OLMSTEAD PARDON MOVEMENT BACKED BY LEADING MEN

PORTLAND, April 23.—Executive clemency alone can save Emory Olmstead and John E. Wheeler from prison. The mandate of the United States supreme court ordering the two Portland men to prison, reached San Francisco yesterday. The pair lost their appeals in the United States court of appeals there, and in the United States supreme court.

Olmstead, former president of the Northwestern National bank, and J. E. Wheeler, former president of the McCormick Lumber company, were convicted in federal court here on charges of misapplication of funds and credits of the bank. A check-kiting scheme carried on by Wheeler, with the assistance of Olmstead, was uncovered by the prosecution. Loss to the bank of more than $700,000 was alleged.

Olmstead was sentenced to a five-year term at McNeil island. Wheeler received a three-year sentence, and both were fined.

Mrs. Olmstead, who is in Seattle, announced last night that efforts are being made to obtain a presidential pardon for her husband. Business men and political leaders in Portland, she said, started the pardon movement.

She named Ralph A. Williams, republican national committeeman, Mayor George L. Baker and Franklin T. Griffith and Guy W. Talbot, utility company presidents, as behind the movement to secure a presidential pardon for Olmstead.

5,000 DRIVEN FROM HOMES AS LEVEE BREAKS

opinion of veteran observers, would mean that every levee in this region, from Keokuk, Iowa, to Louisiana, Mo., would be in imminent danger.

A rise of another foot here would probably send the river through or over all the dikes in this vicinity, it was predicted. The water reached 21.5 feet on the Quincy gauge at midnight. South Quincy last night faced its most serious situation since the high water began in March. A hole developed in the levee and workmen were kept busy all night to prevent a break. It is estimated that there are approximately a million dollars' worth of homes and improved farm buildings in the district, which is one of the most fertile in the endangered section. National guardsmen remained on patrol duty there.

At Other Places

Concern was still felt today for the Gregory district north of Canton, Mo., which was partly flooded Sunday night. Hopes that the crest had been reached were based on reports from Burlington, Iowa, Keokuk and other points to the north that the river had either remained stationary or dropped, and that the Skunk, Cedar, Iowa and Des Moines rivers had fallen since Sunday, when they overflowed their banks.

The Fabius river rose yesterday, but no especial concern was felt since this stream was the one which broke through in Marion county, Mo., last Saturday and its damage has already been done.

Worst Since 1851

The present flood is the most menacing that has swept this section in three-quarters of a century. Not since 1851, when the great flood of that year sent the river to 22.5 feet, has the level risen so high or remained high for so long.

The Mississippi first passed the 14-foot flood stage this year on March 14; suddenly rose two feet a couple of days later; and had reached the danger stage by St. Patrick's Day. A levee broke in the Indian Graves district March 21, flooding 7,000 acres, and another went through the following day, inundating more than 12,000 additional acres.

The water has not yet receded there and is still up to the second stories of some homes.

FATE OF FARM BILL RESTS ON VOTE IN SENATE

repeal the national origins clause of the immigration act or postpone its effective date, now fixed at July 1.

This method of fixing immigration quotas was opposed by President Hoover at the time he proclaimed the clause effective and again in his first message to congress, and, like his desire to limit tariff revision chiefly to schedules affecting agriculture, has met with opposition among the republican ranks in the senate.

Bills proposing both repeal and postponement of the national origins immigration quota basis have been introduced by Senator Nye, republican, North Dakota.

Split on Alien Law

WASHINGTON, April 23.—The move for repeal of the national origins provision of the immigration act reached the committee stage today, Chairman Johnson having called the senate immigration committee to begin consideration of this part of the administration program for the special session.

Despite the recommendation of President Hoover for suspension of the national origins quota basis, a stubborn fight is in prospect with Senator Reed, republican, Pennsylvania, confidently leading the contest for retention.

Both parties in the senate are divided on the issue and the fight is likely to be a vigorous one, with the time element playing an important part. The new quota basis, limiting immigration to 150,000 annually, goes into effect July 1.

Two Repeal Measures

Senator Nye, republican, North Dakota, has reintroduced the bill of Senator Shipstead, farmer-labor, Minnesota, for repeal and his own measure for postponement. Senator Shipstead is ill. Senator Walsh, democrat, Massachusetts, likewise has introduced a repeal measure.

The present immigration quotas allow admission of two per cent of the number of nationals from each European country who were living in the United States in 1890. About 168,000 enter annually. Under the national origins provision, the quotas would b fixed to maintain the ratio of nationalities in the United States in 1924 with consideration given to the racial makeup of the nation since 1790. The estimated quotas on this basis give Great Britain an increase and cut down the allotments for Germany and the Scandinavian countries.

CONFERENCE ON GERMANY'S WAR DEBT AT AN END

were believed to embody the results of long months of study by American naval experts.

World Court Entry Seen

Some observers, explaining them, likened the project to proposals of Elihu Root which are believed to have paved the way for American acherence to the world court. American objections to certain forms of advisory opinions were removed with tentative agreement to handle each case on its own merits. So does the Washington warship formula involve handling each specific warship on its unit characteristics.

Various factors besides tonnage enter into the formula and any one of them may bring a variation on the indexing according to tonnage—thus, for instance, it would not necessarily hold that a 6,000-ton cruiser would be 60 per cent as "efficient" as a 10,000-ton cruiser. Differences in age, gun elevation, etc., probably would give it a rating of nearer 7,000 tons.

Britain Interested

LONDON, April 23.—It was authoritatively learned today that disarmament proposals advanced at Geneva yesterday by Hugh L. Gibson, American ambassador to Belgium, will be given immediate closest attention by highest British officials.

Hoover Gets Credit

LONDON, April 23—British opinion today was inclined to ascribe to President Hoover personally advances made yesterday at Geneva in the interest of world-wide agreement on naval disarmament.

There was a feeling that on its implied basis of disarmament among friends rather than among potential enemies a genuine friendly chord had been struck which might easily presage naval disarmament conference among the powers.

Washington Hopeful

WASHINGTON, April 23.—Diplomatic as well as American official circles are inclined to view the reception given Ambassador Hugh S. Gibson's statement before the preparatory disarmament commission at Geneva as the most hopeful indication yet received that the long standing naval limitations deadlock will be broken.

The statement, calling for a compromise and embodying a new suggestion for solution of the problem of providing a means for comparing the battle strength of navies, is regarded as bearing out the idea that the United States would attack the question of establishing a method of disarmament from a political rather than a purely technical viewpoint.

FIRST SENTENCE UNDER JONES LAW GIVEN IN OREGON

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

PORTLAND, Ore., April 23.—The first sentence to be passed in Oregon under the new Jones law making sale of liquor a felony, was dealt today to Jim Bell of Klamath Falls. Bell was sentenced to serve thirteen months at McNeil Island. He pleaded guilty to sale of one gallon of whiskey.

Bell was arrested March 29 at Klamath Falls. He has a record of several convictions and served a sentence of eighteen months at McNeil Island for possession of narcotics.

Had the Jones law penalty not been invoked in his case, Bell's sentence would have been six months in jail.

CANADIAN SOLONS SPEND MUCH TIME ON DIVORCE BILL

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

OTTAWA, April 23.—After virtually paralyzing the functioning powers of the house of commons for a week, opponents of the established practice of passing divorce bills without roll call have agreed to postpone their fight for a change in the divorce laws until next session.

Organized opposition to the practice of giving second reading to divorce bills in bulk started when J. S. Woodsworth, labor member from Winnipeg, gave notice he proposed to debate the various divorce bills and have a roll call on each. He said he was opposed to passing bills of which he knew nothing.

Since then the time of the house has been consumed almost entirely with a discussion of divorce procedure. Only two divorce bills were passed on second reading and little other business done.

WOMAN'S CLUB SHOW DECLARED OUTSTANDING HIT

Roseburg Woman's club footed the public last night. They had given some hint of the fun in store in "The Wedding Without Women but they failed to tell what a screaming riot of non-descript show as that which made such an unusual hit with a packed house at the Junior high auditorium last night. Constantly hoydenish the entire two hours rolled along with a review of amazing characters, mostly "ladies," which rocked the audience with joy and each song and stunt wah received with hearty applause. It was an entertainment by some fifty of representative men, entirely calculated to amuse and made good in every respect and will be repeated with several additions tonight at the same place and hour.

It is difficult to emphasize individual parts and persons for just as one would pick a favorite to brag about, another would come to win favor. For pure, unadulterated hokum it is possible to pin the medal on Bill Machen as "Little Eva," Dr. Shoemaker as "Miss Gossip," or Jim Soules as "Peaches Browning," but that is a mere matter of personal choice for Dr. Dillard as "Topsy," Mr. Campbell as the "Bride" or J. V. Short as "Little Annie Rooney" were all close runners-up in the race for honors.

Fame knocked at the door of three sets of brothers in the show. Brown brothers were exceptional as the Flowermaidens and dressed in the heighth of fashion. Metzger brothers were "Jiggs" and "Maggie" to a do tand Cacy brothers sang, danced and fooled as "Officer O'Brien" and "Black Crow" with abroitness and ardor.

From the very beginning when debonair LaVerne Hawn opened the ceremonies and C. H. Arundel as "Miss Treble Clef" and W. E. Ott as the old time fiddler began to tune up the music box and the stage gradually filled with such notables as Andy Gump (Ted Post), "Marks the Lawyer" (A. G. McMillan) and Prof. Oleman as "Big Butter and Egg Man" the spirit of fun never once lagged.

The Justice of the Peace (Wm. Bell), Judge Lindsey (Mr. Leedy), and Carl Neal as "Pete the Porter" added their bits while Dr. Wells as "Charley Chaplin" was as busy and successful as though he were handling high grade bridge work.

Some of the shoes were tight, some of the stockings were awry and some of the dresses not so Parisienne but all were worn heroically and the wearers stepped their parts with fervor. What with "Gloria Swanson" (Rudy Ritzman) doing his stuff and "Miss Alimony" (Paul Olson) the wonders never ceased.

Flowers were in abundance and received graciously by the "prima donnas" and besides they do say that, oh well wait until tonight for now that the performers have endured the test, there are promises of verve and life tonight unusual and super-entertaining.

OUSTED PASTOR'S SUPPORTERS WILL BUILD NEW CHURCH

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

CAMERON, Texas, April 23.—Members of the Cameron Presbyterian church supporting their pastor, the Rev. H. D. Kenney, ousted on heresay charges by the Central Texas Presbytery, today planned to raise a fund to retain him here as head of an independent church.

The plans were announced after the woman's auxiliary of the church and a number of the members withdrew their pledges to the 1929 church budget. The auxiliary's action followed a meeting yesterday at which a commission from the Presbytery reported the charges against Mr. Kenney and also announced the discharge of the church's board of elders.

RAILWAY GRADE CROSSING ELIMINATIONS CONTINUE

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

WASHINGTON, April 23.—A total of 390 railroad grade crossings were reported today by the bureau of public roads to have been eliminated last year from the federal aid highway system.

Of these, 107 were eliminated by the construction of underpasses or overpasses and 283 by relocation of highways. Since 1917, the bureau said, 4,291 crossings have been excluded from the federal highways.

$500,000 FIRE FOLLOWS TRAIN DERAILMENT

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

ST. LOUIS, April 23.—Gasoline, oil and merchandise estimated to have been worth $500,000 were destroyed in a spectacular fire accompanied by a series of explosions after an inbound Frisco freight train was derailed in South Kirkwood, St. Louis suburb, early today.

More than 100,000 gallons of gasoline and oil, 12 railroad cars, a storage tank, and two motor trucks were burned.

HARDY DEFENSE BEGINS ASSAULT ON STATE'S CASE

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

SACRAMENTO, April 23.—Jack Woolley of Oakland was placed by the defense on the witness stand today in the impeachment trial of Judge Carlos S. Hardy.

Woolley testified he did not know Roland Rich Woolley, former attorney for Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson, or Mrs. Lorraine Wiseman-Sielaff, who has testified she produced the "Miss X" in the McPherson "kidnaping" case.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 23.—Counsel for Superior Judge Carlos S. Hardy announced that the jurist would take the witness stand in his impeachment trial today "to throw strong light on the charges against him."

Judge Hardy's attorneys did not amplify that statement but declared they also would produce two witness in an endeavor to counteract the testimony of Mrs. Lorraine Wiseman-Sielaff, who told the impeachment court that Judge Hardy and Roland Rich Woolley, Los Angeles attorney, were involved in the planning of the "Miss X" angle of the Aimee Semple McPherson disappearance story.

Testimony relating to Mrs. Wiseman-Sielaff's declarations was expected from Kenneth and Jack Woolley brother and cousin of the attorney who was retained by the woman evangelist during the investigation of her kidnaping story in 1926. Roland Rich Woolley already has denied that he had anything to do with the framing of the "Miss X" story or that he knew Mrs. Wiseman-Sielaff before she appeared with the declaration that she could produce the "Miss X" who was with Kenneth G. Ormiston at Carmel, Cal., during the period in which Mrs. McPherson was missing.

JURY AT KLAMATH FREES FRED SWAN

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore., April 23.—Fred Swan, a railroad contractor, was acquitted today of the murder of Ned Connolly on the Creamen homestead north of Dorris.

The jury returned a verdict of not guilty of murder at 3:30 a. m. today after deliberating five and one-half hours.

Swan admitted shooting Connolly but contended it was a case of "shooting Ned or it was just too bad for me."

Swan was released from custody immediately after the return of the verdict.

LONDON.—Snakes are widely used in this country as pets. One women here uses huge reptiles to frighten burglars. Usually they are kept in glass cases, but many of them have large conservatories of their own. In addition to snakes, green and brightlued lizards and tortoises are in for their share of domestic affections.
