In New Office—Mrs. Edith Ackert, county school superintendent, is moving into her new office on the ground floor of the new courthouse today. The spacious office rooms are ideal, according to Mrs. Ackert. Home From Portland—M. R. Brown, gas company manager, returned yesterday from a week's vacation trip to Portland and Astoria. Mr. Brown's son, who resides in Portland, accompanied his father from Portland to Astoria and to the beaches. Pathfinder Hops From Old Orchard (Continued from page 1) three quart bottles of coffee, three quarts of water, six chocolate bars, eight oranges, six apples and a bottle of lemon. Stowaway Chance Recalling how a Portland youth stowed away on the Yellow Bird before it hopped for France on June 13, police made a careful inspection of the interior of the Pathfinder and then stayed close by the machine until it take-off. Favorable winds will aid the Rome-bound plane although some fog will be met until it is 1,000 miles out, according to Dr. Kimball. Relying on these favorable tail winds Yancey and Williams had their fuel load cut from 500 to 450 gallons just before the start. Rome Ready to Greet ROME, July 8.—News of the hop-off of the Pathfinder for Rome reached the Eternal City in the midst of the summertime lunch hour and formal new officials at their offices to receive it. Since it is the beginning of the vacation season many prominent persons who would like to be on hand for the fliers' arrival are out of town. The air ministry's principal secretary, who first learned of the take-off from the Associated Press, expressed delight that the American fliers had gotten away apparently to a good start. Chicago Plane on Wing OTTAWA, July 8.—The Amphibian airplane "Untin" Bowler took the air today from an undetermined point in the Hudson Bay country, continuing its flight from Chicago to Berlin. Chicago Plane Lost CHICAGO, July 8.—Somewhere in Canada was the most definite address today of the Chicago Tribune's Chicago-to-Berlin Amphibian plane, the "Untin" Bowler, and its crew of three who were last heard from early Friday. Since 9:58 a. m. Friday no message has been received from the plane. At that time Parker D. Cramer, co-pilot and navigator, and the "Untin" Bowler were landing at Great Whale, in the Hudson Bay country. For five hours Sunday the Elgin operators heard a loud whirring sound which they were confident was from the plane's radio generator being operated by the motor. If such were the case, backers of the flight said, it was evident that the "Untin" Bowler flew a considerable distance. Fears were expressed yesterday that the Bowler had been forced down in the wooded wilds of northern Quebec by storms which are known to have crossed its path, but Tribune officials were confident with no accident, but had probably been sent to the ground by unfavorable weather. The "Untin" Bowler left here Wednesday morning on what was to have been a five-day flight to Berlin to chart a new commercial airplane route to the old world. Besides Cramer, the crew consists of Robert Gast, pilot, and Robert Wood, aviation editor of Tribune. Weather reports for today indicated particularly unfavorable weather over the Ungava and Labrador peninsulas and between the mainland and Greenland. Angeleno Drones On CULVER CITY, Calif., July 8.—Confidence rode the single motorized biplane with Tibeta L. W. Menzies and R. D. Reinhardt today as the receding hours brought them steadily nearer the record of 474 hours, 59 seconds for sustained flying, which they hoped to surpass. At 6:30 a. m. the fliers had passed the 142 hour mark in their time journey which started at 7:29:50 a. m. last Tuesday. Should they keep their plane "Angeleno" in the air until 2:30:29 p. m. tomorrow, they will have shattered the mark set at Cleveland by Roy L. Mitchell and Byron K. Newcomb two days ago. The steady throbbing of the 220-horsepower motor leads ground officials to report that it was functioning in a perfect manner, despite its continuous and unflinching labor since the takeoff almost a week ago. Airport officials agreed with the fliers that the biplane would be able to stay in the air three or four hundred hours, and said that depending on the condition of the pilots, it would be difficult to say when they would land. 5 Lives Sunday's Toll LOS ANGELES, Calif., July 8.—Guest Swanson, 21, and Ella Carlson, 26, both of Los Angeles, were killed Sunday while stunting in an obsolete style biplane which fell in the outskirts of the city. Officials of Mines field declared neither of the men was a licensed pilot. NEW PRESTON, Conn., July 8.—Martin F. Brown, 34, of New Brunswick, N. J., and Gordon Spencer Whittier, 29, of Arlington, N. J., were killed Sunday when their airplane went into a nose spin and crashed. ANGOULEME, France, July 8.—Captain Louis Coudouret, well known French aviator, died today following a crash Sunday of a new airplane he was testing for a proposed trans-Atlantic flight. His motor stalled and the plane fell 1,000 feet. Lindy Opens Service GLENDALE, Calif., July 8.—Col.

EARTHQUAKE IN LOS ANGELES AREA INFLECTS DAMAGE (Continued from page 1) to south. Four Persons Injured LOS ANGELES, July 8.—Four persons, two men and two children, were injured in an earthquake which severely shook Los Angeles and communities within a thirty mile radius at 8:45 a. m. today. These injuries were reported from Santa Fe Springs, oil town fifteen miles south of here. Damage to the extent of $50,000 was reported in East Whittier, suburb of Los Angeles, from the earthquake. A section of one wall of the East Whittier school caved in and the structure was thrown out of line. It was unoccupied, this being vacation period. Two East Whittier homes were wrecked, and several damaged by falling chimneys. No personal injuries were reported from that section. The city hall was constructed so that a sway of the tower three feet, or eighteen inches in each direction, is provided for, engineers said. The 1,800 pound chandelier in the rotunda of the building swung on an arc of twelve inches during the tremor. Elevator operators who were at the top of the buildings reported that the elevators shook and rattled so much that passengers were forced to hold to the sides for support. Residents in the southwest section of the city said the earthquake was extremely severe. Oil operators at Santa Fe Springs reported that two producing oil wells in the eastern end of the field were stopped up by the tremor. North Pacific Jarred ST. LOUIS, July 8.—The ninth earthquake in three days, and the most violent, was recorded yesterday by the St. Louis university seismograph. The distance was 4,060 miles, indicating, Father James B. MacElwaine said, that the quake was in the vicinity of the Aleutian islands, where four shocks occurred Friday and four Saturday. The disturbance began at 3:23 p. m., with the maximum at 3:56 a. m. South Atlantic Shock LONDON, July 8.—An earthquake of considerable magnitude in the Atlantic ocean off Brazil has been recorded by the Kew observatory. By MILDRED BYNON The meeting of the Gleanery W. C. T. U. has been postponed until Wednesday, July 17. Mrs. Nellie McGinnis of Roberts Creek will be a hostess at that time. Miss Bess Wharton was a charming hostess to a large group of friends last evening at her lovely home on the river. Dinner was served at 6 o'clock and the hours were spent in conversation and boating. Miss Jessie M. Ratter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Ratter of this city, became the bride of Clarence W. Cottrill of Eugene on Saturday at high noon at the home of her parents in this city. Rev. Frank Matthews performed the ceremony in the presence of close friends and relatives. The couple left after the ceremony for an extended honeymoon and upon their return will reside in Eugene. WELCOMES EPWORTH LEAGUE DELEGATES (News-Review Douglas County Special) GLENDALE, July 8.—C. F. Johns was a Glendale visitor Friday. He is employed in the national park service in Crater Lake national park from where he arrived last week to spend the Fourth with his family at Azalia. He expects to return to Crater Lake within a few days. According to Johns, a number of Douglas county people are employed at the park and some of them are, besides himself, Ed Johns, Darwin Johns and Lester Curtis of Azalia; George and Bill Montgomery of Canyonville; Raymond Hunsaker, Frank Leighton and Howard Painter of Myrtle Creek. During the summer months, Wm. Godfrey, chief ranger at Crater Lake national park employs a crew of from 50 to 100 men, patrolling, building trails and roads, and this spring, fighting the pine beetle pest. Work is being done on the rim road at the lake and also on a new trail about 1 mile north of Crater Lake. A trail 3,000 feet long that extends from the crater's rim down to the water's edge. This trail is still blocked with snow but is expected to be clear in about another week. Johns was particularly employed in the branch of the park service that is fighting the pine beetle pest this season. This small beetle, about 3-8 of an inch long and as large as a fat mite, is destroying pine timber in various sections of Idaho, California and has now invaded Oregon pine forests near Bend and Diamond Lake and in the Klamath Falls country and is now being fought within the Crater Lake national park area. Many of the pine trees on the Cow creek watershed are dying and it is thought this same beetle may be the cause. Small as this beetle is, it is causing damage to pine timber amounting to thousands of dollars. This beetle bores through the bark of the tree until it reaches the sapwood where they propagate. The female beetle burrows upwards beneath the bark and being very prolific lays from 1000 to 4000 eggs in the tiny tunnel she has made. The eggs are usually laid during July. These eggs hatched into larvae which eat their way down from the sap of the tree which they gnaw by tunneling or boring horizontally or around the tree and just underneath the bark. The larval population hatches out about the following May, reaches maturity as a beetle in a few weeks and then the cycle of beetle life starts over again. The tree that has been gnawed for its sap soon dies and unless it can be used at once becomes worthless for timber and is a loss. Experiments are being made with arsenic mixtures injected in to the sap of the tree but so far compounds strong enough to kill the beetles also kill the trees. The method used at present to combat these beetles is to cut down the infested tree, strip the bark off and destroy the beetle larvae and pupae before they hatch out.
