MANY DESIRE TO SERVE OREGON ON NEW TAX BOARD

Applications, With Plenty of Recommendations, Pour in On State Control Body.

Experts, Assessors, Grange Head Listed; Carkin's Eligibility Up to Atty-General.

SALEM, Ore., Mar. 26.—Recommendations in behalf of persons proposed for appointment to the new state tax commission created by the 1929 legislature are reaching the state board of control daily and a long list of names is now before the commission.

Among those for whom numerous recommendations have been received is Frederick W. Skiff of Portland, who for 19 years was tax expert for the firm of Olds, Wortman & King. Skiff is now retired.

Another who is widely recommended in Portland is Guy R. Harper, who is tax man for the firm of Lyman, Ross Brothers & Montgomery.

Most of the county assessors of eastern Oregon have united in support of August A. Anderson of Bend, Deschutes county assessor. Other county assessors recommended are C. L. Tallman of Benton county, Andrew M. Graham of Malheur county and J. B. Coleman of Jackson county.

A number of recommendations for the latter, however, appear to be contingent on whether the attorney general holds that Representative John H. Carkin of Medford is eligible to serve.

Ben F. West of Salem, former assessor of Marion county, is understood to be an applicant for one of the two appointments.

A number of recommendations have come in for George Palminter of Hood River, master of the state grange. Palminter was in Salem throughout the legislative session and took an important part in the tax lobby.

Is Carkin Eligible?
Representative Carkin of Medford is known to be in a receptive mood for the question of his eligibility hinges on the constitutional provision that no member of the legislature shall be eligible for appointment, during the term of his membership, to an office created by the session in which he sat or an office the salary of which was increased by such session.

Carkin's friends use the argument that in providing for the new salary tax commission the legislature did not create a new office but merely removed the governor, secretary of state and state treasurer as ex-officio members and provided for two other members to sit in their places along with the existing salaried commissioner, who at the present time is Earl Fisher.

The governor, secretary of state and state treasurer have never received additional compensation for sitting as members of the tax commission or any other state commission. This gives rise to the argument that Carkin is not eligible for the reason that the legislature made the commissionerships salaried offices. Carkin's friends meet this by saying that the legislature did not fix the salaries, but provided instead that the state board should fix the salaries with a maximum of $4800 annually.

Opinion Requested
An official inquiry as to whether a person in Carkin's position would be eligible to serve has been sent to the attorney general by Governor Patterson. Attorney General Van Winkle said today that he would not have an opinion prepared for some time.

Carkin's term as a member of the legislature holds until his successor is elected and qualified by the election of November, 1930.

Jimenez due to fatigue of the trip. La Nacion's correspondent at Bahia telegraphed Jimenez was taken by automobile from the flying field to Canasby for medical treatment. SNOWSLIDES IN
ROCKIES CLAIM
LIVES OF FOUR

Six Villages Isolated and Details of Attempted Double Tragedy Concealed.

Aged Woman's Feet Badly Frozen—Mine Cave-in Makes Prisoner of One Laborer.

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

DENVER, Colo., Mar. 26.—Snowslides in the Rockies today had snuffed out at least four lives, bottled up the story of an attempted murder and suicide, and isolated a half dozen villages along the continental divide in Colorado.

The ground, softened by thaws, shifts slowly, and finally with a rush and a roar slides down the mountainsides taking everything with it.

Four miners were killed near Gunnison yesterday when a slide crashed down a mountain and trapped them in their cabins as they slept. The entire mining settlement of the Empire Chief mine, where the four were employed, was wiped out, but others in the camp heard the roar of the slide in time to escape.

Officials of the company believed the four were the only victims. Frame-shacks, bunk-houses and the office building at the mine were all leveled beneath the snow.

Tragedy Occurs.

From the little village of Naturita yesterday came meager details of the attempted murder of John G. Blake, a 40-year-old miner of that vicinity, by Mrs. Alice Scott, who then committed suicide by taking poison. It was learned that Blake was shot through the lungs, but had a slight chance for recovery. After the message had been received at Montrose, Colo., communication with the town was cut off, apparently by a snow slide.

Some thirty snow slides were reported from various parts of the state yesterday and word is anxiously awaited from isolated districts concerning the damage the slides might have wrought.

Woman's Feet Frozen.
LEADVILLE, Colo., Mar. 26.—Fighting snow drifts seven to eight feet deep, a rescue party today attempted to reach a snow-bound ranch ten miles from here where Mrs. Joseph Wechselberger, 60, is marooned. Her feet were severely frozen March 17.

Trapped in Mine
SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Mar. 26.—One of two men caught in a cave-in at the Delano mine at Contact, Nevada, yesterday was still imprisoned this forenoon, said word received here by the Oregon Short Line railroad offices from the agent at Contact. Rescue crews expected to reach the imprisoned man, Jack Chambers, today but little hope was held that he would be found alive.

His brother, Charles Chambers, was taken out of the mine yesterday after the two men had been caught by one cave-in, but a second fall of rock shut off the escape of Jack Chambers, and it was feared had crushed him.

The two men had been employed in the Delano mine for about ten days, following decision of the owners, the Seattle Concrete Copper Mining company to increase production in view of high copper prices.

NO PLACE LIKE HOME

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Feb. 24.—Although the movie life is nice and it lures many a youth by its glamor, there's no place now like the old home dining room table to Agnes Guzowski. August, 245 pounds, and only 16, left home to get a job with some movie outfit. He appeared in four pictures and then got the urge to go home. He wrote his father, and father welcomed him like the prodigal son. Then August was taken to court and a judge witnessed his promise to stay home for a few years.

A NARROW ESCAPE

PHILADELPHIA.—Freddie Shepherd, 8, has returned to Hamilton, Ontario, minus a straight pin which he brought with him. The pin was lodged in his lung for 11 days. It was removed by Dr. Charles Jackson at University of Pennsylvania Graduate hospital.
