URING the last week of Tuesday which culminates Sunday in the Easter church festival most of the social events, aside from the larger ones, have been more informal in character.

Quite a charming spring affair of Tuesday afternoon at which Mrs. V. J. Micelli entertained a large group of prominent matrons and maids to compliment Mrs. W. L. McGeorge, a former resident of Roseburg, who is a visitor from Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. Perkins Invite Group for Dinner and Bridge

One of the most attractive evening parties occurring early in the week was the bridge dinner at which Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Perkins entertained at their spacious home on South Stephens street for a group of 10 friends.

Pink and white added a gay note to the table appointments and a centerpiece of carnations was used. Miss Louise Yukum assisted her mother, Mrs. Perkins, in the rooms. At the bridge tables were Mr. and Mrs. Lee A. Wells, Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Pickens, Mr. and Mrs. George Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Spencer, Dr. and Mrs. L. M. Lehrbach and Mr. and Mrs. Perkins.

Anniversaries of Two Inspiration for Charming Affair

The birthday anniversaries of Mrs. Dean Bubar and A. J. Young occasioned one of the most pleasurable affairs for this week when on Wednesday evening a dinner party was given at the Bubar home as a surprise for the two by the matrons of the Book club and their husbands.

Arrangements of japonica gave an artistic note to the dining room where the dinner was served at 6:30 o'clock at prettily appointed small tables. Two large cakes with candles were cut for both honor guests. Seated were Mr. and Mrs. Dean Bubar, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Young, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bell, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bubar, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Helms, Mr. and Mrs. Washington Hughes, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. W. Wharton, Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Rice, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Runyan, Mrs. Grace Thibodeau, Miss Martha Yeo.

Following dinner five hundred was played.

Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. Williams Join as Hostesses for Club Party

A pleasurable affair of early week was the evening party at which Mrs. B. W. Taylor and Mrs. Elsie Williams were hostesses at the home of the former, guests for the evening being members of the Neighbors of Woodcraft Thimble Club.

The rooms of the Taylor home were cheerful with spring shades, jonquils, narcissus and forsythia, giving a colorful note.

During the short discussion of business the club talked of a home-fest affair to be given later in the year and some social affairs. The rest of the evening was devoted to sewing.

Miss Vivian Williams assisted the hostesses serving at the small luncheon tables, where a motif of the season was effected with Easter decorations.

The list included the Meadames Max Ruff, I. T. Whitney, H. E. Germond, O. L. Johnson, A. McComas, Jason Hughes, Tom Brown, Owen Aldridge, H. A. Canaday, C. Adde, the Misses Jean Whitney, Lucille Germond, Vivian Williams, and additional guests, Miss Helms of Portland, Mrs. J. E. Pickens and Mrs. Elmer Metzger.

Moose Lodge Social Affair Pleasurable for Wednesday

Several events of interest occurred on Wednesday evening, among them the social affair at which members of the Moose lodge entertained at the hall for their families and a number of additional guests.

Several tables of five hundred were in play during the evening. Mrs. Glenn Ringo and Chas. Hoaly held honors at the tables and second prizes were received by Mrs. Geo. Gilham and Guy Calhoun.

At the close of the evening refreshments were served by a committee.

Ladies of P. T. A. Enjoy Informal Program

The ladies of the Dixonville P. T. A. were entertained recently with an informal afternoon program. Mrs. C. E. Kroegel and Mrs. J. Heidenreich joining as hostesses for the affair at the home of the former.

Enjoying the hospitality of the two matrons were Mrs. O. C. Brown, Mrs. Claud Banning, Mrs. W. H. Brown, Mrs. C. L. Branton, Mrs. W. D. Chadwick, Mrs. W. A. Campbell, Mrs. P. W. Cook, Mrs. C. A. Lindholm, Mrs. E. L. Hitt, Mrs. Bessie Insuran, Mrs. Harry Lauer, Mrs. L. Kroegel, Miss Flora Strub, Miss Mildred Brown, Miss Grace Hitt.

Miss Ueland Welcomed Home This Week

Miss Emma Ueland who has been spending the season in the east, arrived home Monday to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Ueland, in West Roseburg.

Miss Ueland has been a member of the faculty in a girls' school at Geneva, New York.

Mrs. Micelli Hostess at Charming Luncheon for Portland Matron

Mrs. V. J. Micelli was hostess at one of the major affairs of the week, entertaining at luncheon Tuesday complimenting Mrs. W. L. McGeorge, a former resident of Roseburg, who is a visitor from Portland.

Golden daffodils and forsythia gave color to the rooms. The favors and place cards at the tables carried out the yellow color scheme.

Seated at the dining table were school girl friends of the honor guest, Mrs. W. L. McGeorge, Mrs. Olivia Carney, one time high school teacher of the group, Mrs. Curtis Calkins, Mrs. Frances Lintott, Mrs. E. R. Kenny, Mrs. Hazel Frear, and Little Billie McGeorge, and Little Miss Patty Ann Calkins.

Seated at small tables about the rooms were Mrs. W. T. Wright of Portland, Mrs. Geo. K. Rohlhagen, Miss Frances Howell, Mrs. L. L. Bodie, Mrs. Libbie Forman, Mrs. J. B. Bailey, Mrs. A. A. Bellows, Mrs. William Bell, Mrs. B. L. Eddy, Mrs. H. D. Harris, Mrs. Joseph Micelli, Mrs. Albert Micelli, Mrs. H. C. Parslow, Mrs. Annie Russell, Mrs. W. M. Strohmeier, Mrs. Edward Kohlhaugen, Mrs. Maurice Newland, Mrs. Bruce C. Elliot, Mrs. Homer Grow, Mrs. B. E. Larson, Mrs. H. H. Turner, Mrs. Ralph Smith and Mrs. V. J. Micelli.

Assisting about the rooms were Mrs. W. H. Strohmeier, Mrs. Ralph Smith, and Mrs. J. B. Bailey. Sewing and game contests lent interest to the afternoon.

Daughters of Union Veterans Entertain Department President

Florence Nightengale Tent No. 15, Daughters of Union Veterans of the Union Veterans of the Civil War, entertained Tuesday evening for the department president, Miss Marie Bennett, who was a visitor in the city that day, the affair being held at the club rooms in the armory.

Miss Bennett gave a very helpful and instructive talk to the tent, encouraging the members in securing new members.

An informal hour followed in which the members were given an opportunity to become acquainted with the department president and music was enjoyed. Refreshments were served during the hour.

The tent meets the first and third Fridays of each month.

Dr. and Mrs. Houck Being Welcomed Here

Dr. and Mrs. Geo. E. Houck are entertaining at their home on Stephens street Dr. and Mrs. George Hamilton Houck, their son and daughter-in-law, who arrived mid-week from Boston.

Dr. and Mrs. Houck will make their home on the Pacific coast this year. Dr. Houck being here for a few months before taking a post at the Lane hospital in San Francisco. He has been serving an internship at the Peter Bent Brigham hospital in Boston. His wife, also a doctor, last year was at the Children's Hospital in Boston. She will visit in Eugene also with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dugald Campbell.

Mrs. Eldred Shrum and little daughter, Barbara, who have been visiting here for several days, return Easter to their home in Portland.

Patriotic Luncheon Gay Affair for Club

Going to the attractive home of Mrs. F. H. Appelholtz, the members of the New Idea club of Edgewater were delightfully entertained Wednesday at a one o'clock luncheon and "inaugural party."

Flowers carried out a patriotic note of red, white and blue.

At the table were Mrs. C. B. Calkins and Mrs. John Porter, two added guests, Mrs. F. A. Stewart, Mrs. Almyra Smith, Mrs. G. F. Jones, Mrs. C. E. Marks, Mrs. Curtis Calkins, Mrs. R. H. Williams, Mrs. P. E. Beaver, Mrs. D. G. Clark, Mrs. N. R. Fisher, Mrs. E. P. Ballou, Mrs. F. A. Clonens, Mrs. V. R. Buckingham, Mrs. D. E. Hendrickson and the hostess.

The program for the afternoon hours added to the pleasure.

Mrs. George Lang and daughter of Eugene are visitors in Roseburg as guests of Mrs. Herbert Britt.

Baptist Aid at Glide Has All Day Meet

The Ladies Aid Society of the Baptist church at Glide held an all-day meeting March 29 at the church parlors.

Quitting, tying comforts and dressmaking was the program for the day and at the noon hour a no-host dinner was held in one of the rooms. Mrs. John Alexander, Mrs. F. Blakley, Mrs. Lafe Ingles, Mrs. John Burge and Mrs. Geo. Rook were additional guests at the tables.

New officers for the year were selected in the afternoon. Those who will head the organization are Mrs. W. E. Price, president, Mrs. Walter Morgan, first vice-president, Mrs. Steve Shrum, second vice-president; Mrs. Fred Assam, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. P. F. Strader, assistant secretary-treasurer.

Mr. and Mrs. Ritchie, Sr., to Attend Wedding of Daughter

Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Ritchie, Sr., of Garden Valley are leaving the first of the week for Portland to be present for the marriage of their daughter, Miss Elizabeth H. Ritchie, and Doran Campbell Grundy on Wednesday morning.

The wedding will be a quiet affair at Trinity Episcopal church April 2. The occasion is a significant one as it is also Mrs. Ritchie's birthday anniversary.

The bride and groom will take a wedding trip to northern points as far as Seattle.

Mrs. McElhinny Bids Study Club for Afternoon

Flemish art was the topic discussed by the Delphin Study club at its meeting this week, Mrs. C. B. McElhinny asking the members for Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. S. D. Evans, supervisor of the subject of study this year, had charge of the program and each of the members gave brief talks.

At the tea hour the hostess served at small tables which held a pretty note of color furnished by daffodils. Mrs. J. E. Runyan assisted her and covers were placed for 10.

Social Hour Given Following Lodge

The regular lodge session of the Rebekah lodge this week was followed by a very enjoyable program and entertainment.

The social hour was made pleasurable by a reading by Mary Dell Geddes, a group of three selections by Umpqua Unit of American Legion auxiliary quartet, included in which are Elsie Carleton Strang, Mrs. Clair K. Allen, Mrs. Ray B. Compton, Frances Lintott, with accompaniment by Mrs. Homer Grow; piano solo by Lois Ann Whipple.

Refreshments were served following the entertainment.

Mrs. J. D. Osborn Honor Guest at Luncheon

Complimenting her mother-in-law, Mrs. J. D. Osborn, a charmingly planned luncheon was given on Tuesday by Mrs. Grant Osborn at her apartments in the Banks apartments.

Violets and Cecil Brunner rose buds made the table attractive. Miss Eva Rice assisted the hostess.

The list included Mrs. J. D. Osborn, Mrs. M. F. Rice, Mrs. R. L. Gile, Mrs. L. B. Skinner, Mrs. E. E. Applewhite, Mrs. C. W. Wharton, Mrs. Foster Butler.

Grand Guardian Is Entertained by Job's Daughters

Tuesday evening Bethel No. 8 of Roseburg Job's Daughters entertained a distinguished visitor, Elizabeth Lingaas, grand guardian of the state, who was here for an official visit.

The lodge work and inspection was followed by initiation and the state officer gave a short and interesting talk to the members of the Bethel.

A social hour followed and refreshments were served at tables appointed in yellow and white, with daffodils carrying out the motif.

Council Entertains at Luncheon for Job's Daughters State Officer

Complimenting Elizabeth Lingaas, grand guardian of the state of Job's Daughters, who was a visitor here from Portland that day, members of the council of Bethel No. 8 entertained Tuesday with a luncheon at the Umpqua hotel.

The guest of honor talked to the group on the Bethel and changes in the work. Seated at the table were Mrs. Lingaas, Mrs. Geo. A. Bradburn, Mrs. Fred Renner, Mrs. Paul Bubar, Mrs. Maurice Newland and Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Straw.

Social Night of Lady Elks Club Is This Week

The Lady Elks Club social evening Thursday was a delightful occasion at the Elks temple.

Preceding the affair the club met for gym class, which was recently formed and which meets twice weekly, for both afternoon and evening classes.

Five tables were placed for bridge and five hundred and the ladies were joined by the men of the club for refreshments served at the close. The serving table was cheerful with daffodils, Mrs. L. B. Skinner poured the coffee and Mrs. I. J. Riddle tea.

Mrs. Geo. A. Bradburn and Mrs. Dean Bubar were hostesses for the evening.

Garden Club Secures Lecturer for Future Date

The Roseburg Garden Club is to hold its regular meeting on Monday evening at the Episcopal parish hall.

Plans for a special meeting on Tuesday at which Rev. S. S. Sulliger of Tacoma was to have been the lecturer, were abandoned this morning on receipt of word that the speaker is ill. The affair will be held at some future date. Rev. Sulliger is honorary president of the American Rose Society and also associate editor of the Better Flowers Magazine. He is an authority on his work and an engaging speaker and the club feels fortunate in securing him for one of its series of lectures.

An invitation to join the Garden Club is extended to all flower lovers at the time of the lecture, as it is felt by the club to be an opportune time for those interested in gardens to become members. Rev. Sulliger will be the first of several speakers available to the club for the spring months and each member has the privilege of inviting two guests to hear him.

The club expects to hold a plant and blossom sale the coming week and to those starting new gardens the news is interesting. A narcissus display and plant sale will be given by the organization on Saturday of next week, definite plans to be announced soon. The plants will include shrubs, perennials and annuals, also blossoms.

Mr. and Mrs. Dexter Rice returned home mid-week from Portland where they visited with friends for a few days of the week.

Mrs. Gile Gives Luncheon for Visitors

For one of the most charming affairs of this week, Mrs. R. L. Gile entertained graciously at a luncheon Thursday honoring two visitors, Mrs. W. T. Wright and her niece, Mrs. W. L. McGeorge, who are here from Portland.

Yellow flowers made a graceful centerpiece at the table about which were seated Mrs. Wright, Mrs. McGeorge, Mrs. J. F. Barker, Mrs. S. A. Sanford, Mrs. A. C. Martens, Mrs. J. D. Osborn and the hostess.

"The Patsy" to Be Staged by Seniors

"The Patsy," one of the most popular plays to be produced in recent years by colleges and universities as well as high schools, has been selected by the senior class of the Roseburg high school as the production for this year on April 12.

The story is woven about Patricia Harrington, who "runs second" to an older sister, the patsy on whom blame is heaped when things go wrong, who is forced into the background by all of the family except her sympathetic father. The play has many amusing situations and is cleverly worked out in detail. Those who saw it here as a moving picture featuring Marion Davies will be doubly interested in the stage version.

Miss Kate Buchanan is coaching the cast, which is as follows: Mr. Harrington—William Unruh; Mrs. Harrington—Margaret Page; Grace Harrington—Wanda Harding; Patricia Harrington—Vera McClintock.

Tony Anderson—Charles Bayles; Billy Caldwell—Robert Dawe; O'Flaherty—Ivan Brown; Sadie Buchanan—Marion Hagar.

Fashions and Fashionables Return to Gotham

New York Gay With Smart New Modes; Park Avenue Sings the "Blues"

Mrs. William Deering Howe Mrs. Robert R. Powell Mrs. John H. Twining Miss Constance Leake

BY BETSY SCHUYLER

NEA Service Writer

NEW YORK, Mar. 30.—The spring fashion parade is moving upon New York. Palm Beachers and other southern resorters are returning bag and baggage for a brief stay before hopping to White Sulphur Springs, Pinehurst or abroad. It all makes old Gotham gay.

Each homeward bound woman seems to pick a different landing costume from the rest. There are coats, suits, ensembles and stunner little jacket frocks. One wears a fur for an accessory, another a colorful scarf, a third coat that has its own materials fashioning some feminine collar.

There are a lot of blues floating around. It occurs to me that nothing on earth would be harder than to try to match something blue this year: there are so many, many gradations of tone.

"Blue Dogs"

Kay Barnum likes harsh, colorful blues, and wears them stunningly. Mrs. Lewis Latham Clark a lighter tone, Kay Hays' blues have some navigating grey or beige in their richness.

Mrs. Robert Powell uses blue very effectively in a cape coat that makes even Park Avenue look twice, so smart is it. The coat's collar is cut like a sports shirt collar, flaring back from the throat in a jaunty manner. The cape is across both sleeves and back, but not the front. The cape is lined and bordered with beige.

The use of fur as a pliable fabric for searls is quite chic this spring. Starting from lunch at Pierre's for a matinee, Mrs. William Deering Howe wore a charming honey beige coat with shaved cascade bobbed scarf and band cuffs exactly matching in shade. For further dressiness, the edges of the coat were finished in feathers. Her beige turban introduced a slight bit of contrast in a pointed band of brown and her one-strap sandals and bag were of brown suede.

Since suits are youthful and jaunty, it seemed quite fitting that Mrs. John H. Twining should have the skirt of her new Oxford cloth suit made with deep box pleats all around to allow her stately walk freedom. The jacket nipped in at the waistline.

Jeweled hat pins are blooming on many a chaplet this spring, in the form of flowers or modernistic design. Mrs. Guersuey Curran, Jr., used a lovely diamond brooch in contemporary design; Mrs. Phillip G. Cameron has a charming hat pin of precious jewels making a floral basket; Mrs. George M. L. La Branche, Jr., has a diminutive pearl and diamond spear head stuck in the front of a smart black turban.

Short Jacket Popular

Short jackets are all the rage

for evening wear, now. They are amazingly luxurious, made of brocades, stiff taffetas embossed in gold or silver, of velvet, satin or other regal fabrics. They are usually cut on flaring lines, or at least generously. They are so much better with uneven hems than straight line long coats that one wonders why no one started designing them sooner.

A good way to get around un-even hemlines daytimes is to have the coat cut six or eight inches shorter than the skirt's front length. This seven-eighths length is flaunting its newness in many a separate coat and is seen on 'le' of new ensembles.

Constance Leake has her smart blue grey ensemble follow the seven-eighths rule for its coat. There is intricate, fine handseaming on the whole ensemble that makes it a lovely thing indeed. Her ballbunt hat is just a trifle deeper tone in color and has an interesting brim.

The Woman's Day

BY ALLENE SUMNER

If you borrow a book and the baby upsets the milk over it, what should you do about it, return the book in its milky condition, buy a new book, forgo to return it, or what? Questions somewhat like this were recently put to 177 children in various junior high schools and 159 teachers, aged from 20 to 57, by a certain professor in teachers college of Columbia university.

various things. He especially objects to the assumption that women are good, and will do all that he can to combat this erroneous idea.

If he's successful no one will thank him more than women themselves, whose lives have been notoriously limited throughout the centuries because of this very opinion.

Why So Sad?

The professor sadly admitted that results proved that since teachers themselves cannot agree as to standards of moral conduct, how they can be expected to guide children along these lines, any more than they might be expected to teach spelling if they themselves could not spell.

And yet it seems rather funny that the professor even expected agreement on a matter of moral viewpoint; after all, such a viewpoint is always a definite result of individual experience, and why one should agree with another is beyond me.

Why We Pay

The average yearly earnings of a registered nurse last year were between $100 and $200, according to a recent report from the New York Department of Health. The department suggests more stringent requirements for nurses and a consequent cutting down on the number in order that fewer may make "a decent livelihood."

Meanwhile the average middle class woman finds itself on the rocks when sickness comes and the nurse charges $15 a day. It seems to be something like these gigantic stage salaries of which we hear—$250 a week isn't so much, with a week's work a year.

She's Okay

Fourteen-year-old Princess Kenoke has assumed leadership of the Menominee Indians in the Green Bay, Wis., reservation. She follows her father, Prince Ernest Chokoa, who died a few days ago. There was an opposition to her succession on the grounds that she was a female as there might have been in the case of some white group succession. Objection to female rule is not so much a primitive trait as a civilized and sophisticated viewpoint.

Do They Mind—

France is getting all steamed up about what it calls "the barbarous marriage customs" of the Kabyle tribes in its province of Algeria. They tune at the idea that a woman belongs to her father or oldest brother and may be sold to any husband whom they select for her.

Perhaps it doesn't sound so good, but after all, have we ever heard much complaint from the ladies themselves? We are still awaiting good and sufficient evidence that the old-fashioned primitive ladies who belonged to the males were infinitely less happy than the very modern ladies who belong to themselves—but who don't know what to do with themselves even so.

He's Agin 'Em!

Mr. Alonzo B. See of New York City, former elevator manufacturer, has knocked off work in order to devote the rest of his life to the job of changing the world's attitude on women, education, and the evening.

Card Party Given to Honor Mrs. Shockley

For Mrs. Joseph Shockley, who is leaving Roseburg soon, Mr. and Mrs. George Cluck invited a large number of her friends to their home to bid her adieu at a five hundred party Friday evening.

Jonquils and ferns furnished a spring like motif to the rooms where there were eight tables in play. The honor guest was presented with a lovely gift of cut glass by the assembled group of friends. Refreshments were served at small tables.

The invited list included Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Shockley, Mr. and Mrs. F. Critzer, Mr. and Mrs. O. N. Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Bloom, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hutchings, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Karcher, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Negley, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brown, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wimer, Mr. and Mrs. George Cluck, Mrs. A. H. Perrin, Mrs. George Reynolds, Mrs. Peter Ball of Portland, Mrs. Jim Stephenson, Mrs. Cokerum, Mrs. John Dowell, Mrs. Hattie McAfee and Jas. Pickens, Dr. C. E. Hager and O. D. Newhard.

L. F. T. Dancing Party April 9

Because of the Easter Ball on Monday evening the monthly dance of the L. F. T. club will not be held the following night but the club has planned to hold it a week later on April 9.

The affair will be at the Knights of Pythias hall and Mr. and Mrs. Grant Osborn are joint chairmen.

Mrs. Applegate Is Dinner Hostess

Mrs. Vincent L. Applegate entertained with a surprise dinner in honor of her husband's birthday, at their ranch home at Yoncalla Wednesday night. Cards and dancing were enjoyed later in the evening.

Easter Cantata to Be Given on Sunday

An Easter cantata is to be presented as a special observance of the day on Sunday evening at the First Presbyterian church.

The musical will be at 7:30 o'clock in the evening in connection with the religious service. The affair is under the direction (Continued on page 3)
