ROSEBURG, OREGON, FRIDAY, MAY 3, 1929.

THERE are, in this modern world, many odd ways of earning a living. One of the oddest yet uncovered is that of a Chicago negro, who slipped on a banana peel the other day and landed in jail. This man, the police learned, had supported himself quite neatly for a number of years by slipping on banana peels. He always had one or more in his pockets; and, dropping one on the sidewalk in front of some store or other business place, he would slip on it and then ask damages from the owner of the place for negligence in leaving the peeling on the sidewalk. He had collected, he admitted, scores of times—sums ranging from $10 to $250. This last time, however, someone saw him put the peeling there—and he drew a jail term. The effort to live without working does lead men into queer pursuits, sometimes.

The battle of dumb play versus talkies continues to rage in Hollywood. From a recent "press release" one learns that Charlie Chaplin does not intend to talk in pictures, that Mary Pickford will make nothing but talking pictures hereafter, that D. W. Griffith thinks the talkies will "ruin the theatre" in five years, that there is increasing demand in Hollywood for stage-trained performers before the camera and that recent accessions to the ranks of motion picture players who will play talkies include Norma Talmadge, Vilma Banky, Gloria Swanson and Ronald Colman. The "release" does not say so, but it seems apparent that actors and actresses who can act audibly are going in for it and those who cannot and directors whose stars cannot are denouncing the innovation roundly. And opinion in the theatre-going public as to the merits or undesirability of talkies seems to be about as widely split as in stage and screen circles.

POEM FOR THE DAY

By LOUIS ALBERT BANKS

THE RADIO CURE FOR HOMESICKNESS

This comes to the New York Times by radio from Little America, twelve thousand miles away: "For a short time Saturday afternoon, which would be between ten o'clock and midnight in New York, I could almost imagine myself back in the Times office again. I could see a big room filled with people, the faces of so many I know, see them smiling at the thought of the pleasure they were providing and the pleasure they were giving us in sending their voices into the frozen south. And I was homesick. "The sound of their laughter and chatting came these many thousand miles over the sea and ice and through the chill Antarctic darkness as if from the next room. It was rather weird, as if some master magician had waved his wand, when he heard me say: 'I wish I could even hear them for a little while.'"—Russell Owen with the Byrd party.

This strange old world is shrinking fast; We used to think it very vast, But since we have the radio We may converse where'er we go. When Nansen drifted past the pole The years went by a silent whole, And breaking hearts could only sigh As weary years dragged slowly by.

But now, since we can send a sound The whole wide world in flight around, There are no silent places left— Unless of radio bereft, We even know about their dogs, And all the pups born in the fogs; They tell us all their doubts and fears, And all the happiness that cheers.

There are no secrets any more— Since we can hear from every shore, It must be bad for travel books— With radio in all these nooks. We take our history day by day— Not in the old slow, dragging way. This is the time the common man Throughout the world has eyes to scan.

Homesickness now has found its cure— With radio it can't endure, When quick across twelve thousand miles You hear men joke, and catch their smiles, The sense of absence disappears— Before these old-time friendly cheers; Hope springs anew in sinking hearts, In wonder at these modern arts.

LAUNDRY AT EUGENE TAKEN BY FLAMES

EUGENE, Ore., May 2.—Flames destroyed the Domestic Laundry here last night with a loss to plant and building estimated at $15,000. The plant was owned by Newton Anderson and the building by Miss Helen Lee. Anderson carried $20,000 insurance. Miss Lee said her loss would be $5,000, fully insured.

German Wealthy Class Hard Hit By War

Tax Assessments Reveal Heavy Loss in Private Capital. Half as Much Trade.

It shows declination of the roster of Germany's millionaires. In place of 157,000,000,000 marks in private capital taxed in 1913 for keeping the army and navy up to the required standard, present statistics show a total of private capital of only $2,500,000,000 marks. Compared to 229 Germans before the war who were worth more than 10,000,000 marks (roughly $2,500,000), only 33 such fortunes are now recorded.

Of all the sure ways to wealth, the surest is to write a book so bad that it will be suppressed.

Why speak of something being "as old as the hills." Are not the valleys just as old?

Louise, the hardware dealer's daughter: "Stumpy, I have a surprise for you."

Her Mother: "Yes, darling, what is it?"

"I've swallowed a nail."

Knowing WHAT to do won't build your business. It's what you actually DO that counts.

Flapper: "George, if you don't stop 'll scream—I'll call mother!"

Mother: "Mother!... Oh, my good boy, George, here she comes! I never dreamed she was home!"

The brave deserve the fair, but it can't always be said that the fair deserve the brave.

Caller: "What a cozy little breakfast room, and the wall is so artistically splattered!"

Mrs. Dewey: "Yes, this is where my George eats his breakfast."

Ancient: "Mr. Brown, I believe? My grandson is working in your office."

Brown: "Oh, yes! He went to your funeral last week."

EDITORIALS ON THE DAY'S NEWS

Now, as very, very many owners of automobiles do, your driving, due to good roads, is $200.

The good roads of Oregon, which replaced bad roads, have cost a lot of money, and sometimes we are inclined to resent a little at the burden of paying for them. But look at what they are saving us!

NOT SO GOOD FOR TILLER—IT'S A BEAR COUNTRY

Summers in Southern Oregon, May 2, 1929.

Dear Editor: I see by the news papers that my day is the proper time to start something such as strikes and such at every six or four and we have decided to start something our-

Yesterday Glendale put on a non-stop celebration on 4th of May in a brand new stadium and it was a very fine thing and so far we ain't heard of a single death—scandal or a purpose—result from it and if that ain't out to put any town on the map these days we don't no what he is buter in us—all the people in the town in Oregon that ain't to much has some kind of a knob name besides there real christen name and all the way from the home of the Roseburg umpire cheer to the Gracie pass ravening there is a grade girl fixed as the preacher see and all these little village is simply unknown. Now we are in favor of giving these postal in those hear towns some kind of a fancy factory name so to speak. Now for Glendale it seems like splinters or splats or knotholes wood any of

CAN'T TRANSPORT BOOZE YOU HAVEN'T GOT VERDICT

Associated Press Special Wire

MEDFORD, Ore., May 2.—Offering a heinous plea, Macy Litt of Medford, was acquitted by a circuit court jury here last night of alleged liquor law violations. It was said to be the first case of this kind since the state.

Litt was committed in justice court of liquor possession. On appeal the jury acquitted him. He was then charged with transportation of liquor. The jury found that he could not transport liquor which a previous jury found he did not possess.

Today Litt was remanded to the custody of the sheriff to serve a sentence for speeding on the night of his arrest.

SILVERTON FIRE LOOKS LIKE CASE OF ARSON

Associated Press Special Wire

SALEM, Ore., May 2.—Following a fire which did $100,000 worth of damage to the city hospital at Silverton, Ore., this morning, a case of arson was charged by the city attorney. The fire started while Miss Pearl Johnson, superintendent, was asleep. There was no one else in the building.

State officials are investigating.

CALIFORNIA GOVERNOR ASKED TO VISIT OREGON

YERBA, Cal., May 2.—A suggestion that Governor C. C. Young of California return the good will caravan, which made to California last year by Governor L. L. Patton of Oregon, will be made by the Home Club here, that organization has announced. No definite plans have been made but it was suggested that Oregon and California executives meet in Yreka and extend Oregon to company.

MRS. HELEN MARTIN TO BE BURIED IN ROSEBURG MONDAY

Mrs. Helen Augusta Martin, wife of the late Orville Martin, died last evening at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Fannie Hill, of Independence. Mrs. Martin has been a resident of West Roseburg for the past 13 years and leaves many friends here. Mrs. Martin is survived by four daughters, Mrs. Myrtle Frazier of Alberta, Canada; Mrs. Fannie Hill of Independence, Mrs. Maud Tavenner of Cleveland, Ore., and Mrs. Pearl Hill of Roseburg. The body will be brought to Roseburg and services will be in charge of the Roseburg Undertaking company at the chapel, Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. Matthews will officiate and interment will be made at the Masonic cemetery.

ROSEBURG STUDIO IN NEW LOCATION

The Roseburg Photo Studio, which has previously occupied quarters on the second floor of the Bell building, is being moved to the first floor, taking the quarters in which The Vogue was formerly located. The new location is on the ground floor and provides a much better place for display and is more convenient for the patron.

Warner's

THERE is no corset made that is more comfortable and dependable than one designed for your figure by Warner's. The underbelt Corsetette illustrated adds beauty to the larger figure by moulding it to good proportions. The smooth lines of the braided outer garment conceal an effective underbelt. This is attached well toward the back and comfortably supports the abdomen and slims down the hips. The soft rayon Jersey braisette top imparts a smoothly rounded bust contour.
