

HIGH SCHOOL TEAM LEAVES TO PLAY IN DISTRICT TOURNEY

The Senior high school basketball team left this afternoon for Marshfield to engage in the tournament for the district championship. The tournament will be played on Friday and Saturday among the teams of the A League and the two leading teams of the B League. The preliminaries will be played Friday morning and afternoon, with the semifinals Friday night. The finals will be played Saturday night. The winning team in the tournament will go to Salem to enter the contest for the state championship.

Coach Turner is taking a squad of eight men, Atterbury, Hoffman, Bates, Jackson, Koonig, Entler, Hill and Robertson. The boys are all in fine condition, with the exception of Jackson, who is suffering from an infected ankle, but who probably will be able to play through most of the tournament.

Because of complaints made by Myrtle Point regarding the first drawing for positions, a second drawing and rearrangement of the schedule was made last night. Myrtle Point originally was paired with Roseburg for the first game and objected to meeting the local team in the preliminary. In the new drawing Roseburg is matched with Marshfield for the first game of the tournament. Marshfield is now in first place in the conference with Roseburg and Myrtle Point tied for second place.

Roseburg apparently stands to win or lose in the first game. If the local team can survive the preliminary, then they stand a good chance to go on through to the finals, but they are meeting the conference leaders in the opening contest, and therefore will be called upon to extend themselves to the limit.

Cross River will meet Beadon in the second game Friday morning with Myrtle Point playing North Bend and Riverston playing Port Orford in the afternoon. The winners of the morning games and the losers of the afternoon games will play in the semifinals Friday evening. The finals will be played Saturday night.

TAX MEASURES OUTSTANDING IN WORK AT SALEM

Four or five millions of dollars remain in the state treasury until the bills for road work come due. Under the new system the money will be kept in circulation until July and then will be paid just at a time the state is needing the money to pay road bills. Keeping this money in circulation will undoubtedly be of great value to industry in the state.

Another important act of the legislature was the measure consolidating the institutions of higher education under one head, placing the university, college, and normal schools under a state board of higher education.

Senator Eddy introduced a number of important measures in the legislature. One of the bills which he introduced grants the right to vote on special taxes or bond issues to taxpayers. The measure passed both houses and was signed by the governor. It was proposed by the tax commission, but was withdrawn by that body as it was feared that it would not have an opportunity to pass. Senator Eddy, however, obtained support for the bill and engineered its passage through the senate. John Carlin, chairman of the tax commission, championed the bill in the house and secured its passage there with Senator Eddy's help.

Leads Prohibition Measures
Mr. Eddy was also chairman of the committee on alcoholic traffic, besides having a place on the judiciary committee. In the former position he was quite active in several important measures. One, which he introduced personally, provides a penitentiary term for any person convicted of selling intoxicating liquor to a minor. Other measures, submitted by Mr. Eddy's committee, provide for a more strict accounting of profit from liquor, control of the sale of wine tonics, a more severe drunk driver act and a penalty for law enforcement officers found guilty of using confiscated liquor for their own use.

Senator Eddy also introduced a bill changing the county surveyor law, a bill regarding the sale of property to which the county has acquired tax title, two bills amending the old law relating to highway improvement districts and a bill reducing the power of the trustees of improvement districts so that they cannot levy more than a 5-mill tax except upon vote of the people within the district.

Active Local Matters
Senator Eddy was quite interested also in a number of bills that particularly affect Douglas county. One was a bill introduced and supported by representatives of timber and other heavy property interests in the county seeking the repeal of the road improvement district law. Mr. Eddy fought this measure because of the disastrous effect he believed it would have on the county's road program. He was successful in blocking the measure.

Another measure of local importance was the one relating to fishing on the Umpqua. The regulation was first enacted into the fish code, but was later rejected along with the code. An independent bill was then introduced jointly by Senator Eddy and the two representatives providing a closed season on commercial salmon fishing from December 5 to April 15 and a deadline at the month of May for commercial fishing during the rest of the year.

House Bill 309 known as the reforestation bill, was another measure of great importance, in which Senator Eddy interested himself. This measure would have taken considerable timber lands off the tax rolls, particularly in Douglas county. Senator Eddy succeeded in securing an amendment, which requires the consent of the county court before the reforested lands can be exempt from taxation.

DAIRY AND POULTRY NEWS WILL EXTEND ON PACIFIC COAST

SAN FRANCISCO, Mar. 7.—The bureau of agricultural economics has announced through its dairy and poultry products division the reported expansion shortly of its market news and grading service on the Pacific coast. Under the expansion program, worked out by F. H. Campbell, marketing specialist for the bureau, the service will be extended to other large Pacific coast markets, including Los Angeles, Seattle and Portland.

Among the innovations planned are the inauguration of a daily market news report at Los Angeles, the extension of the leased wire, under federal appropriation, from the San Francisco office to Portland and Seattle, where market news and grading services will be opened, and the use of radio in distributing eastern and local market information.

BRITONS FEAR U. S. MONEY WILL GRAB "PORTLAND VASE"

(Associated Press London Wire)
LONDON, Mar. 7.—One of the world's most famous antiques, a Roman glass cinerary urn known as "The Portland Vase," which has been in loan from the Portland family in the British museum since 1810, is to be offered for sale.

The vase, which is supposed to date from the first century of the Roman empire, was bought in 1779 by England's representative in Rome, Sir William Hamilton, for a thousand guineas. He sold it to the duchess of Portland. In 1845 a lunatic smashed it and thereafter it was exhibited under guard in a special room of the museum. An announcement that the vase would be sold came as a surprise to British antiquarians, classicists, art lovers and a considerable section of the general public. Unless it is bought for the nation it will be auctioned in May and undoubtedly will realize a fabulous price.

In the event it reaches the auction room it is generally regarded as a certainty that it will be bought to Britain as it was in Italy in the eighteenth century. Such a treasure, it is contended, will command such a fabulous price that no one but an American millionaire could afford to purchase it. This view is also taken by some London papers which express dismay at the prospect of losing the work of art to the United States.

BODY OF BLAIN WOMAN IDENTIFIED; BOY MISSING

(Associated Press London Wire)
SPOKANE, Wash., Mar. 7.—A woman found murdered in a Seattle swamp was identified by detectives here yesterday as Mrs. Albert Graham, formerly of Spokane.

Through charts of dental work sent out by Seattle police, Dr. R. E. Buchholz identified work he said he had done for Mrs. Graham in 1922. The 27-year-old woman, who was Margaret DeWitt, had been divorced from her husband, who lives here. Police of both cities are still seeking her seven year old son, whom they said disappeared. A letter from Mrs. Albert Hunter, Orofino, Idaho, sister of Mrs. Graham, tended to confirm the identification, as she said her sister had been in Spokane for dental work in 1923.

LOCOMOTIVE MUST HAVE SAFETY FIRE DOORS

(Associated Press London Wire)
WASHINGTON, Mar. 7.—All railroads in the country were ordered yesterday by the interstate commerce commission to equip locomotives with mechanically operated fire doors on or before July 1, 1931. The only locomotives excepted from the order were oil burners.

The cost of the mechanical doors was estimated by the commission to be $125 per locomotive. The devices will enable firemen to close and open the doors by pressure of a foot while inserting fuel. The public utilities commission of Ohio and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers brought complaints before the commission alleging that operation of locomotives without the appliances was unsafe and the states of Iowa, Michigan and Wisconsin intervened in support.

Twenty men "from every walk of life," the press agent announces, will kiss four girls on the stage. Two will be blindfolded. Two brunettes. All will be blindfolded. A sensitive stethoscope will record their emotions, which will be given to the audience via a loud speaker.

LINDBERGH RECOVERS USE OF INJURED ARM

(Associated Press London Wire)
MEXICO CITY, Mar. 6.—(Wednesday)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh had the use of his right arm today for the first time since the accident a week ago at Valbuena field when his plane capsized on landing from a picnic trip with his fiancée, Miss Anne Morrow.

His physician allowed him to remove the sling which had held his arm in place until the effects of a dislocated shoulder could be overcome. "A popular interest in revolutionary activities has drawn attention away from the colonel and his romance. Both Colonel Lindbergh and Miss Morrow are enjoying their unaccustomed freedom from publicity."

NEW AIR MAIL RECORD, 'FRISCO TO CHICAGO

(Associated Press London Wire)
SAN FRANCISCO, Mar. 6.—Air mail that left San Francisco yesterday by the Boeing route was deposited in Chicago 12 hours and 43 minutes later, constituting a new record. It was announced today by W. G. Herron, vice-president in charge of traffic. The previous record was slightly more than 16 hours.

The planes carrying the mail averaged 165.4 miles per hour over the 1943 mile route.

ST. GODARD FIGHTS BLIZZARD TO WIN SIXTH DOG DERBY

(Associated Press London Wire)
THE PAS, Mar. 7.—Knil St. Godard, youthful musher, was recovering today from a battle through a blizzard to win The Pas dog derby.

St. Godard stumbled across the finish line at 11:05 p. m. last night, completing the 200-mile non-stop dash to Elm Flaw and return in 36 hours and 53 minutes. Earl Hyrdges was second, three minutes behind St. Godard. Gabriel Campbell was third, finishing at 11:54. His brother Hector finished fourth, half a minute behind him.

St. Godard has won The Pas dog derby each year since 1925 but this was his first victory over the 200-mile course. His team was six northern huskies. When he finished he carried one of the dogs on the sled. Previous to this race, the last non-stop 200-mile mush was run in 1921 when "Shorty" Ruasick finished with his team of Russian wolf hounds in 23 hours and 52 minutes. St. Godard's slow time was attributed to the terrific blizzard that raged over the course, piling the snow in drifts through which the drivers were obliged to push their sleds.

After the Campbell brothers crossed the line, three teams remained on the trail. All were expected to finish.

Hunt, assistant state's attorney, announced the state was satisfied the death of Mrs. Nora Wilson, 40, of Lancaster, Pa., who was shot to death in her room at a downtown hotel Sunday, was a suicide. No further official inquiry will be made.

HENRY CLAY JOHNSON, PIONEER OF 1850, DIES

(Associated Press London Wire)
SPOKANE, Wash., Mar. 7.—Henry Clay Johnson, 87, western pioneer who crossed the plains two years before Ezra Meeker, is dead here at the home of his daughter. One of the earliest settlers of the northwestern country, Johnson came west in 1849 with his parents at the age of nine, his mother and sister dying before the covered wagon's journey across the prairies in their journey of several months.

As a volunteer, he fought the hostile Indians in several of the bloodiest battles and uprisings in the early part of the winning of the west. At the time of the Nez Perce uprising he was engaged in raising livestock on the outskirts of what is now Spokane. He previously lived in Milwaukee, Oregon, just outside of Portland, and Corvallis, Ore. He was born on August 21, 1841 in Missouri, on a place which his father homesteaded. Kansas City now covers the spot.

"By Joe! it's good to smoke Luckies"

Felix Count Luckner

"Lucky Strikes? By Joe, yes. Let me tell you. I was cruising in my raider in the South Pacific. It had been damp, rainy weather and every bit of tobacco we had on the ship was mouldy and could not be smoked. We began to be desperate. The men were—what you call—grouchy. Along came an American ship. We captured her and after taking the captain, officers and crew aboard my raider and finding comfortable places for them to stay, I and my officers went over to the captured ship to see if there was anything aboard her that we wanted. We searched her. And what do you think? Under the cushions of a seat in the captain's cabin we found 500 packages of Lucky Strikes! I tore off the end of one and lit it and filled my lungs with it, and by Joe, I was a man again. We had enough for all the crew and we were all cheered up and we all became friends once more. By Joe, I was sorry to sink that American ship that had brought us those smokes. Lucky Strikes, they are wonderful, and my Countess, of course, wishes a fashionable, slender figure. She smokes Lucky Strikes when she is offered fattening sweets. And my life has always been an active one and I must be trim and fit. I love to feel what you Americans call 'peppy.' So no sweets for me. Give me a Lucky Strike instead. By Joe, it's good for us to smoke Luckies."

LUCKY STRIKE CIGARETTES

"IT'S TOASTED"

Count Felix von Luckner

Note: Authorities attribute the enormous increase in Cigarette smoking to the improvement in the process of Cigarette manufacture by the application of heat. It is true that during 1928, Lucky Strike Cigarettes showed a greater increase than all other Cigarettes combined. This confirms in no uncertain terms the public's confidence in the superiority of Lucky Strike.
