IF THEY GET THAT $30,000,000, HE'LL BUY AN AUTO, SHE A WASHING MACHINE

By NEA Service WAYNESVILLE, O., June 3.—The 700 inhabitants of this Ohio village are agog with gossip about James L. M. Hopkins, local grocer, suddenly revealed as the heir presumptive to a share in a $30,000,000 fortune. A few weeks ago, the 69-year-old grocer and his wife were passing to spend the rest of their days in their store. Now they're entertaining wide-eyed listeners with stories of glittering wealth—of a modern mansion equipped with hot and cold running water, electric lights and, above all, an automatic washing machine. Hopkins expects to be adjudged a great nephew of Mark Hopkins, a "forty-minter" who died intestate at San Francisco in 1878. Hopkins estimates his share of the $250,000,000 estate at $30,000,000. There are in all sixty claimants to the Hopkins fortune living in Kentucky, Virginia, Tennessee, North Carolina and Oregon. Their suit charges a young man who designated himself as Timothy Hopkins, adopted son of Mark, is now unlawfully enjoying Mark's wealth. The Wayneville grocer says he'll not put on any "airs" when he gets his fortune. The most he'll do is buy a new house and a big automobile with a chauffeur. "Mom" Hopkins' greatest wish is for an electric washer. "I have been washing the family clothes all my life and I'm tired," she says. Others who claim to be great nephews of Mark Hopkins are: Mack Hopkins, Morrow, O.; Steve Hopkins, Wallins Creek, Ky.;

Mr. and Mrs. James L. M. Hopkins in their grocery store at Waynesville, Ohio. They may inherit $30,000,000. Orchard, Ky. and A. A. Hopkins, Barboursville, Ky. Each claims $30,000,000.

clair, for refusal to answer questions before the senate committee. The government in the jury shadowing case, insisted that as the shadowing had required a new trial it constituted contempt. Court's Opinion Justice McReynolds delivered the opinion of the court, which was unanimous except that Justice Stone, who was attorney general during some of the oil lease litigation, took no part. Pointing out that the defense contended that the evidence failed to show the detectives had established contact with any of the jurors the opinion said "we cannot accept this view." "It would destroy the power of courts adequately to protect themselves—to enforce their rights of self-preservation," it continued. "Suppose, for example, some ill-gat juror should endeavor to shoot a juror while sitting in the box during the progress of the case. He might escape punishment for contempt if some quick witted attendant quietly thwarted the effort and kept the circumstances secret until the trial ended." Railroad Victory WASHINGTON, June 3.—The Baltimore and Ohio and other eastern railroads connecting with western lines at St. Louis, won in the supreme court today, when the court ordered the appointment of a special master to determine the amount the eastern lines should receive as restitution of transfer charges paid by them on west-bound freight crossing the Mississippi.

GIVE DRY LAW HONEST TRIAL, BUSINESS ASKS

were published a day after the announcement that Justice Franklin C. Hoyt of the New York children's court had been awarded the prize of $25,000 offered by William R. Hearst for a substitute plan for prohibition. Justice Hoyt's plan called for repeal of the Volstead act and enactment of a new law defining "intoxicating liquors" as "all alcoholic products of distillation," thereby excluding wines and beer. Traffic in wine and beer would be under state regulation under his plan. Hearst Criticized. PITTSBURGH, June 3.—A recommendation for a nation-wide educational program to prove the benefits of prohibition was approved today by the general assembly of the United Presbyterian church. The recommendation was made in the report of the committee on reform. F. Scott McBride, general superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league, speaking in behalf of the committee report, assailed newspapers for not supporting prohibition. "What does Mr. Hearst know about prohibition," McBride said in referring to the prize award made by William Randolph Hearst for "the best practicable substitute for prohibition." "He never gave $25,000 to suit prohibition over. The trouble with his plan or any plan is that it does not solve the alcoholic liquor question. Prohibition is fundamentally right and the liquor traffic wrong." Tobacco advertising by radio and in newspapers was condemned.
