New England's Piano Pride

It was a pretty note when Rita Breault, above, of Pawtucket, R. I., won the national student pianists' championship at the age of 18. For the key to the whole thing is that now Rita is to be New England's representative in the Young Artist's Contest—the highest pianists' competition in the country—conducted by the National Music Clubs' association.

Police Dog Is Kittens' Nurse

A short time ago the pet cat in the home of Albert E. Buyers, of Buffalo, was killed running across the road. She left a litter of little Persian kittens, and Mother Nature intervened in a most unexpected way. Alsace Lorraine, imported police dog, had given birth to a litter of pups shortly before the tragedy. The pups were taken away and the kittens substituted. She adopted them at once as zealously as a Mother Cat.

BANG! BANG! HE WON HIS BRIDE BY SHOOTING HER

Dan Cupid Discards Bow for Gun, and It Works.

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., May 27.—Dan Cupid has tossed away his bow and arrow and bought a revolver. It works a great deal better.

Thomas Weekly, 23, has just got married, taking as his bride Miss Winifred Ramsey, and the high spot, not to say the utter climax, of their joint courtship was a pistol shot, with the bride-to-be on the receiving end.

This happened several weeks ago. Mrs. Weekly, who was then Miss Ramsey, went to a dance with another man. Weekly heard about it. It hadn't been the first time. So Weekly got out his gun, hunted up Winifred and shot her. Fortunately, the girl wasn't seriously wounded. As soon as she was able to be about, Weekly was summoned for trial. She, as the chief witness, was in court also.

But it didn't take Judge W. W. Cowan long to dispose of the case. For he was quickly informed that prisoner and complaining witness had just married one another. So he fined Weekly $100, and then suspended the fine on condition that Weekly spend the money on household furniture for his bride.

Husband and wife discussed the matter briefly.

"Winifred just wouldn't quit going around with other fellows," said Weekly. "I took the only way out. I shot her down. Then she married me. It was worth the $100 fine."

And Mrs. Weekly said: "I'm glad Tom shot me. It hurt awfully—but I guess I hurt Tom worse by going with other fellows. We're so happy now."

IMITATION STUFF

Diner: What do you call this stuff?
Waiter: Mock turtle soup, sir.
Diner: Well, tell the chef he has carried his mockery too far.—Worcester (Eng.) Times.

SHE'LL HAVTA LEARN

Husband: I say, Alice—d'you know where the deuce my shaving brush is?
Wife: Oh, my dear—I'm so sorry. I used it yesterday to enameled over the bath. You'll find it in a jampan of turpentine down in the kitchen.—Passing Show.

STUMPED THE WAITER

A deaf man went to a restaurant with a friend.
Waiter: What will you have to eat, sir?
Friend: Nothing.
Waiter (to deaf man): And you, sir?

Deaf Man: The same as my friend but with potatoes.—Faun, Vienna.

MUST HAVE COMPANY

Judge: I notice that, in addition to misappropriating $500, you took a considerable quantity of valuables—rings, watches and other trinkets.
Prisoner: Yes, sir; I remembered that money alone don't bring happiness.—Tit-Bits.

COATING THE PILL

"I say, what are you doing with an apple on the end of your line?"
"Fishing."
"Yes, but what's the apple for?"
"Bait."
"Bait? You want a worm, man."
"Well, there's a worm in that apple."—Tit-Bits.

SWEET REVENGE

Friend: Where are you going so hurriedly?
Tailor: To the dentist.
Friend: And yet you are smiling?
Tailor: Yes, I am to measure him for a suit.—Filegenda Blatter, Munich.
