NEW PRESIDENT OF RAILROAD STARTED OUT AS WATERBOY

GREEN BAY, Wis., June 17.—From waterboy to president—that's the story of Frank B. Seymour, president of the Green Bay and Western railroad, who has spent 58 years with the line. Seymour started his career in 1871, when he was promoted from waterboy for a construction crew to tracklayer. Then he served successively as brickman, conductor, superintendent and general superintendent. He has seen, as he climbed, the revolutionary changes in transportation from the small, wood-burning locomotives to the powerful engines of today. President Seymour knows all of his employees personally and virtually every foot of the 300-mile railroad which operates from Sturgeon Bay, Wis., to Winona, Minn. "My railroad," he says in turning down offers from larger carriers, "just may be as big as others, but it's not to be long."

CO-ED'S DEATH PLAYED AGAINST DR. J. H. SNOOK

(Continued from page 1) Snook's machine. The marks are to be analyzed. Intimacy Disclosed Mrs. Snook, wife of the professor, was taken to the police station today to participate in a general conference of city and county officials at which it was expected some decision would be reached as to whether more serious charges would be filed against Dr. Snook or his release ordered. Charles Lanar, night watchman at the Young Woman's Christian association residence here, told detectives today that Miss Rix lived there for a while in March of this year and that on numerous occasions she entered the residence between 2 and 3 a. m. He said she was accompanied to the door by a man whom he identified from a photograph as Dr. Snook. It has been disclosed that Dr. Snook had been intimate with Miss Rix for months and had shared a small apartment with her. Unmoved except for a slight shudder when he looked upon the blood stained gear where the body of the girl was found, he accompanied detectives yesterday morning first to the rifle range and then to the room where he admitted holding trysts with the young medical student. He was returned to his cell at the county jail.
