SPECIAL PROGRAM MARKS CLOSE OF HAYHURST SCHOOL

(News-Review Douglas County Special)

HAYHURST, June 6.—Mrs. Effie Ambrose close a very successful term of school here on Friday, the 23rd of May, and on Saturday, the 24th, 8th grade graduation exercises and a basket dinner were held in Hayhurst hall.

A very interesting program was rendered, as follows:

Welcome drill, seven pupils; Oregon state song, audience and school; salutatory, Harry Ohlson; recitation, "Lost Pop," John Hamilton; song, "You Can't Play in My Yard," George Hamilton and Merriem Miller; recitation, Iva Kruse; flower drill, Virginia Kruse, Iva Kruse, Georgia Hamilton, Merriem Miller, Delton Allen and Rudelene Swearingin, leader; song, trio, Mrs. Edna Kinney, Mrs. Iva Bernard and Mrs. Florence Miller; class poem, Dalbert Hamilton; recitation, "Hearts Like Flowers," Mrs. Iva Bernard; song, "My Blue Ridge Mountain," Dolores Sprinkle; trio, Mrs. Edna Kinney, Mrs. Iva Bernard and Florence Miller, accompanied by Miss Leona Ellenburg at the organ; valedictory, Robert Miller.

The hall was decorated with ferns, evergreens and rhododendron blossoms, that being the class flower.

The neighbors and patrons of the school brought baskets laden with all good things to eat, and a fine dinner was enjoyed by all.

There were many expressions of satisfaction for the splendid work Mrs. Ambrose has given the school. Her five eighth grade boys made a splendid average in the state examination. Dalbert Hamilton was awarded the certificate for perfect attendance. Owing to so much fun and other water ailments, some did not show a regular attendance as they otherwise would have done.

All appreciated the assistance given by Miss Leona Ellenburg, of Drain, who acted as organist, also the beautiful trios as sung by Mrs. Kinney of Drain, Mrs. Iva Bernard of North Bend and Florence Miller.

Everyone seems greatly pleased that Mrs. Ambrose has been engaged to teach here next year.

SAWMILLS WILL BENEFIT BY NEW GRADING SCHEDULE

GLENDALE, June 6.—The many sawmills on Cow creek and its mills in the immediate vicinity of Glendale will all be affected by the new grading rules recently adopted by the West Coast Lumbermen's association, an association embracing more than 100 large manufacturers of Douglas fir lumber. These new rules cover all lumber cut for the domestic market and will probably go into effect the latter part of this month.

A. E. Green of Eugene, official inspector for the W. C. L. A., was in the city last week inspecting a number of lumber shipments being made by local mills. When asked about the new rules he said the new rules should simplify matters a lot. Instead of 3 sets of rules applicable to lumber cut for the domestic market there will be but one set of rules, so written that even a layman can interpret and understand them. The old rules have become obsolete.

The new rules have been under consideration and discussion for some length of time by the association's committee on grades and were directly prepared under the supervision of L. A. Nelson in charge of the association's grading department.

The West Coast Lumbermen's association has been actively working for some time on a program of standardization to meet the various marketing and shipping problems encountered by the lumber manufacturers in the Pacific Northwest and the general adoption of these new grading rules will go a long way in forwarding this program.

BASKETBALL STAR TELLS OF PERDUE EXPENSE OFFER

(Associated Press-Los Angeles Wire)

DES MOINES, Iowa, June 6.—The Des Moines Register in a copyrighted story today quoted Robert Spradling, Iowa basketball star, as saying he was offered all expenses by a "friend of Purdue's" if he would enter that school and play basketball.

Spradling, whose home is in Frankfort, Indiana, said he was willing to make a frank settlement of his relations with both Iowa and Purdue should the Big Ten call upon him to do so, the newspaper said.

"Coach Ward Lambert, Purdue basketball coach, knew of the offer," the story added, "and urged Spradling to accept it. Instead he accepted a job waiting on table and tending a furnace for his board and room at an Iowa fraternity with the understanding he would join the fraternity."

Spradling's reported testimony supports the charge made by Everett Case, Frankfort, Indiana, high school basketball coach that Lambert went to Spradling's home to persuade him from matriculating at Iowa two hours before he was to leave.

Case was to reveal his charges that Purdue was guilty of proselytizing and subsidizing athletes before John L. Griffith, Big Ten athletic commissioner, at Chicago today.
