ROSEBURG, OREGON, FRIDAY, MAY 31, 1929

ONE MORE YACHT CHALLENGER

SIR THOMAS LIPTON, the dispatches tell, has announced that he will build a new yacht as a challenge for the America's cup. It will probably help the sales of tea and it ought to, for if ever there was a gallant, good sportsman who knows how to smile under repeated defeat that person is Sir Thomas Lipton.

Sir Thomas challenged first in 1899 with his Shamrock I. He lost and was back in 1901 and 1903 with other Shamrocks but was outlasted again in each instance. Finally in 1920 he made his last try for the cup and with the usual result, the American yacht was the faster or better sailed and won. Sir Thomas took that defeat standing up as he had taken his earlier ones and gained the plaudits of the whole American public in so doing.

Sir Thomas is aging now. He can hardly be expected to bring over yet another yacht after the one he is now planning. And a great many people on this side of the Atlantic will be pulling for the fifth Shamrock and hoping unashamedly that the America's cup may be lifted by the good Irish gentlemen who has done so much in the extension of "hands across the sea."

Moving picture people had a camera at Churchill Downs to take moving pictures of the Kentucky Derby. In a New York studio they had another film and apparatus to record the sound. The sound waves came to the studio by radio and were duly recorded; and the machines were arranged so that sight and sound were perfectly synchronized. When the photographer got back to New York it was an easy matter to put the two films together and lo! there was a "talkie," technically perfect, of the great race!

Think over that little bit of work for a minute, and see if it doesn't come close to filling every requirement for a first-class miracle.

Senator Herlin, in his latest Roman-wolf outcries in the senate, excoerates the press for failing to publish all he has said. But how can the senator expect that anyone will take his utterances seriously? He himself long ago destroyed all chances for that.

POEM FOR THE DAY

By LOUIS ALBERT BANKS

GOVERNMENT REFLECTS CITIZENSHIP

This news comes from Washington: Go home and be practical, intelligent, active politicians. Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick (R), Representative from Illinois, told the delegates attending the thirty-third annual convention of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers in session here.

"Mrs. McCormick spoke as a practical politician rounding out the advice which ministers, educators, public welfare leaders, home economic experts and government representatives have been giving at the convention to parents regarding their job of home-making.

"In your hands is the future citizenship of America," said Mrs. McCormick. "America is going to be just what you want it to be. Your state legislatures as well as the National Congress will be just as good or just as bad as you want them to be. If you neglect them they will be rotten. In fact, wherever you are neglecting they are rotten. Our political life will respond in the measure that you put character into it, just as your children respond when you put character into their training."

"Yes, Uncle Sam is a photograph—A true composite photograph: We stamp our features on his face To make or mar his future grace. If we are bad, he can't be good—Let that be fully understood. The flag of red and white and blue Depends on us to hold it true.

We have no king to give it tone—The molding force is all our own. Our nation's officers reflect Just what our citizens expect. If we are careless, idle souls, Our rulers play indolent roles. If we are conscientious reverent, We give all righteous rule good cheer.

Our nation's character is ours. Our rulers are our blooming flowers; They are the leaders we have chosen—Ourselves when crystallized and frozen. The power is always in our vote—We are the ones who sound the note. There's no excuse for us to shirk—We nerve our rulers for their work.

Mark Hanna's daughter hits the nail: 'Tis at this point we often fail. If we ourselves will 'come to law' Our leaders will enforce the law; They'll hold the banner just as high As we, in earnestness, stand by. If we would have a wholesome land, We must with righteous rulers stand.

MARK HANNA'S DAUGHTER HITS THE NAIL: 'Tis at this point we often fail. If we ourselves will 'come to law' Our leaders will enforce the law; They'll hold the banner just as high As we, in earnestness, stand by. If we would have a wholesome land, We must with righteous rulers stand.

OUT OUR WAY

WHEN WHAT COMES UP WONT GO DOWN

John Brown had been in the habit of coming here every night to talk to the boys. He was a talkative, much to like with an easy tongue. She decided that this state of affairs would have to cease. On this particular night when John arrived in his usual state, she started on him with her tongue, and after having scolded for some time, finished by telling him that she was not going to play second fiddle any more.

John straightened up, and replied: "My dear woman, you may doubt yourself lucky that you are in the band at all."

A conscientious father was chastising his son. "And now, my boy," he said when he was through, "tell me why I have punished you." "That's it," cried the boy, bursting with indignation, "first you found the life out of me, and then you don't know what you're doing to me!"

"What kind of a dress did she wear to the party?" "I don't remember—but I think it was checked."

"Say, what kind of a party was that?" "The professor formerly occupied this room, sir. He invented an explosive."

"See Rooster—'Ah!' I suppose those spots on the ceiling are the explosive?" "Landlady: "No, that's the professor, sir."

Definitions: The pessimist spends all his time worrying about how he can keep the wolf from the door. The optimist refuses to see the wolf until he seizes the seat of his pants.

The opportunist invites the wolf in and appears next day in a fur coat. Good manners consist in treating the other fellow as though he were as important as he thinks he is.

The preaching of Christianity is all that of proportion to the practicality of it. Some people couldn't kick any more if they were centipedes. "Eh, eh, mama tell you to notice when the soup boiled over?" "I did, and it was half past four."

MINOR INJURIES ARE RECEIVED IN 2 AUTO WRECKS

MYRTLE CREEK, May 31.—Two automobile accidents, in which the occupants of the wrecked cars suffered only minor injuries, occurred yesterday. Glen Richardson and family, of this city, were riding in their Ford coupe near the Booth ranch when something happened to the steering gear, causing them to turn over in the ditch. The car was badly wrecked, but the occupants were only cut and bruised.

Mrs. Catherine Knocks, Mrs. Golda Dieckman and Mr. John Pelters were in a Chevrolet coupe that skidded and turned over in loose gravel on the Weaver road. The top of the car was smashed, and the body sprung, but the passengers were able to drive the machine back under its own power.

Ben Irving, local surveyor, returned last night from Winkle Bar on Rogue River, where he has been spending the past week inspecting the improvements done on the mining claim held by Zane Grey, noted author. Mr. Grey, who has established a lodge on the bar where his lodge is located, and is making numerous improvements preparatory to securing a patent.

ATLANTIC FLIERS AGAIN POSTPONE THEIR FLIGHT: DEL ORCHARD ME., May 31.—A take-off of the Green Flash for Rome or the Yellow Bird for Paris earlier than Sunday seemed improbable today in the face of weather reports from Dr. James H. Kimball, meteorologist of the New York weather bureau.

REAR END INJURY: BAKER, Ore., May 31.—Roy L. Lamm, Vancouver, B. C., aviator, received a broken leg and severe body bruises late last night when he was struck by a hit-and-run driver on the Old Oregon Trail between Power and Haines. Lamm was picked up soon after he was struck, and brought to a hospital here. He said he left a Salt Lake City hospital recently, and was on his way to Tacoma.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Communications to the News-Review for publication in this department should be written on only one side of the paper, should not exceed 300 words in length, and must be signed by the writer, whose mail address must accompany the communication.

ROSEBURG, Ore., Editor News-Review—Reports have reached this office that a couple of strangers who are selling some kind of automobile insurance throughout our country (doctors) are making representations that they have secured the endorsement of the Roseburg Chamber of Commerce. If such representations are being made they are absolutely false. At this time permit us to again warn the public against irresponsible, high-powered salesmen who are here today and gone tomorrow. These people take all sorts of extravagant claims for their insurance policies, far more than any reputable outfit would dream of making, and then vanish into thin air.

Roseburg business men handle reputable goods, and they are always ready to make good their promises. Friend neighbor, something for nothing is too good to be true. It is not in the cards. Worthwhile merchandise costs just what so much money no matter where we buy it. Ordinary common sense should tell us to buy our goods locally of responsible dealers.

The chamber of commerce office has been flooded with literature and overtures which agents seeking our endorsement that they may be privileged to compete with our local people. The letters have been fed into the furnace and the agents, without exception, have been turned down, and that, too, in no uncertain language. Roseburg is not supporting this institution for the benefit of its night birds of passage of this kind. It can only justify its existence by safeguarding the interests of its taxpaying supporters and in using its good offices in encouraging other worthy while people to settle among us.

ROSEBURG CHAMBER OF COMMERCE: By W. C. Harding, Secretary.

HOUSEWIVES COUNCIL ATTACKS PHONE RATES: PORTLAND, May 31.—A petition that the public service commission at Oregon order the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company to reduce its local rates, was filed today by the Housewives Council, Inc. The council asked, too, that the commission set a hearing on existing telephone rates.

In an eight-page petition the Housewives Council set forth that "all the rates, tolls, charges, schedules, joint rates and practices of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company are unreasonable, unjust and discriminatory."

CHURCH OF CHRIST, MYRTLE CREEK: Sunday evening's service will be given over to the Children's Day program, which will be rendered mostly by the children and young people, with some congregational singing. A cordial invitation is extended to all. The morning pulpit theme will be "Living Epistles, Known and Read of All Men." Let all remember the Bible school and the Christian Endeavor meeting. Mr. and Mrs. Sias were at Eugene the first of the week, in attendance at the Bible university commencement and the annual banquet, returning Wednesday.

DAILY VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL TO START MONDAY

The daily vacation Bible school sponsored by the Presbyterian church will start Monday, according to an announcement made today. The school will meet from 9 to 11:30 a. m. five days each week for four weeks, and will be open to all children under the age of 14 years. The school is open to children of all churches, as it is not denominational in character, but will be devoted to Bible instruction, coupled with recreation. R. W. Achor, pastor of the church, will serve as principal, and will be assisted by eight competent and trained assistants.

FUNERAL SERVICES OF VALERIA JEAN McCLINTOCK HELD

Funeral services were held yesterday for little Valeria Jean McClintock who died on Wednesday of this week. The services were held at the Roseburg Undertaking parlors with Rev. Matthews and Rev. Edwards officiating. The chapel was filled with friends of the little girl and the family, amid a profusion of flowers. Interment was made in the Masonic cemetery beside Mary Lou McClintock who died six months ago.

TEACHER GIVES LIFE TO SAVE 2 FIGHTING BOYS

NEW YORK, May 31.—Helen Denning, 18, a parochial school teacher, is mourned as a heroine. On her way home to lunch she noted a truck bearing down on two boys who were fighting in a street. She leaped at them and pushed them to one side and a moment later was run over, sustaining fatal injuries.
