Every Phase of Eugene's
Big Pioneer Event Making Rapid Progress, Report Says.

EUGENE, Oregon, July 5.—(Special to News-Review)—Every phase of the Sunset Trail celebration, the statewide pioneer event to be held in Eugene July 25, 26 and 27, is making rapid progress. It is declared by Mrs. Doris Smith, director, following a check-up of all departments. Assurance that a large delegation of people will be here from Roseburg, and that the city will be represented in the pioneer and industrial parades, has been received here, Hugh Ross, manager, announces.

Final arrangements for most of the roles in the Sunset Trail pageant, the outstanding feature of the celebration, have been made. Mrs. Smith announces, and the list includes many prominent citizens of the state. The leading role, that of the pioneer, will be taken by Marshall Dana of Portland, the young man who will be head scout, and George Melvin Miller, brother of Joseph Miller, who will take the part of Dr. McLaughlin.

The full story of Indian chiefs was named yesterday after extensive tryouts for these places. Seth Keron, Carlton Spencer, Verle Smith and E. R. Morris will be the rulers of the tribes. They and the Indians which they lead will have important parts in the production.

One of the unique character roles, that of "York," the negro who accompanied Lewis and Clark on their journey westward, will be taken by James Larson. In this episode Dr. Charles Hunt will be Charbonneau, Orlo Henderson will be Clark and Dr. R. T. Burnett will be Captain Lewis. The rider of the party will be A. M. Skane, while Dr. Edward Buchanan will be Cameahwait, brother of Sacajawea.

The new character roles not previously announced will be that of the Indian princess in the Maya episode, to be portrayed by Florence Shumacher, and that of the rival lover, which will be handled by William Ludlow, George Korn will take the part of the leader of the barbarian horde.

In the Maya spectacle, which opens the program and which will be one of the features of the evening, Mildred Le Compte Moore will take the part of the leader of Maya maiden. This role calls for an interpretive dance that is expected to be an outstanding feature. Other important places in this episode will be taken by Arthur Gray, who will be high priest, and Kermit Stevens, who will be the runner.

Astirde her own beautiful horse, Mrs. John Beck will lead the Indian square riding group in the pageant. Mrs. Beck has a beautiful Indian costume of white doe skin that has already attracted a great deal of attention here. She will be assisted by a specially selected group of women riders.

A real Indian war dance will be led by Dr. L. G. Helterline, who is already at work perfecting this part of the episode.

The historic figure of Marcus Whitman is to be taken by L. L. Constance. Mr. Constance is now working out the story of Whitman and will present it accurately and with real dramatic effect. The part of the pioneer mother will be taken by Mrs. Ottilie Turnbull Seybolt, head of the department of drama at the university. Robert Beck will be the leader of the plainsmen, while Dove Anderson will be captain of the "frontier days" phase.

In a part in which he is declared to be without peer, Cal M. Young will appear as the captain of the wagon trail. He will wear his famous pioneer garb and he is well versed in every phase of this type of pioneering.

An added note of fun as enjoyed in the pioneer days will be added to the program, with the acceptance of Miss Rose Smith as a trick rider. Assisted by Dove Anderson and several cowboys she will do several stunts in true western pioneer style.

Both the pioneer and industrial parades are making rapid progress and will draw participants from all over the state, declares Mr. Young, head of the pioneers, and Jack Magladry, chairman of the industrial phase. The air circus is also expected to be the outstanding aeronautical event of the year in the west, says E. C. Simmons, chairman.

INSURANCE CHANGE MADE FOR EMPLOYEES OF TELEPHONE CO.

To give its 32,000 employees insurance advantages as members of one of the largest employed groups on the coast, the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph company has selected the Equitable Life Assurance Society of New York to write standard policies when requested by telephone employees, according to word received today by H. R. Risley, Oregon state telephone manager, from H. D. Pillsbury, president.

On account of the health conservation and accident prevention activities of the Bell system, these policies will be issued without medical examination or extra premiums for hazardous occupations, in practically all cases.

The insurance plan was requested by many employees and put into effect after careful consideration, according to President Pillsbury, who said that the use of the plan is voluntary and that there is no obligation to take insurance.

He pointed out that with the insurance telephone employees are now helped by the company toward thrift in three important ways, the other two being stock purchase rights on favorable installment terms and sickness and death benefits.

CRIPPLED WIDOW OF EX-MAYOR LOSES JOB

(Associated Press Special Wire)
CHICAGO, July 3.—Mrs. Josephine Busse, once the "first lady" in the city, has lost the political job she had kept for 13 years. From 1907 to 1911, Mrs. Busse's husband, Fred A. Busse, was mayor of Chicago. He died in 1914, leaving his widow almost penniless.

A year later Mayor William Hale Thompson, then serving his first term, made her head of the collection department in the corporation counsel's office.

Administrations changed and political opponents were discharged, but Mrs. Busse always was allowed to keep her job. Even in recent years, when the former "first lady" had to wear buttons on both legs, she was made to feel secure of the job.

Yesterday she hobbled to her desk and was greeted with this note:

"Due to necessary retrenchments your services will no longer be required."

Last night she was in a state of collapse at her home and under the care of a physician.

HOOVER TRIES AGAIN TO PUT MOSCIP ON BOARD

(Associated Press Special Wire)
WASHINGTON, July 3.—W. S. Moscrop of Lake Elmo, Minn., who has declined to serve on the federal farm board, is being urged to reconsider by President Hoover.

Moscrop was offered a place on the board last week after a conference with President Hoover and Secretary Hyde and took the proposal under consideration. In declining to serve, he said that the necessities of his own business of fairs required his attention to such an extent that he would not see his way clear to accept the post.

Moscrop had been chosen to represent the dairying industry in the deliberations of the board. He is secretary-treasurer of the Twin City Milk Producers' association, a large dairying cooperative with headquarters in St. Paul, and in addition is extensively engaged in farming at Lake Elmo.

PRUNE SITUATION IN STATE OF OREGON CAUSES COMMENT

A recent editorial appearing in the News-Review regarding the Umpqua valley prune crop has attracted much attention. Two references, one by letter and the other comment on the editorial, were recently printed in the Oregon Journal.

The letter was as follows: "Ballston, June 24.—To the Editor of The Journal—We are told—with now much accuracy—we do not know—that the prune crop in California this year is much reduced. We are also told that the Oregon crop will be fairly near normal.

This information has created more optimism among the growers than for several years past. I believe, however, that the Umpqua valley growers were very wise in the warning issued through the News-Review urging Oregon growers not to be hasty in contracting their prunes. Further, I believe that we should form a pool as soon and as effectively as possible through which to protect and advance our interests.

To this end, therefore, I wish to propose: That the original committee of 100 be reconstituted; that since no one in the industry feels that he has the authority to issue such a call, the call be sent out by Paul V. Maris, director of extension, Oregon State college; that in addition to the prune growers there also should be called those representatives of the college, the state and the Portland Chamber of Commerce who have previously cooperated in matters looking toward organization of the prune growers. I hope these latter gentlemen will find it possible to harmonize their views so that there shall be no conflict in their leadership.

Surely it is of no profit to Oregon to have the representatives of what might be one of its most important industries going through year by year with losses—losses that would be unnecessary if we could but unify our views and plans.

Joining me in the request that the prune growers' committee of 100 be reconstituted as soon as possible, are: Holt Stockton, Cliff Ball, Jack De Long, G. J. Magenheimer and Lee Arnett.

E. E. ARNETT.
The Journal commented on the letter as follows: "A proposal by growers of Oregon prunes will be found in a letter to the editor on this page today."

It appears that this year the California crop will be reduced. The Oregon crop may be nearly normal. This creates what the Oregon growers consider the most favorable situation as to the prices they may receive, since the World war period.

Now Mrs. Arnett and her neighbors ask that the Oregon prune growers protect their own interests. They propose that the former committee of 100 be called again into session by Director Maris of the extension division of Oregon State college.

They propose the formation of a selling pool by means of which they will be placed in a position to bargain, and likewise, if necessary, to command federal credit and the aid of the warehousing act.

They repeat the suggestion that the Umpqua growers made through the News-Review, that the prune producers be in no hurry to contract the sale of this year's crop to the dealers, whose representatives are now active among the orchards.

It is well said that prune production should be an outstanding Oregon industry. Some of the conditions that have caused reverses have been beyond the control of the growers. Many of the losses and much of the discouragement could have been averted by cooperation. The Umpqua growers demonstrated in a locality a fact that could equally have applied to a region.

But if the growers of Oregon's prunes are to move forward a step, in this or any other year, or under the present or any other conditions, they will find it necessary to develop their own leadership. Cooperation has always been the way to success, and still is.

AMERICA'S JULY 4 THIS YEAR CLAIMS LESS LOSS OF LIFE

enroute to Newport to spend the Fourth of July. The Cains were said to be from Tennessee, having come to Albany about six months ago.

Lake Michigan Claims 10.
GRAND HAVEN, Mich., July 5.—The vicious surf and undertow of wind-swept Lake Michigan took the lives of 10 persons here yesterday, all drowning virtually simultaneously within a radius of a few hundred yards.

Nine of the dead were bathers at a municipal park beach; the other was a girl who, with three companions, was swept from a pier at one beach by a giant breaker which bowled the four into the water.

While three life guards struggled against the waves to pull the four struggling persons in the water to safety, a terrific undercurrent generated by the huge combers which first swept the pier, carried the nine bathers to their death. Hundreds of persons ashore, gay holiday picnickers and bathers, oaking in a warm sun, watched horror-stricken as the nine were whirled, screaming for help, far into the white capped lake.

The dead are Mildred Field, 19; Robert Shindler, 19; Julius Tusch, 19; Leonard Kellogg, 20; Carl Rohloff, 21; Walter Schwartz, 19; John Giddings, 21; Frank Petrovski, 40; Rudolph Pitulik, 22, and Edwin Pitulik, 21.

All were residents of Grand Rapids except the latter two, brothers, who were from Detroit.

Auto Leap Kills Five
KALISPELL, Mont., July 5.—Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lockridge of Stevensville, the big fork, and his two children were killed last night when their automobile plunged over a bank into Flathead lake. Mrs. Ritke was the only one to escape death in the wreck.

Two Ranchers Killed
SAN FRANCISCO, July 5.—Robert Hallahan, prominent Merced rancher, was killed and six persons were slightly hurt in a triple auto crash on the main highway south of here.

SANTA ROSA, Cal., July 5.—Explosion of the gas tank of his motor car after it had been struck by an interurban train here killed W. N. Couch, 48. He died in the flames before the train crew could rescue him. He was a rancher of Sebastopol.

EPWORTH LEAGUE CAMP WILL OPEN MONDAY MORNING

The Epworth League Institute for the southern district of the Methodist Episcopal church is to open next Monday morning, July 8, at the permanent camp on Little River above Wolf Creek. Dr. Marcy, Rev. G. C. Morris, Rev. C. C. Barlick and Rev. R. Rees are directing a large group of men and boys, who have been getting the grounds and buildings in readiness for the annual meeting. The dining room has been enlarged, and a water system has been built, water being piped to the kitchen from a large spring. The men have also built a septic tank, to provide better sanitary conditions.

Approximately 150 delegates are expected, registration starting Monday morning at the local church. Delegates will register and pay their hotel tickets in Roseburg and will be provided with transportation to the institute grounds. The first meal at the camp will be served Monday noon.

Rev. Edwards, the local pastor, will not attend the institute, but will remain in Roseburg, acting as host, and will take care of the matter of purchasing and arranging transportation of supplies, which will be taken in to the camp daily. Mrs. A. C. Marsters will have charge of the dining room and will be assisted by an able corps of workers. John Linn of Lebanon will be camp manager and Mr. Rees of Medford is dean. There will be about 150 members on the faculty. The institute is one of three held by the Oregon conference.

NIGHT BLOOMING CERES EXHIBITED BY FERN FLORISTS

Many Roseburg people witnessed an unusual display of a night blooming Ceres in the window of the Fern Florists, last night. The plant, which blooms only once a year, early yesterday afternoon showed signs of opening its buds. So Mr. Austin brought it to his store to permit as many persons as possible to see the unusual flower. Five large white blossoms six inches in diameter, and exceptionally fragrant, began opening at seven o'clock and were fully opened by nine, but wilted during the night. Five buds still remain, and these are expected to open either tonight or Saturday.

The night blooming Ceres, a cactus native in Hawaii, is a rare plant, but owing to its short-lived blossoms, is of little commercial value. The plant owned by the Fern florists had had buds this year for the first time. A Portland florist is known to have another Ceres plant, but there are few more, if any, in the state.
