AN ABSENT-MINDED BURGLAR

THE absent-minded burglar has at last appeared to take his place alongside the absent-minded professor as a theme for jesters. In Chicago the other day a man broke into an apartment and helped himself to $3000 worth of jewels. As he was getting ready to go he saw a nice topcoat hanging in a closet. His own coat was shabby, so he tossed it on the floor, put on the new one and went out. A few hours later the owners of the place came home and discovered the burglary. They picked up the burglar's discarded coat and prepared to throw it away, but a policeman happened to look in its pockets first. There he found the $3000 jewels. The burglar had forgotten to transfer them to the pockets of the new coat.

The grapefruit, these days, is an established part of the great American breakfast. Every morning it appears on millions of breakfast tables. It is a fine starter for the regular bacon-and-eggs program. Now, it appears, the British are getting the habit. The department of commerce has just discovered that England is now our best foreign market for grapefruit. Last year, for example, more than 421,000 boxes of the fruit were shipped from the United States to England—as contrasted with a mere 15,000 boxes five years ago. This is good for everybody concerned—good for the English householder, who gets a nice addition to his breakfast menu, and good for the American fruit grower, who gets a broader market for his produce.

Things grow old quickly in this modern world. In Chicago, a matter of 35 years ago, was built the world's first skyscraper—the Tacoma building, 14 stories tall, erected on a new principle which made a steel framework carry all the weight. For years it was a marvel. Architects studied it, and the lessons it taught led to the construction of the towering buildings that mark every American city. But now it is being torn down—after a scant 35 years of life. It is out of date—too small, too cramped. In its place will rise a building three times as high.

The Chicago Tribune has discovered that the jail population in Kansas has increased during prohibition. It must have been interesting news for Chicagoans to learn that there's a state so old-fashioned that it puts offenders in jail.

POEM FOR THE DAY

By LOUIS ALBERT BANKS

A TRUMPET CALL TO BOYS

The Associated Press brings this wonderful message from New York to the boys of the nation:

"Thomas A. Edison is seeking an American school boy whose scientific mind may qualify him to carry on the work of the great inventor. When such a boy has been selected by means of one of Mr. Edison's famous questionnaires, he will be awarded four years tuition in the technical school of his own choice. High school and preparatory students are eligible."

How wrong to say romance is gone,
For we are in its brightest dawn!
There never was a chance like this;
The very angels stoop to kiss
The brow of each adventurous boy
With chance to reach his highest joy.
No youth in all his wildest dream
Could have invented such a scheme.

All youth are on a par today;
Proud birth or gold has naught to say.
The door to fame is open wide
To boys of every countryside,
And whether they be poor or rich
May to this star their wayward hitch.
There is no limit 'neath the skies
To him who with his genius tries.

There is no chance for wealth or pull,
But he must be with genius full,
Must have a tireless kind of brain
That laughs at toil and ceaseless strain;
A body that his mind obeys,
And loves to work both nights and days,
And, ruling all, an iron will
That guarantees a nerveless skill.

Of course, the boy is very rare
Who such a chance will joy to share,
But if somewhere he now may wait,
This is his chance to challenge fate.
I hope the search will find the youth
And open wide his way to truth,
And give the world another mind
Of this great wizard wonder kind.

TURKEY GROWERS AT GRANTS PASS PLAN ORGANIZATION

County Agent J. C. Leedy and Herbert Beyers, manager of the Douglas Cooperative Turkey Growers, made a trip to Grants Pass yesterday to meet with a group of turkey growers of that locality to discuss the formation of an organization. The Grants Pass growers are greatly interested in forming an organization and asked the local men to aid them by explaining the methods used here. Mr. Leedy explained the conditions surrounding the organization work in Roseburg and the methods used in getting the growers together. Mr. Beyers explained the technical working arrangements during the marketing season. It was decided by the Grants Pass growers to form a county unit which will cooperate with the Douglas and Lane county growers in marketing. A committee of 11 men was appointed to canvass the growers and work out the plans for the formation of the organization, and if it is found that there is sufficient interest an organization meeting will be held in the near future. OUT OUR WAY

The Office Cat

Small Nephew: "That time you gave me slipped through a hole in my pocket."
Uncle: "Well, here's another."
"Wouldn't a quarter be safer, uncle?"

France will pay if Germany does. Try saying to your banker: "I feel no obligation to pay that note unless the fellows who owe me pay up."

She: "There's Gladys. I understand she bought that dress by installments."
He: "I suppose that's the first installment she's wearing."

One woman, an inveterate bridge fiend, dreams about the game and permits it to occupy most of her waking hours. Recently at dinner, when the bread was proffered in her by the maid, she eyed it upbraidingly for a moment and then said, "I pass."

Doctor: "When you take your wife's temperature she must place the thermometer under her tongue and keep her mouth closed for two minutes."
Mr. Jones: "Haven't you one that takes half an hour?"

The lady who fears to be kissed as it is done on the screen, shouldn't blame her escort. He might do it if she resembled the lady on the screen.

"I don't know what the matter is with that little man over there. He was so attentive a few moments ago and now he don't even look at me."
"Perhaps he saw no come in. He's my husband."

Mr. Everbrooke—I like the apartment very well, but the tenth floor is too high.

The Agent—Bill collectors are not permitted to use the elevators.

Mr. Everbrooke—You may make out our lease.

"Not a day passed but my wife shows her incompleteness."
"Isn't it a crime the way women dress these days?"

Water (at the club)—"There is a lady outside who says that her husband promised to be home early tonight."

All (rising)—"Excuse me a moment."

A. V. Newport of Brandywine, received word today of the death of his sister Ada Stone, of Clifton, Idaho, who was killed in an auto accident.
