Some hats show a preference for wide or irregular sides, evening fine feathers, fine flowers, feather fancies, veils and veils adorn spring hats.

Now—the Scarf Hat!

The newest hat this spring is the scarf hat. If one is old enough, she will remember the old days when it was the mode to crochet the outer edge of the crown of a sailor and anchor it low that wind rode in the open automobile of the 1900's. Now scarf hats are beautifully fitting, fashionable 1929 versions of this hat and will enrich a garden. Many of the little scarf hats are of fine felt, soft and easily becoming, with their interesting crowns their decoration as well as accommodative scarf.

To illustrate, a soft pastel pink felt turban, cleverly cut with irregular long sides, is swathed in a matching scarf of twisted chiffon cloth which threads through a slit in the right side of the hat and falls across the shoulders, excess length almost to the skirt's hem.

Youth in This Hat

Illustrating the older mode, one of which is one to three more than the other, is a Bohemian creation of fancy leghorn. It is slightly pole shaped, with the brim exceedingly short both front and back and the crown rounded to a youthful way. A gay little handwoven band of red, green, orange and yellow gives youth ribbon trims it.

The small hat has an enviable way with woman's head that pumpkin models are small. One of the secrets is the hat that is a bit more upheavy in the way it sits than most small hats which snuggle down on a woman's neck. One of these is a Chinese bangkok in natural tone, which is an off-white. It has a folded brim which fashions a bonnet shape. A narrow band of black grosgrain ribbon is laced through the brim and crown and tied in a little bow at the back.

Announces Engagement

Secret's out—no longer is it mere rumor. For Helen Wills' parents have formally announced the net queen's engagement to Frederick Shander Moody, Jr., of San Francisco. No date for the wedding has been set.
