FLOOD WATERS OF MISSISSIPPI ARE STARTING TO DROP

(Associated Press Leased Wire) ST. LOUIS, Mo., April 29.—Troubled waters have moved down the Mississippi, transferring the strain from levees in the Quincy, Ill., territory to the strength from St. Louis to Cairo. In its muddied movement toward the gulf it has lost some of its menace.

The river's level was two feet below the top of the lowest dike between Chester and Cairo, engineers for the Missouri Pacific railway reported. A break in the south Grand Tower levee system Saturday has covered 24 square miles with water.

Jackson county, Illinois, officials have noted the "unusual bulge" of water moving past the levees, but

GALLES REGARDS MEXICAN REVOLT GOOD AS CRUSHED

Insurgent Units Continue to Surrender; General Almada Asks U. S. Protection.

(Associated Press Leased Wire) MEXICO CITY, April 29.—General Calles, Mexican minister of war, today considered the revolt in Sonora at an end, and the last Mexican state cleared of organized resistance to the central government.

In a message to President Portes Gil he said "It is my honor to report with satisfaction that in my opinion the rebellion in Sonora has terminated as the principal traitors continue their flight northward unaccompanied by material support."

His message detailed unconditional surrender of two groups of rebel soldiers, totalling 1,000 men yesterday, and described disintegration of the rebel troops as they found retreat at almost every point blocked by federal soldiers.

Guerrilla Warfare Next Continued desultory guerrilla warfare seems the prospect in Sonora for some little while as federal contingents pursue remnants of the rebel army into mountain districts. Aiding in this pursuit, General Calles said, were to be large Yaqui Indian contingents who had vowed their allegiance to the central government and had always remained passive to the rebel cause.

The federal commander at La Paz, lower California, reported to Charulopez he had intercepted a wireless message from Hermosillo, capital of Sonora, that rebel troops there were evacuating the city and fleeing northward. Federal planes bombed and fired upon the railroad station with their machine guns Saturday.

Surrender Reported NOGALES, Ariz., April 29.—The surrender of 500 Mexican rebel troops under Colonel Miguel Guerrero, together with 18 machine guns, one 75 MM. French gun and several hundred thousand rounds of ammunition, was reported here this morning by federal authorities.

The surrender occurred last night at Ortiz, Sonora. It was claimed General Hector Inmaculada Almada, Mexican rebel commander, applied at the U. S. immigration office this morning for admittance. Almada was an exile under orders from the Mexican government at the outbreak of the revolution and had returned to Mexico to aid the rebel cause.

engineers believe the river can rise two feet more without further overflow. Encouraging reports were issued by the weather bureau here where the water reached the 34.8 foot stage yesterday. The bureau predicted the river would begin falling rapidly by tomorrow.

Many thousands of acres are inundated in St. Louis and St. Charles counties, Missouri. The terrain where the Mississippi flows into the Mississippi being the worst sufferer. The Missouri, however, has begun falling and flood waters are receding.

It was the opinion of government observers that slow rises would be noted below St. Louis to Cairo, but that this was not necessarily or even probably alarming.

At Quincy the gauge reading of 20.5 yesterday was still six and a half feet above flood stage, but it was a recession from the high waters of last week. Danger there was not considered over, but the situation was much relieved.

PORTLAND, April 29.—(U. S. Department of Agriculture)—The 1929 strawberry season gives some promise of being more satisfactory, as a whole, than was the 1928 season. Some jobbing prices last year were the lowest since 1921, if not the lowest on record, averaging only 7c to 13c per quart in the larger consuming markets.

Acres are slightly reduced this year and, if average yield per acre is no greater than the rather moderate 1928 figure of 1,600 quarts, the total crop should not be much in excess of the market requirements.

Most of the difficulties last year resulted from the large acreage, the record-breaking production and the serious concentration of shipments during last May and early June. A total of nearly 3,500 cars during the seven days ending June 2 probably established a new high record for strawberry movement.

More than 11,000 cars were shipped between May 13 and June 10, 1928. This was about 60 per cent of the entire season's forwardings in car lots, and was in addition to the active movement by motor truck. Average prices paid to growers in some of the mid-season states dropped to 7c or 8c per quart.

In spite of its heavy crop last year, Louisiana had a very profitable season. Some estimates place the total 1928 farm value of Louisiana berries as high as $7,609,000. This year (1929) the state is estimated to have a 20 per cent larger crop, about 40,000,000 quarts, but not quite so high in quality as that of last season.

Acres in four other early states is increased this year and their combined crop is forecast at 25,850,000 quarts, or about one-fifth more than last season.

Seven second-early states reduced their combined acreage 11 per cent below their 1928 total, and prospective production of 87,354,000 quarts in this group is 9 per cent less than their combined 1928 crop. A good part of the decrease expected is in Tennessee and southern California.

The total of 18,716 cars of strawberries, shipped during 1928, has seldom been exceeded.

HE'S RIGHT LONDON.—You have plenty of brains—use them! Sir Arthur Keith recently made the remark that: "We have ten times as much brain as we need. Very few people use 50 per cent of their brains; many people but 10 per cent."

SOCIETY

By MILDRED BYRON

The worth and quality of an orchestra depends upon the proper balance of three things. First, the excellence of the personnel; second, the number of years of ensemble playing; and third, the character and worth of the conductor. The Philharmonic Orchestra of Los Angeles has been fortunate in these three things. To begin with W. A. Clark, Jr., founder of the organization, instructed the late Walter Henry Rothwell that only the finest musicians were to be selected for his band. He gave this great conductor a free-hand in his selection of men. For more than ten years this organization has been playing together as a unit and it has not only profited by the master-hand of William Henry Rothwell, but more than a dozen of the most distinguished living conductors have at some time or other played upon this respective instrument. In Rothwell, who conducted the orchestra the first eight years of its artistic life, the orchestra was fortunate in having a most distinguished and really great orchestral builder. The results of this unity of achievement and purpose has produced one of the first-class orchestras of the world and the great conductors who have led this orchestra on many occasions have frankly rated it one of the greatest now in existence. When the orchestra is heard here it will be under the direction of Alfred Hertz, who is thoroughly in sympathy with the ideals of W. A. Clark, Jr., in making this orchestra one of the chief artistic assets of the West.

Mrs. J. Erwin Page was hostess Thursday to the Garden Valley Women's club at her country home. Plans were discussed for holding an anniversary luncheon in May.

After a delightful social hour the hostess served dainty refreshments assisted by Mrs. George Bailey, Mrs. Jay Epperly and Miss Niday. Special guests of the club were Mrs. J. D. Young of Portland, Mrs. J. A. Williams, Mrs. Jay Epperly and Miss Niday. Club members present were Mrs. G. C. Bailey, Mrs. R. A. Calhoun, Mrs. R. Harmon, Mrs. D. Ferguson, Mrs. C. W. Hughes, Mrs. W. L. Kuntz, Mrs. E. E. LaBrie, Mrs. C. McKay, Mrs. A. Niday, Mrs. Fred Parratt, Mrs. Hugh Ritchie, Jr., Mrs. J. L. Postvin, Mrs. Peter Sinclair, Mrs. B. A. Utterback and Mrs. R. H. C. Wood.

Among the events of the week which society is looking forward to, is the dinner of the Umpqua Chiefs and Squaws scheduled for tonight.

With the approaching celebration at Glendale on Wednesday many local parties are planning on motor-touring to the city for the day. After attending the celebration at Glendale several groups will motor back to Roseburg and attend the concert of the Philharmonic orchestra.

Employees of the Woolworth store here were guests of Paul Olson, manager, at a chicken dinner last week. Dinner was served at the Coffee Cup at 6:30 o'clock to the following guests, Mrs. Ruth Probs, Mrs. Gladys Norcraft, Mrs. Alice Pickett, Mrs. Opal Moore and Lenore Hellwell.

The guests of Mr. Olson will also be entertained at the concert of the Philharmonic orchestra here May 1.

The jobs of aldermen and mayor, despite the trivial annual election, are much sought, the citizens taking a certain pride in seeing how well they may serve the city. Candidates for mayor have spent as much as $500 in their campaigns for mayor.

Donald J. McFerrin, son of the town's first mayor, retired from office this week, and the council solemnly approved his bill of 50 cents for the year's mayoral services.

In the time that has intervened, the people have never seen fit to change the charter, even though the population has increased from 600 to 6,000.

SWINDLER'S GOOD LOOKS DON'T MOVE. 8 WOMEN JURORS

(Associated Press Leased Wire) PATTERSON, N. J., April 29.—"Dapper Dan" Collins, debonaire confidence man, faced a three-year prison term today despite his good looks and the presence of eight women on the jury.

A petite 22-year-old school teacher, as foreman of the jury pronounced him guilty of conspiracy to swindle Thomas Weber, Egg Harbor city fruit grower out of $30,000.

Collins, immaculately dressed and possessing a jaunty air, was his own attorney and principal witness.

He denied he was a confidence man and said his occupation was that of "commission salesman," selling liquor, "anything you want, rye, Scotch, Canadian ales, cordials."

His defense was an alibi and he produced James H. Kane, New York hotel clerk, who testified Collins was a guest of the Hamilton hotel June 11, 1928, the day Weber said the defendant and four others fled him of $30,000 in Patterson.

"Dapper Dan" said he had been arrested "hundreds of times" here and abroad and admitted several convictions. But these he explained were all cases in which he had been framed. He asserted the present case was a frame up.
