COMMUNITY ROSE GARDEN PROJECT IS SUGGESTED

A community rose garden, to become a show spot and tourist attraction, was a project advocated before the Kiwanis club by C. E. Moyer, local nurseryman at the Kiwanis luncheon held today. Mr. Moyer's talk fitted in with the city's beautiful campaign now being gotten. He suggested that a rose garden be developed as a community enterprise, pointing out that roses can be grown out of doors here much more favorably than any other place on the coast. Such a garden, he stated, would soon become a great medium for drawing tourists to Roseburg and helping them in the city.

The Kiwanis are making active plans for the All-Kiwanis program to be given next Monday night at the Wigwam. Over the entire world, where Kiwanis clubs are located, the clubs will meet at a "zero hour," which is 7:30 o'clock for the Pacific coast. The meeting will start with a banquet at 6:30 and will be followed by a program, featuring an address by Hon. J. H. Brand, of Marshfield. This will be followed by a social time and dance.

The Roseburg club in a recent issue of the Kiwanis bulletin for the district, won high commendation for the work it has been doing in meeting with the granges. The spirit that is being developed between the residents of the city and of the rural districts as a result of these meetings is attracting nationwide attention, particularly in Kiwanis circles.
