WITH spring advancing, plans for many delightful functions are in progress. This week numerous clubs and social groups met, filling out a busy social calendar.

Activities at the Roseburg Country club took on added interest this week with mid-week reserved afternoon days. A series of social functions at the club, as well as a bridge tournament are arranged, the first of the series being an event of Wednesday of this week.

Three local maids pledged their troth at out of town weddings this week. Miss Grace Carroll, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Carroll, Householder at Portland, was quietly married Monday in the metropolis. Miss Marian Schwarz became the bride of Mr. Ellery C. Hall at a beautiful ceremony solemnized Tuesday in Eugene. Miss Lillian Flinn of Portland, formerly of this city will become the bride of Frank M. Pennepacker of San Francisco at a ceremony performed at the M. E. Rice home tonight.

The local high school and other organizations are bringing the best in entertainment to the community. "The Patsy" was a feature of the week at the auditorium of the Senior high school last evening; to be the "Wedding Without Women" will be one of the events of the coming week, followed by the concert by the Philharmonic Orchestra of Los Angeles on May 1.

Quiet Ceremony Is Solemnized in Metropolis

Before an altar decked with lilies and six burning tapers, the marriage of Miss Grace Sedola Carroll, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Carroll of Roseburg, and G. Kenneth Householder of Portland, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Householder of this city, was quietly solemnized Monday evening at the chapel of Trinity Episcopal church in Portland.

The nuptial ceremony was at the hour of 8 o'clock with Rev. John D. Rice reading the Episcopal marriage service.

The bride wore a navy blue tulle model and a black chapeau of pedalle straw and carried a corsage of tiny rosebuds, sweet peas and maiden hair fern.

Attending from Roseburg were Mr. and Mrs. G. Shellah Carroll, parents of the bride, Mrs. J. C. Householder, mother of the groom. Other guests for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Louisa Howe and Vance Howe of Brownsville, Miss Claudia Householder and Mrs. Edward Bingenheimer of Salem.

Mr. and Mrs. Householder will make their home on Greeley in Portland, where the bridegroom is employed by the West Coast Air Transport company.

Miss Schwarz Is Wed to Ellery C. Hall in Eugene Tuesday

Beneath a tower of spirea, flowering quince and fern, with a cascade of seven tapers at either side, Miss Marian Schwarz, daughter of Mrs. Ellery C. Hall of Eugene, was wed to Ellery C. Hall of Eugene, Tuesday, April 16.

Rev. A. H. Saunders, pastor of Central Presbyterian church, read the service.

With only candlelight used in the ceremony Miss Schwarz was beautiful in a gown of ivory satin, robe de style, tight at the waist and with a full skirt touching the floor. Point lace trimmed the hem of the wedding gown. A wedding veil of tulle and lace, arranged in curly bands, was held in place with orange blossoms. The bride carried a shower bouquet of Opheelia rosebuds and orchids, with ribbon streamers.

The wedding party entered the foyer between the ivy columns to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march played by C. A. Lee of Salem. Mr. Lee sang "Oh Promise Me" and "I Love You Truly."

Miss Margaret Peunier as bridesmaid was charming in a frock of shell pink georgette with a large bow at the side. For her bouquet she carried a corsage of sweet peas. Donald Hall, brother of the groom, acted as best man.

An informal reception followed the nuptial, with Mrs. C. A. Lee of Salem and Mrs. Gay Felt of Eugene, pouring. Mrs. Gella Steing and Mrs. Louise Taylor of Lebanon, out the door. The bride's table was attractive with an Italian piece and pink crystalware, and a centerpiece of pink roses.

Among the out of town guests were Mrs. Elsie Schwarz, mother of the bride, Frank Schwarz, brother of the bride, Mrs. George B. Wald, grandmother of the bride and Miss Helen Peters, all residing in Roseburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Hall will be at home to their friends in the Peterson apartments at Eugene.

Small Girl Starred as French Doll

Little Mary Jane Kumish starred as a petite French doll in a musical one-act play given at the South Coast Club Friday evening.

The play "A Joke on the Toy-maker" was presented at the Parents Teachers meeting. The scene was laid in the workshop of the toy-maker. Costumed children represented various foreign countries and carried toys indicative of characteristics of the countries. A tiny fairy appeared to th eddies who immediately became human beings.

Large Audience Enjoys Plays

A large and appreciative audience enjoyed three one-act plays at the grange hall in Lookingglass Saturday evening. Three types of plays were given, a tragedy, a comedy and a fantasy. "Hiders of the Sea" a tragedy, was staged by Frances Welsh, Susan Jewell, Ethel Parker and Bennett Rogers. "The Master Saboteur," a comedy, included in its characters, Chester Williams, salesman; Jack Hotchins, purchaser, and Elizabeth Thford, stenographer; while Lucia Rogers, Elizabeth Baichtins and Frances Nash took the parts in a fantasy, "The Maker of Dreams." Miss Margaret Rogers, sister of the bride, presided at the entertainment with a reading during the intermission and the changing of scenes, followed by the appearance of Miss Lois Burdick and Miss Velma Strickland in a piano duet.

Ralph Jones of Marshfield was the honor guest at a banquet Wednesday evening in the coast city given by Shell employees and officials on the Day. Mr. Jones had been transferred by the Shell Co. to Roseburg with a promotion of local manager of the company in this city.

Mrs. Lawrence W. Mott Is Charming Visitor From the Southland

One of the most charming visitors to receive a welcome in this city, is Mrs. Lawrence W. Mott, of Hollywood. The wife of Major Lawrence Mott, U. S. Signal Corps, Ros. O. S. game warden, she comes to Douglas to reveal in out door life on the Umpqua. With Mr. Mott she will spend several months in the vicinity.

Coming to Roseburg she brings an unusual charm, a sprit of friendliness and intellectual grace. Seated in a cosy room at the Hotel Umpqua she chatted while she worked busily on a piano cover with bright yarns. "To add a touch of color to the music room in a Spanish stucco dwelling in Hollywood," Mrs. Mott's home overlooks Hollywood, Catalina Island, and the surrounding country for many miles. Many months away from home, accompanying her husband on his travels, she occupies herself with needlework, music study and writing. A renowned figure in grand opera, travelled in Europe; an expert needlewoman; studious; and a charming writer; she comes to Roseburg for a few months.

A world traveller is Mrs. Mott, yet she conveys a feeling of home-like hospitality. Roughing it in China, Japan and lands of the Orient she had been the pal to Mr. Mott while he was in government service in foreign lands.

Mr. and Mrs. Mott will welcome their son, Lawrence Mott, to this city shortly. An unusual violinist, Lawrence studies under one of the finest masters and plays in the Symphony orchestra of Los Angeles. Mrs. Mott accompanies her son on the piano, and they will please local friends with their artistry while here. Lawrence, Jr., will come to the Umpqua to enjoy outdoor sports with his parents. An ardent fisherman as well as a talented violinist, is Lawrence.

Mr. and Mrs. Mott are domiciled at the Seaside.

IT'S LITTLE THINGS THAT COUNT IN NEW STYLES

That "Extra Touch" Lends Distinction To Season's Modes

Miss Janet McKelvie

Miss Sally Dennett

Frances Barnard

Miss Agnes Donahue

Theresa Griswald, I notice, is one of the women preferring silver to gold in jewelry. She wears a stunning double necklace of moderate sized silver beads with large silver beads for earrings. Examining some beautiful new luncheon clothes in a Madison avenue shop the other day, Mrs. Hynes Hubbard pulled off a cute new glove, a slip-on of off-white suede, with its wrist trimmed. The Countess Alphonse Villa wears what might easily be a crown jewel for a brilliant sapphire and diamond ornament in a black hat.

Fannie Moore and Mrs. De Forest Alexander, including at Marset home, effectively bringing out the color motif for the occasion. Followed the dinner hour, with Mr. and Mrs. Richard Coen sharing honors.

Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Donald Belliveau, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Coen, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kohlhaugen, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lockwood, Mr. and Mrs. Murray Newland, Miss Fern Reymers, Miss Eva Rice, Miss Betty Smith, Miss Genevieve Thomas, Mr. Harry Butler, Mr. James McKean, Mr. George Bradburn, Mr. Arthur Smith and Mr. Chester Morgan.

Miss Winifred Murphy, eighteen year old maid of this city was acclaimed "Miss Roseburg" Thursday to represent this city and compete with beauties from Oregon. Miss Murphy was chosen from among the girls of Roseburg's charming young ladies at a beauty contest at the Audubon Thursday night.

The maids appeared on an attractively arranged stage. As the names of the contestants were called, the candidates came to the footlights and invited the stage beauties were involved in the selection of "Miss Roseburg," beauty, form, grace and personal charm.

"Miss Roseburg" will journey to Portland for the state contest and the winner, "Miss Oregon" will go to Galveston to compete with beauties from every corner of the globe for the crown of "Miss Universe."

Local Maid Is Honored at Kappa Beta Election

Miss Daphne Hughes of this city has been elected president of a chapter of Kappa Beta, sorority for girls of the Christian church at the University of Oregon. The chapter was established at a meeting held at the Y. W. C. A. on the university campus this week.

Kappa Beta, signifies "circle of Bethany" and the object of the organization is to promote friendly feeling among the girls of the Christian church by social and religious activities, to arouse in the individual a high ideal of scholarship, and to develop a broad and sympathetic personality in each member. The motto of the club "To stir up the gift of God within you" is significant.

Before being granted a chapter of Kappa Beta a local club must have been formed six months previous to the granting of the chapter.

The granting of a chapter at the University of Oregon marked the establishment of the first one on the Pacific coast.

Miss Hughes is prominent on the University of Oregon and for the past two years has attended the National Older Girls' conference from Oregon in Denver and was a member of the team receiving national honors.

Mrs. J. M. Judd Hostess to St. George's Guild

Members of St. George's Guild were entertained Wednesday evening by Mrs. J. M. Judd. Eighteen guests were present and enjoyed the hospitality of the Judd home.

A short business meeting preceded a social evening. Delightful refreshments were served late in the evening.

Wedding Without Women to Be Staged by Club

The date for one of the interesting and much looked forward to events of the season is fast approaching in this local community. "Wedding Without Women" to be presented Monday and Tuesday evening at the auditorium of the Junior high school.

Reports and indications promise an evening of delightful entertainment and many laughs.

The affair is presented under the auspices of the Roseburg Women's club and directed by James Evans, writer and producer of the play.

St. George's Guild entertained with a one o'clock bridge luncheon this afternoon at the parish house. Mrs. Willard Johnson and Mrs. J. A. Soules in charge of arrangements arranged tables for the function.

Plans were discussed for future social activities of the club and ideas advanced for increasing the number of club members. Plans were laid for a calling campaign to be sponsored later in the season.

The Woman's Day

BY ALLENE SUMNER

Once more Fashion that means things at which so many people sneer, is invoked to solve a weighty problem. This same Fashion is asked to solve the problem of prohibition. Some time ago President Hoover subtly implied that when it became "poor taste" and "common" to serve liquor in one's home, there might be such a thing as prohibition.

No Cocktails
Washington has begun the job. The socially celebrated Edward McLeana whose cellars have been the best served no cocktails at a dinner party the other night. It will be interesting to see what Fashion can do in this realm. A great deal, we're wagering. Fashion points out Dr. Richard Hoffmann in his new book "The Struggle for Health," first permitted male margines to attend women in childbirth. Kings permitted it; the commoners followed. Fashion has done about every important thing one's home, there might be such a thing as prohibition.

What to do?
That girl, Joan Lowell, author of "Cradle of the Deep," seems to be getting into all sorts of troubles, as she is confronted with first on discrepancy and another skipper after skipper continues to in the world believe it or not, the only woman aboard the "Minnie Caine," that her father never owned the boat, that it never burned at sea, et al and aler. But—the book, with all the yelping, continues to sell like hot cakes and to the tune of many, many thousands of dollars for Miss Lowell. Well, what about it? Of course, she said it was absolute truth. But even if she fibbed, she created a readable, entertaining book. Why quibble, or should we?

No Talkies
London women have turned their well-mannered thumbs down on "talkies." A poll of the cinema houses seeking to find an opinion on the favor with which the talkies were received proved that 70 per cent of the women disapproved them, while the men were evenly divided on the subject.

What a chance for wisecrackers! Just think of all the puns we'll have to the effect that woman prefers to do her own talkies and not have them done for her.

And Why
Seriously, though, this woman vote proves woman's need for a haven of rest and quiet. The stillness and dimness of the movies have always been the sort of escape she needed from too much housework, babies, and a life more limited than her husband's. Neurologists say that quiet movies have saved many a woman from utter despair; that the talkies will not give her what she needs.

Presbyterian Aid Has Social Afternoon

The Ladies Aid society of the Presbyterian church met on Thursday afternoon, Miss Howell presiding.

Mrs. Arthur and Mrs. Uter gang and the Misses Leah and Evelyn Neighbors delighted the ladies with a violin and piano duet, and kindly responded to an encore.

As it was the birthday of Mrs. George Kohlhaugen, one of the society's most faithful members, a charming tribute to her, written by Dr. Banka, was read, and a beautiful birthday cake was presented to her during the social hour.

Mr. and Mrs. V. O'Brien Hosts at Dinner Party

A social event of the week was the dinner party given by Mr. and Mrs. V. O'Brien for a group of friends Saturday evening. Sweet peas arranged tastefully about the room lent a note of color to the affair.

Covers were laid at a prettily appointed table for Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Ritzman, Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Burr, Mr. and Mrs. George Staar, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Shockley, Mr. and Mrs. J. Smith and the hosts.
