AFTERNOON affairs, dinners, luncheons and bridge parties have made this week one of the most delightful of the month socially and brought February to an interesting close. The month of March bids fair to be equally as pleasurable, with several pre-Easter events planned and St. Patrick's Day to look forward to as a delightful date for parties.

Quite the most outstanding and anticipated event for the coming week is the annual Spring Style Show being sponsored Wednesday night, March 6, by Umpqua unit of the American Legion Auxiliary at the Antlers theatre.

Two other large affairs will be the Doernbecker hospital benefit tea given by the Roseburg Woman's club and the joint institute of the W. C. T. U. of Coos, Lane and Douglas counties, the former being on Tuesday and the other event the day following.

Holding interest for the coming week-end will be the convention of the Douglas Christian Endeavor society, the dates of which are March 8, 9 and 10. Several social affairs are being planned in addition to the regular programs for the sessions to entertain the many visitors the conference is bringing to the city.

The Woman's Day

BY ALLENE SUMNER

The secretary of labor is playing the role of grand arbitrater in one of these "tool women" quarrels. To be sure, he's too polite to call it that, but we can just imagine. The women's bureau of the department of labor recently finished a job of research on the effects of labor legislation upon the employment opportunities of women. The report was to the effect that such legislation helped rather than retarded woman's employment opportunities.

CLAIM REPORT BIASED

The national woman's party which, of course, resents special protective legislation for women, claiming that women lose jobs, cannot get jobs, and must take lower wages than men because of this so-called protective legislation, claims that the report was biased, being made by an organization which has always sponsored protective legislative and which, therefore, would not repor any findings contrary to their own platform.

* * *

HOW ABOUT IT?

Well, how about it, all ye poor working girls, have you suffered or benefited most from laws which protect you in industry? Have you been unable to find and keep jobs because of these laws, or do they merely make you bless someone responsible for sanitary wash rooms, comfortable chairs, and shorter working days?

'NOTHER ROW

Where's another cute little row in the works. The United Restaurant Owners' association vigorously protests to the federal radio commission the permitting of cigaret propaganda on the air. The association calls the cigaret talks "a flagrant assault against public welfare, trying to transform the school girls, the growing boys and the youth of the country into confirmed cigaret addicts, regardless of the established medical and health findings."

If, in the last gaze of the impassioned letter, the United Restaurants' Owners' association did not remind us that it is especially dastardly for a nation-wide network to encourage cigaret smoking "as a substitute for wholesome food," one might believe their motives a bit more concerned with a whole-hearted zeal for public welfare than they probably are. In other words, it's pernicious to permit any firm to say "smoke" when the association would say "eat yourself a piece of cake."

"IF I WEREN'T MARRIED!"

Many married women pine and sigh for the things they might do if only they hadn't married! Mrs. Mary L. Lewis of Pittsburgh has built and sold 159 homes during the last 12 years, though she is a wife and mother of several children. She attends to every detail of the building from the attic to basement, explaining that her success is because, after all, homes are sold to women rather than men, and that she knows what women want for their money in a home.

But the real highlight of this success story is that instead of saying, "If I only had time and weren't married I'd build houses," she built 'em.

MORE HOUSE!

Just who owns the house, anyway? Husband or wife? This nice question was being asked by a New York gent who, trying to get into his home about 1a. m. the other night, and finding the door locked, smashed a window and crawled in. His wife had him arrested for housebreaking. It is laughable, of course, but Nicholas Denise, the man, probably isn't the first man to wonder who owns the house, anyway. All too many wives have a habit of announcing what time the curfew rings and locking up, accordingly.

"Pumpkin Center Carnival" to Be Event March 12

Plans are progressing for the Senior High P. T. A. "Pumpkin Center Carnival" to be an event of March 12 at the high school auditorium and many interesting features are planned for the entertainment of those who attend.

The general admission to the carnival will be free but there will be candy and ice cream booths, fortune teller and beauty parlor. For the latter the services of a well known beauty shop operator have been secured.

Philharmonic Orchestra Which Will Be Heard Here

The Philharmonic Orchestra of Los Angeles, which will be heard in concert at the Senior high school auditorium Wednesday evening, May 1. Sixty-five musicians, all soloists, compose the organization, which was founded in 1919 by William Andrews Clark, Jr. The group is being brought to Roseburg in its tour of this coast by several musicians of the city.

World Famous Musicians to Be Heard in City May 1

Without a doubt the most outstanding musical event of spring in Roseburg is to be the concert of the Los Angeles Philharmonic orchestra, being brought to the city through the efforts of Miss Gladys Strong and Mrs. Chas. A. Hand, who are being assisted by other musicians here in presenting a world-famous group of artists. The appearance of this large body of musicians is indeed a rare one in this part of Oregon and Roseburg will be the only city in which the orchestra is heard between Sacramento and Portland.

Geo. L. Smith, manager of the orchestra, spent Friday in Roseburg making arrangements for the concert here and leaving plans in charge of Miss Strong and Mrs. Hand.

Each musician of the organization is an artist in his own field and many are world famous.

Georg Schnevoigt, the Finnish conductor, is world famous and is well known in Europe and America, conducting orchestras in many countries and having been guest conductor of all the leading European and American orchestras. Personally hearing him while studying at the Boston Conservatory of Music and while Mr. Schnevoigt conducted the Boston Symphony orchestra, Miss Strong is high in her praise of his marvelous ability.

The Philharmonic Orchestra of Los Angeles, becoming one of the first symphonic organizations of America, was under the direction of the late Walter Henry Rothwell. Following his death in 1927 and beginning with that season Mr. Schnevoigt assumed the duties of conductor and under his distinguished artistry the progress of the organization has gone on uninterrupted.

Mr. Schnevoigt was born at Wiborg, Finland. His career as a conductor began in 1900 at the Opera of Helsingfors. He resided in Stockholm as first leader and artistic director of the Konsertverein after active music work in other fields. Since 1918 he has been conducting the summer concerts at Scheveningen, Holland.
