FARM RELIEF BILL TO BE READY WHEN CONGRESS MEETS

Spokesmen for Senate and House Promise Hoover There Will Be No Loss of Time.

General Agreement Reached or Basic Principles of Proposed Law to Aid Agriculture.

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 10.—The legislative program of the coming special congressional session and the question whether farm relief legislation should originate in the house or senate was placed before President Hoover Saturday by leaders of both branches of congress.

Chairman McNary of the senate agricultural committee and Chairman Snell of the house rules committee called at the White House to ascertain Mr. Hoover's views and it developed that both house and senate propose to have a farm bill ready for consideration when the special session convenes on April 15.

Chairman Snell said that as drawn up at present the legislative program of the house is, first of all, farm relief, then the tariff, and later, if a measure is passed by the senate, congressional reapportionment. He predicted that the house would dispose of farm relief within a week.

Chairman McNary said he expected his committee also to have a farm bill drawn up by the beginning of the special session and he predicted, too, that his branch of congress could dispose of it in a week. The senator said that hearings would be initiated shortly with the bill which be introduced at the last session of congress as a basis of discussion.

The purpose of this plan is to enable both branches of congress to make the best use of their time.

Dry Stand Praised

Another caller from Capitol Hill today was Senator Harris, democrat, Georgia, who congratulated the president on his stand with respect to prohibition enforcement as he enunciated it in his inaugural address.

The senator assured Mr. Hoover that there would be no partisanship in his state regarding the president's efforts to enforce the prohibition laws.

Meanwhile, it was made known that the members of Mr. Hoover's proposed law enforcement commission would not be finally selected for at least a month, although it was explained that this was not to be construed as meaning the president will not approach prospective members within that time.

Accord On Farm Bill

Senator Brookhart, republican, Iowa, later told the president there was general agreement in the senate on the fundamental principles to be embodied in a farm relief measure. Sufficient appropriations, he said, would serve to make an equalization fee unnecessary, but there must be a federal farm board to deal with the surplus crop situation.

"Farm relief," he said, "boils down to this—the farmer must be enabled to get enough for his products to repay him for the time and money expended in growing his crops and show a reasonable profit, and the tariff must be adjusted to maintain this price level."

BRITISH GENERAL ELECTRIC CONCERN BARS U. S. MONEY

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

LONDON, Mar. 12.—Decision of the directors of the British General Electric company restricting the issue of new shares to British subjects was approved by a large majority of shareholders today.

The meeting was crowded to overflowing when Sir Hugo Hirst, the chairman, explained the board's reasons for asking authority to increase the company's capital by the creation of £1,500,000 ordinary £ shares. He said that the General Electric company had always been looked on as a British concern and that it was vital that it retain its British character in order to secure the continuity of the employment of its 25,000 workers and their well being and happiness. For these reasons it was proposed to confine the present issue to the British public.

"The American public, who before long may hold practically all our ordinary shares issued, are barred from giving us this help by their protective fiscal legislation," he said.

The daily Mail today printed an editorial captioned "Unfair," in which it said that Great Britain needed all the foreign capital it can attract and to repel the foreign investor "by mean or unworthy treatment" was to strike a terrible blow at British industry. The editorial denounced what it called odious discrimination against American shareholders in the action of the directors of the British Electric company in restricting the issue of new shares to British subjects.

SICK JUROR HALTS TRIAL OF KLAMATH INDIAN

PORTLAND, Ore., Mar. 13.—A sick juror stopped all progress in the murder trial of Blurton Baker, Klamath Indian, today. Efforts to obtain a physician's report on the condition of the juror, Jackson C. Willis, proved fruitless and Dr. Brooks, government doctor, was delegated to make such a report to the court.

Willis was reported to be running a high fever. Court officials said in event the illness is protracted a new jury will be secured and trial started again.

The courtroom today was filled with Klamath Indians, some of them witnesses, and other relatives or friends of Baker or Bidwell Riddle, the man Baker is alleged to have killed.

The fathers of both men were present.

In the marshal's office during the recess a reunion of the Bakers was held. The Indians, squaws, papooses, braves, wrinkled old chieftains, quietly took possession of the place and proceeded with their morning toilet—a procedure that consisted mostly of combing each other's hair.

ELECTRICAL BROADCAST TO FARMERS EXPLAINED

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 13.—How the radio was used to broadcast information about electrical power by the California electrical bureau was explained today by Victor M. Hartley declared that the bureau utilized the radio twice a month to broadcast information of the use of electrical apparatus "on the farm."

In reply to questions by Robert E. Healy, commission counsel, he denied that the radio broadcast dealt with the question of private ownership as compared to public ownership of utilities.

There will be a microphone at the municipal airport so either government operators or airport officials may talk to the planes in flight.
