Harth's TOGGERY

After a swift moving revolver battle in Detroit river today, rum runners of the East Windsor sector retreated into Canadian waters after shooting a hole in the prow of a United States customs patrol cutter. There were no known casualties.

The rum runners deliberately opened fire without notice on the American boat. Walter S. Petty, acting collector of customs at Detroit said. His men returned the volleys and chased the intruders back to the Canadian shore.

The battle started, Petty said, when the rum craft was about 100

First Plane-Train Route Links Coasts in Two Days

Cities on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts are only two "business days" away from each other now. The map above shows the route of the first airmail service between the two seaboard, inaugurated by the Universal Aviation Corporation, a unit of the Aviatco Corporation $200,000,000 holding company, in conjunction with the New York Central and the Atchafalaya, Topeka and Santa Fe railroads. Passengers leaving New York and Boston by train travel over night to Cleveland, board one of the huge tri-motored Polkair cabin monoplane-like the one pictured at the top—for a 1087-mile daylight flight to Garden City, Kans., and from there travel two nights and a day to Los Angeles or San Diego, Cal. One of the luxurious plane cabins is shown in the inset. Three planes were to be used on the inaugural trip and Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, former assistant attorney general, was to be among the passengers.

Chief of Police Walker of Fresno to succeed E. R. Bohner, who has resigned as administrator for the northern California district. Bohner, Doran asserted, failed to pass the required civil service examination for continuance permanently as administrator. He asked for a re-examination but the outcome of this test was not made known.

Job of "Grief"—Bohner SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., June 19.—Announcing he had decided "to get out of the prohibition business," E. R. Bohner, federal prohibition administrator for northern California, last night telegraphed his resignation to the treasury department at Washington.

Bohner, who has held his present position since March 1, 1927, declared that the recent indictment of six of his subordinates on charges of withholding seized goods from the government had nothing to do with his resignation. He was the tenth holder of the position and has remained on the job longer than any of his predecessors.

"I have no desire to be identified again with the prohibition department," Bohner said. "It is a matter of grief."

Bohner entered the service of the department of justice in 1925 when he became identified with the bureau of investigation here. He also served the department of justice in Boston and Washington. His appointment as prohibition administrator never was confirmed by the United States Civil Service commission.

Lowman Shows Man Door WASHINGTON, June 19.—Louis Jacques, customs border patrolman at Detroit, who was quoted in the house by representative Clancy of Michigan as having said he was told to shut up in connection with the recent slaying there by enforcement officers, today was ushered out of the office of Assistant Secretary Lowman of the treasury after Lowman had declared he would not consult with a "man of that type."

Jacques, who recently resigned, was brought to Lowman's office by a Detroit newspaper man. The secretary said he knew the details of the case and there was no need of them being explained.

Turning to the newspaper man, he asked: "Is there anything more I can do for you?" "No, unless you wish to consult with Mr. Jacques about the affair," replied the correspondent.

"I wouldn't consult with a man like that," Lowman replied. "He's resigned from the service and he should have told his story to his superior officers, which I understand he did."

With the newspaperman and ushered him and Jacques to the door. Jacques said nothing.

Glass Raps Inquiry WASHINGTON, June 19.—The Hoover administration was condemned in the senate today by Senator Glass, democrat, Virginia, for "submerging" the prohibition problem in its proposed law enforcement inquiry.

The Virginia was the author of the $250,000 fund appropriated last session by congress for the purpose of an inquiry, under the direction of the president, into prohibition.

This is the fund now being used by the Hoover law enforcement commission and Glass declared that "both the president and the commission have gone as far as they can go in going when they talk about reorganizing the judicial procedure."

The Virginia in his attack declared that in the presidential commission and Glass declared that "both the president and the commission have gone as far as they can go in going when they talk about reorganizing the judicial procedure."

LOCAL NEWS

E. R. Scrogges of Portland was a visitor here yesterday transacting business in this vicinity.

Forest Service Man Visits— J. D. C. Thomas of Portland of the government forest service is a visitor in Roseburg, arriving here late yesterday.

Here From Coast— Mr. and Mrs. William Kretzsch of Marshfield were here yesterday, stopping at the Hotel Umpqua. Kretzsch is a young business man of the coast city and son of the late Dursey B. Kretzsch, a well known banker of Marshfield.

Dr. Osborn Visits— Dr. and Mrs. Dean H. Osborn of Marshfield visited in Marshfield yesterday stopping at the Hotel Rose last night. They are enroute north on a motor trip. Dr. Osborn is one of the leading physicians and surgeons and a child specialist of the coast city.

Here From Albany— E. N. Torbet and family of Albany visited Tuesday with Mr. Torbet's brother, J. E. Torbet, of this city. Torbet is postmaster at Albany and is enjoying a vacation which the family will spend with friends at Falls Alto. They noted many improvements here since the completion of the highway.

Enroute North— Earl Cooley of Myrtle Point, Smith Hughes instructor and secretary of the Myrtle Point Chamber of Commerce and Coos and Curry county fair board, was a visitor vocey of the eighteenth amendment and of the Volstead act. "In his address in New York after the campaign the president himself minimized, if he did not actually extinguish, the importance of this major problem by declaring it to be a mere segment of the investigation to be had."

"And now the president proposes to investigate all lawlessness. Something that is just as impossible of accomplishment in my lifetime as anything of which I can think."

Ten Years Needed Senator Hawes, democrat, Missouri, said that under the $250,000 appropriation, the money would be available to the commission only for this year and next and he declared it would therefore have to report by that time rather than in the two years it now contemplates.

Glass replied that at least ten years would be necessary for an inquiry of the kind proposed. "The Virginia also said the White House at first ignored his $250,000 appropriation and sent out the word that a special appropriation would be required at this present session."

Mr. Hoover, Glass added, was seeking to shift responsibility from the executive branch to the legislative branch when he asked that at joint congressional committee be named to consider the transfer of all prohibition units into the department of justice.

Evanescent Charged. Recalling campaign declarations of the presidential candidates Glass asked "what senator here ever heard anything about enforcing any other law."

"Who," he stormed, "heard anything about enforcing the law against manslaughter, murder, bank robberies or any other law except the eighteenth amendment. And I challenge any man to point to a syllable uttered or a sentence written by the president in the last campaign which committed him specifically to advocacy of the eighteenth amendment or in any wise to advocacy of the Volstead act. The most he said was that he didn't favor repeal of the eighteenth amendment. Nowhere explicitly or implicitly had he said that he is an advocate of the Volstead act."

"Yet to magnify their own prestige, officials of the Anti-Saloon league persisted in calling attention to the president's vigorous ad-

THE MODERN WAY TO COOK VEGETABLES

Save the Vital Elements and Improve the Flavor

Every woman who knows the importance of vegetable foods and wishes to make these healthful dishes tasteful, will welcome the work of two groups of nationally known cooking experts. These women experimented at length with vegetables cooked in the various ways. Their conclusions are of value to everyone interested in diet and health. Use little water in cooking vegetables. Do not overcook. Add a dash of sugar while the foods are cooking.

What does the dash of sugar do? It does not make the vegetables taste sweet as might be expected, but it intensifies the piquant flavors. It restores the freshness of flavor. It helps to brighten the color of the vegetables.

Try this Carrot Leaf recipe, mended by one of the experts. Scrape enough carrots to make a pint of pulp. Boil in slightly sweetened water until tender. Then mash. To the pint of pulp, add 2 well-beaten eggs, 1/2 teaspoon of salt, 1/4 teaspoon of pepper, 2 teaspoons of sugar and 1/4 cup of cream. Pour into a well-buttered mold. Stand this in a pan of hot water and bake in a moderate oven until firm. Turn out on hot platter and surround with peas and serve with white sauce.

Use a dash of sugar to make the healthful foods so appetizing that people will eat them. Good food promotes good health. The Sugar Institute.
